Dramatic Finish Puts Us Over Top For Jerry's Kids

A record 2,903 pledges representing the $40,629 telephone pledges were taken over the weekend, sorted, and mailed from the pledge center.

The fish bowl, weighed down by the $9,000 plus in coins and bills, collapsed in The Sun office display window, spilling money all over the area.

But, every penny was rescued.

George Burke, former Norfolk County district attorney and Wollaston resident, came up from the Cape late Monday afternoon to pledge $1,000. But when it looked like we would not beat last year's figure, he made it a $2,000 pledge to put us over the top as volunteers cheered happily. The money, will come from the William Hanrahan Trust of which he is trustee.

As the top pledger, Burke won two box seats to the Red Sox-Angels game Tuesday night. The tickets were donated by Bob Gibbons of Quincy, legislative aide to Rep. Thomas Brownell.

It took a lot of nice people in the Quincy-South Shore area to make it a successful Labor Day weekend for Jerry's Kids. More than 200 gave up part of the holiday to spend it at The Sun office manning telephones or doing all the other so important jobs. Nearly 3,000 phoned in pledges and hundreds kept coming to the pledge center -- most of them youngsters with canisters -- to fill and actually break the fish bowl.

After 24-hours straight of telenon and another four hours or so wrapping it up and trying to put the office back together again, we'll never remember everyone of you. But many of you we can. People like:

Ken Runge and Norma and Peter Gacicia, who are like having three right arms, went the 24 hours and are still here helping to wrap it up... Dick Koch, who is always there when you need him... Aldo Saluti who brought us a coin counting machine from the Quincy Savings Bank and put in a lot of hours running it. (Without the machine and Aldo we still wouldn't know how much was in the fish bowl)... Marty Blake who virtually went around the clock on security and his daughter Suzanne, who helped at the fish bowl when she wasn't being dunked at the dunking booth for Jerry's Kids...

John Nash, Jr. of King St., Cohasset and his son, Jackie, who got our fish bowl off to a fast start with the first donation and a nice one, too. They did a paint spruce up job at the Sun office costing $175. And gave the entire $175 to Jerry's Kids... Mrs. Elizabeth McCall of Chubbuck St., Quincy Point 90-years young and a real sweetheart. Her son, George, long-time South Shore baseball manager and active in Local 5 Shipbuilders Union, died in May. Each year George came to The Sun office to donate to the fish bowl. Mrs. McCall gave $20 this year "from George and me for Jerry's Kids"... Quincy Deputy Tax Collector Lester Glasser, who donated $18 because eighteen means "life" in Hebrew and he wants to help give life to Jerry's Kids... Charlie Pearce and to Quincy Savings Bank for the loan of the coin counting machine...

John Poroca of Vesco, Inc., West Quincy who after donating microwave ovens the past two years as prizes to help bring money to the fish bowl, this year gave us a 13-inch portable Panasonic color TV set. And, his wife Joan and daughter, Tessie, came in to help answer the phones... Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler for the 100 tickets to the Wollaston Theater offered as prizes to fishbowl donors Arthur also worked on the phones... Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television who loaned us two color TV sets so that we could keep tabs on what was going on elsewhere during the telenon and cheer on our representatives as they made their appearances on WCVB-TV (Ch. 5)... Robert Hatfield of Massachusetts Avenue, Quincy Point, who just a couple weeks ago organized a softball game between the Quincy City Officials and the Boston Bruins that raised $3,000 for the cancer crusade and worked the telephones on the 1 a.m. to 8 a.m. lobster shift to help Jerry's Kids.

... And, another Quincy Pointer -- Kathy Brennan of Mill St. who pledged $100 and challenged all working housewives to do the same... Employees at the Raytheon Quincy plant led by John Marella and Bertha Batson who donated $159... The Quincy woman who pledged $500 but asked to remain anonymous... Dave Leitch, who phoned in a $100 pledge from Phillips, Me., for the Burgin Platner Insurance Co., just across the street from The Sun pledge center... Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, whose $20 donation put us over the $1,000 mark in the fish bowl at 10:30 a.m. Monday...

... Nine-year-old Alex Mann of Rodman St., Quincy who raised $41.80 in a canister... Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods who donated $100... Ditto Fred DiRico of Quincy... Register of Probate Tom Hughes of Quincy who worked the phones and donated $50.00. The Koch Club, coming through again, with a $100 donation... Emma Hassan, director of volunteers at Quincy City Hospital, who pledged $25 -- all the way from Toledo, Ohio... Eight-year-old Tommy McQueen of Academy Ave., Weymouth, who raised $83.74 in a back yard flea market and then made a personal donation of $10... Vern Whitman who bet his daughter Nancy McKearney and daughter-in-law Cindy Whitman $30 that he wouldn't have a cigarette until after midnight Labor Day and put the $30 in the fish bowl determined he would win the bet...

... The children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones of Appleton St., North Quincy... Danny, Elizabeth, Edward and Steven, who brought in $410 in canisters... Youngsters in the Buckingham Rd. area who staged play "Hansel and Gretel" in a backyard: Melissa Holt, Elizabeth Johnston, Kim and Krisit McLaren, Joe Murphy, Beth Holt, Sandi Murphy, Jennifer Sullivan and Barbie Murphy. The show was a smash hit and raised $36.20... Denine Moody of Norfolk, Va., who came in with her grandmother, Emily Collins of Baintree, busted open two piggy banks with a hammer and donated $18.30 in pennies to the fish bowl. Nanna donated $10... Joe Mahoney, Patty Feeney, Denise Feeney, Mark Lauzon, John Edwards and John Feeney who came up from Marshfield with $237.85... City Councillors Joanne Condon, Daniel Raymondi, along with Ed Cooke who manned the phones and donated $25 each... Leo Cardarelli and Joseph Callahan of the William R. Caddy Detachment, Marine Corps League, who donated $50... James Bragg, commander of Houghs Neck Legion Post who donated $20... George Parker who came in with his annual doubleheader: $200 from the Yellow Cab Co. and $200 from him personally...

... Dave Hartley of Moffat Rd., Adams Shore who last year won the microwave oven, turned in a canister with $90.94... Jewish War Veterans Post Commander Jason Stone, Past Commanders Irving Isaacson, Harvey Solomon and Nathan Goldberg who worked the phones and donated $50... Ronald Seaman of Southern Artery, Quincy who for the second year in a row pledged $1,000... And Crissy Dugas, a Cerebral Palsy patient who pledged $1 and insisted on calling in the pledge herself... Weymouth School Committee member Sulo Soini who donated $10 and said he would like to get active in the muscular dystrophy cause in that town...

... Sue Lovell, Sue Pizzi, Connie Pagnani, Maureen and Sean O'Keefe who brought in their horses from the Brookdale riding Academy in West Quincy as an attraction outside the Pledge Center and raised money passing the canister... The Gerry Coletta family of Quincy who donated $70... David and Kevin Coyne of Dorchester who came in with $107.38... Germantown youngsters Janet McCarthy, Erika Lancione, Melanie Hazelhurst, Michael McCarthy, Anne McCarthy, Kim Hearn, Brian Antonetti and Patricia McCarthy who brought in $16 but "not for any prizes"...

7-Year-Old Wins Pledge Center TV Set

A $350 13-inch Panasonic color TV was won by Stacy Trainor, 7, of Wollaston. Persons contributing $1 or more to the fishbowl were eligible for the drawing. The TV was donated by John Porca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy, who had donated microwave ovens as prizes for the past two years. Stacy lives at 117 Vassal St., Wollaston and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Trainor.

HMMM, NOT BAD! John Fantucchio checks the tabulation figures as pledges pour in Monday afternoon.

BRINGING THEIR COIN banks to help Jerry's Kids were Corrine, 2, and Stacy Trainor, 7, of Wollaston. They put over $20 into the fish bowl. Stacy was the lucky winner of a 13-inch color TV set donated by Vesco, Inc. of West Quincy.

First Play Planned

Federal Grant Earmarked To Finish Ruth Gordon Theater

Local thespians may be trodding the boards of the controversial Ruth Gordon Amphitheater in Merrymount Park by the middle of next May.

Mayor Tobin Tuesday announced that Quincy District Court has received a $60,000 federal grant, $20,000 of which will go for materials with which to finish the amphitheater.

The work will be done by youthful offenders assigned to the court's "Earn It" program and by CETA trainees, under the supervision of Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park and Recreation Board.

The amphitheater, named after famed Quincy-born actress Ruth Gordon, was started under a $500,000 CETA grant but left unfinished in the winter of 1977-78 when the funding ran out.

Tobin and representatives of the district court also disclosed that part of the funding will go to setting up a theater group called the "Theater Connection" to produce programs at the amphitheater.

Earn It youngsters and CETA workers will also be involved in the productions.

Susan Buccini, an education counselor at the court, said the target date for the first production is the middle of May.

"The first show will be a community review of some sort, getting all elements of the community involved," she said. "Quincy public schools, Quincy Community Theater, as many such groups as possible to open it."

She said the company will be organized around Oct. 1 with production services provided to area community theaters.

"In that way," she said, "participants will be learning marketable skills such as carpentry, electrical work, graphic design, all the skills necessary to produce a play."

"The culmination of those skills and efforts will be the first production at the Ruth Gordon Theater."

Miss Buccini and Peter Schottmiller, director of the youth program at the court, will be working together to set up the Theater Connection.

Koch, whose men have already done some work on the unfinished amphitheater in their spare city time, said the project should be completed sometime in the spring under the new grant.

The total seating capacity of the theater will be 400, of which some 200 seats are already finished.

"It's a tedious type of operation," said Koch. "It's all hand work. You can't use vehicles in there because of the terrain."

He estimated that about $12,000 will be spent on the cement work with $8,000 going to landscaping and fencing.

"It would be impossible for the city to undertake this in the present fiscal crisis," he said. "Unless it was moved in this direction this would never be completed."

'People Will Talk About It' 60-Ton Constitution Sculpture To Be Unveiled

By TOM HENSHAW

At long last, Quincy is going to get a look at the massive sculpture symbolizing the drafting of the Massachusetts Constitution that Ed Monti of West Quincy has been working on for more than a year.

The 60-ton, 14-stone monument, which has been described as a "Picasso-type of sculpture", will be unveiled Saturday, at 1 p.m. on McIntyre Mall beside the City Hall Annex.

The featured speaker at the dedication ceremonies will be Judge Edward F. Hennessey of Needham, chief justice of the Massachusetts Judicial Court.

Designed by Jerry Reichler and worked in Quincy granite by Monti using an exclusive thermo-sculpting technique, the monument was to have been ready for last year's celebration but missed the deadline.

"It will be a controversial design," said James R. McIntyre, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission. "Some people won't like it but people will talk about it. A lot of people will want to see it."

Reicher and Monti describe their creation like this:

"The men who drafted the Massachusetts Constitution: John

Adams, Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin, are represented here by the three granite forms which direct the flow of movement toward the middle of the sculpture.

"The rough and undulating surface texture of these primary stones indicate the developing thoughts of the three men as they collaborated on the drafting of the original constitution."

"The interplay of form and space around this grouping suggests the interchange of ideas that must have taken place between the three."

"The middle stone, representative of John Adams, arches forward bridging the gap to the pieces representative of the dynamic structure of the Constitution."

"As the creation of a government is a building process of thought and ideas, the pieces facing the three primary stones curve and interact upon each other suggesting the unifying strength of the Constitution."

The monument will cost the city $12,000 but its actual value is placed at $23,000.

"I wanted to do something for the city where we have lived all our lives," said Monti, who is the proprietor of the Monti Memorial Co. of West Quincy.

It is the first free form sculpture of such magnitude to be worked by thermo-sculpting, a process developed by Monti that employs kerosene and liquid oxygen.

Attached to the sculpture will be plaques quoting pertinent sections of the Massachusetts Constitution, which is acknowledged to be the forerunner of the United States Constitution.

Some of the sections quoted include:

"All men are born free and equal, and have certain natural, essential, and unalienable rights; among which may be reckoned the right of enjoying and defending their lives and liberties; that of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property; in fine that of seeking and obtaining their safety and happiness."

"Government is instituted for the common good; for the protection, safety, prosperity and happiness of the people; and not for the profit, honor, or private interest of any one man, family or class of men."

"No subject shall be held to answer for any crimes or offense, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself."

Ceremonies Saturday

Supreme Court Chief Justice Constitution Keynote Speaker

Judge Edward F. Hennessey of Needham, chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, will be the featured speaker Saturday, as Quincy observes the 200th anniversary of the adoption of the Massachusetts Constitution.

Judge Hennessey will speak at 1 p.m. on Constitution Plaza beside City Hall.

"It is altogether fitting that Judge Hennessey be the speaker at our celebration," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, "since it was the constitution that established our judicial system, including the supreme judicial court."

The Massachusetts Constitution was drafted by John Adams, Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin in John Adams' law office on Franklin St., South Quincy, in 1779 but it was not adopted as the supreme law of the state until a year later.

Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, will introduce Judge Hennessey and Dennis F. Ryan, clerk of the District Court for 29 years, will be honored during the ceremonies.

Ryan, 69, recently resigned from the City Hospital Board of Managers and, said Tobin, "I think it is appropriate that the city of Quincy, the Board of Managers and the Bar Associations honor a man who has served them so long and so well."

Judge Hennessey has been chief justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts since 1976 when he was elevated from associate justice, a post he had held for five years.

Judge EDWARD F. HENNESSEY

Prior to that, he was a Superior Court judge from 1967-1971.

His three judicial appointments were made by Govs. John A. Volpe and Francis W. Sargent, both Republicans, and Michael S. Dukakis, a Democrat.

Judge Hennessey is a graduate of Northeastern and the Boston University Law School. He was associate editor of the BU Law Review in 1948-49 and editor-in-chief of the Mass Law Quarterly in 1961-1964.

He was a trial lawyer specializing in the trial of causes before juries for 17 years in state and federal courts and he served as assistant district attorney of Middlesex County in 1955 and 1956.

Sky Divers To Jump From 3,000 Feet

Those won't be enemy paratroopers descending from the sky or Faxon Field about noon Saturday.

They will be sky divers from Gerald Sprague's Free Fall Productions of Braintree helping Quincy to kick off its Constitution Bicentennial weekend.

The divers, anywhere from four to 10 of them, will jump from about 3,000 feet, trailing flags of Quincy or the Constitution and smoke canisters, and perform a mid-air hookup.

In case of bad weather or an air traffic problem, the performance will be postponed until 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 7, at Pageant Field in Merrymount.

215th Army Band In Concert Saturday

The 215th Army National Guard Band, which performed for the Queen of England at Faneuil Hall in 1976, will play for the citizens of Quincy at City Hall on Saturday.

The concert will start at 12:30 p.m., break at 1 p.m. for the dedication of Ed Monti's Constitution sculpture, and then resur.e at 2 p.m.

The 63-piece concert band is under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer John T. Yunits of Holbrook, who recently received the Army Commendation Award from Gov. King and the Adjutant General.

Founded in 1950, the band is based in Fall River.

Presidential Inaugural Trip Prize For QCBPA Constitution Promotion

How would you like to be at the inauguration of President Carter, or President Reagan, or President Anderson?

And have bacon and eggs or pancakes with Cong. Brian J. Donnelly in the Congressional Dining Room?

That's the prize that is being offered in a drawing to be held Friday, Sept. 12, at 2 p.m. at The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St., in conjunction with Constitution Sale Days.

The winner will receive a trip for two to Washington, D. C., where they will be guests of Cong. Donnelly at the Jan. 20 inaugural and share breakfast with him in the Congressional Dining Room.

The trip, which is being arranged by Quinwell Travel Agency, 1424 Hancock St., includes transportation, three nights accommodations at a Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Washington, and $100 spending money.

Coupons for the drawing may be found in the Constitution Sale Days supplement in this week's Sun, to be clipped and deposited at the designated stores and businesses only through Saturday, Sept. 6.

Designated stores include:

Barker's, Baskin Robbins, Baybank/Norfolk Trust, Beacon Fabrics, Casual Concept, Colman's, Cummings, Edson Shoe, Frantic Framers, Friendly Family Center (FFC), A.E. Goodhue's, Granite City Electric, Hart's Jewelry, Import Village.

Jason's Luggage and Music, Kincaide's Furniture, Montilio's, Phase II, Quincy Cooperative Bank, Quincy Furniture, Quincy Savings Bank, Roger's Jewelry, Ryder's Sawyers Campus Shop, Tag's Discount Furniture, Tempo Fashions, Woolworth's, Yankee Energy Saver.

Over 20 Businesses Taking Part In Celebration

More than 20 North Quincy businesses will take part in the Constitution Bicentennial celebration, either by sponsoring sidewalk sale booths or through contributions.

They include:

Neighborhood Pharmacy, Barmo Used Furniture, Gallagher Floor Covering, Curtis Compact, McLelland 5 & 10.

Billings Card Shop, The Copper Kettle, Cammy's Deli, The Wheelhouse Diner.

Balducci's, Bargains Galore, Corbin's Fashion Shop, Burke's Seafood, Palma's Hair Styling.

Encore Consignment Shop, Joyce's Jewelers, Mr. Sub, Atlas Hardware, Pete's Meat Market, Squanto News, Walsh's Restaurant, Doran & Horrigan Insurance and the Schuster Corp.

The celebration is sponsored by the North Quincy Local Development Corporation in cooperation with the city of Quincy. LDC officers are Andrew Walsh of Walsh's Restaurant, president; J. Joseph Doran of Doran & Horrigan and Brendan Gallagher of Gallagher's Floor Covering, clerk.

Adams, Hancock Exhibit At Historical Society

The Quincy Historical Society will exhibit memorabilia of John Adams, John Quincy Adams, John Hancock and Abigail Adams during an open house from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Adams Academy building.

The displays will include: John Adams - a restored vest that he wore, one of his handwritten letters, a chair from his home and a print of his portrait.

John Quincy Adams - his leather riding breeches, a hand colored print and a letter.

John Hancock - a Chinese export punch bowl, a document with Hancock's signature and two prints of him.

Abigail Adams - a dress, a teacup she used at the White House, an invitation to dine with the President and the First Lady and one of her letters.

Also during the open house, punch and cookies will be served on the Adams Academy Lawn.

Bonfire Sunday Night

Quincy's Constitution Bicentennial weekend will draw to a close with the lighting of a 30-foot bonfire on the shores of Black's Creek in Merrymount Park at 8 p.m., Sunday.

2-Day Festival

Sidewalk Sale To Highlight NQ Celebration

North Quincy merchants will help observe the city's Constitutional Bicentennial Celebration with a two-day festival on Billings Rd., Friday and Saturday.

Highlights of the two-day celebration will include a sidewalk sale, a visit by the MDC Zoomobile, a drawing for 100 gallons of home heating oil, and other surprises for the youngsters.

Billings Rd. will be closed to parking, but not to traffic, between Hancock St. and Felton St. on Friday and Saturday, to make room for the sidewalk sale. About 20 local merchants and community groups are expected to sponsor outdoor booths during the sale.

Hours for the sidewalk sale are 1 to 8 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. The weekend celebration is sponsored by the North Quincy Local Development Corporation (LDC) in cooperation with the City of Quincy.

Shoppers will have the opportunity to win 100 gallons of home heating oil donated by Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., Inc. of North Quincy. Drawing applications will be available at each of the participating LDC merchants during the sale.

The MDC Zoomobile will visit the corner of Hancock and Vane Sts., between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday. The visit was arranged by Rep. Michael Morrissey, a member of the North Quincy Local Development Corporation. Also assisting in the festival planning is Councillor Joanne Condon.

Free ice cream, balloons and candy will be distributed to youngsters, also between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Clowns circulating the sale area on Saturday will add to the festive atmosphere.

In addition to Norfolk Downs retailers and restaurants, several community groups will sponsor booths. They include the Sacred Heart CYO, the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, North Quincy Girl Scouts, and the Cerebral Palsy Occupational Workshop.

The Cerebral Palsy booth will feature tables, shelves and other home furnishings created by the workshop's students. The workshop is located at 131 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Navy Band To Perform At Pageant Field Sunday

The Long Island Sound, a Navy band that plays the most modern of pop music, will entertain young and old alike in concert on Pageant Field, Merrymount, Sunday, at 6:30 p.m.

The band has 11 pieces, including three brass, an electric bass, drums and a guitar, and features four lead singers and a vocal group.

It was formed in 1972 to accompany two Navy patrol boats on a trip from New York to Chicago via the New York State Barge Canal and it proved so popular that it was continued as a permanent part of the Navy's music scene.

In the past eight years, members of the band have traveled more than 200,000 miles throughout the United States from their base in Newport, R.I.

"All the musicians have had prior experience before they entered the Navy," said the leader, Mu/3 Peter Tassey. "All have graduated from the Navy's School of Music in Norfolk, Va."

The Massachusetts Constitution

Born Here And Has Endured 2 Centuries

By TOM HENSHAW

John Adams, its creator-in-chief, was 3,500 miles away on a diplomatic mission in Paris on June 16, 1780, the day the Massachusetts Constitution was finally declared to have been ratified by vote of its towns.

But it is likely that the skillful politician in the statesman from Old Braintree (Quincy) would have appreciated the debt manner in which the Constitutional Convention slipped the document past a largely reluctant populace.

The process of counting the votes was such that 150 years later Gaspar G. Bacon, the president of the State Senate, concluded that "there is certainly grave doubt whether the Constitution of 1780 was legally ratified."

If you were with us a year ago when we observed the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the Constitution, you will recall that the Constitutional Convention met in September, 1779, and delegated the task to a committee of three.

The committee, John Adams, his cousin Sam Adams, and James Bowdoin, repaired to John's law office in what is now South Quincy and, with John Adams doing the bulk of the work, turned out the document that has endured now for two centuries.

Shortly after it was finished, John Adams was off to Europe to drum up a little trade with Holland and see what he could do about a peace treaty with England, leaving the Convention to explain his work to the people.

The winter of 1779-80 around Boston was unusually severe, the worst since 1717. The harbor was frozen over for the first time in memory. It was not until Jan. 27, 1780, that a quorum of delegates broke through the snow drifts to resume the Convention.

For five weeks they discussed, debated and haggled over the Adams' draft of the Constitution, made a few changes here and there, and on March 2 they had 1,800 copies of the finished work printed and dispatched to the towns for their approval.

Right there is where things started to get complicated.

The founding father of Massachusetts had been trying to put together a Constitution for the better part of five years. One effort had already been rejected. By this time, they were willing to do anything within or without reason to get it over with.

The towns were told to take up the Constitution article by article and vote on each one separately. They could vote yea or nay on the article as worded or yea or nay on the article "to be amended." Two-thirds vote was necessary for passage.

Thus, the delegates reasoned, if a town looked upon one article with disfavor, it would not feel called upon to reject the whole Constitution. The result, as could be expected, was confusion.

Everything appeared to go smoothly in Old Braintree. The Constitution was accepted on June 5, 1780, with "sum alterations and amendments." The town meeting also chose the Hon. Joseph Palmer Esq. to replace John Adams as its Convention delegate.

(The same meeting, incidentally, voted to allow tax collector Zebah Hayden 15 pounds out of the town treasury "for a counterfeited bill he says he received for taxes, the person he received of unknown.")

Only 10 persons -- all male, of course -- turned out to vote in a population of 1,006 in Biddeford, BIRTHPLACE of John Quincy Adams, where John Adams drafted the Massachusetts Constitution, receives a new coat of Stone (grayish-yellow) paint that will restore it to the way it looked in the early 19th century. Painters are Roy Christensen (left) and his son, Arthur. To the right is the John Adams birthplace, which retains its traditional red color but will soon be painted white.

York County, District of Maine, and someone scribbled on the bottom of the return, "Ten men may save the city."

In Gloucester, "the Constitution was read, and those for accepting were desired to walk around the Meeting House to the Eastward and those against to walk the other way -- 48 walked to Eastward, none the other way."

The problem came in counting the proposed amendments. It seemed like every town had its own pet amendment. Some were strictly off the wall. Others were unintelligible. Most of them the Convention simply ignored.

For instance, the vote of Essex on Article III was 922 in favor, 287 against, 448 in favor if amended, 29 against if amended. It was declared passed as is.

"In computing the vote for a given article," wrote Senate President Bacon in 1929, "the returns of practically all the towns were either counted in favor of it or not counted at all.

"This being so, a two-thirds majority was recorded for every article."

"Hence, there is certainly grave doubt whether the Constitution of 1780 was legally ratified."

But, Bacon added, "public opinion seemed to favor an end of the five years long discussion of the frame of government. No vigorous protest was made."

Massachusetts had a Constitution.

Open House Friday

First Quincy Family Reunion In 147 Years

"Descendants of the early immigrants, you have an inheritance acquired by their labours and sufferings. They founded the fabric of your prosperity in a severe morality, having intelligence for its cement and religion for its groundwork."

Thus Eliza Susan Quincy, who married into the sixth generation of the Quincy family, noted in her journal of Sept. 4, 1833, the day the family held its first reunion on the 200th anniversary of the landing in America of their common ancestor, Edmund Quincy.

Now, the "descendants of the early immigrants" are holding their second family reunion on Friday, exactly 347 years and one day after Edmund and his wife, Judith, stepped off the ship in Boston.

Invitations have been sent to some 200 of Edmund's current progeny and their spouses living in New England and New York, taken from a list compiled by Frank Quincy of Lynn and Mrs. John Quincy of Milton. About 60 are expected to attend.

There will be an open house Friday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Dorothy Quincy Homestead on Butler Rd. with music and refreshments for visitors who will be admitted free of charge.

The city of Quincy, which was named for Col. John Quincy of the family's fourth generation in America, will host the open house as part of its Constitution Bicentennial Celebration.

Coincidental with the second Quincy family reunion is the publication of Supplement No. 1 to the Quincy family genealogy, compiled by H. Hobart Holly, historian of the Quincy Historical Society.

Holly's original work, "Descendants of Edmund Quincy, 1602-1637, who settled in what is now Quincy, Massachusetts, in 1633," published in 1977, is the definitive volume of Quincy genealogy.

One of the purposes of the reunion is the establishment of a Quincy Family Society and a complete genealogical chart of Edmund's descendants, which must now total in the thousands.

Musical interludes during the open house will be performed by Virginia Sindelar Leguia on the flute, Ira Deutsch on the oboe, and Edward Swanborn on the harpsichord, playing 18th Century music that includes Bach and Mozart.

The program is coordinated by the New England Society of Concerned Musicians in cooperation with the Northeastern University Music Department Concert Series, James Forte, director.

Pageant At First Parish Church

A brand new pageant, "The Birth of Our Massachusetts Constitution," has been scripted by Otis B. Oakman Jr. of Braintree for presentation Sunday, at United First Parish Church.

The pageant will be presented in the church following ecumenical services at 11 a.m.

Oakman, who wrote the well-received pageant that was presented in the church last year, said this one will feature a discussion of the Massachusetts Constitution by John Adams and his brother-in-law, Richard Cranch.

Oakman will play the role of Cranch and Donald Blunt of Braintree will portray John Adams. Other historical characters, like Abigail Adams, will be introduced as the pageant proceeds.

Adams and Cranch will discuss the preamble to the Constitution, its setup of the state government and its 30 articles, which were drafted by John Adams in his South Quincy office in 1779.

Beale St. Closed Off Sidewalk Sales, Music, Roller Skating In Wollaston

Wollaston merchants will present music, a sidewalk sale and assorted fun Saturday, for the city's Constitution Bicentennial celebration.

Beale St. will be closed to traffic between Hancock St. and Clay St. from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday to make way for the festivities, sponsored by the Wollaston Center Business Association (WCBA).

About 20 merchants and community groups are expected to sponsor booths during the sidewalk sale. However, each of the WCBA's more than 50 members will feature special sales on Saturday.

Other special events scheduled for Saturday include:

- Music provided by a local rock band from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Roller skaters are invited to bring their own skates and "roller dance" to the music on closed-off Beale St.

- A pie-eating contest outside O'Brien's Bakery at 1:30 p.m. Pies will be provided by O'Brien's.

- An award presented to the person wearing "the most outrageous disco roller-skating outfit." Entries will be judged at 3:30 p.m.

- A 75-cent special showing of the Wollaston Theatre's feature film for the week, beginning at about 4:45 p.m.

- Pony rides for kids, costing 50 cents, from noon to 3 p.m., beginning at the Granite 5 & 10.

In addition, Ziggy the Clown will be in the neighborhood throughout the day, with prizes for kids.

'Golden Fellowship' Seniors Sponsoring Sidewalk 'Mini-Fair'

The Wollaston Golden Fellowship senior citizens group will hold a mini-fair Sept. 6 as part of the Wollaston sidewalk sale.

Both new and used items will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the mini-fair, which will be used to hold Christmas parties for the organization's disabled members.

Directing the Golden Fellowship booth will be President Mary MacLean and Chairwoman Marion Carmichael.

Kids and Konfidence

There are some kids who never seem to raise their hands in class... and never take their eyes from their shoelaces whenever someone talks to them. Nine out of ten of these same kids could compare and compete with anyone... at anything... It only they had a bit of that magic ingredient... CONFIDENCE. That's what we really specialize in at our modeling school. CONFIDENCE... especially for the younger set. We make them aware of their special, individual qualities... qualities which they alone possess. We help create habits in personal grooming, social graces, poise, etc. and help develop all other characteristics the world can see. Confidence grows... lesson by lesson, week by week... until a self-assured young woman emerges... capable of dealing with most any situation.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

Simply because a child will grow another set of teeth does not mean that the first set can be safely ignored. They are just as prone to cavities as any other teeth and plaque build-up on original teeth can severely damage gums if not treated. If gums are damaged, the second set of teeth do not really have a chance. Checked as well as patterns of growth for the new set of teeth. If the old ones have not fallen out before the new ones grow in, there could be a space problem. For proper growth of new teeth, old ones may even have to be extracted.

The healthy growth of a child's permanent teeth is important to the family dentist. Visit the office of DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S. Children should be taught early how to care for their teeth. Through regular treatment, good check-ups are pleasant. The family dentist, properly selected, should be a friend to your child and your child's teeth. Encourage good home care methods between visits and help fight tooth decay and gum disease that stem from bad habits started with baby teeth. Early visits to the dentist insure the proper development and care of baby teeth and provide the healthy foundation for permanent teeth. 539 Adams St., East Milton Square or call us at 698-3636 for an appointment today.

DENTAL TIP:

Mouthwashes do not cure bad breath, but simply and temporarily cover up the problem.

Brownell Chides MBTA On 'Very Poor' Service

Rep. Thomas Brownell has written a letter of complaint to MBTA Chairman Barry Locke saying "overcrowded," "unreliable" and "very, very poor" conditions on the Boston-to-Braintree Red Line.

"I've received a number of phone calls at my Boston and Quincy offices from constituents who use the Quincy Center, North Quincy and Wollaston stations," Brownell said.

"The majority of the 15 callers were 'very disgusted,'" Brownell said, complaining about overcrowded cars on the Red Line.

Quincy and Braintree commuters pay the highest T fare, $1.50 per round trip, Brownell noted.

"It is without a doubt that a better job can and should be done," Brownell said, adding that he "called on Locke to improve these unacceptable conditions immediately."

Locke had not replied to the letter as of three days later, Brownell said.

John Comer, chairman of the city board of assessors, will discuss the new assessment of property at the Merrymount Association's Sept. 11 meeting.

For Houghs Neck Man Hand Again Quicker Than Eye

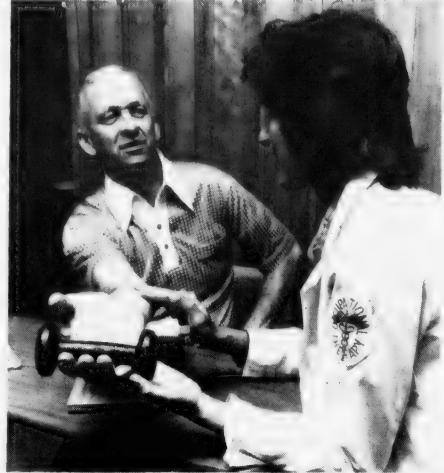

For those involved with live theatre, 'The hand is quicker than the eye', must hold true, especially for Houghs Neck resident Richard Keyes, a stage hand in charge of assembling and changing scenery sets at many of Boston's major Broadway shows.

But Keyes, who lives at 75 Post Island Rd., hasn't always had a quick hand.

In fact, he was out of work for a year due to a fall that totally incapacitated his right hand and arm. After receiving medical care, including surgery, for his severely fractured and dislocated bones, he was referred to the Braintree Hospital Hand Clinic for intensive rehabilitative therapy.

When he first went to Braintree Hospital, Keyes says his shoulder and elbow were "frozen". His hand was clenched, completely unfunctional, and he was in constant pain that made it impossible to sleep.

At the Hand Clinic he was evaluated by a physician, physical therapist and occupational therapist who designed and implemented a comprehensive treatment program to increase the strength and mobility of his arm and hand.

At first Keyes received 10 hours of therapy per week, working with therapists to improve his grip, as well as the use and strength of his fingers, wrist, elbow and shoulder. As he improved, therapy was decreased to five hours per week, and supplemented with a home exercise program.

Injuries treated at the Hand Clinic, an outpatient service, include rheumatoid arthritis, tendon or nerve lacerations, and fractured bones following an accident or sports-related injury.

Treatment programs often include splinting to properly position the hand, to provide rest for a joint, improve functional ability, or to maximize the strength or motion of a joint; active and passive exercises to increase range of motion; resistive exercises to increase strength and mobility; hot wax, whirl-pool and hot packs to decrease pain and improve flexion; instruction in home exercises; and follow-up evaluations.

Keyes says he's almost as active now as he was before his accident, and is able not only to continue with his theater work, but also to work iron construction part-time and to do his own yard work, painting and pool maintenance at home. He continues with his prescribed home exercise program, including grip exercises, lifting weights and applying hot and ice packs. Follow-up evaluations are completed on a regular basis and additional therapy is provided when necessary.

"The main thing," Keyes insists, "is to never take the easy way around an injury. It won't get better if you do. At Braintree Hospital, they don't let you take it easy. My therapists and doctor made me work very hard, and constantly gave me the incentive to progress. Now I'm able to work again."

McGrath Calls For Reform Of MBTA

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, a candidate for State Representative has called for a reform of the MBTA to resolve problems caused by "years of inattention and neglect".

McGrath told campaign supporters at the home of Daniel O'Malley, 5 Perry Road, Wollaston, that he saw several problems in the operation of the "T". "The T's deficit will exceed $194 million this year, up from $140 million in 1975," said McGrath. "This increasing deficit causes a larger proportion of local revenues from the local communities to help fund the T. As a result, local property taxes must rise in order to provide essential local services."

"Also, the state's 50 percent share rises, leaving less money for the state to fund its own programs and to return to local communities to lessen property taxes."

McGrath also pointed out that it is difficult to hold a specific group of individuals solely responsible for the T's operation. "The Governor appoints the Board of Directors who preside over management; the budget is reviewed by the Advisory Board and then funded by the Legislature," he said. "With no single person or group with full responsibility, there is no accountability to local voters or taxpayers."

McGrath proposed the following recommendations to begin to deal with the T's problems:

- Clearer designation of authority and accountability.
 - Eligibility guidelines for hiring top management of the transit system.
 - Tighter controls on spending.
 - Prospective appropriations.
- Currently, T expenses are funded one year after expenditure by the Legislature, in effect working backwards. Money is spent first then appropriated. The reverse should be the case.

- A designated funding source for T deficits to prevent the state from dipping into local aid accounts for T monies.

McGrath noted that MBTA reform is complex as reform must address efficiency, accountability and reducing transit costs to local communities.

"However, these problems must be addressed immediately," he concluded. "The citizens of Quincy and the Commonwealth can no longer afford legislative inaction on such an important issue."

Wollaston Home Improvement To Be Explained Sept. 10

A community meeting will be held Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wollaston Methodist Church to explain details of the new Wollaston Home Improvement Program.

The program, funded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is designed to assist income-eligible homeowners in improvement and light carpentry work on the exteriors of their homes.

Income guidelines are on a sliding scale from $10,550 for a family of one to $18,800 for a family of eight or more.

Representatives of the Quincy Planning Department will be present at Wednesday's meeting to answer questions relative to the program.

Obituaries

Emeline O'Brien, 89, Retired Clerk For City

Funeral services were held Aug. 29 at St. Mary's Church for Miss Emeline O'Brien, 89, a retired clerk for the city of Quincy.

Miss O'Brien, a lifelong resident of Quincy, died Aug. 27 at a Braintree nursing home.

Born in Quincy, she was the daughter of the late John and Catherine (Harrington) O'Brien.

She was a member of the Quincy Senior Citizens and had served as the group's treasurer for many years.

She is survived by four nieces, Mrs. Marie Gunderson of Boston,

Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw of New Jersey, Mrs. Kathleen McCormick of Quincy and Mrs. Barbara Lloyd of Holbrook; four nephews, Dr. John O'Brien of Hanover, Frederick O'Brien of California, Richard O'Brien of Braintree and Francis Beaudry of Pembroke; two sisters-in-law, Mary C. O'Brien of Hingham and Mrs. Mary Beaudry and several grandnieces and grandnephews.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St., West Quincy. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Floyd, 83, Retired Cashier

A funeral Mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at St. Ann's Church for Mary Ellen "Mamie" (Barry) Floyd, 83 of Wollaston who died Sunday at Milton Hospital.

Born in Boston, she lived in Mission Hill before moving to Wollaston 10 years ago.

Mrs. Floyd was a retired cashier at Boston State College.

Wife of the late William F. Floyd, she is survived by two sons, William F. Floyd of Abington, Leonard M. Floyd of Quincy; a daughter, Mary E. Gethin of Wollaston; a sister, Eileen Donehey of Medford; 17 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Wollaston. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Richard Aitken, 31, David Lydon, 27, Died In R.I. Truck Accident

A funeral Mass was celebrated Aug. 29 at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for Richard K. Aitken and David M. Lydon, half-brothers who died in a Aug. 26 truck accident in Exeter, R.I.

The pair were hauling cobblestones north on Rt. 1-95 when one tire of their rented truck suffered a blowout. The truck swerved, traveled across the median strip and the southbound lane and struck an embankment.

Mr. Aitken, 31, was pronounced dead at the scene while Mr. Lydon, 27, died several hours later at a Warwick, R.I. hospital.

A third person in the truck,

Kevin Joyce, 24, of Weymouth, suffered serious injuries.

Mr. Aitken won several medals and decorations during 22 months in Vietnam with the Marine Corps. He was discharged in 1970 after suffering a severe back injury.

Since the Marine discharge, he had worked as a locksmith and carpenter at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, West Roxbury.

Born in Melrose, he was a longtime Quincy resident and the father of two.

Mr. Lydon was born in Quincy and lived most of his life here. He was self-employed in the construction business.

They are survived by their parents, Edward M. Lydon and Mrs. Janice (Arey) Lydon of Quincy; two brothers, Peter Aitken of Braintree and Paul Aitken of Texas; and a sister, Andrea Derringer of Hanover.

Mr. Aitken is also survived by his wife, Maria T. (Rugo) Aitken; a son, Richard K. Aitken, Jr.; and a daughter, Trina Maria Aitken, all of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Lydon-Russell Funeral Home, 644 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Knollwood Memorial Park, Canton.

Joseph H. Erwin, 83, Retired Police Sergeant

A funeral Mass was to be celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. John's Church for Joseph H. Erwin, 83, formerly of Quincy who died Aug. 31, at St. Luke's Hospital, Middleboro.

Mr. Erwin was born in Quincy and lived here for 68 years before moving to Rockland 15 years ago.

He was a retired police sergeant for the Quincy Police Department of which he was a member from 1919 until his retirement in 1961.

He then became a security guard for South Shore National Bank, Quincy, where he worked until 1971.

A world War I Army veteran, he was a member of the Morissette American Legion Post, Quincy; the Massachusetts Police Association; the All-State Retired Police and Firefighters Association and an honorary life member of the Quincy Knights of Columbus.

Husband of the late Edith M. (Gardner) Erwin, he is survived by a son, retired Army Colonel Charles E. Erwin of Carver; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave. Burial was to be in Blue Hills Cemetery, Braintree.

Mrs. Agnes E. Classon, 87

She was a member of Faith Lutheran Church and Lodge Sandia, VOA of Braintree.

She is survived by her husband, Mattis Classon; a son, Harry V. Classon of Quincy; a daughter, Hazel Whittier of Georgia; two brothers and two sisters, all of Sweden; four grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

100 Balloons Released Vacation School Concludes At Good Shepherd Church With Special Celebration

A special celebration including the release of more than 100 helium-filled balloons marked the successful completion recently of a vacation church school at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, North Quincy.

The balloons were released in the church yard by the 50 members of the class, in kindergarten through grade six, in conjunction with the church school's theme, "Travels with Jesus".

Attached to each balloon was a message of love and friendship written by the children. The message also contained the address and telephone number of the church which the finders of the balloons were asked to call. Four hours later, Pastor Darrell Urban received a call from Mrs. Joseph Roman of Ledyard, Ct., about 150 miles away, who reported that four balloons dropped in her back yard.

The church hopes to hear from others who have found the balloons.

donations or on consignment. The shop services a large and expanding area and always has a warm welcome for new as well as old friends.

Brunch, Entertainment At Squantum First Church

A chrysanthemum sale, brunch and entertainment are scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 6, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the First Church of Squantum as the church begins "Fiesta '80", a series of fundraisers. The event coincides with segments of Quincy's Constitution Celebration, and the brunch will include quiche, salad, dessert and beverage. Entertainment will be by folk singers August and Deneen. Coordinators Susan Sullivan and Marie Reister suggest First Church would be a place for those joining in the Constitution Celebration to rest a while, eat and be entertained.

Registration For Houghs Neck Girl Scouts Sept. 9

Girl Scout registration for Houghs Neck will be held Tuesday, Sept. 9, at 1 p.m. at the Atherton Hough School gymnasium.

Levels available are brownies for those in grades one to three; juniors, grades four to six; cadettes, grades seven to nine; and seniors, grades 10 to 12.

A small, national registration fee is required to cover scout insurance for the year.

St. Mary's Boy Scouts To Meet Sept. 10

St. Mary's Boy Scout Troop, West Quincy, will hold its first meeting of the season for scouts and parents Wednesday, Sept.

10, at 7 p.m. in the church hall.

New boys are welcome to come to the meeting and find out about the program.

Wollaston Cub Scout Registration Sept. 7, 8

Cub Scout Pack 21 of Wollaston will hold registration Sunday and Monday, Sept. 7 and 8, at 7 p.m. in St. Ann's Youth Center, St. Ann's Rd., Wollaston.

Each boy must be accompanied by a parent, and to join Cub Scout's a boy must be in the third, fourth or fifth grade, or be eight to eleven years old.

For more information, contact James Blyth at 479-6516, or Ed Danna, 471-5532.

Church School Resumes Sunday At First Parish

The Church School of United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will resume classes Sunday, September 7, at 10:30 a.m.

Children will meet on the church grounds to observe a special "Welcome Back" festival which will include the release of helium balloons bearing messages of peace, brotherhood, and love.

Religious Education Committee co-chairpersons Celia Blight and Barbara Stackhouse are in charge of this year's program which will feature a multi-media curriculum on holidays and festivals around the world.

The curriculum is designed to give the children an idea of the variety in these celebrations and to show the character of many different countries and religions.

An open classroom approach, with the children meeting in one class and dispersing into small interest-groups, will be used for the first time this year.

School Committee Rejects Plan For Enclosed Municipal Stadium

The School Committee voted down a plan to take over Pfaffman's Oval and nearby land in Merrymount Park and develop it into an enclosed stadium for high school athletics.

The committee felt there were too many restrictions on rentals.

For one thing, it would not be possible to rent the field out to other than school teams and charge admission for the events.

Also all funds taken in at the gate for admission to school contests would have to be placed in the general fund in the city treasury.

Committeemen John H. Taylor and George W. Abele were named to a subcommittee to see if the restrictions could be lifted.

SCORES THICK DRIVERS

Ralph S. Towne, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, urged Mayor Thomas S. Burgin to take action against the "thick drivers" from Braintree and Weymouth who violate Quincy traffic rules.

The next day an auto driven by a Quincy man ran into a traffic box in Weymouth Landing at the Braintree-Weymouth line, knocking a police officer to the street and injuring his back and leg.

Thomas Travers, a Public Safety Committee member from Quincy Point, demanded that Mayor Burgin remove Towne as chairman because his utterances held the committee up to ridicule.

Jock Semple Official Starter

300 Entered In 26-Mile Presidents Marathon

Jock Semple, the Scotsman who has earned the title of "Mr. Boston Marathon" over the past 50 years, will lend his presence as official starter for the first annual City of Presidents Marathon Sunday.

Semple, who gained national notoriety a dozen years ago when he attempted to force a woman runner out of the then-all male Boston footrace, will send the runners on their way at 10 a.m. in front of United First Parish Church.

The measure of changing times is that a large number of the expected 300 runners who will receive Semple's blessing will be women.

The 26-mile, 385-yard course, entirely within Quincy, has been laid out so that the runners will travel twice over a 13.1-mile loop that takes them past most of the historic sites in the city.

"It's a fairly tough course," reported Bob Seamans of Merry-mount who ought to know since he has run 15 Boston Marathons and was the 1978 New England AAU 50-mile masters (over 40) champion.

Seamans and John Booras, who certified the Boston AA course, recently spent 12 hours one day checking the Quincy course to make sure it was the sanctioned marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards.

After leaving the Church, the runners will go down Washington St. toward Quincy Point and then take the following streets:

South St., East Howard St., Quincy Ave., Faxon Rd., Franklin St., High St., Independence Ave., Presidents Lane, Water-Copeland

Sts., Furnace Brook Parkway, Adams St., Newport Ave., Hancock St., back to the Church.

The 13.1-mile course will be run twice.

The overall winner of the race will receive the Mayor's Trophy, presented by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin at City Hall ceremonies at 2 p.m., by which time almost all the runners will have finished.

There are 75 other awards, including trophies, silver bowls, plaques and merchandise donated by local merchants. One of the prizes is six car washes donated by the Wollaston Auto Wash.

The first male and female runners to finish who are Quincy residents will receive trophies

The men's masters (over 40) and the women's masters winners will also receive trophies

All who finish the race will receive commemorative medallions and, by mail, certificates attesting to their times. All participants will receive T-shirts for their efforts.

A medical station will be set up on McIntyre Mall, water and energy drinks will be dispensed every two miles and a barbecue will be held after the race with hot dogs and cold drinks for the runners and their families.

If the day turns out to be hot, residents along the course are encouraged to get their garden hoses out and wet down the runners as they pass.

Brian Devin, Jake Mahoney and Seamans are co-chairmen of the race, which is staged by the Quincy Flyers Running Club, based at the Quincy YMCA.

Sponsors are the South Boston Savings Bank, the Patriot Ledger and the Quincy Constitution Celebration Committee, headed by former Mayor James R. McIntyre.

All Norwood Finals

Colombos Blanks Police For Crown

It was an all-Norwood finale in the Junior Baseball tournament held at Artery Fields 1 and 2.

Forty-seven games were required to complete the triple elimination tournament.

Norwood Colombos blanked Norwood Police, 6-0, in the championship game. In the previous game the Police had blanked Colombos, 5-0, necessitating one more game.

Sixteen teams, including five from Quincy, started the tournament.

Quincy National defeated St. John's of Quincy, 6-3, with Bob Kane the winning pitcher and Tony Koury the loser.

For the Nationals Dave Maimaron had a double, Scott Miller a double and single and Eric Roukey, Bob Kane, Joe Zaccheo and Jimmy Kane a single each. For St. John's Dan Sanby had two singles, Bob Kozlowski and Mike Shields a double each and Scott Flaherty and George Murphy a single apiece.

Quincy Americans defeated South Braintree, 7-4, with Bob Bradley the winner.

John Cristiani had two triples and two singles to pace Quincy, Bradley had four singles, Mike Murphy two singles, Chris Rossi a double and Joe Cullen and Chris Doyle a single each.

North Weymouth edged Quincy Nationals, 2-1, with Roukey the hard luck loser. He pitched one of the tournament's better games, allowing two hits, striking out 15 and walking only one. Weymouth pushed across the winning run in the fourth inning, snapping a 1-1 tie.

P.J. Hussey and Roukey had the only hits for Quincy.

Norwood Police squeezed by Quincy Americans, 2-1, in another outstanding pitching duel, with Christiani the loser, despite pitching a five-hitter.

Doyle had two singles and drove in the only Quincy run, Murphy, Bob Carty, Roy Peterson and John Carroll a single each.

Norwood Colombos blanked Quincy Americans, 5-0, with Carty the losing pitcher.

Rossi had two singles and Christiani a double for Quincy's only hits.

Norwood Police shut out Quincy Americans, 3-0, with Christiani the loser.

Bradley had a double and a single, the only hits for Quincy.

Other scores: Norwood Police 7, South Braintree 6; North Weymouth 8, Hingham 4; Norwood Colombos 4, Norwood Police 3, North Weymouth 0.

Four Quincy players, Al Martell of St. John's, Cristiani and Doyle of Quincy Americans, and Roukey of Quincy Nationals, were named to the all-tournament team.

The other selections were Joe Rafferty, North Weymouth; Bob Goonan and Keith Chagaris, Norwood Colombos; Rick Sunder, South Braintree; John Conti and Gary Doherty, Norwood Police and Paul Sines, Hingham A.

Youth Baseball Registration Saturday

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Here's an amazing fact from football... No team has EVER won the national championship in college football 3 years in a row in the entire history of the news-service polls, which started in 1936. . . . Several teams have won the national title 2 years in a row, but none has done it 3 straight. . . . Alabama could become the first in history to do it this season since they were voted national champs by at least one of the news-services in both 1978 and 1979.

There are 4 teams in the National Football League who play their home games indoors in domed stadiums... Can you name all 4? . . . They are Houston, New Orleans, Seattle and Detroit.

When was the last time the National Football League had a team that was able to go through a whole season undefeated? . . . It hasn't happened in any of the last 7 seasons. . . . That last NFL team to go undefeated all year was the Miami Dolphins who finished the 1972 season with a record of 17 wins and no losses.

I bet you didn't know... that you'll find all the back to school items at Colman's. Footwear, shirts, shorts, socks, game needs. And... at prices that will amaze you. Shop Colman's for full selection.

Many Holes To Fill

70-Man Squad

Graduation Thins Quincy's Ranks

Quincy's football team enjoyed its best season in 10 years last year with a 7-2-1 record, but Coach Tom Fitzgerald's Presidents, hit hard by graduation, will be hard put to equal that record this fall.

"We were really hit by graduation and are very thin," Fitzgerald said. "We have very few returnees on offense and defense and have a lot of holes to fill. A lot of the boys will have to play both ways."

"We have only 54 juniors and seniors working out, but we have the best crop of sophomores in years with 70 reporting and they include some real good players."

The only returning starters on offense are Capt. Fran Duggan, who should be an all-scholastic tackle; end Sean Burke and halfback Ed Iodice, one of two co-captains.

Other lettermen on offense are ends Scott Anson and Bill Hall, quarterback Ron Pettinelli, halfback Mike Abboud and fullback Mike Monahan.

Among the other players who will play on offense are ends Joe LaRita, son of the former mayor and a transfer from B.C. High, and Bill Walsh; tackles Bill Robinson, John Varraso (6-2, 230), Kevin Chapman, Paul Martin, Dave Donnelly and Bobby Willard, one of two sophomores with an excellent chance to make the varsity; guards Chris Chevalier, who at 225 pounds will play along side Duggan, 6-2, 235; John Taglieri, Co-Capt Walt Kilgallon, John Cristello and Steve Rosetti, and

Sean Martin will backup Pettinelli at quarterback, Iodice, the fastest man on the team, will team up with Abboud at halfback and there are several fullback hopefuls, some of who may be shifted to halfback. They are Monahan, Mark Picot, who will do the punting along with Pettinelli, Mike Nevins, Javier Perez, Steve Goguen and another fine sophomore prospect, Sal Lorenzano.

"Although we are pretty thin the boys have a good outlook and have a lot of spirit," Fitzgerald said. "All returned in good shape and are really working hard. They now know our system and I feel the first week's practice was the best since I've been here."

"Chevalier and Duggan should be something, going side by side."

"Pettinelli is looking very good at quarterback and his passing has been excellent. He has a pair of great targets in Sean Burke, who goes 6-5, and Anson, who is 6-3. Iodice will be one of the fastest runners in our league. Pettinelli will kick our points after touchdowns, field goals, and punts, and Hall will do our kicking off."

Quincy, which opens Sept. 20 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a Suburban League game, scrimmaged Everett last Saturday and Boston Tech yesterday (Wednesday). The Presidents will scrimmage Arlington Saturday and finish up with another against B.C. High on Saturday, the 13th.

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy has had two straight losing football seasons and Coach Dave Burke feels the defense will be the key to the Raiders' success this fall.

"Defense looks like our strength and it will be up to them to keep us in the game until the offense catches up," he said. "We have some good boys on offense but not too many with varsity experience."

Burke has a squad of about 70 working out and some of the players had been on National Guard duty and had not reported last week. Ted Sadowski, starting his 23rd year as a North assistant, has 30 working out for his sophomore squad.

Burke has an outstanding offensive weapon in Jack Leone, one of the best place kickers in the Suburban League and any time the Raiders get into scoring position he is a good bet to give them three points.

Leone, also an outstanding end and one of North's four captains, kicked several long field goals last year as well as most of his extra point tries and he is capable of kicking field goals up to nearly 50 yards.

"There is no doubt Leone gives us big advantage over several teams with his excellent kicking," Burke said. "And, Jack Brown, who holds the ball for him, is also back, another break for us." Brown is another captain. Leone, incidentally, kicks with his shoe off.

Not one to rest on his laurels, Leone has worked on his kicking much of the summer.

Brown is back at quarterback and is backed up by Mike Pimental and Pat Burke. Brown is a fine passer and he has some excellent ends to pass to.

Two veterans, Bob McCormack and Dean Zoia, return at fullback and both are fine runners.

Burke has several good looking halfbacks, most up from the junior varsity, including Jamie Walsh, Phil Donaghey, Joe Dudek, Steve McEachern, Jim Sullivan, Dan Linehan and Paul Murphy.

In the offensive line Leone and Brian O'Leary, a veteran and the team's punter, head the ends. Co-Capt. Glen Segalla, who played defense a year ago, Bob Boister, Bill Gray and Kevin Wood, out for the first time, also look good.

Billy Feeney, Neil Fisher and Steve Mariano are trying for the center spot.

At guard Co-Capt. Lou DePietro, an outstanding veteran, leads the pack and he is joined by Mike Panaro, Paul Ciarella, Mark Micelli, Rich Hernon and Bob Danna.

Veteran John Buckley leads the tackles and other hopefuls are Ed Hannon, Pete McDonough, Steve Lee and Chuck Silva.

"We have to develop some depth on offense but I think with a little more experience we will be able to move the ball," Burke said.

Offensive line coach George Liset, a recent bridegroom, admits the line lacks varsity experience. "But the boys are working very hard and we will come along," he said.

North will open its season Sept. 20 at home against old time rival Milton in a non-league game.

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 4,

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

What you see isn't really what you'll be getting—so make choices with added care. Outstanding employment opportunity around corner. Conduct health inventory among loved ones.

PISCES—February 20-March 20

Don't be timid about speaking mind on weekend. Thrift pays dividends, especially Monday-Wednesday. Loved ones find most peculiar ways to demonstrate affections.

ARIES—March 21-April 20

It's worth extra effort to get to know offbeat personality you meet now. Travel dream becomes much more of reality. Good ideas backfire; hold them in reserve for use in coming weeks.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Funds arrive ahead of schedule, but this doesn't mean it's time to splurge. Mechanically, you're not quite as adept as you believe. Creatively you shine and there's chance to make money from hobby.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Social event of season could be announced this week. Loved one is in poetic mood but you may be feeling defiant. Good period for joining self-improvement group, but not so good for changing appearance.

CANCER—June 22-July 22

Cautious optimism is path to success now. Drab acquaintance proves unimaginably colorful on weekend. Family tension eases but avoid tiffs with touchy colleagues and neighbors.

LEO—July 23-August 22

The lyrics of favorite old song can take on new and deeper meaning. Time is ripe to assert your independence. If hedging about asking for raise or announcing plans, speak up by Wednesday.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Sports activities can be your forte—and recreation does a lot to perk up attitude and looks. You're bound to meet someone you've been avoiding, and it's best to follow instinct.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22

If traveling there can be lots of surprises—mostly pleasant. But be sure to avoid excesses of sunshine and spicy foods. Shift in roles takes place with romance or business partner.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Obligations threaten to cramp style; recruit help from family members. Watch out for yen to buy luxury items—even if you convince yourself they're really essentials. Recent mystery is unraveled.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

Good week for developing new interests, getting in touch with old friends. Romance stays happy so long as you don't interfere with partner's moodiness. Beware of slick salespeople on weekend.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

You excel in practical matters and others look to you for leadership. Money-making opportunity opens and shuts before you know it. You're in limelight—and loving it—on weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Excellent opportunities to form lasting relationships—in friendship, business or romantic spheres. Key is to adapt to circumstances (you're very good at this) during a hectic autumn and to have greater faith in your ability (this is a weakness) through the year.

BORN THIS WEEK

September 4th, actress Mitzi Gaynor; 5th, comedian Bob Newhart; 6th, actress Jo Anne Worley; 7th, author Taylor Caldwell; 8th, actor Peter Sellers; 9th, actress Krisy McNichol; 10th, guitarist Jose Feliciano.

Quincy Quiz

Three winners in the Quincy Quiz this week, including one of the youngest ever.

A Quincy Sun T-shirt goes to 11-year-old Margaret T. Mitchell of 36 Eddie St., Wollaston, for successfully answering the five questions.

A T-shirt also to David Lubarsky of Water St., South Quincy. Al Bradish of 131 Clay St., Wollaston, was the winner of a Quincy Sun bumper sticker.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers. One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the executive secretary of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board?
 2. In what section of the city is Heron Road Beach?
 3. A playground in North Quincy was named for Welcome G. Young. Who was Welcome G. Young?
 4. Before the coming of all-numbered telephone numbers, the telephone exchanges had names. What were the names of Quincy's three-telephone exchanges?
 5. The Fore River Shipyard is a division of the General Dynamics Corp. What company owned the shipyard before General Dynamics?
- Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:
1. The name of the chairman of the Quincy Board of Registration for Voters is Guy Faiella.
 2. The Fore river Clubhouse is in the Quincy Point section of Quincy.
 3. The initials GAR in Paul J. Revere GAR Post stand for Grand Army of the Republic, the organization of Civil War veterans.
 4. Ruth G. Jones, who was a member of the Class of 1914 at Quincy High School, is better known today as Ruth Gordon, the actress.
 5. Dr. Nathaniel S. Hunting, for whom the Hunting School was named, was a member of the first medical staff of Quincy City Hospital in 1890 and a member of the School Committee for 36 years.

GD Names Murphy Marine Group V.P. Marketing

James J. Murphy has been appointed Vice President-Marketing for the Marine Group of General Dynamics.

P. Takis Veliotis, General Dynamics' Executive Vice President-Marine, who made the announcement, said Murphy will be responsible for coordinating the marketing activities of the Quincy Shipbuilding Division and the Charleston, S.C., facility, as well as for marketing commercial products and services of Electric Boat Division in Groton, Conn., Quonset Point, R.I., and Avon, N.J.

Murphy, who will be headquartered at Quincy and will report to Veliotis, was previously Vice President-Marketing at the General Dynamics' Pomona Division in California.

He is a native of New York City and joined General Dynamics in 1969. He has held various marketing positions in the company's corporate headquarters and in the Washington, D.C., office. Before his Pomona assignment, he was Vice President-General Dynamics International Corp., with headquarters in Brussels. Murphy was graduated from St.

John's University, Jamaica, N.Y., in 1960 with a bachelor of arts degree in history. He served in the Navy for nine years and earned a master of science degree in management from the U.S. Naval Post-Graduate School, Monterey, Calif., in 1966.

Stay Alive!

By Jack Silverstein

MOST COMMON ALLERGY

What is the most common allergic disease suffered by Americans? If your answer is hay fever - you are 100% right! Each year, some 250,000 persons in this country lose a week or more of work or school because of the disease.

The sufferer has attacks of sneezing, congestion, and itching of the eyes, nose, and throat.

The severity of hay fever depends on the amount of pollen in the air and the person's degree of sensitivity. Most trouble occurs when the weather is hot, dry, sunny and windy. However, some persons become worse on cool or rainy days.

Although hay fever is not dangerous, it should not be neglected, especially in children.

Hay fever, according to medical authorities, can have serious complications such as trouble in the ears, nasal sinuses, and bronchi of the lungs.

At Board's Recommendation

Goodyear, Whitney Rd. Residents To Work On Problems

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Residents of Whitney Rd., Quincy Center, will meet with representatives of the Goodyear Service Store, 1132-1138 Hancock St., to try and iron out problems between the two which surfaced Tuesday at the first License Board meeting of the new session.

The meeting between the two, to take place in the next few weeks, was suggested by Councilor Daniel Raymond after discussion of plans for improving the building reverted to residents reporting problems with Goodyear as a neighbor.

Goodyear came before the board to request permits to store 45 gallons of motor fuel in tanks of cars, aboveground, in addition to present storage of 75 gallons; and an increase in service bays from four to six.

Nicholas Passias of Goodyear's real estate department explained there would be no expansion of the building and that the sales area would be cut down. Passias said the increase in bays was necessary to offset a rent increase from $700 to $4000 a month.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert McKeogh and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald questioned plans for enclosing rubbish outdoors. Robert Luongo reported that the plans, which also include the addition of an outdoor clock and shrubbery, had been approved by the Planning Department.

Raymond then presented board members a letter sent to the Planning Board by area resident David Portesi opposing the plans saying in the eight years he has lived in the neighborhood there have been no noticeable improvements by Goodyear.

Other residents such as Henry McDaniels, Robert Buccella and Sharon Portesi also reported on Goodyear's lack of "concern, courtesy and consideration" with past problems of noise, snow removal, tires left outdoors overnight, and other matters. The residents feared an increase in bays and business would make communication problems worse.

Goodyear is scheduled to reappear before the board Sept. 30.

In another matter, the board continued for one week a request from Richard A. Toma of Brain-tree for a used car license for Highway Sales, 481 Quincy Ave.

Attorney Neil Kirstein, representing Toma, said the front of the existing building, which also houses Ace Automatic Transmissions, would be sandblasted and shrubbery planted around it.

Kirstein said Highway Sales' office would be located on the lower level of the building and that a parking lot would be provided for customers. He said no parking would be allowed on West Howard St.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn said he wanted to be sure there would be no cars parking on the street, and MacDonald said he thought the board should consider how many used car lots they wanted in the city.

MacDonald said the city was being flooded with used car lots and that he wanted to be fair to the car lots already paying heavy taxes.

In other action, the License

Board:

- Continued to Sept. 30, a hearing to show cause why the common-victualer license for Patriot Lunch, Inc. 1348 Hancock St., should not be revoked for failure to comply with tax obligations.

- William Clerkin, state tax examiner, said owner Lester Brockman made a "good faith" payment of $500 on the back taxes, and Brockman said the remainder of the taxes would be paid when the business is sold. Brockman said he has buyers for the shop.

- Granted, subject to a police check, transfer of a common-victualer license at the Wollaston Recreational Facility from Richard Mulvee to Rosemary Foster of Canton.

- Continued for one week a request from Creative Gourmets, Ltd., for a common-victualer license for a cafeteria at 61 South Rd., which will house Commercial Union Insurance Co.

- Dr. McKeogh and MacDonald asked for more information on kitchen equipment and egresses.

- Granted the Squantum Community Association, Inc., a permit to conduct a flea market Saturday, Sept. 13, (rain date Sunday, Sept. 14), 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Nickerson Post parking lot.

- Continued for one week a request from John J. Duane Co., Inc., 600 Southern Artery, for a license to conduct a year round flea market, pending an inspection by the joint inspection team.

- Granted a Motor II (used car) license to DERBCO Machine Shop, Inc., 44 Branch St., limited to four cars at one time.

- Granted the Quincy Point Congregational Church fair committee a flea market license for Saturday, Sept. 13, (rain date Sept. 20), 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the church parking lot.

- Granted the North Quincy High School Football Boosters tag days permits for Friday, Sept. 5, and Saturday, Sept. 6, with the stipulation there be no solicitation at intersections. Dr. McKeogh did not vote on the request.

- Granted transfer of a retail store wine and malt beverage license for Cammy's Inc., for 55 Billings Rd. to 53 Billings Rd., subject to an inspection by the joint inspection team and approval of the sign by the building department.

- Granted a second hand license to Gail Buccini for a consignment shop, ENCORE, at 68A Billings Rd., North Quincy.

- Granted a one day, all alcoholic license to the Committee to Re-Elect Representative Thomas F. Brownell for Saturday, Sept. 13, 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

- Granted, subject to a police check, a second hand license to Mrs. Dorothy Rosenquist of Milton for 7 Brook St., Wollaston.

Center Plaza Work Underway

Work on Center Plaza, the $10 million Campanelli project at the corner of Hancock and Granite Sts., officially got underway Monday when one lane of Burgin Parkway was closed for use as a staging area.

Two rows of parking in the Della Chiesa parking area also were fenced off near where the $3.79 million UDAG garage is to be built over the MBTA tracks.

Planning Director James Lydon said the entire parking lot will be closed to automobiles in 10 days and groundbreaking ceremonies will be held probably in the middle of next week.

Only 3 Local Races

22% Turnout Seen For State Primary

By TOM HENSHAW

Sparks flew in the 1978 primary as 57.3 per cent of the registered vote in Quincy marched on the polls to choose up sides for the U.S. Congress, the State Senate and the Governor's office.

But when voters turn out Tuesday, Sept. 16, for the 1980 primary only about 22 per cent are going to show up, according to the educated estimate of City Clerk John Gillis.

"There is little interest in the election," said Gillis. "We had no great response from the absentee ballots and that usually reflects a low turnout on primary day."

There are only three races on the ballots as Democrats and Republicans nominate for Congress, Governor's Council, State Senate, State Rep, County Commissioner and County Sheriff.

All are on the Democratic side. In fact, there are only two names — one a candidate for Governor's Council, the other for State Rep from the Third Norfolk — on the entire Republican ballot.

Registered Democrats outnumber Republicans 31,090 to 7,617 in Quincy with 10,202 unenrolled for a total of 48,909 possible voters on primary day.

The two top local contests are for state representative in the Second Norfolk District and for Governor's Council.

In the Second Norfolk District, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell seeking re-election is challenged by City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath in a one-on-one battle.

Five Democrats are seeking to succeed the late Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough who held the Governor's Council post in the Fourth District for 33 years.

The candidates are: James E.

Carroll of Cohasset, Patrick J. Corcoran of Marshfield, Peter L. Eley of Quincy, Harold L. O'Brien of Boston and William F. Walsh of Quincy.

James J. Collins of Milton and George B. McDonald and Mary P. Collins, both of Quincy, are seeking two County Commissioner nominations in a race in which only McDonald and Mary Collins actually are contestants.

The race is unique in that no two County Commissioners can come from the same municipality within the county, thus giving the Collins from Milton a free ride to renomination.

Unopposed on the Democratic ballot are incumbents Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Sen. Paul D. Harold,

Because Of Budget Cuts

Expected Flu Outbreak May Find City Unprepared

The Health Department is planning a flu vaccine program for Quincy this fall — but, due to budget restrictions, it may be later and less effective than usual.

The problem was disclosed by Winthrop Wade of the Health Department last week as the State Department of Public Health forecast a "moderately severe outbreak of influenza" this winter.

In the past, said Wade, the city has purchased its own supply of flu vaccine for eligible age group residents instead of waiting for the free vaccine that is provided by the government.

"This year, due to budget cuts, we're going to have to use the free vaccine," he said. "We'll be saving money but we're not sure that the vaccine will get here on time."

Wade explained that the flu season in Massachusetts usually starts around Thanksgiving and that vaccine should be administered six to eight weeks before then to insure adequate anti-body response time.

"We want to start the program in late September and they are talking about delivering the vaccine about that time," he said. "But the state is not good at meeting its commitments in those things."

"We'd like to get it done before October in order to have it effective."

The State Department of Public Health, in a letter to local health boards last week, warned of a new strain of influenza virus call A/Bangkok, "which we believe will cause a significant outbreak of influenza this year."

It recommended immunization for senior citizens, persons in nursing homes, persons with chronic diseases, and those who risk exposure while providing an essential community service.

Dr. Nicholas J. Fiumara, director of communicable diseases for the Mass DPH, said the flu appears suddenly, in epidemic form, hitting old and young alike, and then fades away almost as suddenly.

"A school may have an absenteeism rate of about 5 percent one week and the following week the rate may jump up to 25 or even 50 percent," he said.

"Industry in the same community may experience a similar absenteeism. An outbreak in any one community may last as long as two or three weeks."

"Patients complain of headache, lacrimation (secretion of tears), nasal discharge, sore throat and generalized aches and pains. Fever may be mild to severe. The whole illness usually lasts less than five days."

(Cont'd on Page 10)

Planning Dept. To Hold Public Hearings At 7:30 P.M.

Future hearings by the Planning Department may be held an hour later, at 7:30 p.m., at the request of the Quincy Citizens Association.

The QCA complained that recent hearings have been held at such an early hour that "many people who would like to attend and have input have been unable to get there in time."

Planning Director James Lydon said that two recent preliminary hearings on Urban Development Action Grants (UDAGs) were held at 6:30 p.m.

"There was no particular reason for holding them at that time," he said. "We didn't think it was unreasonable. We'll be happy to have future hearings at 7:30 p.m."

The recent hearings involved applications for UDAGs at the Boston Harbor Marina and the proposed Dimmock St. development. Lydon said there will be future hearings on both proposals.

Finn Defends Move To Private Ambulance

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Police Chief Francis Finn responded Tuesday to "grossly incorrect and very deceptive" advertisements opposing the transfer of the city ambulance service to a private firm.

Advertisements broadcast on WJDA and published in the Aug. 28 Quincy Sun, paid for by the Quincy Police Betterment Association, have claimed "ambulance service under the Quincy Police Department costs less than $1 on the tax rate."

The ads urged residents to "help us keep our ambulance service in the hands of the police" by sending letters and petitions to local officials.

Finn responded Tuesday, saying "the cost of operating the emergency ambulance service by the police department is many hundreds of thousands of dollars, or more like $3 on the tax rate."

Overtime payments alone to police officers as a result of the ambulance service totalled over $1 on the tax rate, he said.

About $270,000 represents $1 on the tax rate.

A study committee appointed by Mayor Arthur Tobin last month recommended that the city ambulance service be contracted out to a private firm. The nine-member committee recommended that Tobin accept a $56,000 bid by the Bay State Ambulance Service of Malden as lowest responsible bid.

Finn was a member of the study committee, as was Officer Henry Bradley, secretary of the Quincy Police Betterment Association. Bradley was the only member of the committee who voted to oppose the move to a private contract.

Finn's statement added that "no responsible administration would consider recommending to the mayor and city council of this city a change in the emergency ambulance service without offering a viable alternative which is as good, if not better."

A majority of the study committee and persons in charge of emergency services at Quincy City Hospital all "feel strongly that the time for change has come," Finn said.

He praised officers who have served on the ambulance, saying "they have saved countless lives and have remarkably lessened the injuries of many more. They have been truly remarkably dedicated officers of mercy...however, it is time for a change."

Quincy Born Constitution: 'Most Remarkable Expression Of Freedom'

By BERNIE O'DONNELL
Justice Edward F. Hennessey hailed the Massachusetts Constitution as "the most remarkable and comprehensive expression of political freedom in history" in Saturday's ceremonies at City Hall Constitution Plaza.

"What an extraordinary development in the history of freedom we commemorate in this anniversary year," said Hennessey, chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. Hennessey was keynote speaker at Saturday's unveiling of the Constitution sculpture symbolizing the drafting, in Quincy, of the 201-year-old document.

Hennessey hailed the creation of Samuel Adams, Samuel Bowdoin and the Constitution's chief architect, John Adams of Quincy, saying, "never, until the coincidence of events and genius occurred in Massachusetts, had the great ideas been expressed at once so well and completely."

The text of Hennessey's remarks are as follows:

"It is appropriate that the City of Quincy, perhaps above all cities and towns, should mark the 200th Anniversary of the great Constitution of our Commonwealth; your city rightfully claims John Adams and the Adams family, and John Adams was the principal author of our Constitution.

"It is also appropriate that I should address you on this occasion, not for personal reasons, but because I hold office as Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth; the life of John Adams, the lawyer, tracked closely with some of the history of the Supreme Judicial Court.

"Let us look back, for example, to a very special day in the life of the young lawyer Adams: February 26, 1761. On that day the Justices of the Court assembled in their usual courtroom on the upper floor of the building we now know as the Old State House. It is still standing at the head of State Street in Boston. The Court met to hear arguments as to writs of assistance. First of all, let me say here that the Supreme Judicial Court is the oldest court of continuous existence in the Western Hemisphere. It has existed since 1692, but of course on that day in 1761, and indeed up until 1775, the Justices were appointed by the King. And so the lawyers, on that gloomy February day, confronted five Justices of the Crown, arrayed in rich robes of scarlet English broadcloth, and adorned by immense and pompous judicial wigs.

"The writs of assistance, used by the King's officers in the colony, were general search warrants, not limited as to scope or time. It was as though today the police were armed with documents which empowered them to search any house they chose at any time they chose. Speaking against the writs was James Otis, a famous lawyer who had many times spoken out against the excesses of the Crown. His argument that day was fiery

Women's Gym, Swim Fitness Program Starts Sept. 16

The Quincy Recreation Department's Women's Gym and Swim Fitness Program will begin Tuesday, Sept. 16.

The program, for women past high school age, will be held at the Lincoln Hancock Community School on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Cobban, offers two separate periods of supervised exercise, one at 7 p.m. and one at 8 p.m. There is an optional period of swimming offered after each exercise group and a period of gym games offered after the 8 p.m. exercise class.

All programs in the gym are free and are for Quincy residents only. There is a fee charged for the use of the pool which can be paid in the front lobby in the evening.

Additional information is available by calling the Recreation Department, 773-1380, ext. 204.

NU Chapter To Meet Sept. 17

Diane E. Willard, Quincy elementary teacher, will preside at the first meeting of the 1980-1981 year of Nu Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Society, Wednesday, Sept. 17, at Valle's, Braintree.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a memorial service for Elinor Kennedy, deceased Nu Chapter member.

Chairwomen for the dinner program that will follow a social hour will be Maryann Doyle, Braintree elementary principal, and Diane Willard.

Program speaker will be Pierre D. Lambert, Ph.D., professor of education at Boston College, who will discuss "The Role of Women in Education: An Historical Perspective."

Delta Kappa Gamma is an international organization for women in education.

DAVID ROWELL of South Quincy, age two and half, plays at the Pilgrim Human Resource Development Corporation's Child Development Center, Braintree, which recently appointed his mother, Mrs. Jeanne Rowell, to the board of directors. Mrs. Rowell is the first parent board member.

Jeanne Rowell Appointed To Child Center Board

Mrs. Jeanne Rowell of South Quincy has been appointed the first parent member of the board of directors of the Pilgrim Human Resource Development Corporation's Child Development Center, Braintree.

Mrs. Rowell, a Quincy City Hospital emergency room nurse, is the wife of Quincy Police Lt. David Rowell, Sr., and their two and a half year old son, David, attends the center.

William Filene, Jr., president and director of the center noted: "Until recently, Mrs. Rowell served as a public health nurse where she was a member of the inspection team for day care nurseries.

"She will be a valuable member of our board who will articulately express the concerns of working mothers."

The center, for children ages three to five, is open 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and is sponsored by several South Shore businesses, municipal and religious groups.

Located in Braintree's old Central Junior High School, the center is open year round.

Against 'Work To Rule'

Parents Group Supports Raises

A city-wide parents group Monday night endorsed the Quincy Education Association's quest for last year's raises, but not the teachers' methods of seeking those raises.

The City-Wide Parent Advisory Council voted 17-8 to urge the City Council to fund the 1979-80 raises for school employees, either through a bond or supplemental budget.

The council members however, came out unanimously against the "work-to-rule" policy which the teachers have been using to protest non-payment of those raises.

"Work-to-rule" means the teachers are performing only those teaching duties required by contract, and no others. According to the policy approved by the union membership on Sept. 2, teachers will no longer perform such duties as taking part in field trips, supervising after-hours detention or chaperoning dances, sports events or similar activities.

The council consisting of one member from the Parent-Teacher groups of each school, voted to partially support the teachers after hearing remarks by JoAnn O'Malley, OEA president.

Mrs. O'Malley countered criticism of the teachers by telling the parents group: "We are not interfering with a child's education. We are paid to teach and we will teach to the best of our ability. Your children's education will not suffer."

She urged the parents to:

- Petition the City Council to fund the 1979-80 raises.

- Urge councillors to approve $900,000 in "fuel adjustment" funds for the school department.

- Urge school committee members to pay the 1979-80 raises during the 1981-82 school year, if all other avenues fail.

A Time To Be Proud Of Quincy

You just couldn't help feeling proud of Quincy this past weekend.

All of the Constitution Celebration events were planned and carried out with class. The steering committee chaired by former Mayor-Senator James McIntyre and all the participants deserve a "well done".

McINTYRE

The stirring words of keynote speaker Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court Chief Justice Edward Hennessey vividly brought home the importance of the Quincy-born Massachusetts Constitution. It is, he said, "the most remarkable and comprehensive expression of political freedom in history."

The tribute to Quincy District Court Clerk Dennis Ryan, a man with a heart as big as a Boston College football, (his beloved alma mater) was touching. Denny should have been a judge years ago. He'd have been tough when it was needed and compassionate when it was deserved. Denny has been ailing but when he told the lawyers in the crowd not to sit in his office chair — "I'll be back" — "You just had to cheer."

RYAN

The new City Hall mirroring old City Hall... McIntyre Mall... Constitution Common... what a beautiful setting! Mayor Arthur Tobin has done a magnificent job with the landscaping and will soon have a lighted walk around the mall.

The Constitution sculpture may take awhile to get used to. But at least it will be noticed. You can't go by it or near it without looking at it. And if you read the engraved "blueprint" beside it, you'll understand it. But for the youngsters, it will probably become the biggest "gym set" in town to swing from.

And, how about our Quincy Symphony Orchestra?

What a community cultural asset! You know, I really think they play "Stars and Stripes Forever" as well as the Boston Pops does it. You want to clap your hands right along with it. It was a weekend to cherish and long remember.

MILESTONE: Mayor Arthur Tobin and his wife, Shirley, were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary the other night at a surprise party given by their children and attended by members of the family and close friends. The Tobins were presented with an official city citation congratulating them. Signed by, guess who? Mayor Arthur Tobin.

Seems his secretary, Muriel Chandler, pulled a cute one on him earlier in the day. She shoved a blank citation on his desk, and told him to sign it because she had to make it out in a hurry. He signed it without realizing it was for him and Shirley. Oh, that Muriel!

CHANDLER

SPEAKING OF SURPRISE parties, here's one for you. Friends are honoring Quincy Police Detective Jim Mulloy at a surprise retirement party Saturday night at the Bryan VFW Post, Broad St., Quincy. And, you're probably wondering why it's being mentioned here if it's to be a surprise. Well, Jim's wife, Loretta, wants to be sure all his friends know it's being held. The Mulloys live down in Carver and get The Sun by mail. Loretta says she'll make sure she beats Jim to this issue and hide it on him until the party is over.

Jim retired last month after more than 34 years service. He started with the department in 1946, became a detective in 1967 and made sergeant in 1978. Anyone interested in tickets can get them from City Clerk John Gillis or at the Quincy police station.

P.S. If you happen to run into Jim, don't tell him about it. It's a secret.

BE CAREFUL WHAT you give the baby to play with warns Charles Lyons of Dorchester, speaking from experience. Lyons was driving through downtown Quincy last Thursday when he let his daughter, Karen, 2, hold his gold claddagh ring "just for a second."

Well, he soon discovered Karen has a good arm. Out the window went the ring, bouncing down Granite St. near the Parkway. Lyons spent an hour searching for it before giving up. Anyone finding it can reach him at 282-7716. He's offering a reward.

Meantime, the next time Karen wants to hold anything, it's going to be a doll.

BILL MORRILL, head of the Quincy High School Band Alumni Association, is proudly handing out cigars. His wife, Ann, presented him with his second child, William Francis, at Quincy City Hospital. Weight, 7 lbs. 15 ounces. It was a major milestone — the first boy in the family in 29 years.

MORRILL

SMILE DEPT: A car parked on Chestnut St. festooned with bumper stickers. And in the middle one proclaiming: "Save Paper... Ban Bumper Stickers".

MDC Promises Solution To Nut Island Odor

Odor problems at the Nut Island Sewerage Treatment Plant in Houghs Neck have been solved and should be corrected in a couple of weeks, says Joel Chase, director of the MDC's Sewerage Division.

One of the four "digesters" at the plant, which has been out of action for several months while being outfitted with $50,000 worth of new piping, is expected to go back on line this week.

And the MDC has given up trying to trace a leak in a pre-chlorination line and is building a parallel line which should be completed in two to three weeks.

The odor problem, which has been continuing for about two weeks, raised numerous complaints from Houghs Neck residents, which Rep. Thomas F. Brownell passed on to MDC Commissioner Terrence Geoghegan.

Chase said the plant's No. 2 digester was shut down last year for its annual cleaning when it was discovered that it had to be repiped. Usually cleaning takes 90 days, he said, repiping much longer.

The other three digesters had to pick up the slack, he said, creating more gas and thus more odor.

The leak in the pre-chlorination line was discovered over the Labor Day weekend, he said, but four days of emergency investigation was unable to locate the leak precisely.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

The question that baffled most of the entrants was the name of the executive secretary of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board, which indicates that not many people grieve about their rents in Quincy.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers. One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week.

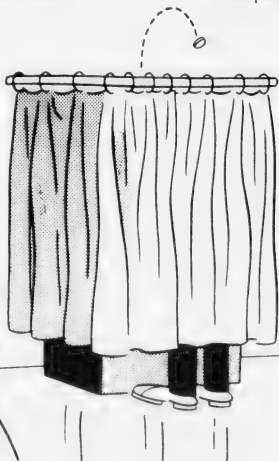

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Name the three members of Quincy's Board of Assessors.
2. In what section of the city is the Heavenly Hill Ski Area?
3. What is the significance of the date 1792 on the City Seal of Quincy?
4. The first bank established in Quincy was called the Quincy Stone Bank. What is the Quincy Stone Bank known as today?
5. What organization has its headquarters at 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Jane Reikard is the executive secretary of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board.
2. Heron Road Beach is in the Adams Shore section of Quincy.
3. Welcome G. Young was city councillor from Ward 6 from 1921 to 1929.
4. Before the all-numbered telephone numbers, the names of Quincy's three exchanges were GRanite, PResident and MAYflower.
5. The Bethlehem Steel Co. owned the Fore River Shipyard before General Dynamics Corp.

SOUVENIR OF NIGERIA is presented to Arlene and Ralph Harrison by visitor Alhaji Chief Adebayo Adetunji, who recently spent a week in the Harrison's Merry mount home. A map of Nigeria and greetings to the Harrisons are carved on the outside of the African calabash plant.

Quincy Visitor Says:

New Nigerian Democracy Carbon Copy Of U.S. — And Working

Nigerians are keen followers of political and other developments in this country, according to a recent visitor to the city.

In fact, the American system is so widely admired, he said, that the new Nigerian democracy, instituted just last year, is a virtual carbon copy of America's.

The Nigerian visitor - Alhaji Chief Adebayo Adetunji - was in Quincy to visit "my good, good friends," Ralph and Arlene Harrison of 25 Hobomack Rd., Merry mount.

Adetunji (the "Alhaji" indicates he has made the pilgrimage to Mecca required by his Moslem faith; the "Chief" is also a title of respect in his native land) has known the Harrisons since 1971, when he was taking courses at the Harvard School of International Marketing.

They met at the Cohasset home of a mutual friend, during a reception for the international students.

"We just struck up a friendship that we have maintained over the years" said Ralph Harrison, who owns a Cohasset pharmacy.

Adetunji visits the Harrisons occasionally, when his frequent business trips take him into this country.

As chairman of the Nigerian branch the American construction firm of Johnson, Drake and Piper, Adetunji maintains homes in London, Switzerland and Lagos, the capitol of Nigeria.

Although Adetunji was just a student when he first met the Harrisons, Mrs. Harrison admits "he's come a long way since then."

Among the government posts he has held in his native Nigeria are City Councillor and member of the Planning Authority of Ibaden, his home city. The city's metropolitan area, with a population more than 3 million, is the largest in black Africa, Adetunji says.

None of those posts were elective posts, Adetunji points out. Nigeria had been under Army rule from 1966 until September of last year and, in filling such posts, the ruling regime "appointed the persons they thought could do best in the position."

Army rule came to an end in 1979 when, in an occurrence believed to be unique, the ruling regime turned control of the country over to an elected democracy based on the United State's.

"So far, it's working," says Adetunji, who now devotes his full time to the construction business.

The fact that Nigeria's government was based almost exactly on America's indicates how closely his countrymen follow American affairs, Adetunji said.

"Since the days of the late President Kennedy, Nigerians have been keen followers of politics in this country," he says. "One reason is the large number of American Peace Corps members who came to Nigeria at that time and since then."

"I know, because I personally hosted one in my own home," he adds.

The past decade has seen that interest returned by American businessmen, with a boom in investment in that country and in American-Nigerian partnerships.

Adetunji, who is vice president of the Nigerian Chamber of Commerce, says he spends much of his time here boosting American-Nigerian cooperation, and explaining business opportunities in his country to American investors.

Hurricane Edna's 75 MPH Winds KO Quincy Power

Hurricane Edna, the second major storm in 12 days, struck Quincy with winds of 75 miles an hour and gusts up to 106 miles an hour, knocking out 40 per cent of the city's power in Wollaston and North Quincy.

Edna was mild compared to her predecessor, Hurricane Carolle, which hit winds clocked at 93 miles an hour and gusts up to 125 mph. Edna dropped 5.16 inches of rain in 14 hours.

Rotary Field off Coddington St. and Kincaide Park in South Quincy were under several feet of water and parts of Houghs Neck and Squantum were evacuated to shelters at Squantum and Atherton Hough Schools.

James T. Gartland, executive director of the Quincy Red Cross, said 24 gallons of coffee, 150 small cartons of milk and 25 dozen doughnuts were served to storm refugees in the shelters.

LANE NOMINATED

Myron N. Lane of Quincy swamped two opponents. Sturtevant Burr of Stoughton and George P. Carney of Quincy, to win the Republican nomination for Norfolk County district attorney.

Lane had almost three times as many votes as Burr, his nearest challenger, in the race for the post to which he was appointed by Gov. Christian A. Herter.

A big primary victory by City Councillor David J. Crowley gave Democrats hope of displacing Republican Rep. William I. Jenness and winning the State Rep seat in the Second Norfolk for the first time.

REPORTS DENIED

Sam Wakeman, general manager of the Fore River Shipyard, told the Long Service Club that there is no truth to reports that the Bethlehem Steel Co. did not want to build the third Forrestal carrier.

"There is no substitute to keep 5,000 men busy for three years," he said. "If we had the contract we would not have to reduce labor to the level we have to with just three destroyers to build."

RANGERETTES WIN

Houghs Neck Rangerettes captured prizes in their first attempt in baton twirling competition on the New England level at the Brockton Fair.

The Rangerettes included Constance Scrimshaw, Patricia Cummings, Gail Craig, leaders; Paula Jardine, Janet Kearney, Sheila Lane, Maryann Cunningham and Jane Griffin.

Reps. Michael W. Morrissey and Robert A. Cerasoli, and Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall.

The two names on the Republican side are William J. Robinson of Hull, a candidate for the Governor's Council, and Gerard E. Lawler, who seeks the nomination for State Rep from the Third Norfolk.

Voting places in Quincy's 39 precincts are the same as the last election with the exception of Ward 1, Precinct 4, which is now in the Adams Shore Library on Sea St. It used to be in the Hunting School, now closed.

The three Democratic candidates for Governor's Council most closely associated with Quincy are Corcoran, Eley and Walsh. All are making their first attempts at winning an elective public office.

Corcoran is a 59-year-old plumbing contractor with offices on Water St., South Quincy, who lived in Quincy until two years ago when he moved to Marshfield.

A native of Dorchester, he attended Boston public schools and served in the Philippine Islands with the Army during World War II. He has four children, Ann, Kathleen, Patrick Jr. and Maureen.

Eley is 28 years old, a lawyer, and the nephew of James R. McIntyre, former mayor, senator and current senate counsel.

He served in the appointive offices of assistant district attorney of Norfolk County in 1977 and as public defender in 1978.

He is a graduate of Bishop Duffy High School in Niagara Falls, N.Y., Boston College and Suffolk Law School. He was a member of the Massachusetts National Guard until his discharge in 1976.

Eley and his wife, the former Rene O'Laughlin, live in Wollaston.

Walsh, a sales management executive, is 43 years old and active in the Massachusetts Cancer Society.

He is a graduate of St. John's High School, Concord, N.H., and Northeastern University. He served in the U.S. Navy during the Korean conflict.

Walsh and his wife, Betty, a nurse, live in South Quincy with their three children, Kathleen, Maureen and William.

Carroll, who is 49, is vice president and marketing director for the Acme Glass Co., Natick. O'Brien lives in South Boston.

The State Rep pits in the Second Norfolk pils the veteran Brownell against comparative newcomer McGrath.

Brownell, 40, has held the post since 1971 when he was elected in a special election to fill the seat left vacant when Arthur H. Tobin moved up to State Senator.

An attorney, he was graduated from Quincy High School, Suffolk University and the Suffolk Law School. He served in the U.S. Army from 1958 to 1963.

He and his wife, the former Margaret T. Donovan, live in Merrymount with their three children, Karyn, David and Brian.

McGrath, who is 27, was a law student when he was elected to his first term on the City Council in 1977. He is now a lawyer, working out of the office of Andrew Card Sr. in Holbrook.

He was graduated from Archbishop William High School, Boston College and Suffolk Law School.

McGrath, who is unmarried, lives in Wollaston.

McDonald, who is seeking his fourth four year term as county commissioner, has held public office for two decades, starting with a seat on the City Council in 1960.

He is 58 years old, a graduate of the University of Southern California, and a disabled veteran of the Pacific Theater in World War II.

He and his wife, Sheila, live in West Quincy. They have three daughters, Colleen, Eileen and Erin.

Mary Collins won her first public office in 1977 when she was elected to the Quincy School Committee.

She was graduated from Msgr. Ryan High School in Boston and attended the Boston School of Business Education.

She lives in Squantum with her husband, Thomas, and their four children, Christine, Caroline, Deirdre and Timothy.

Candidates Differ On Major Functions Of Governor's Council

The three Quincy candidates for Governor's Council from the Fourth District disagree on the chief functions of the office they are seeking.

William F. Walsh and Patrick J. Corcoran, the Quincy plumbing contractor who moved to Marshfield two years ago, see the Council's role in veterans' affairs as the big issue.

Peter L. Eley says he feels the most important issue is "the appointment of qualified and tough judges."

The Sun was unable to contact the other candidates for the post, James E. Carroll of Cohasset and Harold O'Brien of Boston, for their comments on the issues of the campaign.

"I'm most concerned with veterans' benefits," said Corcoran. "The Governor's Council is the last appeal for any veteran in the state. If they're turned down locally, the Council is the last review they have."

"The most important thing the Governor's Council does is on veterans' affairs," said Walsh. "It spends 60 per cent of its time on them. It's the court of last resort for the veteran."

Eley said he feels that the recent enactment of mandatory sentencing laws "indicates how frustrated people are by the sentencing policies that exist in the state."

For Home Delivery
Call 471-3100
The Quincy Sun

"I pledge not to approve an appointment to the bench until I'm satisfied that a judicial candidate has a philosophy of tough sentencing," he said.

Walsh says he does not feel strongly about the appointment of judges although "that's the role of the Governor's Council that people hear about the most."

"True, it's an important area for a governor's appointment," he said, "but the input of the Governor's Council is not that great. Candidates are already screened by a judicial review board."

Corcoran says he doesn't think that the Governor's Councilors "look into the appointments of judges enough."

"They take judges from some other part of the state and bring them in here when they are not familiar with the area or the conditions," he said. "I don't think they're tough enough with sentences."

Eley also sees pardons and commutations as another important task of the council.

"I believe a pardon or a commutation is an extraordinary remedy," he said, "and I would have to be convinced of extraordinary circumstances before I would approve one."

All three of the candidates say they feel that the Council's role overseeing state spending has not been emphasized enough.

"The Governor's Council is the only means we have to check on contractors doing work for the state that have these big costs overrides," said Corcoran.

"I've been in the construction business all my life and you've got to be familiar with it to see that we're not paying extra money for jobs that are not done."

Walsh called supervision of cost overruns in state contracts "the Council's second great area of responsibility, since it is charged with approval of all warrants payable in the state."

"The state constitution clearly specifies that no money can be expended from the state treasury unless the Council approves it," said Eley. "The courts have said the Council has very real authority in this area."

Walsh, who is a sales management executive, said he feels strongly that the Governor's Council seat should be held by a non-lawyer lest there be a conflict of interest.

"One attorney on the Council now, George Cronin, takes himself out of a case when he has to appear before a judge that he helped to confirm," he said.

All three candidates agree that the Governor's Council is a necessary body in state government, in spite of many recent attempts to have it abolished.

"I think governor's council is most necessary for the reasons I have just stated," Corcoran.

"The Council was established by the state constitution," said Walsh. "And anytime you take anything out you weaken the constitution."

"Who would take up the duties it now performs? The state senate? The Council should stay and assume responsibilities that are assigned to it."

"If the Council doesn't handle the appointment of judges and pardons and commutations it is quite possible those duties would pass to the state senate," said Eley. "Then it would become political."

"I suggest if there is a problem with the way the Council handles these matters, the way to correct them is to elect people who will deal with them seriously and not to abolish the Council."

Why should you vote for STEVE McGRATH for State Representative?

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH believes that Quincy doesn't receive its fair share from State Government. This year Quincy received LESS local aid, while other cities received more. Quincy can no longer afford representation that leaves it short-changed!

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH thinks it's about time someone on Beacon Hill took the lead in addressing the tough issues which ultimately affect the taxpayers of Quincy. For too long the "business as usual" attitude that prevails at the State House has mired Property Tax Reform, MBTA Reorganization, and County Government Reform in a sea of legislative red tape!

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH has never been afraid to take a controversial stand. On the City Council, he voted to cut almost $12 million from the City Budget. It may not have been the politically safe thing to do, but it was the right thing to do - for you the taxpayer!

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH thinks it is only logical that you need to have local government experience to be an effective State Legislator. His service on the City Council makes him the ONLY candidate with that experience. McGrath can and will put it to work for you!

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH believes that our elderly citizens are an important part of our community. McGrath has consistently supported programs for the elderly in his work on the Council. He backed the reorganization of the Council-On-Aging as well as the Preventive Dentistry Program for our senior citizens. McGrath will bring this concern for Quincy's elderly with him to Beacon Hill.

BECAUSE . . .

STEVE McGRATH as a City Councillor has been more than just a "promising" politician. He's begun a program of revitalization for the Wollaston business area, and brought the HUD Home Improvement Program to his ward. Most importantly, he's stayed in close touch with the people he represents through periodic news letters and neighborhood meetings.

McGrath Calls For Tax Reforms

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, campaigning for state representative in the Second Norfolk District, has called for comprehensive tax reform in order to lower taxes while still providing critical local services.

McGrath addressed the issue of tax reform during a coffee hour at the home of Charles Phelan Jr., 26 Kemper St., Wollaston.

He noted that local government spending is marginally lower than the national average, but property taxes in Massachusetts are 67% higher than the national average. It is the only substantial revenue source to pay for local services, he said.

McGrath said municipal officials have been attempting to hold spending to less than the rate of inflation by deferring vehicle maintenance, cancelling capital outlays, putting off road repairs and cutting costs.

"With inflation as high as it is, however, this trend cannot continue," McGrath said.

He advocated a three-point tax reform proposal:

"First, restructure the state tax system away from the current overdependence on the property tax. This can be accomplished by guaranteeing that half of any increase in state tax collections must be distributed to cities and towns to decrease property taxes.

"Second increase local discretion in the development of alternative revenue sources by allowing municipalities to set the level of fees and charges they collect; protect local revenue sources from state encroachment, and increase the ability of local governments to enact local option taxes such as parking lot or hotel excises.

"Third, prohibit the state from adding to the future financial burden of local governments by banning enactment of state mandates that would either impose an increased local expenditure or result in a loss of revenue."

McGrath said these components must be considered as part of a long overdue tax program.

"No short-term capping of expenditures will accomplish the real goals of continuing local services and decreasing local property taxes," McGrath said.

Keep Police Ambulance, QCA Pleads

The Quincy Citizens Association has gone on record in favor of retention of the present Police Department emergency ambulance service.

The city has been considering contracting the service out to a private ambulance service in the interests of economy.

"Quincy residents feel comfortable and confident that they are getting the best and most careful attention when policemen man the ambulances," said the QCA in letters to members of the City Council.

"We believe it is in the public interest to have the excellent service the police have provided in the past continue."

Post Office Auction Sept. 18

A public auction of unclaimed and damaged merchandise will be conducted by the Boston Post Office Thursday, Sept. 18, at 9 a.m., General Mail Facility, 25 Dorchester Ave., Boston (11). Postmaster Philip L. Sullivan announces.

Items for sale will include books, appliances, tools, clothing, household accessories, and a limited amount of sterling silver. Special interest items include LLadro Figurines and an Antique 20 inch Junco Doll. The merchandise may be inspected Wednesday, Sept. 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sale on Auction Day will be by lot number only and no examination of merchandise will be permitted.

All articles will be sold on an "as is" basis. No refunds will be made. Payment must be made in cash, and merchandise must be removed immediately after the sale.

Want Another Access Road

N. Quincy Residents 'Oppose' Marina Condo Plan

By TOM HENSHAW

They appeared to be all for it, but they recorded themselves against it just the same.

The proposal to build 142 low rise units of condominiums at Boston Harbor Marina, said Maureen Mazrimas, president of the Squantum Community Association, "is both esthetically attractive and unique in its appeal."

But, she and other residents of the Squantum and Atlantic communities would like to know what development plans are for the rest of the huge tract of land that was once the Squantum Naval Air Station.

And if a second access road to the condominium development, in addition to East Squantum St., is not acquired or constructed prior to the start of construction "then we will ask that the City Council reject the proposal."

A total of nine Quincy residents, most of them from Squantum and Atlantic, spoke up against the condominium proposal and 31 more recorded themselves as opposed at a City Council hearing Monday night.

The condominiums are proposed by Marina Industries, Inc., which has an option on the land owned by the Boston Edison Co., but the property is zoned for planned unit development (PUD) which calls for Council approval.

The city is negotiating with Jordan Marsh and its parent company, Allied Stores, for the purchase or taking by eminent domain of Commander Shea Boulevard as a second access. It now serves the Jordan Marsh warehouse.

Asst. City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington told the hearing that Jordan Marsh has "broken off negotiations" on Shea Boulevard but City Solicitor Robert Fleming indicated it was more a "slowing things down" than a rupture.

Amendments to the PUD filed by City Councillor Joanne Condon include a requirement that the city take Shea Boulevard for some $2 million and that the developer, Marina Industries, reimburse the city for that sum.

Harrington said he has been bargaining with Marina Industries for legal agreements that "the developer, to the extent of $2 million, should bear the costs through betterments of the acquisition of the second means of access."

Mrs. Mazrimas, speaking for the Squantum CA, emphasized that the acquisition of Shea Boulevard is of "paramount importance."

"No development of the area should be made without prior acquisition of a second means of egress and access," she said.

"The condominium proposal is only one cog in a large wheel. It is the only cog over which the adjoining communities have any control (through PUD)."

"Not only will that area be developed for residential use under PUD but the Industrial A tract most probably will be developed for light industry and a restaurant facility."

"These conform to current zoning and residents will have no say as to implementation."

Mrs. Mazrimas also asked that "firm financial commitment and a projected time table for the acquisition of the road be completed prior to any development of the area."

"We also want to be assured that after development takes place there is continued monitoring of traffic (on East Squantum St.) as a special condition of approval."

William Golden of 36 Surfside Lane, Squantum, warned that the Council hearing was "talking about trees, not the forest."

"The plan does not put before the City Council the main issue," he said. "The real question is: How do we develop 250 to 400 acres of land?"

"This plan does not put that before the Council. We're speaking tonight about 35 acres. We should be speaking about several hundred."

Golden also asked that the developer "submit to the Council a financial statement with respect to both construction and permanent financing of the development."

"The city could be left holding the bag for $2 million if the developer defaults," he warned. Amendments to the PUD, proposed by Councillor Condon, include:

- that the Mayor file with the City Council the taking order and cost estimate from the procurement of Commander Shea Boulevard.

- that the developer commit to the city not more than $2 million for reimbursement of land-taking costs, the amount to be paid over not more than 20 years.

- that the developer provide a second means of access by way of Shea Boulevard for the use of construction-related equipment during the construction of the condominiums.

- that the developer obtain similar lease permission to use Shea Boulevard for truck traffic during the construction of renovation of buildings on industrial-zoned land.

- that the developer assume full responsibility for the successful completion of the PUD.

- that the developer post a bond with the city treasurer to insure the necessary improvements to the property, including utilities and landscaping.

- that all the amenities, such as swimming pool, tennis courts and clubhouse, be constructed in the initial phase.

- that the developer be required to pay all back taxes prior to the issuance of a building permit.

Services Start

Yom Kippur Ushers In Jewish Year 5741

By LESTER GLASSER

Quincy Jewry will usher in the year 5741 this week with Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services at local synagogues.

Rosh Hashanah services began Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Congregation Adas Shalom 435 Adams St. and continue today and Friday at 9 a.m. The sounding of the Shofar (the ram's horn) will take place during the services.

Shabbat Shuva services will be Saturday at 9 a.m.

Yom Kippur services Friday, Sept. 19, will start with the chanting of Kol Nidrei at 6:30 p.m. the all day service, Saturday, Sept. 20, will start at 9 a.m., and conclude at sundown.

Rabbi Samuel S. Kenner will officiate, assisted by Cantor Daniel Funk. Abe Greenspan and Leo Lofchie are co-presidents of the Congregation.

Rabbi David Jacobs and Cantor Morris Semigran will conduct the High Holy Day services at Temple

Beth El, 1001 Hancock St. The schedule is as follows:

Last night at 8:30 p.m.; today and tomorrow at 8:30 a.m.; sounding of shofar at 10:30 a.m. followed by Rabbi Jacobs sermon. Evening services each day at 6:45 p.m.

The chanting of Kol Nidrei will usher in Yom Kippur, Friday Sept. 19 at 6:30 p.m.; all day service, Saturday, Sept. 20, will start at 8:30 a.m.; Yizkor (memorial prayers) will be recited at 11 a.m. followed by sermon.

At 2 p.m. there will be a brief intermission and the concluding Yom Kippur prayers will start at 4:45 p.m. High Holy Day services will end at about 7:30 p.m. with the sounding of the Shofar.

Simmy Jacobs is president of the Congregation and Sumner E. Greenberg, a past president, is in charge of religious services.

Jack Klaver, president of the Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., announced that Rosh Hashanah services, last night and tonight, will start at 6:40 p.m. Morning services each day at 8:45 a.m.; shofar will be sounded during the services.

The chanting of Kol Nidrei will usher in the Yom Kippur services, Friday Sept. 19, the all day service, Saturday, Sept. 20, will start at 8 a.m. and conclude at the sounding of the Shofar.

Rabbi Jacob Mann will officiate at all services.

Rosh Hashanah, which means "head of the year", is observed in the beginning of seventh month (tishri) of the Jewish New Year. The name "Rosh Hashanah" does not appear in the Bible. It is referred to as the Day of the Blowing of the Shofar. It is considered as the Day of Judgement when all mankind is judged by the Creator and the fate of each individual is inscribed in the Book of Life. Unlike other Jewish festivals, Rosh Hashanah concerns the Jew as an individual.

On the Saturday evening before Rosh Hashanah, Selichot (forgiveness) services are recited. They are very special penitential prayers.

In some of the special home rituals for Rosh Hashanah on the eve of the holiday, festival candles are blessed; the Kiddush over the wine is chanted and a round challah is blessed. People see the round Challah as reflecting the continuous cycle of years and seasons. Slices of apples are dipped in honey which symbolizes a sweet year.

During the High Holy Day season, Jews greet each other in this manner: "Leshanah Tovah Tikatevu", which means "may you be inscribed for a good year." This greeting grew out of the spirit of well wishing as well as a belief that people could help others. It is an expression of fellowship and sincere good wishes for all Jews.

The most common explanation of the sounding of the Shofar (the ram's horn) during the Rosh Hashanah services comes from the account of the binding of Isaac in Genesis 22, which is read on New Years. The sacrifice of Isaac was averted through the substitution of a ram for boy. The story is a statement against human sacrifice.

The Shofar is customarily curved, symbolic of the human heart bent in repentance on this important day.

Prayers are chanted in Hebrew and in some synagogues, they are recited in English, so that everyone may participate.

One of the very stirring prayers recited during the service is the litany "Our Father, our King hear our prayer. Our Father, our King we have sinned before Thee. Our Father, our King have mercy upon us and upon our children. Our Father, our King keep far from our country pestilence, war and famine. Our Father, our King, cause all hate and oppression to vanish from the earth. Our Father, our King inscribe us for blessing in the book of life. Our Father, our King grant unto us a year of Happiness. Our Father, our King be merciful and answer us, though we plead no merit. Deal with us according to Thy loving kindness and help us. Amen."

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is last day of the Ten Days of Penitence which began with Rosh Hashanah. This 10-day period, according to Jewish tradition, is a time of repentance, prayer and charity in preparation for the holiest day of the year, Yom Kippur.

On this solemn and important day most Jewish men, women and many young people refrain from eating and drinking.

One of the important readings in the synagogue on Yom Kippur is taken from the Book of Isaiah. The prophet Isaiah declares that the fast of Yom Kippur is acceptable to God only if it leads to good deeds toward man. This is the lesson Yom Kippur teaches.

Yizkor (memorial prayer) is recited for the departed during the Yom Kippur service. This service reminds all who have lost dear ones to follow the path of righteousness and to remember the good deeds of their departed.

The end of the fast on Yom Kippur is announced by a single blast of the Shofar, after which the worshippers return to their homes, joyous and glad at heart.

Four days after Yom Kippur, the joyous holiday of Succoth is celebrated. Succoth is a festival celebrating the time when the ancient Israelites gathered their fruit harvest and offered thanks to God for his goodness. In many ways it is similar to the American Thanksgiving.

During the nine days of this holiday, many Jews eat their meals and spend part of their time in a succah, a little booth or hut with an open roof of branches and leaves. These booths commemorate the temporary shelters in which the Israelites lived on their journey from Egypt to the Promised Land. It is the succah, too, that gives the holiday its name in English, Succoth, frequently called the Feast of Booths.

QHA To Lower Rents For Tenants Paying Utility Costs

By BERNIE O'DONNELL
A change in state regulations has provided a windfall for more than 400 Quincy Housing Authority tenants.

The state Executive Office of Communities and Development, which provides funds for the QHA's state housing, has ordered the authority to provide "rent adjustments" for tenants who pay their own utility costs.

The authority voted last week to put the adjustment into effect as of Sept. 1.

The rent adjustment means a $20,072 decrease in the QHA's monthly rent income, or an annual loss of about $240,840. The state agency has promised increased funding to offset the loss, according to QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien.

As a result of the new regulations, the QHA's 400 Snug Harbor tenants will pay an average of $47 less per month in rent (from $84 to $37), the 36 West Acres tenants on average of 34 dollars less (from $104 to $70).

Those are the only two QHA projects in which tenants pay their own utilities.

Because of the utility adjustments, 224 Snug Harbor families will be paying no rent, while 42 will pay $20 or less. At West Acres, 14 families will pay no rent and one will pay $20 or less.

QHA member Carmine D'Olimpio noted that the rent adjustment applies even to tenants who might be "over-income" — above the normal income permitted for public tenants, but still remaining in QHA housing.

"I don't want to sound like the landlord with the high hat, but it seems to me there ought to be some equity to this," said D'Olimpio, who voted to put the adjustments into effect, despite his objections.

"The federal government is subsidizing, the state is subsidizing, everybody is subsidizing."

D'Olimpio noted that the EOCED has pledged to make up the QHA's lost rent income by increased funding, but said that funding would require a vote by the state legislature.

"Now what's going to happen if Proposition 2½ passes?" he asked. "Can we be guaranteed the subsidy? This raises grave problems."

2nd Norfolk Contest

Experience, Youth Vie In Brownell - McGrath Race

By TOM HENSHAW

Experience and youthful enthusiasm are on opposite sides of the fence in the Second Norfolk District where Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and City Councilor Stephen J. McGrath are contesting for the State Rep's seat.

"I have a proven record of accomplishment," says Brownell, 40, who has served four full terms on the job. "Quincy needs someone with experience and background who knows the legislative process to effect long overdue changes."

"One of the main reasons that I'm running is the inaction on the part of the legislature over the years on the major issues facing Quincy," says McGrath, 27, who is in his second two-year term as a member of the City Council.

The Second Norfolk, which is entirely in Quincy, includes Ward 1; Precincts 1, 2 and 5 of Ward 3; Precinct 7 of Ward 4; and Ward 5.

Brownell, who was first elected to the post in a special election called to succeed Arthur H. Tobin in 1971, said he feels the major issue in the campaign is "who can best serve Quincy in the legislature for the next two years."

"I am heavily committed to property tax reform," he said. "Our property taxes are 72 per cent above the national average. I have long supported and will continue to support any reasonable measure to help relieve property owners."

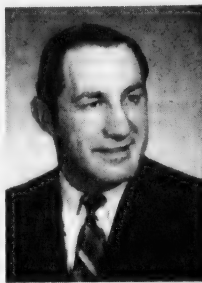

"Our income taxes are 41 per cent above the national average. I am heavily committed as the third ranking member of the Committee on Taxation to bring about reform in that area, starting with elimination of the 7.5 per cent surcharge on the state income tax."

"I believe we can reduce the cost of government. I've filed so-called 'sunset legislation' to review state agencies and see if they are performing useful functions. Government has to set a good example of austerity."

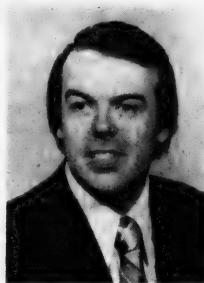

"We have to remove the image of Massachusetts as 'Taxachusetts' so that we can make Massachusetts more competitive and put people to work and generate the kind of income we need to run our government services."

Brownell said he is also committed to having the state pick up a greater share of the MBTA deficit "since transportation is now recognized across the country as a state responsibility."

McGrath said he believes that a state legislator should have some experience in government on the local level "in order to truly understand some of the ramifications of the legislature's actions."

THOMAS BROWNELL

STEPHEN McGRATH

"I'm the only candidate running for this office who has lived with the results of the tax cap and other programs that have been mandated on the city by the legislature," he said. "I think I have insights that would be valuable."

He said he sees "the necessity for some real property tax reform rather than the patchwork type of measure the legislature has been putting forth, such as the tax cap."

"Proposition 2½ is a result of inaction on the part of the legislature to address the problem," he said.

"The property tax is a regressive form of taxation. It does nothing to take advantage of times of economic prosperity. In a time of prosperity the only people who benefit are the state and the federal government."

McGrath called the MBTA "another major issue that has been unaddressed by the legislature. There are problems with the service, with the budget, with the management. It is time for a reorganization of the MBTA."

Brownell, an attorney who once served as an assistant attorney general (1969-71), is a graduate of Quincy High School, Suffolk University and Suffolk Law School. He also studied tax law at Boston University Law School.

An Army veteran (1958-63), he lives in Merrymount with his wife, the former Margaret T. Donovan, and their three children, Karyn 9, David 6, and Brian 13 months.

McGrath, who was a student at Suffolk Law School when he was first elected to the City Council in 1977, is a graduate of Archbishop Williams High School and Boston College as well as Suffolk.

He is an attorney in the office of Andrew Card Sr. in Holbrook. Unmarried, he lives in Wollaston.

McGrath said that if he is elected to the legislature he would serve out the final year of his term on the City Council and he would not run for re-election.

Common Cause/Massachusetts, in its biennial questionnaire sent to rival legislative candidates, found little to choose between Brownell and McGrath on the issues.

Out of 11 issues in the Common Cause poll, they differed on only one.

Brownell said he would vote for enactment of legislation requiring limited financial disclosure by certain municipal officials. McGrath said he would not.

They agreed on:

- a sunset law.
- public hearings by the MBTA on route changes and fare hikes.

- a 4 per cent cap on MBTA assessments on cities and towns.

- an itemized budget for the MBTA.

- election of legislative committee chairmen by secret ballot.

- a limit of 12 hours on legislative sessions.

- a recorded roll call vote on every bill.

- a procedural change to restrict enactment of non-financial legislation as part of budget bills.

- a procedural change to restrict the practice of setting salaries for the state agencies by legislation.

Bryan VFW Post Helps Jerry's Kids...

As state commander, McDonald selected muscular dystrophy as his charitable project, raising $4,300 among VFW posts in the state. The Junior Girls Unit of the Auxiliary raised $25. In photo at right, Bryan Post Commander Peter Landry presents another $500 check to Henry Bosworth for Jerry's Kids. With them is Joseph Sullivan, post chaplain and Past State Commander McDonald.

Thomas McDonald Named JWV's 'Citizen Of The Year'

Thomas McDonald of North Quincy has been named the Quincy Jewish War Veterans' "Citizen of the Year", announces Past Commander Irving Isaacson, program chairman.

McDonald will be honored at a Sunday, Nov. 2 awards breakfast at Beth Israel Synagogue, Quincy Point.

"Mr. McDonald will be recognized for his many years of devoted service and untiring efforts to the community, to veterans and concern for his fellow man," Isaacson said.

Immediate State Past Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, McDonald is also active in other community activities, including the Council on Aging, the annual Quincy Sun based Muscular Dystrophy telethon, youth activities and community improvement programs.

He is a letter carrier for the Quincy Center Post Office. A resident of 24 Vershire St., North Quincy, he and his wife Natalie have three daughters.

He was recently appointed by Gov. Edward King to the Veterans Advisory Board for a three-year term. He was also recently named an All-American Department Commander of the VFW, for outstanding work during the past year.

Among the invited guests are McDonald's friends and family, Mayor Arthur Tobin, Sen. Paul Harold, Cong. Brian Donnelly and past recipients of the award.

Trustees Hold Decision On W. Quincy Library Disposal

Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library have postponed until Monday, Sept. 22, a decision on disposal of the West Quincy branch library on Furnace Brook Parkway, which was closed last year.

The matter was discussed briefly at the trustees' meeting Monday night but, since only four members of the board were present, it was decided to postpone a final decision until the next meeting.

Chairman L. Paul Marini said the issues are whether to retain the 1,500 square foot branch library building as a store room or office space or sell it.

The library needs close to 10,000 square feet of additional space for offices and receiving and distribution, said Marini.

In other matters, trustees voted to restore the Carroll Coletti mural in the main library on Washington St., which has been damaged by water leaking through the roof.

The mural, a composite painting showing the various architectural styles in Italy, was done by Coletti when he was a student at Yale.

Delahunt Supports Eeley In Governors Council Race

Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt announces his support for Peter L. Eeley of Quincy, who used to be one of his assistant DAs, in his race for the Governor's Council from the Fourth District.

"I was very impressed, both personally and professionally, with attorney Eeley's dedication, ability and aggressive pursuit of criminal justice," said Delahunt.

"He is a young man of exceptional ability, integrity, and competence, and it is my pleasure to support his candidacy for Executive Council."

Delahunt said that, as an assistant district attorney, Eeley was responsible for handling major prosecutions and developed an anti-crime investigation system that was adopted by his office.

Eeley's reputation for tough criminal prosecutions, said Delahunt, won him the respect of judges, fellow prosecutors, police officers and members of the legal profession.

"Because of his thoroughness and attention to the rights of all concerned, attorney Eeley established himself as an outstanding and knowledgeable prosecutor who would be most capable in public office," said Delahunt.

"Attorney Eeley has earned the encouragement and support of the legal community, as well as the public at large, because of his honesty and straight forward approach."

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

Prevention works when it comes to the care of teeth. Brushing, flossing and regular dental checkups are the essentials of good dental health. Brush with a soft brush at least twice a day. Floss daily to reach the areas that a brush can not. In individual cases, use of dental tape, rubber tips, stimulants and the like can be helpful. Your dentist will be able to tell if you would profit from the use of one of these devices. Regular dental visits will generally entail professional cleaning and x-rays on a frequency recommended by the dentist.

Your dentist is a professional dedicated to preserving your teeth through preventive methods. Visit the office of DANIEL P. SWEENEY, D.D.S. at 539 Adams

St., East Milton Sq. or call 698-3636. We seek to instill in our patients a respect for their natural teeth. Therefore, we teach good oral hygiene for use between visits. We encourage regular visits to the office and x-rays that are up to date. Don't put off needed dental work. When dental breakdown does occur in the form of decay or gum disease let us help you keep your natural teeth by catching that breakdown at its lowest level of activity. Preventive method will help you keep your teeth for a lifetime of attractive smiles.

DENTAL TIP:

Many dentists recommend brushing the tongue as well as teeth to thoroughly clean the mouth.

'Sad Commentary'

Barbed Wire To Protect Snug Harbor Ct. Seniors

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

"It's a sad commentary on our day that we have to put up barbed wire to protect people," said Quincy Housing Authority member Carmine D'Olimpio.

With those words, D'Olimpio joined the other QHA members in unanimously approving barbed wire protection for troubled Snug Harbor Court in Germantown.

The 45-unit senior citizen complex has been the target of youth harassment and vandalism in recent months.

At an Aug. 28 public meeting on the problems, residents requested improvements to the fence surrounding the complex as one key to stemming the youth harassment.

QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien gave the cost of the barbed wire, which would be placed atop the present eightfoot fence, at $1,095.

When asked about the legality of using barbed wire, QHA Counsel Paul Hunt told the authority, "we have an absolute right to put up barbed wire on private property, as long as it's high enough not to affect small children."

D'Olimpio and Chairman Rev. William McCarthy both criticized newspaper reports that, they claimed, didn't give the QHA enough credit for its efforts to help the Snug Harbor seniors.

"People seem to think the authority can perform miracles," said Fr. McCarthy.

"But we have the same problems at Martensen St. It's also happening to the sisters at St. John's Convent. They get the same harassment. But I can't afford to have a security guard there from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m.

"Until we get back to morality and the stability of the family, we're going to have the same problems," Fr. McCarthy said.

City Pays Fond Tribute To Dennis Ryan

"The service of Dennis Ryan reflects not only upon you, upon the City of Quincy and upon Quincy District Court, but upon all of us who regard him as a friend."

That's how one old friend, State Senate President William Bulger (D-South Boston), described Quincy District Court Clerk Dennis Ryan, who recently stepped down from the Hospital Board of Managers after 12 years on that board.

Ryan, 69, was honored by the city and the Quincy Bar Association Saturday in ceremonies preceding the unveiling of the Constitution sculpture at City Hall.

Mayor Arthur Tobin announced a surprise honor for Ryan by noting that the Hospital Board of Managers recently voted to name their meeting room the "Dennis F. Ryan Room."

Bulger presented a plaque of appreciation to Ryan on behalf of the city of Quincy. Bar Association treasurer Louis Berton and vice president Ronald Saad also presented a plaque to Ryan on behalf of their organization.

Ryan took the opportunity to put in a plug for Quincy City Hospital.

"I have no intention of spoiling a lovely day by making a speech," he began, "but we have a fine hospital."

"Don't lose it — please don't lose your hospital. Our doctors know their business, they're real professionals. Our nurses are second to none."

"The hospital needs equipment," he continued, "but, of course, the taxpayer needs to be taken into consideration. I just pray that someday we'll get that equipment — then you'll see one of the top hospitals in the commonwealth."

Ryan has been plagued of late by ill health, which forced him to resign from the hospital board and which has kept him away from the courthouse. Ryan has been clerk at Quincy District Court for 29 years.

"Let me promise all you lawyers," he proclaimed, "Ryan is coming back to Quincy Court. Don't sit in that chair — that's Ryan's chair and it's going to be his chair for some time."

Bulger, a long-time friend earned some laughs by mistakenly referring to Ryan's years of service "at Dorchester District Court."

After correcting himself, he said, "I'll tell you, I'm not accustomed to foreign travel. I've never been this far south before."

Honored guests at Saturday's ceremonies included Cong. Brian Donnelly, state Sen. Paul Harold. Reps Michael Morrissey and Thomas Brownell, Councillors Leo Kelly, Francis McCauley, Joanne Condon and Stephen McGrath.

Also Gerald White, presiding justice of Plymouth District Court; Alvin Tamkin, presiding justice of Hingham District Court; Superior Court Justice Robert Prince and James Lawton, first judge of Plymouth Probate Court.

Albert Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court, introduced Edward Hennessey, chief justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court, who was keynote speaker for the unveiling of the monument.

Constitution Sculpture:

Some Adults Liked It, Some Didn't — But The Kids Loved It

By BERNIE O'DONNELL.
Persons viewing the Constitution sculpture for the first time Saturday could agree on only two things.

First, the sculpture was unlike anything they had ever seen.

And, second, the 60-ton sculpture seems destined to become a favorite of the youngsters, who were crawling over the monument within minutes of its unveiling.

"I don't know; I can't figure it out," said Anthony Losordo of Quincy Center. "I suppose it will grow on us."

"I think it's silly," said Ralph

Morris of West Quincy. "What a thing to spend the city's money on."

"It's nice — it's unusual," said Charles Thorley of Quincy Point. Noting the horde of youngsters climbing over the sculpture, he added, "It's going to be a plaything, I think."

Two members of the Constitution Celebration planning committee which had chosen the monument's design were enthusiastic about the final product.

"I think it's great — it has national significance and merit," said James Cameron of Wollaston.

Eastern Nazarene College history professor and president of the Quincy Historical Society. "And I'm glad to see the kids recognize what it's for — to be used and to be touched."

"I'm very pleased," said Otis Oakman of Braintree, who added, "I think people are going to like it. 'You have to imagine the principle of three blending into one,' he said.

"It does what art is supposed to do," said his wife, Muriel Oakman. "It will make everyone supply their own interpretation."

But the last word was had by Greg Sullivan, 12, of Squantum. "It's excellent to climb on."

You Just Can't Resist It!

By FRANK MORTIMER

Some of us may never see John Adams or a constitution in the 60-ton abstract sculpture that was dedicated on McIntyre Mall Saturday afternoon.

But watch out. The elusive granite curves may gradually, or suddenly, catch you where you are most vulnerable: in your nostalgia bone.

Few people can pass the sculpture without having a look — and offering a comment. Not just any comment will do, either.

It's got to be witty.

It's got to be your best shot. After all, 60 tons of granite plopped down where you can't miss it on the way to the train station. Sixty tons of granite that cost the city $12,000 in a belt-tightening year. Sixty tons which, we are told, represent an "interplay of ideas" that took place 200 years ago.

That's a lot of boulders to swallow all at once.

So you reply in kind. You come on strong.

And that's exactly why the Constitution sculpture will stay with you. It makes you think.

Like John Adams himself, you've been roused to defend your rights. You demand the right to see rocks as rocks, and not as interplaying ideas.

The man who said, "Well, at least no one will run off with it," will never forget his first remark.

The man who said, "They'll probably write all over it," will always remember the sunny September weekend when the smooth Quincy granite bore no trace of graffiti.

"Looks like we had an earthquake."

"They could've built a cheaper set of monkey bars."

"Reminds me of that stone pile up by the quaries."

Tart remarks. But designer Jerome N. Reicher and sculptor Edward P. Monti would approve. They got you to participate.

You barely glance at the plaque which explains how the sculpture reflects the dynamic nature of our Massachusetts Constitution. You tend to agree with the woman who said, "If a work needs to be explained, it's lost from the start." Instead of studying the artist's creation, you sit down on it and read a magazine.

But this, too, is participation; physical participation in fact. And now you will remember the magazine, the sun-filled afternoon . . . and that curvy lump of granite you chose instead of your favorite bench.

Children get involved in a more direct way. They walk up to the monument and climb on it.

On Sunday afternoon, while runners competing in the City of Presidents Marathon took the final short strides to the finish line, about 15 nearby children swarmed all over Ed Monti's handiwork.

These are the small people who pay no taxes and read no plaques. No one has to tell them what's plain to see.

"I'm gonna go into my house now," announced little Heather Ann Bergonzi of Wollaston while her mother, Sherry, looked on. And sure enough, the girl in the lime-green summer dress briefly vanished into her own Flinstone-style house.

Paul Bergonzi, 12, saw it otherwise. He stood on top of the structure and said, "This is a big boat. We have to get away from Jaws." The boy crouched out of danger in his 14-piece granite boat.

Of course there was no real shark. It was only Joe and Bobby Doherty of Weymouth playing tag.

Cindy Bain, 10, of Quincy, just sat on the warm stone and watched the action. "This is such a friendly place," she said.

"Lisa, look at the slide," shouted Tina McColgan of Hull to her sister. But Tina found the steeply curved stone a rough ride, and Lisa didn't try it.

Standing a short distance away, Connie Johnson of Rockview Rd., Quincy, kept a sharp eye on her grandson, Billy Hoy. The 7 year old was perched on the elevated horizontal block that represents the constitution. Billy was looking for his father, Ronald Hoy who was running in the marathon. The boy's almost-white hair and his red USA Swim Team sweatshirt stood out boldly on top of the grey rock.

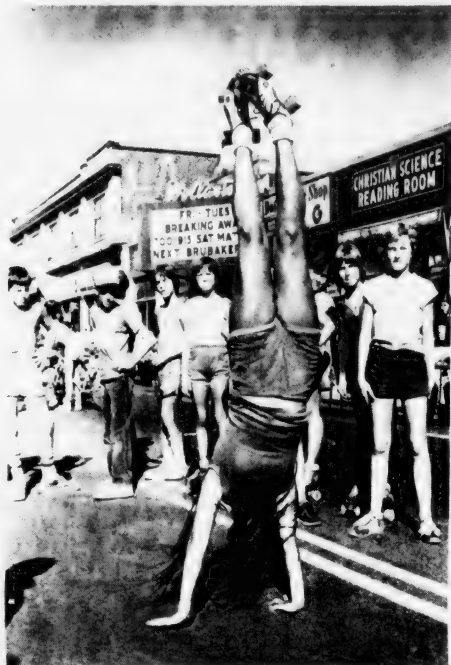

"The kids took to it right away," said his grandmother. "It's a fine playground."

Billy's father came in 51st in the race.

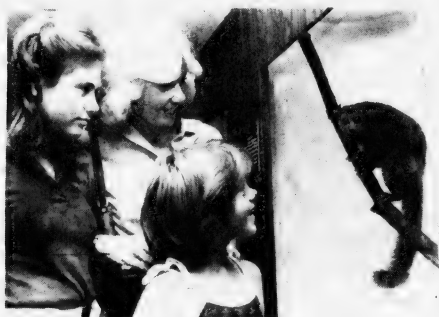

And so it went, kids and adults alike seeing not much history in the carved stone — but making that stone part of their own history.

and courageous and he, of course, stated the community's case for the later adoption of the Fourteenth Article of the Massachusetts Declaration of Rights against unreasonable searches. He also, relying on certain English legal authorities, foreshadowed the constitutional principle that it is the duty of the judiciary to declare unconstitutional statutes void, as he proclaimed. This writ is against the fundamental principles of law... the privilege of house.

"Young John Adams was in the courtroom that day, as were most of the lawyers of Suffolk and Middlesex Counties, arrayed in their black legal robes and tie-back wigs. It is certain that Adams was that day, of all days, inspired toward his great constitutional writings of later years. He wrote about it later, with these words, 'But Otis was a flame of fire.... American independence was then and there born; the seeds of patriots and heroes were then and there sown.... Every man of a crowded audience appeared to me to go away, as I did, ready to take arms against writs of assistance. Then and there was the first scene of the first act of opposition to the arbitrary claims of Great Britain. Then and there the child Independence was born. In fifteen years he grew to manhood, declared himself free."

"If Adams had moved to the window of the chamber that day in 1761, and had craned his neck a little, he would have seen the place nearby where, a decade later, the Boston Massacre would occur. On that day, in 1771, words flew and stones flew between British soldiers and local citizens. Shots were fired by the British and deaths resulted. And once more Adams was before the Supreme Judicial Court in the Old State House. This time he was risking his reputation and his future in answering one of the highest calls of the lawyer's duty: defending the unpopular client. British Captain Prescott and several of his soldiers were charged with the homicides. Adams and his associate for five days defended the case before the Court and a jury. The defendants were convicted of modest charges and received short sentences.

"Finally, in 1775, Adams became Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, not as an appointee of the King, but as the first Chief Justice chosen by the colony which had proclaimed its independence. He retained the office for only a year, and then went on to other great pursuits. Among these was the writing of our Massachusetts Constitution of 1780.

"This document has been called the most remarkable and comprehensive expression of political freedom in history. It preceded the United States Constitution by almost a decade, and it was an all but complete model for that Federal document. Our sweeping Massachusetts Declaration of Rights provided each citizen with protection against self-incrimination protection against unreasonable search and seizure

the privilege to meet accusers face to face freedom of speech, press and assembly protection against excessive bail and cruel and unusual punishment trial by jury

due process of law and protection of private property.

"Our Constitution also provided a frame of government which was to be later emulated by the Federal document: three separate branches of government — legislative, executive and judicial — with a legislature of two houses. The independence of the judicial branch was proclaimed as never before in history.

"What an extraordinary development in the history of freedom we commemorate in this anniversary year! Some of the constitutional principles had been written before in the jurisprudence of France, and particularly England, and other places. But never, until the coincidence of events and genius occurred in Massachusetts, had the great ideas been expressed at once so well and completely. What a wrenching intellectual exercise it must have been, to tear away from the prejudices and vested interests of all previous time! And what courage was summoned, as Adams and his colleagues literally lived (in his words) with a 'halter around (their) necks.'"

Another Chief Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, Oliver Wendell Holmes, said in 1891: "The electric current of large affairs turns even common mould to diamond, and traditions of ancient honor impart something of their dignity to those who inherit them." These eloquent words suggest a parallel thought. The Massachusetts Constitution, followed by the markedly similar Constitution of the United States, speaks to the highest idealism and morality. They make a heritage which should lift the heart and the mind of every citizen. The citizen who appreciates the nobility of this great heritage, as well as the courage and genius which created it, must surely add to the greatness of his community and his country.

Finally, I think that if John Adams and other giants of our past could speak to us, they might say in the words of the old song, "Of course you can never be like us. But be as like us as you can."

City Club

Breakfast

Meeting Sunday

The Quincy City Club will open its seventh season Sunday, with a breakfast meeting at 10 a.m. at Sherry's Restaurant, Southern Artery, Quincy.

Plans will be formulated for the club's sixth annual dinner-dance to be held Saturday, Oct. 4, at the George F. Bryan VFW Hall, Broad St., Quincy.

Richard M. Morrissey and Joseph M. Lydon are co-chairmen of the event. Members or friends of the organization are welcome to participate and may contact either for the reservations.

Tickets will be available at the Sunday breakfast.

A catered roast beef dinner will be served family style at 7:30 p.m. followed by dancing until 1 a.m.

Donald E. Conboy and Paul Lee have been reappointed to lead the Christmas Charity Drive of the organization and will announce plans at the meeting on Sunday.

The Quincy City Club, chartered Sept. 12, 1974, has a membership of 90.

Officers include Richard J. Koch, president; Thomas R. Burke, treasurer and Joseph M. Lydon, secretary and clerk.

Tobin Following Federal Fund Trail

Mayor Arthur Tobin was in Washington Tuesday and Wednesday, on the trail of future federal funding for projects in Quincy.

The Mayor said he was going primarily to investigate a new Economic Development Act that is winding its way through the Congress. It's now in committee.

"We don't know how much money will be in the final package," he said, "and we don't know what the criteria will be for the communities.

"But we know that everybody and his brother will be looking for money in it and we want to find out the preliminary procedures so we can be ready with an application."

Tobin said he also wanted to meet some of the members of the Public Works Committee in the Capitol and that Cong. Brian J. Donnelly planned to introduce him.

"Brian's being on the committee isn't going to hurt," he said.

School Nurses Ask Mediation

Public school nurses - all 13 of them - have asked for state mediation in their apparent impasse with school department negotiators.

The talks "came to a standstill" last week, mainly over the group's proposed salary schedule, according to Rosalie Barrie, head of the nurses' negotiating team.

This is the first year the group has had to negotiate a contract with the school department, she said, as the nurses had been treated as part of the Quincy Education Association, the teachers' union.

"We set out just to get the benefits we're already receiving and a fair increment in salary," she said.

School negotiators are seeking to abolish the salary schedule now in effect and put new nurses on a flat salary scale, regardless of experience or education, she said.

School and nurse negotiators also differ on several other minor points, she said.

No date for the start of mediation has been set, she said.

National Progressive Gym Program At YMCA

The Quincy YMCA will begin instruction of the newly developed National YMCA Progressive Gymnastics Program for Youth beginning Sept. 23.

Each of the progression levels of the program incorporate skills instruction, basic fundamental and technical information, values education and safety awareness.

The program encompasses the gymnastic events under the jurisdiction of the International Gymnastic Federation (F.I.G.) for men and women which include: Floor Exercise, Balance Beam, Uneven Bars, Vaulting, Parallel Bars, Rings, Horizontal Bar.

Sound mechanical principles, innovative instruction techniques, physical fitness, enthusiastic leadership and the general safety and well-being of the participant are the primary considerations in the operation structure of the program.

Team try-outs will be conducted on Tuesday, Sept. 23. Coed Progressive Gymnastic classes will begin Tuesday, Sept.

23 and Thursday, Sept. 25. Pre-registration is necessary. The program is for full privilege members of the YMCA only. For further information, contact Barbara Bowen at 479-8500.

Brownell Pledges To Work For State Income Tax Cut

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) told a coffee hour gathering at the home of Terry Whitten, 14 Churchill Rd., Quincy Center, that he is firmly committed to a cut in the state income tax.

"We must make this state more competitive with our neighboring states if we are to survive economically," he said.

Brownell, who is a candidate for re-election in the Second Norfolk District, is the author of legislation that would phase out the current 7.5 per cent income tax surcharge.

He called the surcharge one of the major factors why Massachusetts income tax is 44 per cent above the national average.

"I will work hard to secure passage of this vital legislation," he said.

Brownell said his research on the surtax, which became law in 1975 during a fiscal crisis, indicates that this "regressive tax on a tax" is no longer needed.

Our Lady Of Good Counsel Picnic Sunday

Rev. Peter Martocchio, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel parish, announces a picnic will be held Sunday 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. on the lawn behind the rectory and church.

Sponsored by the church's Spiritual Development Committee, the picnic will begin with Fr. Paul Clougherty giving some brief spiritual reflections. The opening service will end with benediction.

Parishioners are encouraged to bring picnic lunches and refreshments will be provided.

Picnic co-chairwomen are Betty Mafera and Margaret Fay, assisted by Beatrice Blake, Mary Blancy and Lou Mazzini.

All members of the Adams Shore-Merrymount parish are encouraged to participate.

Board To Act Sept. 23 On Atlas License Transfer

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City License Commission continued to Sept. 23, a hearing on the transfer of Atlas Liquor's package store license after the store and Lakin Square residents again tangled over plans for a new building.

Atlas requested at Tuesday's meeting transfer of their all alcoholic beverages-retail package goods store license to a new, brick veneered building to be constructed at 659-665 Adams St., and 49-53 Eddie St. Their parking area, with 31 spaces, would be at 665-673 Adams St., and 60-72 Hilda St.

Atty. John J. Doyle, Jr., representing Atlas, presented board members site plans and other information which had been lacking when the store submitted a similar request June 10. That request had been withdrawn without prejudice.

Doyle also reported to the board that since the June meeting, he has met with Lakin Square residents to try and resolve their problems with the plans.

Doyle produced a list of the area residents' requests with regard to the plans, and said that all but one of the request had been worked out.

A run through however, of the requests with Doyle, board members and Carolyn Reardon, representing the neighborhood association, showed that the problems were far from resolved.

Miss Reardon, and area residents attending Tuesday's meetings said they were concerned about securing parking area at night, possible deliveries on Adams St., and the affect the larger building, and presumably increased business, would have on already traffic congested Adams St.

City Councillors John J. Lydon and James Sheets indicated they felt Atlas' plans met only minimum public safety requirements in regard to loading zones and parking.

Area resident Mary Vecheris said she didn't see how the board could vote for the plans. She said there would be inadequate parking, pointed out that Atlas' record in the past was not that good, and told of the heavy traffic already resulting in children being struck by cars and the elderly having great trouble crossing Adams St.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn said that the operation was already there and that the plans would make a horrible traffic flow much smoother.

Miss Reardon said the neighborhood association has not had adequate time to go over the plans and invited Atty. Doyle to meet with the group again.

Chief Finn made the motion to continue the request, which was seconded by Building Inspector Allan MacDonald. By law, the request must be acted on Sept. 23 which is 30 days after the request was made.

A hearing on a request by Quincy Bay Inn, 24-29 Hancock St., for transfer of the innholder all alcoholic license from the Carlton House was continued to Sept. 16, at 10 a.m.

The inn was also requesting a cabaret, Lord's Day, entertainment and common victualer license. The hearing was postponed at the request of the inn's attorney and manager, Richard J. Vita, who had court commitments.

City Councillor Joanne Condon told the board she would be present for that hearing next week.

In other action, the License Board:

- Continued for two weeks a request from California, 79 Parkway, for three vending machines, pending more background on the company supplying the machines.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the North Quincy Knights of Columbus, for a dance Saturday, Oct. 4, 6 p.m. to midnight at the National Guard Armory.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Manet Community Health Center, Inc., for their first anniversary party to be held Saturday, Oct. 18, 8 p.m. to midnight, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall. The license fee was waived since the party is a community endeavor.

- Continued for two weeks a request from Luke's Lounge, 51-57 Granite St., for a noon opening on Sundays. The lounge owners were advised to consult with neighborhood Covenant Congregational Church about the Sunday opening.

- Granted the North Quincy School Hockey Boosters Club tag day permits for Friday, Oct. 24, 4 to 8 p.m.; and Saturday, Oct. 25, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Rain dates Oct. 31 and Nov. 1)

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert McKeogh, who has been concerned about the safety of youngsters during tag day solicitations, did not vote on the request.

- Placed on file a request from John J. Duane Co., Inc. 600 Southern Artery, for a year round flea market license on Saturdays and Sundays.

No action was taken because no representative from the company appeared at the meeting, and insufficient information had been provided.

- Granted, subject to the requirements of the Fire, Health and Building Departments, a common victualer license to Creative Gourmets, Ltd., for 61 South Rd., which will house Commercial Union Insurance.

- Granted a Motor II, used car, license to Richard Toma of Braintree for Highway Sales, 481 Quincy Ave. No more than two cars can be displayed in front of the office. MacDonald voted against the request.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the NORLANTIC Reef-Combos for a costume party to be held by the scuba club Saturday, Nov. 1, 7 p.m. to midnight, at the Fore River Club House.

Chief Finn suggested the club hire a three policemen detail for the party.

WINNER JIM CAPEZZUTO of Quincy crosses the finish line for the first-ever city of Presidents Marathon Sunday, covering the 26-mile, 385-yard distance in 2 hours, 36 minutes.

OVER 350 RUNNERS break from the starting line Sunday morning in the City of Presidents Marathon in front of City Hall and First Parish Church.

Capezzuto 1st, Kone 2nd Quincy Runners 1, 2 In Presidents Marathon

Quincy's first bonafide (26.2 miles) marathon last Sunday held in conjunction with the Constitution Celebration, was such a success, the organizers hope to make it an annual affair.

More than 300 runners started the Presidents Marathon, which passed nearly every historical site in the city and many of those running, who have run the Boston Marathon, said they preferred the Quincy event.

Fittingly, two Quincy runners paced the pack as James Capezzuto, who nearly dropped out, won in 2:36:47, and Bill Kone was second at 2:39:26.

The event was co-sponsored by the South Boston Savings Bank and the Patriot Ledger.

Capezzuto trailed Steve Gilmore of Newport, R.I., most of the way but Gilmore came up with a cramp and fell back to fifth place.

"I was tiring and considered dropping out after 21 miles, but Jock Semple, the Boston Marathon official, who was helping out with the race, urged me on," Capezzuto said. "He told me to finish and I decided to keep on going."

Capezzuto saw Gilmore stop on the second swing across Furnace Brook Parkway. "I saw him stop, but I kept going. Before I knew it, I got there and he was still there. I said to myself, 'He's in trouble.'"

"When we got to Wollaston, I was going to pick up the pace, but I looked back and he wasn't there. So I kept it easy. I was dead."

Capezzuto, a two-miler in high school, still holds the state Catholic Conference record of 9:19. This was the fourth marathon for him. "I ran the 1979 Boston Marathon in 2:26, but I didn't feel nearly as bad as I did today. My legs were better than Boston, but my stomach didn't hold up. The weather didn't bother me mentally here but it did hurt my performance."

Runnerup Kone had one complaint. "It was hard getting water in the late stages of the race," he said. "You start to need it around mile 21. At that point, I was at the top of the hill on Adams Street and I'd almost given up. Finally, I saw a hose lying over a stone wall - there was no one around - just a hose. I stopped and stuck it in my mouth. I was fortunate, because there was no more water until the North Quincy fire station. That's too far to go in the heat."

Arthur Reed of Quincy finished 16th, Garrett Powell 19th and Bill Connolly 22nd.

Brenda Kelly of Bristol, R.I., was the first woman to finish, placing 51st overall at 3:13:31.

Donna Reardon, Quincy High star, was the fifth woman finisher, placing 127th overall at 3:45:18.

The Masters winner (those 40-50) was John Buoncristiani of Dorchester, 15th overall at 2:52:21.

Charlie Ratti of Weymouth, 50, was the Seniors (50 and over) winner at 2:58:46, which gave him 24th overall.

Blanche Paine of Watertown was the women's master (40 and over) and also the senior winner, placing 133rd overall at 3:50:09.

The top finishers:

OPEN DIVISION: 1. James Capezzuto, Quincy, 2:36:42; 2. Bill Kone, Quincy, 2:39:26; 3. John McGrath, Somerville, 2:42:41; 4. Steve Schlichting, Abington, 2:44:38; 5. Stephen Gilmore, Newport, R.I., 2:45:15; 6. Bill Dowder, Hopewell, N.J., 2:45:22; 7. George Gardiner, Hope Valley, 2:45:21; 8. Richard Palermo, Dedham, 2:45:31; 9. Dennis Evangelos, Lowell, 2:46:36; 10. Miles Overdate, Brookline, 2:47:11; 11. Jack Ryan, North Providence, 2:49:06; 12. John Walsh, Lynnfield, 2:49:12; 13. Ed Donovan, Marshfield, 2:50:59; 14. Steve Pero, Medford, 2:52:19; 15. John Buoncristiani, Dorchester, 2:52:21; 16. Arthur Reed, Quincy, 2:52:45; 17. Charlie Pratt, Roslindale, 2:53:52; 18. Doug Vaniderstein, Duxbury, 2:54:20; 19. Patti Lyons Runs 2nd Fastest Marathon

Quincy's Patti Lyons-Catalano, one of the world's premier distance runners, ran the second fastest marathon by a woman — 2:30:57 — Saturday to win the women's division of the Montreal Marathon.

Patti sliced five minutes off her previous best time in defeating her archrival, Jacqueline Gareau, the 1980 Boston Marathon winner, by nearly one minute. Lyons' time set the American record and Gareau's

2:31:41 was a Canadian record. The world's record of 2:27:33 is held by Norway's Grete Waitz.

"Jacqueline's a great competitor and today she just pushed me to run as fast as I could," Lyons said. "I think we need each other to see what we can really do."

Lyons' husband and coach, Joe Catalano, former Quincy High track coach, was the fourth American finisher in the men's division, finishing in 2:28:59.

'Chance Of A Lifetime'

Signing With Sox Dream Come True For Biagini

By TOM SULLIVAN

For the past three years Bob Biagini has been catching for the North Quincy High School and Morrisette Legion baseball teams, knocking the cover off the ball, cutting down runners trying to steal, stealing bases himself and doing everything a good catcher should.

Next spring Biagini will be playing for a Red Sox farm club and hoping to eventually reach the big time at Fenway Park.

Following the Brockton Invitational Baseball Tournament over the Labor Day weekend, when he had a phenomenal record in the six-game event and was named the Most Valuable Player, Biagini was approached by Red Sox scouts Billy Enos of Cohasset and Tom McDonald and signed a contract.

If the outstanding North player hadn't signed, he would have started his freshman year at Bentley College, having received a scholarship there.

"This is something I've always dreamed about," Biagini said. "I've been working hard at baseball for most of my life. I just couldn't pass this up. It's the chance of a lifetime.

"I don't know when the Sox scouts started to watch me. But I was swinging the bat well for Morrisette (.468 average, 27 RBI and 27 hits) and I did do well in the Brockton Invitational Tournament."

This was the understatement of the year. All he did in Brockton, before numerous major league scouts, was hit three home runs, two triples, a double and four singles as well as performing well behind the plate.

The two-time all-scholastic felt it was best that he started with the Sox organization rather than go to college.

"I'm still young," he said. "If I have to change positions, they will do it. In college I would have probably been catcher the entire time. I'm just going to try at whatever position they put me."

"As far as school goes, I think I have plenty of time for that. I can always go to school, but how many times do I get asked to play in the Red Sox system?"

Enos, who in many years of scouting, has signed a number of players who made the majors, including Skip Lockwood, is very high on Biagini. "Bob is one of the best prospects I've seen in some time," he said. "I am very impressed with his speed and his power."

Biagini hit .500 each of the past two seasons with North Quincy High. This spring he led the league in stolen bases. In three years at North he stole more than 50 bases and was caught only twice, once at third. He was second in the MVP balloting in the Suburban League this past season.

Two of his biggest boosters are Charlie Bunker, his high school coach, and Ray Cattaneo, his Morrisette Legion coach, both of played in the minor leagues.

"I'd have to say Bob is probably the best player I have had in 10 years at North Quincy," said Bunker, who was an outstanding pitching prospect in the Red Sox system until he hurt his arm (he lost a 1-0 extra inning decision to Luis Tiant). "He has an excellent chance to go somewhere in pro ball. He not only hits with power, but he is very fast. He hit a lot of triples for us that would have only been doubles except for his base, where he is just as good as he is catching," Cattaneo said. "I think with his size (5-10, 170), he would find it too rigorous catching every day. He will be playing in a lot of hot, humid weather that will take a lot out of him if he catches."

"Bob is really outstanding and was one of the finest players I have coached. He is going the same route I did. I had a scholarship to Wake Forest but passed it up to play pro ball."

"I'm going to give Bob one piece of advice and that is, if he really wants to be a pro, to give it more of a chance than I did. If I had stayed in pro ball a while longer I might have gotten myself a good job in baseball."

"I played with Jim Frey, the Kansas City Royals manager, for three years, two at Evansville and one at Jacksonville."

Cattaneo played three years in the minors, went into the service for two years during which time he continued playing, and played two more years after his service duty before calling it quits.

Biagini plans to start in training now for next spring. He plans to find a job and swing a bat every day.

12 Returnees

49 Turn Out For Soccer At North

Third-year coach Paul Bregoli greeted 49 soccer candidates at North Quincy High, one of the largest turnouts in recent years, including 12 returnees from last fall's squad.

The Raiders opened their season Tuesday at home against Newton North and Friday will play Quincy at 3:30 at the field behind Veterans Memorial Stadium. Both are Suburban League games.

The squad is led by Tri-Captains Seniors Paul Gill and Bill Koch and Junior Bill Bradley. Gill and Koch will play fullback as will returning senior Steve Kavanagh. Charlie Spiropoulos and Steve Hawes, juniors, will also play fullback.

The halfback group will be keyed by Bradley, last year's number two scorer who was a league all-star as a sophomore, the only sophomore so honored. Juniors John Keenan and Steve Sacchetti also will be halfbacks. Koch also will play some at halfback.

The forward line will have to make up for the loss of Joey Flynn and Bobby Biagini.

"We will have seven seniors up front trying to provide that punch," said Bregoli.

Gary Donaghey is a returning starter and Bill Bourikas and Steve Dodd also played last year.

Up from the junior varsity are Paul Donovan and Bobby DeCarli, both insiders. Steve Cahill is a good looking newcomer. Chris Dunn, a starter at fullback last year, has been moved to inside to add quickness up front.

"Dunn will be a key for us and will take our corner kicks and some of our direct kicks," Bregoli said. "He may also play some halfback as the need arises."

Rich Palma is a returning starter at wing. Lester Gerry, up from the jayvees, has a good shot and good skills.

Paul Mallory, 6-4 goalie and last year's starter, is out for three weeks with an injury which will hurt the Raiders. Bobby Flaherty, a junior transfer from B. C. High, has filled in nicely in preseason scrimmages and should be able to do the job until Mallory returns.

"Overall, we should improve on last year's record," Bregoli said. "We do have some questions up front as to who will score. Gill and Kavanagh, both experienced, will backbone our defense."

North edged Norwell, 3-2, in a scrimmage with Palma, Bradley and sophomore Peter McGillicuddy scoring. Young McGillicuddy scored four goals in three preseason scrimmages and could see some varsity action. Greg DeBella, another sophomore, has looked good in scrimmages and could come up to the varsity before the season's end.

"Our sophomore and junior groups are very strong, which bodes well for the future," Bregoli concluded.

Al Styles, a former North star, is the junior varsity coach this fall.

St. Ann's Registration

Registration for St. Ann's hockey and figure skating programs will be held Sept. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at St. Ann's Youth Center.

Ice time fees will be paid on a yearly basis. New boys registering must have proof of age. Further information can be had by calling 773-8586.

Girls Gym Tryouts At Y

The Quincy YMCA, 79 Coddington St., will hold gymnastic team tryouts Friday, Sept. 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. for girls ages 7 to 17.

The Quincy Y competes with other Eastern area YMCA's in three levels of U.S.G.F. (United States Gymnastic Federation) competition: beginner, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Gymnastic team members receive training in floor exercise, balance beam, uneven bars, and vaulting four times a week.

96 Teams In Fallon Cup

The 40th annual Fallon Cup Tournament got underway yesterday (Wednesday) at Wollaston Golf Club in Milton with 96 teams teeing off.

The tournament, one of the most prestigious in the state, with golfers from all over the country entered, will continue through Sunday.

The member-guest tournament will operate with six flights.

Last year's winners were Billy Foley of Wollaston and Paul Murphy of Charles River. They will not defend this week, however, as they are playing with different partners.

Among those entered is Jim McDermott, the state amateur champion, who will play with Richard Curtis of Wollaston.

Finishes Undefeated

Traficante Top 12-year-old Girl High Jumper In U.S.

Georgia Traficante, 13, finished a brilliant season for Quincy Track Club by winning the 12-13 high jump in the New Haven, Conn., Classic to finish unbeaten in her age group and be ranked first in the country for her age with a high jump best of 5-4.

Georgia, who set seven meet records and won the Youth Games Nationals, placed second in the open high jump with a 5-2 leap in the first Hattie B. Cooper Classic at White Stadium.

The young star, who is in the eighth grade this year, cleared 5-2 or better seven times this summer.

Maureen Roche won the 220 and took seconds in the 100 and long jump at New Haven, Mike Peita was a close second in 9-under 100 meters, and Coach Jeff Hennessy ran his best ever mile with a 4:31.3, placing second in the open event.

The QTC will have registration for its fall cross country program on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6 to 7:30 beginning next Tuesday.

The program is open to boys and girls from Quincy and surrounding communities 4 to 18 years of age. Registration fee is $5.

Fishbowl Softball Tournament Finals Sunday

sponsored and played in several South Shore Leagues.

Louis' Over-30 team defeated Package-Yacht Club-Finlay, 15-11, with John Sullivan the winning pitcher. Each team scored three runs in the first inning but Louis exploded for five in the second and six in the fourth. Mike Murphy had a three-run homer in the five-run second.

Post 380 edged Louis' HN Men's League team, 6-5, with two runs in the seventh inning. John Hanifan was the winning pitcher and Joe DeAngelis the loser.

Hanifan won his own game with a two-run single in the seventh. Joe Brill and Mike McNally had singled and Dennis Fitzgibbons walked to set up the winning hit.

Louis' HN Men's League team scored eight runs in the fourth and walloped the Package-Yacht Club-Finlay's combine, 12-6, with DeAngelis the winning pitcher. Ed Faherty had three hits, Ed Davis, Red Farrand and Richie Briar two each.

Louis' Suburban League team defeated Manet Shell, 7-1, with Joe Picard the winning pitcher. Wayne Strong had three hits and Steve Stone, Mike Berra and Dave Sullivan two each.

Chennette edged Manet Shell, 5-4, with Bob Bowers the winner and John Picarski the loser. Danny Picard homered for Chennette and Rich Chennette stood out on defense.

Louis' HN League team overpowered Chennette, 20-4, with DeAngelis the winner. Louis pounded out 24 hits and started off with nine runs in the first inning. Al Rosenberg had four hits, Ed Faherty three and everyone else on the team had at least one hit.

Youth Football Apaches Sink Sailors

The Quincy Youth Football League opened its season Sunday with the Apaches defeating the Sailors, 28-16.

The Apaches scored in the first period when a 40-yard pass from Dan Kelly to Keith Smith set up Mike Hill's 20-yard touchdown run.

In the second period Eddie Page scored on a three-yard run and Kelly passed to Smith for 40 yards and another score. The Apaches finished their scoring in the fourth period on Varnado's 64-yard run. Page, Mike Gill, Varnado, Jon Sheehan and Smith stood out offensively, while Mike Gilligan, Sheehan, Varnado, Ken Yanesky sparkled on defense.

The Sailors scored on end runs by Gerard Coughlin and Paul Lloyd.

In the second game the Manets won their first game in five years, 6-0, over the Elks.

John Palmer scored the touchdown on a sweep around right end. Bill Cannan, Mark Choen and Bill Burkhead were pailed for their performances.

The Panthers were idle Sunday.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Here's a surprising football fact... Despite Coach Noll's phenomenal success in coaching the Pittsburgh Steelers in recent years, it's NOT Noll, but Don Shula of Miami who has the best winning percentage among all active coaches in the National Football League... Going into this season, Shula, in his NFL career, has won 72% of all games he's coached... Red Miller of Denver is 2nd, having won 67% of all his games... Noll is 3rd at 65%... Bud Grant of Minnesota is 4th at 64% and Chuck Knox of Buffalo is 5th at 63%... Also, surprisingly, Tom Landry of Dallas ranks only 7th, having won 61% of all the NFL games he's coached.

Amazingly, Notre Dame has had only 4 losing seasons in football IN THIS CENTURY... The only losing seasons the Irish have had since 1900 were 1933, 1956, 1960 and 1963.

One of the strangest pennant races in big league baseball history happened in the National League in 1964... Philadelphia was in first place 134 days that season, then didn't finish first... while St. Louis was NEVER in first place on ANY day in 1964 till Sept. 29, and they won the pennant!

I bet you didn't know... that COLMAN'S has all the fall sporting goods and... all the sport fashions you need. And... they're at COLMAN'S low, low money saving prices.

Raiders' Strength Is Defense

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy football coach Dave Burke feels the Raiders' strength this fall is the defense and Ken McPhee, who coaches the defense along with Jack Raymer, concurs.

"I think the defense will be strong this year and the defensive line, in particular, should be outstanding," he said. "Although we have only a few starters back, we have experience and depth. I feel the offense will come along, but I honestly am excited about our defense."

For interior linemen, North has Bill Feeney (6-1, 195) Peter McDonough (6-3, 220), the only returning starters at these spots; Mark Micelli, Paul Schaezel, Lou DePietro (205), Jim Stacy, Bob Palm and Rich Hernon. DePietro, a returning starter at offensive guard, and Stacy played a lot last season.

Glen Segalla (6-0, 190) is the lone returning starter at defensive end and is joined by Chuck Sylva (6-0, 205), who played last year at Quincy High, Steve Lee, Tim Tehan and Bob McCormack (6-0, 205). McCormack, who will start offensively at fullback, looks good and Sylva "is one of the best looking players on the squad," according to McPhee.

Paul O'Sullivan (6-0, 190), is a returning starter at linebacker and Pete Alibrandi is a letterman. Steve Howley and Rick Stevens are other fine line backers.

North has several good looking defensive backs, including Chris Baker, Brian Marsters, Ed Corcoran, Tom Smith, Paul McAlaney, Steve Mallory, Gino Pillard, Jim McGinnis and Ken Mann.

"This is an excellent group," McPhee said. "They all are fast and aggressive and are working really hard."

Jamie Walsh, Jack Leone, Jack Brown and Mike Hutchins are all working at safety.

"Jack Raymer and I are enthused about the defense and are pleased with our progress in practice," McPhee said. "We are going to be tough this year and I think we have a good chance of coming back strong after two straight losing seasons."

DePietro, Segalla, Leone and Brown are the Raider captains.

North scrimmaged Braintree last week and this week scrimmages Scituate in preparation for the season's opener Sept. 20, a home game against oldtime rival Milton in a non-league game.

Montclair Koch Girls Bowling Starts Saturday

The Montclair District of the Koch Club will open its 10th season of girls bowling Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. at the East Milton Bowling Alleys, 540 Adams St.

Girls in grades four through 10 are invited to join and should attend the Saturday morning opening. The league meets every Saturday morning through April and closes its season with an awards night.

Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Howard F. Crowley, Director of the League, at 479-8883.

But For Presidents It Isn't

The Quincy football team has the same problem on defense as it does on offense—a lack of varsity experience.

The only returnees on defense are end Ed Mackey, tackle Chris Chevalier, linebacker Walt Kilgallon, corner back Ken Gustin and safety Ed Iodice.

"We have some big holes to fill on defense due to graduation, just as we do on offense," Coach Tom Fitzgerald said. "We lack depth and a lot of boys will be playing both ways."

Defensive ends are Scott Anson, Sean Burke, Mackey and Joe LaRaia, all of whom will also play on offense; George Slicis, and Danny Montani.

Mike Connors, John Varraso (230) and Capt. Fran Duggan, (235), all offensive stalwarts, will be defensive tackles. Duggan played almost exclusively on offense a year ago but will see a good deal of action on defense this fall.

Other defensive tackles are Paul Reinhardt, Steve Rosetti, Paul Martin, Mike Kelsey and Bill Robinson. Martin will play both ways.

Mike Nevins, Paul DeAngelo and sophomore Bob Willard are the noseguards.

Chris Chevalier (225), rated by the coaches as one of the outstanding players on the team, Kilgallon, Paul Flynn, Mike Burns, John Taglieri and sophomore Sal Loronzano are the line backers. Chevalier is another two-way player.

There are a number of excellent defensive backs including Steve Remallard, Greg Oriola, Steve Goguen, brother of defensive coach Joe Goguen, Mike Shaughnessy, Glen Straughn, Steve Ricci, Jim Zupkofska, Gustin, Jim St. Angelo, Ed Starr and Iodice.

Iodice, the fastest man on the squad, is another two-way player and is one of the team's top running backs.

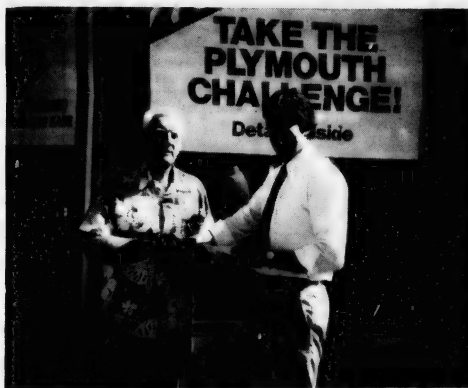

"We don't have a lot of varsity experience, but we have some big boys and some very willing workers and I think the defense will come along all right," said defensive coach Bill Maver.

Park Board Seeks Relief For 'Tired' Adams Field

The Park and Recreation Board is studying ways to provide relief for a tired 41-year-old-Merrymount's Adams Field.

About 230 games were played there during the 1980 baseball season, according to Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the board, who adds that the park is showing serious signs of wear and tear.

The board toured Adams Field during its Monday meeting and "noted the infield turf area severely damaged around the basepath perimeter, caused by excessive use," Koch said.

Chairman Gerard Coletta appointed a sub-committee to study the board's policies with an eye towards preserving Adams Field.

Part of the problems, Koch said, is that "40 percent of the regulation baseball activity is played on ten percent of the potential fields available." Although the city has ten regulation baseball fields, Koch noted, over 200 of the 505 baseball permits issued during 1979-80 were for Adams Field.

The sub-committee-Chairman Richard Morrissey, Joseph Burke, Theodore DeCristofaro and Francis Donovan - will meet with Raymond Cattaneo of the Park Department and officials of the various leagues and teams during the winter months to discuss how best to shift the burden to the city's other baseball fields.

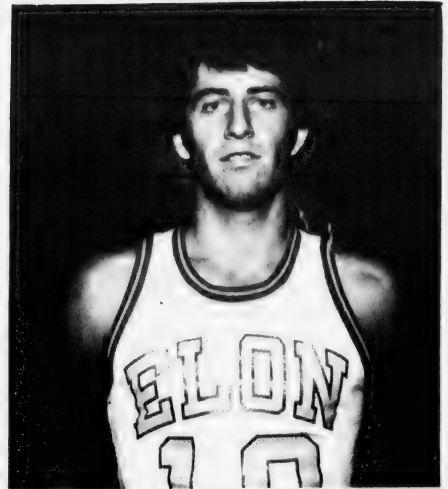

In addition to the heavy schedule of approved games, Koch said, unauthorized baseball games, pre-game batting and fielding practices and illegal touch or tackle football add to the turf damage.

Adams Field was constructed in 1937-38 and dedicated in 1939 and has been considered one of the finest fields in New England, Koch said. The field's dimensions were designed as a replica of the old Braves Field in Boston.

The field averaged about 90 games per year until the installation of lights in 1973, Koch said, and since then use has more than doubled. This year's total is the highest ever, he said.

The city has spent over $125,000 in the past 10 years on lights, restrooms, bleachers and other improvements, he said.

STEVE MARTINELLI

Martinelli Tries Out At Celtics Rookie Camp

● Executive League

Dacey's, Hofbrau In 2-2 Tie

Dacey's Place and The Hofbrau played to a 2-2 tie Monday night as the Quincy Executive Hockey League opened its season at the Youth Arena. Bob Bannister and Kevin Lewis scored for Dacey's with assists for Lewis and Joe Casey. Art Boyle and Frank McAuliffe scored for Hofbrau with assists for Steve Marini, Jerry Fitzgerald, Don Bonito and Chuck Behenna.

Beau's Place edged Sportlight Cafe, 3-2, with Charlie Chambers scoring two goals and Mike Haynes one. Steve Dymant, Dave Hussey, Terry Flaman and Ned Burke had assists. For Sportlight Ralph Freeman had, both goals and Don Costa, Rich Gibbs and Kevin Sullivan had assists.

Bobby Donovan scored twice and assisted on two other goals to spark Adams Sports to a 7-2 win over Washington Tap. Bill Lewis, Kevin Glynn, Paul O'Brien, Dennis O'Connell and Bob O'Connell also scored for Adams. Glynn had two assists and O'Brien, Bill Hansen and Dennis O'Connell one each. For Washington Ed St. John and Marty Tolson had the goals with Tolson, Ralph Gibbs and Peter Casey having assists.

Six days in Marshfield may not land Steve Martinelli a job with the Boston Celtics, but they provided some memorable moments.

Martinelli, a North Quincy resident, took part in the Celtics' annual rookie tryout camp in late August, held at the Red Auerbach Basketball Camp in Marshfield.

The lucky few who impress the Celtics' coaches and management are invited to the team's regular training camp.

Martinelli, 22, says he's satisfied with his performance during the tryouts, but adds, "I won't get invited to training camp."

"I think I held my own," he said, "but I didn't do anything spectacular."

A 6-2, 185-pound, guard, he played basketball at Elon College in Elon, N.C., Cushing Academy and North Quincy High School, where he graduated in 1975. He lives at 232 Farrington St., Wollaston.

Scrimmages were held daily among Celtics' draft choices, "free agents," like Martinelli, who were invited to camp, and veterans, like Larry Bird and M. L. Carr, who showed up early to round into shape.

Playing against Bird, in fact, provided one of the highlights of the six days, Martinelli said - beating him to a loose ball and drawing an angry and unprintable reply from the star forward.

"I think I learned that some players have a lot more talent than I do, but lack a lot in fundamentals," he said. "I don't have as much talent as some of them, so I have to get by on smart play."

Would he do it again? "I'd love to," he said. "It was great."

Immediate plans call for him to return to Elon College this fall to complete some courses and to student-teach this year. He's considering playing professional basketball in a European country, like Belgium, in the next year or two.

North Track Teams Do Well In Braintree Race

The North Quincy boys and girls' track teams did well in the annual Jay LeGrand 5-mile road race in Braintree Sunday.

Three North girls, Linda Kennedy (30:16), Sheila Barrett (30:34), and Mary Crehan (33:25) took the top three places in women's junior.

Two North boys runners, Gary Morin (29:14) and Rick O'Brien

(31:02) placed 2-3 in boys' junior.

Bill Roach of Braintree won the men's open division for the second year in a row, Robin Clayton of Newton won the women's open division, John Hurley of Stoughton was the men's Master winner and Lon Hilde of Cohasset was the wheelchair winner.

County Spending Down $7 Million

Norfolk County expenditures decreased by $7 million during the past year, according to the annual fiscal report filed with the State Bureau of Accounts by Treasurer James M. Collins.

Collins said part of the savings can be attributed to the transfer of the cost of the county court system and its personnel to the state government.

But, he added, it is also the result of "improved fiscal controls, new managerial techniques and a continued desire on the part of county officials to maintain present expenditures and control budgets."

Total expenditures for fiscal 1980 were $33,380,235.86 compared to $40,148,385.43 for the previous year.

Collins said county taxpayers owe a particular debt of gratitude to the Norfolk County Advisory Council for formulating certain watchdog provisions and managerial accounting standards.

A breakdown of the county balance sheets for 1980 may be obtained from the office of the County Treasurer, 618 High St., Dedham, Mass. 02026, or by calling 329-4722.

Obituaries

Guglielmo W. Sacchetti, 62, Retired City Employee

A funeral service will be conducted today (Thursday) at 11:30 a.m. at Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St., for Guglielmo W. Sacchetti, 62, a retired city employee, who died Sept. 8, at Quincy City Hospital.

Mr. Sacchetti, a lifelong Quincy resident, had worked in the Quincy City Hospital dietary department. He was a member of the hospital's bowling league and was a World War II Army veteran.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn (Mylmaki) Sacchetti; four daughters, Billie-Jean Morrissey of Braintree, Patricia Curtis of Quincy; Susan McKinnon of Carver, and Gael Island of Middletown, N.J.; two brothers, Frank and Joseph Sacchetti, both of Quincy; and three sisters, Mrs. Velia MacMillan of Bridgewater, Mrs. Florence Apramo of Leominster and Regina Sacchetti of Italy.

Visiting hours were scheduled for Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery, following the funeral service officiated by Rev. James Kimnell.

Remembrances may be made to the Joslin Diabetes Foundation, 1 Joslin Place, Boston.

Edward J. Mullin, 75 Retired Westinghouse Employee

A funeral Mass was celebrated Saturday at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, for Edward J. Mullin, 75, a lifelong North Quincy resident who died Sept. 2, at Quincy City Hospital.

Mr. Mullin had been employed at Westinghouse Electric Co. before his retirement 10 years ago.

He was a member of the Sacred Heart Ushers Club, a past grand knight in the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Council, and was a member of the Fourth Degree, Cardinal Cushing Assembly.

He is survived by his wife, Mary (Curtin) Mullin; a son, Edward J. Mullin of Scituate; a daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Doyle of Medway; a brother, James Mullen of Brighton; eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 333 Hancock St., North Quincy. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

William L. Wholey, 91, Retired Deputy Fire Chief

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merymount, for William L. Wholey, 91, a retired deputy fire chief for the Quincy Fire Department.

Mr. Wholey, died Sept. 6 at his home following a brief illness.

He served 29 years with the fire department, the last seven, from 1947 to 1954, as deputy fire chief. Appointed to the Fire Department in 1925, he was promoted to lieutenant in 1931, captain in 1938 and deputy chief in 1947.

Serving as pall bearers Tuesday were Deputy Chief

WILLIAM L. WHOLEY

Joseph Jackson, Captain Alfred Joly, Lt. Roy Rizzi, and Firefighters Russell Patten, James Kelly, III and Richard Whalen. Fire Chief Edward Barry requested all off-duty members to attend the funeral as an honor detail.

Born in Boston, Mr. Wholey had lived in Quincy for over 60 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary G. (Spellman) and a sister, Gertrude E. Calland of Dorchester.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Eventide Home Wins 'Excellent All-Around' Honor

William B. Rice Eventide Home, Quincy, has been declared excellent all-around as the result of a Peer Review conducted by representatives of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and will be presented the MFNH Star Banner Award.

This is the highest honor that can be bestowed under a Peer Review program conducted throughout Massachusetts by the organization, which sends a team of experts to any of its member-facilities so requesting.

Only those satisfying a standard of excellence are voted the honor, and are authorized to fly a specially-designed gold and burgundy flag and to display a matching plaque.

The team includes administrators, Registered Nurses, Social workers, Food Service Supervisors and others who conduct a detailed study of the applicant-facility.

The program is administered under the Federation's Ethics, Standards & Accreditation Committee together with a five-member Consumer Advisory Council whose members represent organizations and agencies outside the industry, including elder affairs advocates.

Administrator of William B. Rice Eventide Home is Andrew J. Comeau. It is a 53-bed intermediate nursing home.

Nuclear Hazards Film At Wollaston Methodist

"We Are The Guinea Pigs", a 45-minute film on the hazards of nuclear weapons and nuclear power, will be presented Thursday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m., in the Wollaston United Methodist Church social hall, Beale St.

A speaker from Physicians For Social Responsibility will discuss the impact of nuclear energy on human health and environment.

The presentation, open to the public, is sponsored by the South Shore Survival Summer Project. The project is a local outgrowth of Survival Summer, a nationwide effort to stimulate thought and action regarding peace, full employment, safe energy alternatives, and the re-tooling of industries, such as shipbuilding, to serve human needs.

Admission to the program is free. Donations to defray costs will be accepted.

BE CAUTIOUS!

Some burglars use the obituaries to steal. They learn when the visitation or funeral is to be held — and then, while family members are away from home to pay their last respects to a loved one — the burglars loot and ransack.

Please guard against this danger. When your family is going to attend services at a funeral home or church, ask either a close friend or trusted neighbor to stay in or at least closely watch your house while you are away and leave some lights on.

St. Joseph's School Begins Year With Special Mass

Students, parents and friends of St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point, gathered last week at St. Joseph's Church for a special Mass asking God's blessing on the new school year.

The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Downey, St. Joseph's pastor, assisted by rev. William Devine and Joseph Racke.

Students from grades seven and eight participated as readers, and students in grades one to six participated in the offertory procession.

A special ceremony of commitment had the administration, faculty and staff of the school holding lighted candles in the sanctuary and rededicating themselves to spreading the Gospel through the ministry of Catholic education.

Sunday School Founding To Be Celebrated At Squantum Church

The First Church of Squantum begins its Christian education program Sunday with a special celebration at 10:15 a.m. on the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first Sunday School in Gloucester, England, by Robert Raikes.

The service will cover journalist Raikes's life and work and the public is invited.

Cinnamon Toast, for those in grades five to 12, will begin at 8:30 a.m. Sunday School students, in nursery through grade six, will attend part of the adult worship service before going to classes for the first time.

The following Sunday, Sept. 21, Sunday School will begin at 9:30 a.m. and that schedule will continue for the year.

ROBERT RAIKES

Bethany Church School Opens Sunday

Church school for 1980-1981 at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., begins Sunday, Sept. 14, and will be followed by the all-Church picnic.

Students should register 9:30 to 10 a.m. below the narthex, and the church family will gather for the morning service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

Following the opening hymn, prayer and praise, pupils will go with their teachers to class rooms to receive their lesson materials and to begin activities.

The Bible-centered curriculum used last year will continue with further study on "God Provides for his People".

The All-Church Picnic will begin at 11:30 a.m. at the lower part of Faxon Park.

The picnic will feature games and fellowship for children, youth, parents and other members of Bethany Church.

Granite Seniors To Cruise Boston Harbor

Senior Citizens from Granite Place, 45 School St., Quincy Center, will take a tour of Boston Harbor Tuesday, Sept. 16.

The tour is sponsored by Boston Gas Company and the bus will leave Granite Place at 12:45 p.m.

TOWN BROOK HOUSE

$7.2 Million HUD Housing Facility Applications Available Sept. 15 For Town Brook House

Applications will be available beginning Monday, Sept. 15, for residence at Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., Quincy Center, a $7.2 million 151-unit HUD federal housing project for the elderly and handicapped expected to open Dec. 1.

The housing project is sponsored by Wollaston Lutheran Church and applications will be available through Friday Sept. 26 at Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., also sponsored by the church. The office is open Monday to Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All applications must be returned by mail and must be post marked no later than Monday, Sept. 29.

Rev. Frank J. Bauer, pastor of Wollaston Lutheran Church, said dedication of the facility will be held Sunday, Nov. 30 at 10 a.m.

Dedication speaker will be Rev. Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, said Rev. Bauer, who is also executive director of the Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments.

"No one will be expected to pay the basic rent at Town Brook House - which would be about $500 a month - said Rev. Bauer who explained HUD has allocated $900,000 towards rent through section 202/8.

Ground breaking for the housing project took place Nov. 4, 1979 and the architect is George Earle Ross of Braintree who also designed Fenno House. Both buildings have the same brick facing.

Town Brook apartments have safety features for senior citizens, such as hand rails in bath tubs, and the 14 apartments on the ground floor are specially equipped for the handicapped with larger bathrooms, adjustable kitchen cabinets and other features.

Rev. Bauer lamented that even with Town Brook House there is still not enough housing for the elderly in Quincy.

"In the seven years that Fenno House has been in operation, there has never been a vacancy," said Rev. Bauer, "and there are 1,000 names on the waiting list."

Wollaston Lutheran Church Conducts Extensive Mailing For Family Worship Service

Wollaston Lutheran Church, 550 Hancock St., recently sent more than 8,000 pieces of mail to homes in Wollaston and North Quincy east of the MBTA, inviting those with no church to attend the Family Worship Service, Sunday at 10 a.m.

Five Sunday School classes from Pre-School and Kindergarten to Grade eight and an Adult Bible Class for high school students and adults will also be conducted every Sunday at 11 a.m.

"This outreach to the unchurched in our immediate community is the response of our congregation to the injunction of JESUS Christ to share with others the good news of God's forgiving, saving, and sanctifying love for all," commented Rev. Frank J. Bauer, pastor of Wollaston Lutheran Church.

During the summer the mail was hand-addressed by volunteers, and several members of the congregation contributed more than half of the mailing cost of $450.

St. Mary's Cub Scouts

Registration

St. Mary's Cub Scout Pack will hold a registration meeting Friday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. in the parish hall, Crescent St., West Quincy.

Boys who are in the third, fourth and fifth grades or who are ages eight to eleven are eligible to join.

Registrants must be accompanied by a parent.

HOW U.S. RANKS IN MATERNAL DEATH RATES

The United States is the safest country in the Western Hemisphere in which to have a baby, but half a dozen European nations have even lower maternal mortality rates.

The World Health Organization recently compiled figures from 36 nations on deaths related to pregnancy, childbirth, and confinement after labor. The U.S. maternal mortality rate of 29.1 per 100,000 live births showed a 57 percent decrease in deaths in the last 15 years. Sweden ranked safest, with 11.3 per 100,000, and 84 percent decrease in the same 15 year period. Four other European countries - Denmark, Belgium, Ireland and the Netherlands - showed better rates than the U.S. The worst record was in Chile, with 272 deaths per 100,000 live births. Columbia and Ceylon had maternal mortality rates almost as poor.

Charles Seifert In Piano Recital At ENC

TOP FUNDRAISER in the recent YMCA Superkids event was Peter Lyons (center) of 1349 Quincy Shore Dr., Merrimount, who raised more than $95 and won a 10-speed bike. Presenting the bike are Justin Latini (left), director of the Quincy YMCA Summer Day Camp and George Bennett of Quincy Center, vice president of the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association. Some 73 YMCA summer day campers raised $1,200 to help children with asthma.

SUPERKIDS - Also among the top fundraisers in the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association - Quincy YMCA Superkids Day were Debra Thomas, 50 Prospect St., North Quincy (kneeling) and (standing, from left) David Davidson, 108 Chubbuck St., Quincy Point; Michael Overholt, 419 Newport Ave., Wollaston; Tricia Cienahan, 33 Mt. Vernon St., West Quincy; and Joey Rubino, 7 Shade St., Randolph. Congratulating them are Wes Vokey (kneeling, left) of the Lung Association staff and Paul Harvey (right) assistant director of the Quincy YMCA.

Professor Charles Seifert will present a faculty piano recital on "Program Music of The Romantic Era" Friday, at 8 p.m. in the Mann Student Center Auditorium, Eastern Nazarene College.

Seifert, associate professor of music at Eastern Nazarene College since 1979, studied for eight weeks this summer at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, Ill.

Prof. Seifert received a Master of Music degree in piano in 1964 at the American Conservatory and has completed course requirements for a Master of Music degree in music theory.

He has had additional graduate study in music at the University of Illinois and received his Bachelor of Arts from Greenville College, Illinois.

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 11

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
The upward climb you've been pursuing continues, but now with fewer obstacles. May have to get by on a shoestring this weekend. Monday offers chance to gain honors.

PISCES—February 20-March 20
A stroll down memory lane may offer more exciting twists and turns than anticipated. Health reports could be delayed briefly. Ingenious gift comes your way.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
Optimism is critical! Recent commitment remains unfulfilled, but if you start feeling sorry, you could miss out on major advancement that overshadows any broken promise.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22
It's quite amazing how close you come now to sizing up status of everyone's relationships...but your own. Too much self-sacrifice can make you resentful, so indulge for a change.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21
That over-familiar proverb, "a bird in the hand..." is terribly apt this week. Creative forces are working overtime so consider submitting your prize efforts to publishers, galleries, etc.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Finally, educational plans advance swiftly. Those champagne tastes may be fulfilled this weekend; luxurious living doesn't last too long—so enjoy every morsel of caviar!

LEO—July 23-August 22
May be spending extra hours in professional's office, with possibility of legal or accounting snag. But don't let such practical matters interfere with potentially marvelous after-hours fun.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
Venus makes you super sweet all week; work, or school, or travel is touched by romance. Important caution: ast investment schemes unless you have all the facts.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Lovely week for new starts—in areas of education, friendship, romance. Moves, too, favored. Avoid making unreasonable promises or unreasonable demands.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Legal affairs go well, but there's some tension when dealing with people in power. Health and welfare of family can't be overlooked. Old favor's returned by Monday.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Possible conflict on homefront, likely related to spending. Face higher ups with courage and charm; this mixture can win you new prestige or bonus.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Think of life as chess game, keep your eye on every player's move. Rival steps out of picture, but it may not be permanently. Communication knot untied by weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Mediator and communicator, modest and responsible. If you don't always make strong first impressions, perhaps it's because you're often nitpicky. Cultivate self-assurance—the planets give you an assist this year. Major family obligations lifted by April.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 11th, actor Earl Holliman; 12th, singer Maurice Chevalier; 13th, actress Jacqueline Bisset; 14th, actress Joey Heatherton; 15th, actor Jackie Cooper; 16th, actor Peter Falk; 17th, actor John Ritter.

YMCA Registration Week Sept. 15-20

The Quincy YMCA, 19 Coddington St., has scheduled registration week for Sept. 15 to 20, and residents are invited to tour the facility and talk with the professional staff.

The fall program schedule also begins Sept. 15, and a full range of programs is available for every family member.

Full privilege adult members are entitled to participate in gym programs such as Basketball, Volleyball, Racquetball, Weightlifting, Boxing and Karate. Cardiovascular fitness programs include Coed Physical Fitness classes, Slimnastics, and Aerobic Dance Classes. Weekly swimming lessons, and daily recreational swims are also offered. Special interest aquatic classes include Swimmastics, Lifesaving Courses, Waterpolo, Scuba, and Synchronized Swimming.

For women who want a personalized program, the "Y" offers its Women's Fitness Salon including individualized exercise program, complete body toning equipment, whirlpool, sauna, and lockerroom area. Daily exercise classes are also offered.

A variety of special interest courses are available for members and non-members including Healthy Back, Calligraphy, Yoga, Jazz and Modern Dance, Ballroom Dancing, Square Dancing, Crocheting, Crafts, for the Holidays, Lead Glass, and Smoking Withdrawal Clinic.

A full range of youth programs are offered to youth ages seven to 17. Programs include gym classes, recreational swims, swim lessons, tumbling, gymnastics, floor hockey, boxing, karate, judo and more. Competitive swim team is for those who tryout. For youth ages three to six, classes are available for instructional swimming, gym classes, and beginner gymnastics classes.

Pre-registration is required for all swim instruction classes and special interest courses. Enrollment is limited.

Deadlines Near For Arts Programs Funding

Deadlines to apply for funding under the State Council on the Arts and Humanities Historic Conservation and Local Projects programs are coming this month, it was noted by Sen. Paul D. Harold.

The Historic Conservation Program provides funds for the preservation, repair and display of objects of historical significance with funds to historical societies, museums, libraries and communities.

The deadline for applications under this program is Friday, Sept. 19.

The Local Projects Program provides funds to private non-profit organizations involved in cultural activities, including community art, music, crafts and theatrical programs. Applications are competitive.

The deadline for this program is Friday, Sept. 26.

Both programs award funds on a matching basis and cover only expenses actually incurred.

Further information may be obtained from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities at 727-3668.

LEGAL NOTICE

CITY OF QUINCY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals to clean and paint the exterior only of the Pine Hill elevated water tank, Quincy, Massachusetts will be received at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, Room 206, 55 Sea Street, Quincy, Massachusetts at 10:00 A.M. on Wednesday, September 17, 1980 at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The Contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the contract within 5 days from the date of the mailing of notice from the Commissioner to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect so to do, the Commissioner may at his option determine that the bidder has abandoned the contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to give a guarantee of his work and file a bond in an amount acceptable to the City of Quincy for the fulfillment of his guarantee and contract. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the face value of the contract shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works upon deposit of $5.00 for each set, which will be refunded provided they are returned promptly and in good condition.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

If you want tougher judges, Elect a stronger Governor's Councilor PETER ELEEY thinks too many judges are soft on criminals.

He should know, he was an Assistant District Attorney, and he's handled over a thousand criminal cases. He has seen judges give suspended sentences to multiple offenders. He has seen burglars get off on probation.

PETER ELEEY knows that if you want tougher judges, you need a tougher Governor's Council.

That's why he pledged he won't approve any judges who can't get tough with criminals. That's why you should vote for him for Governor's Council on September 16, 1980.

Engineers To Discuss Town Brook Flooding

The Army Corps of Engineers will hold a public workshop tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall to discuss a proposed flood protection system for Town Brook in South Quincy and Quincy Center.

The plan includes a deep tunnel, 12 feet in diameter and 130 feet underground, to be drilled 4,000 feet from South Quincy to the Town River adjacent to Southern Artery.

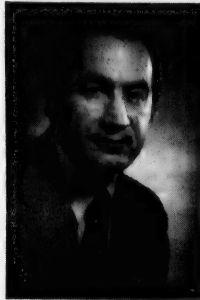

New culverts would be placed under the Artery and downstream the left bank of Town River would be widened to increase channel capacity.

The proposed project is part of an overall urban drainage system for Quincy and Braintree and is being designed in conjunction with construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension and the Quincy Adams MBTA station.

Current cost estimate is $18.6 million.

Col. William E. Hodgson Jr., deputy division engineer of the Army Corps, will be chairman of the City Hall workshop.

27% Voter Turnout Here

Brownell, Eeley, McDonald Winners

By TOM HENSHAW

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, running up a huge margin in his home Ward 1, decisively repelled a challenge from City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath in the Second Norfolk District in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Quincy Atty. Peter L. Eeley, nephew of former Mayor and Sen. James R. McIntyre, handily prevailed in the five man race to succeed the late Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough in the Fourth Governor's Council District. He will free Republican William Robinson of Hull in November.

And, with the major towns of Brookline and Wellesley missing, Mary Collins of Squantum was trailing George McDonald of West Quincy in the race for McDonald's seat on the Norfolk County commission. On the basis of that vote, McDonald claimed victory.

Twenty-seven per cent of Quincy's 48,909 registered voters turned out for the balloting that had little interest for either Democrats or Republicans, except in those three races. Only 22 per cent had been predicted.

Democratic Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, who was unopposed for renomination, was the beneficiary of an apparent sticker campaign on the Republican ticket but Weymouth results were too confused at press time to determine if he had beaten the GOP's Gerard E. Lawler of Weymouth for that nomination.

Brownell, seeking a fifth full two-year term in the Second Norfolk State Rep's seat, collected nearly 62 per cent of the vote in defeating McGrath, the two-term Councillor who was making his first try at state office.

Brownell had 3,838 votes to 2,302 for McGrath.

It was Brownell's 2,076-345 margin in Ward 1, including Houghs Neck, Germantown, Adams Shore and Brownell's home section of Merrymount that gave him an insurmountable margin. McGrath led 1,539 to 1,015 in his home Ward 5 (Wollaston).

There was little to choose between, except experience and youth, in the fight between the two popular Democrats. Brownell is 40, McGrath 27.

Eeley won the nomination for Governor's Council by a margin of nearly 8,000 votes over his closest contender, Patrick J. Corcoran, a Quincy plumbing contractor who lives in Marshfield.

Eeley had 20,088 to 12,302 for Corcoran and 11,534 for William F. Walsh of Quincy, 6,166 for James E. Carroll of Cohasset, and 3,151 for Harold L. O'Brien of South Boston.

The vote was closer in Quincy, with Eeley getting 4,931 to 3,714 for Walsh, the runnerup. Corcoran had 1,437 Quincy votes, Carroll 421 and O'Brien 297.

Eeley also polled well in the big Boston section of the district with 4,921 to 3,052 for Corcoran, who had the endorsement of the Norfolk County Labor Council.

Although there were three people in the race for two seats on the County Commission the fight was actually between the Quincy candidates, McDonald and Mary

QHA To Debate 'Emergency' Application

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

An emergency or not an emergency?

That's the question the Quincy Housing Authority was scheduled to consider last night (Wednesday).

State housing regulations spell out the circumstances under which applicants may be declared emergency cases, bypassing the normal waiting lists.

But Chairman Rev. William McCarthy, discussing a family he hopes to have placed in Germantown QHA housing, had another definition:

"These people don't have a roof over their heads. I consider that an emergency."

The family — a divorced mother and six children — left Boston Housing Authority housing in May after one of the children was threatened, Fr. McCarthy said, they lived briefly with relatives in Brockton and had "gone from pillar to post" for two or three months until referred to Fr. McCarthy by the Quincy Community Action Program, he said.

Since then, Fr. McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, has personally paid the family's $477 weekly bills at a Weymouth motel.

At the authority's Sept. 3rd meeting, Fr. McCarthy asked the board, in executive session, to declare the mother and six children an "emergency application," and house them immediately.

The board deferred any decision until all five members were present. Member Lolita Harris was not present at that meeting.

But a Germantown tenants group has already criticized Fr. McCarthy's efforts on behalf of the family, saying the existing regulations should be followed.

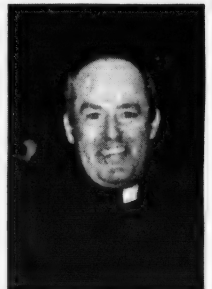

"Granted, the public housing submission lists are long and the bureaucratic process is slow, but the policy that the Quincy Housing Authority appears to be setting, in the area of admissions, is not in compliance with the HUD (federal Housing and Urban Development) and DCA (State Department of Community Affairs) regulations," read a letter from Harborview Residents Committee secretary Diane Cipitelli to Fr. McCarthy.

"There are guidelines to be followed," the letter continued. "When the emergency has been brought on by the prospective tenant himself, then the regulations should stand as written. Many other people have had to wait their turn for public housing."

Copies of the letter were sent to Mayor Arthur Tobin, Councillors Leo Kelly and Frances McCauley, Congressman Brian Donnelly, Rep. Thomas Brownell, Sen. Paul

USS Quincy Relies Room Planned At City Hall

Mayor Tobin is setting aside a room in City Hall for the artifacts and memorabilia from the USS Quincy, the cruiser that fought in both the European and Pacific Theaters of World War II.

The Quincy was built at the Fore River Shipyard in 1943, carried President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta conference, shelled the Normandy beachhead on D-Day, and later bombarded Japan.

Tobin said he planned to speak to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly about the possibility of bringing the cruiser itself to a retirement home in Quincy. It is now believed to be mothballed at Bremerton, Wash.

Tobin said a memorabilia room at City Hall would be "a unique way to promote our history and heritage for visitors who come here to see the Church of the Presidents, the Adams Birthplaces and the Adams Mansion."

The Quincy was christened by Mrs. Henry Morgan, daughter of Charles Francis Adams, a former mayor of Quincy.

License Board One Day Permits

The following one day permits were issued by the City License Board at Tuesday's meeting:

- A wine and malt beverage, license to the Quincy Lodge of Elks, 1220 Hancock St., for a boxing show Saturday, Sept. 27, 8 p.m. to midnight, at the Quincy Armory.

- A flea market permit to the Quincy City Republican Committee for Sunday, Sept. 28, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Grossman's parking lot, Granite St.

Soaring Rent Hikes 'Getting Out Of Hand'

By TOM HENSHAW

"It's getting out of hand," said Jane Reikard. "I'm disturbed. I don't know what some people are going to do."

Mrs. Reikard, who is the executive secretary of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board, was talking about her specialty rents.

"The median rent for a four-room apartment in Quincy used to be around $300," she said. "Now it ranges from $350 to $500, depending on what utilities are included. And that's only the median."

"Rooming houses get $60 a week and up for one room with a shared bath and I know of one case where the rent is $100 a week for one room for a couple."

"People are worrying where their homes are going to be. Where will they go if they can't afford the rent? They don't want to leave the city and there are not enough apartments."

Mrs. Reikard gets anywhere from 10 to 50 calls a day, mostly from tenants. The highest number of calls come around tax time, when landlords raise the rent to match a raise in property taxes.

"I'd probably get more calls if the office were open more hours," she said. She works alone in a cubbyhole office on the third floor at City Hall. She has no clerical help.

In fact, the whole Rent Grievance Board is understaffed. There are slots for 12 members. There are only five. The number has decreased through the attrition of resignations.

"It's up to the Mayor to appoint a full board if he wants," she said.

Current members of the board are Elinda Lipsitz, Mary Gethin, Thelma Rogers, Harold Page and Mrs. Reikard herself. She has been executive secretary for the past five years.

Actually, the board has very little power since Quincy has not had a rent control law for many years. Most of its accomplishments are achieved through Mrs. Reikard's negotiating skills.

"Most Quincy landlords live in Quincy," she said. "They like to cooperate. I don't get too much flak from them. In fact, a lot of landlords check with me first to find out what they can do and stay out of trouble."

Not very many landlords are asked to appear before the Rent Grievance Board.

Recently, one refused to appear when asked. She said she was afraid of a bitter confrontation with her tenants. Mrs. Reikard talked her into it. The meeting went smoothly.

When taxes go up, Mrs. Reikard suggests to landlords that they subtract this year's tax bills from last year's and divide by the number of apartments they have and then divide by 12. That should yield the fair monthly rent hike.

"But on this last increase," she said, "the landlords went overboard. Probably 85 per cent of them got more than their share."

Precisely what is the landlord's fair share is difficult to calculate.

"Prior to the last year and a half, rent increases were pretty much held to one a year, at tax time," said Mrs. Reikard. "Now, with fuel and everything else going skyhigh, some landlords are asking for more rent three or four times a year."

"It's getting out of hand."

So much so that there are petitions asking a return to rent controls circulating in the city.

And, sometime this fall, an ordinance probably will be filed in the City Council making it more difficult to convert Quincy's scarce apartments to condominiums.

Still 2 Years Away

Mayor's Cable TV Committee Sees 87 Quincy Channels

By TOM HENSHAW

Cable television moved a little closer to Quincy homes this week. But it's still a couple of years away. The Mayor's Cable Advisory Committee, headed by George R. Riley, finished drawing up the specifications under which 13 companies will bid for the exclusive rights to what promises to be a lucrative market.

The specifications, which still must be approved by Mayor Tobin, include a recommendation for 87 channels, 52 for entertainment and 35 institutional. Suggested costs include:

- Installation charges from $10 to $30.
 - Second set installation charges from free to $15.
 - Lowest cost service consisting of three or more channels from $2.95 to $3.95 a month.
 - Basic service, which includes 12 or more channels, from $5.95 to $7.95 a month.
 - Expanded service with 35 or more channels starts at $7.50 a month.
 - No charge for disconnection or service calls.
 - Additional set charges varying from $1.50 to $3.50 a month.
 - Mini-movie packages from $3 to $5 a month.
 - Full movie packages (Home Box Office, Starcast, etc.) from $7.50 to $9 a month.
- The committee recommends that the companies seek a 15-year license and that the Mayor have the option of granting the license for a minimum 10 years or a maximum 15 years.
- The licensee should be able to wire the entire city within a period of 18 months, starting as soon as possible after the final license is granted.

This means that, allowing time for bids to be submitted and considered, the first cable signals will not be seen on Quincy screens for up to two years.

The recommendations include establishment of a permanent Cable Television Committee, appointed by the Mayor and funded by the licensee, to oversee operation of the system.

All schools in Quincy, public, private and religious, including Quincy Junior College and Eastern Nazarene College, would be provided with service at no charge with one outlet to each floor.

Free service should also be extended to the Fire, Police and Public Works Departments and the Public Library, including connections to the institutional network.

The licensee would be required to produce and cablecast a minimum of 12 hours a week of local programming.

A complete National Television Standard Code color television studio would be in operation within a year of the issuance of the license. It could permit live programming.

In addition to one local origination channel, one educational channel, and one government channel, the licensee would provide three public access channels at no cost to the city.

Free studio and production facilities would be provided for the channels.

"The licensee," said the specifications report, "should

Council Asked To Give City Auditor A Secretary

The City Council was asked Monday night to create a new city job, that of secretary to the City Auditor.

Councillors have looked askance at such moves since last summer when a number of city employees were laid off in an economy move. Some layoffs were in the auditor's office.

The Council quickly sent the request to the Ordinance Committee after Councillor Francis X. McCauley asked Auditor Charles L. Shea to provide a job description prior to the committee meeting.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin noted that the City Auditor was the only department head who does not currently have a secretary.

1 Or 2 More Floors

Tobin To Seek $1.5 Million Addition To Ross Garage

The Tobin administration is exploring the possibility of adding one or two more floors to the Ross Parking Garage and possibly expanding it into the area between the Gilchrist building and Sears Roebuck.

Mayor Tobin placed the cost figure in the vicinity of $1.5 million.

"We are exploring several avenues of funding," he said, adding that the money would come from outside the city, presumably federal funds.

Planning Director James Lydon said that architect Joseph Donahue is putting together cost figures on adding one or two floors and expanding the facility outward.

"Donahue said the current structure would support one additional floor without added foundation support," he said, "and it could support two floors if the foundation were bolstered."

Tobin said that in order "to do what we want to do in downtown Quincy it's obvious that we need additional parking."

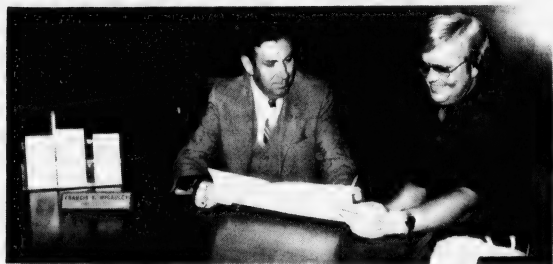

If the money isn't forthcoming from outside the city, he said, then his administration probably would go to the City Council for a bond issue.

A bid for a $1 million bond issue to build two more floors on the UDAG garage over the MBTA tracks was defeated by the Council last winter but Tobin indicated he feels he'd have better luck seeking money for the Ross garage.

The UDAG garage, he said, "is a moot issue. The Council has spoken on that. We could go back and start lobbying for it but I don't want to do that right now. Why beat a dead horse."

Nutrition During Pregnancy Program At Hospital

A new, four-week program on Nutrition During Pregnancy begins Thursday, Oct. 2, from 6 to 7 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

Classes will be taught by Gail Lombardi, registered nutritionist, and the program offers something of interest to all pregnant women.

The first class covers what Mothers-to-be should eat to assure that they and the baby are getting the right foods for growth. The second class discusses why good eating habits are important. Issues of breast and bottle feeding are highlighted the third week. The final week looks at when to introduce solid foods to the baby and how to make mothers own baby food safely.

To register for the classes, contact John Felci, training director at the hospital, at 773-6100 ext. 308.

Stay Alive!

By Jack Silverstein

WOMEN HEAR BETTER

Joking about it, a scientist told the New York Times: "Husbands cannot seem to hear their wives speak, except for such phrases as 'Dinner is ready'. And at night, wives can hear a dripping faucet that is inaudible to husbands."

Seriously though, women do have a slight edge in hearing according to research at the University of Minnesota Hearing Research Laboratory. Studies showed that women's hearing is less affected than men's by low-frequency roaring and rumbling noise and is more sensitive to high-frequency sounds.

One possible explanation is that boys and men are exposed to more noises - power mowers, auto engines, outboard motors, gunfire - and may suffer some hearing loss as time passes. Another possibility is that women have stronger middle-ear muscles than men.

142 Low Rise Units

Marina Condos Pass Council's PUD Test

The City Council moved swiftly Monday night to approve a proposal to construct 142 low rise units of condominiums at Boston Harbor Marina — but only after adding 14 restrictive amendments to the planned unit development (PUD).

Councillor Joanne Condon told her colleagues that the majority of residents in Squantum and adjacent areas of Atlantic are for the development but only if a second means of access is added to take the traffic burden off East Squantum St.

The amendments to the PUD are these:

- The Planning Director shall have the right to review all plans for landscaping and trash screening.
- The developer shall commence construction on or before April 1, 1981, and shall complete construction on or before April 1, 1984.
- The Mayor shall have filed with the City Council the necessary taking order plan and cost estimate for the acquisition of the Commander Shea Boulevard Extension.
- The developer shall reimburse the city not more than $2 million for costs and damages incurred for betterments to the land.

- The developer shall provide a truck route to the site during the construction period and prohibit trucks from using East Squantum St. between Hancock St. and Quincy Shore Boulevard.

- The developer shall obtain a similar agreement to use Commander Shea Boulevard Extension for trucks during any construction on industrially zoned and adjacent to the PUD area.

- Victory Rd., off East Squantum St., shall be prohibited from intensification of use as an access road until a second means of access has been obtained.

- The developer shall assume full responsibility for successful completion of the PUD.

- The developer will post a bond with the City Treasurer adequate to secure the necessary improvements, including utilities and landscaping.

- All amenities (swimming pool, tennis courts, clubhouse) on the plans submitted for approval shall be completed before application for an occupancy certificate for the 36th unit.

- The use of the swimming pool, tennis courts and other amenities shall be restricted to residents, bona fide guests and employees and not for any commercial purpose.

- All real estate taxes owed on the property shall be paid in full.

- All buildings must conform to the building code and be located and constructed in accordance with the plans submitted.

- The developer shall submit a single site and utilities plan for water and sewer lines incorporating amendments agreed upon earlier this year.

Keep Police Ambulance, Council Urges

The City Council Monday night passed a resolve asking the Mayor to keep the city's emergency ambulance service with the Police Department.

And, just to make sure His Honor listens, Councillor Daniel G. Raymond added a new twist to the resolve.

It specified that the city auditor "not be allowed to sign any contracts or expend any monies for a private ambulance service."

"The auditor is an employee of the City Council," Raymond pointed out, "and he has often said that he would do what the Council directed him to do."

Auditor Charles L. Shea is also a close confidante of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

The resolve was roll called, with six councillors voting for it and Councillor Francis X. McCauley, who is a member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Ambulance Service, voting "present." Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia was absent.

McCauley told his colleagues that the work of the committee is not yet finished and has at least one more meeting before making its recommendations to the Mayor.

A preliminary report recommended that the service be contracted out to a private ambulance company and recommended Bay State Ambulance as the lowest qualified bidder.

Other bidders protested, however, and the meeting McCauley described would be held to review the bids.

The committee has met twice to reconsider the bids only to be faced with the threat of an open meeting law violation charge by the Patriot Ledger for not permitting its reporters to attend the meeting.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Charles Hely, who handles open meeting law violations in the district attorney's office, said Tuesday afternoon that the Patriot Ledger had not yet filed such a charge.

Raymond said he introduced the resolution in the Council because he has been receiving many calls from constituents who fear the emergency ambulance service will be taken from the "compassionate hands" of the police.

"The people are more than satisfied with the police handling of the ambulance," he said.

Donnelly: It'll Be Reagan Close Or Carter Big

A little over a year ago, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly explained to The Sun how angry he was at President Carter over the Navy's refusal to accept General Dynamics' low bid on a $100 million class ship.

"His people aren't even welcome in my office," he snapped. "I wouldn't even return his phone call."

Now, with the Election Day chips down, he has changed his mind — but only slightly.

"Obviously, I'm going to support him," said Donnelly. "It's just a question of intensity."

"We have certain needs that I don't think these people in the White House have really addressed."

"I know that I look at everything in the parochial life or death sense and he looks at the entire country. But all politics are local. That's one of Tip O'Neill's favorite lines."

"Carter certainly seems to have addressed some of the concerns of other places around the country."

"The enthusiasm with which I campaign for him will be determined by some of the things he says and does over the next month or so."

"I'd obviously be very upset with him if he vetoed my bill on the First Parish Church, or if we win another contract and he takes it away from us."

"Besides," Donnelly added with a grin, "as a member of Congress and a Democrat if I do not support the Democratic nominee they'd throw me out of the party and I couldn't talk to the big guy with the cigar."

Donnelly said he sees the general election in November as either "Reagan by a narrow margin or Carter in a landslide."

"The Georgians are better campaigners than they are administrators," he said. "Jimmy Carter is president. Who was he five years ago? That's good campaigning."

"People may say they don't like him now but if Reagan scares people, if they perceive Reagan to be a little reactionary or somebody who can't handle delicate situations, they'll go to Carter in a landslide."

"Look at all those labor unions that were death on Carter. Now they're on the bandwagon. It's the devil you know against the devil you don't. It's masterful. Nobody had anyplace to go but to him."

MILESTONE: Congratulations and best wishes to Jay Asher and all the gang at radio station WJDA which is celebrating its 33rd anniversary. The station, founded by Jay's dad, the late James D. Asher (whose initials are the call letters) and Joe Tobin, went on the air Sept. 13, 1947.

And, we can't help smile, as we remember some of the know-it-alls who predicted the station wouldn't last six months. WJDA has been an outstanding community asset since its founding. Aren't you glad it lasted more than six months?

FORMER Dist. Atty. George Burke was a pretty fair basketball player in his younger days and his 12-year-old son, George, is following in his sneakers. Young George attended Knobby Nolan's basketball camp at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy and was named the most valuable player there. When one of the coaches, Leo Tyrell made the presentation he recalled that another son of another pretty good basketball player had received the same award some years back. He was referring to Holy Cross star Ronnie Perry who just signed with the Celtics. His father Ronnie, of course, was also a Holy Cross star.

Both George Burke and Tyrell played against the elder Perry when he was pouring them in for Somerville High School in 1950. George at QHS, and Tyrell at Milton.

Tyrell recalled he could never hold Burke to 35 points. And Burke recalled that the elder Perry was "the best high school basketball player I ever played against and the best I have seen since."

Quincy Quiz

T-shirts this week go to 13-year-old Jean M. Barry of 30 Dysart St., Quincy Center, and Evelyn T. LeVangie of 121 Martensen St., Quincy Point.

And Jeanne Nimeskern of 38 Minihan's Lane, West Quincy, and Adriana Reardon of 11 Gordon St., South Quincy, are rewarded for their correct answers with bumper stickers.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun Office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers. One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the director of the Thomas Crane Public Library?
2. In what section of the city is Perkins Playground?
3. There are three Jewish synagogues in Quincy. What are their names?
4. The City Charter specifies that regular meetings of the School Committee be held on certain days at a certain hour. What are those days and hours?
5. A school in West Quincy is named for Gridley Bryant. Who was Gridley Bryant?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The three members of the Board of Assessors are John P. Comer, Patricia Ceriani and John Belcastro.
2. The Heavenly Hill Ski Area is in the Wollaston section of Quincy.
3. The date 1792 on the City Seal signifies the year the North Precinct of Braintree became the town of Quincy.
4. The Quincy Stone Bank is known today as the South Shore Bank.
5. The South Shore Chamber of Commerce has its headquarters at 36 Miller Stile Rd.

He Has Grievance About Rent Grievances

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I take issue with your statement that not many people grieve about their rents in Quincy.

I for one have complained. I am on fixed income and pay $65 a week for one room, shared bathroom and a community kitchen.

The reason not many replied (to last week's Quincy Quiz):

1. Not interested in a T-shirt or bumper sticker advertising the Sun.
2. Saving stamps for more important mail.
3. Not many renters buying the Quincy Sun, because their rents are so high and have to watch expenses.

Have your office contact City Hall Telephone operator, ask if many call for rent grievances.

SAT Scores Dipping

Schools Ponder Decline In College Board Marks

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Whether you blame television, schools or social factors, high school Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores are going down.

That's true in Quincy, across the state and, apparently, just about anywhere else in the country.

But college board scores are dropping faster here than the national average, a fact disturbing to Quincy educators.

Last week's School Committee meeting featured a one hour, 15 minute report on the problem. It was, according to School Supt. Lawrence Creedon, the longest report delivered to the board during his tenure as superintendent.

Delivered by four school administrators, the report featured plenty of statistics, speculated at reasons for the decline and reported steps taken at the city's high schools to stem it.

But figures presented to the committee showed little indication that the decline has bottomed out. During 1978-79, the last year covered by the figures, verbal scores for four groups—boys and girls at Quincy and North Quincy High—dropped an average of 17 points from the previous year.

Math scores for the four groups dropped an average of 12 points over the same period.

By comparison, nationwide verbal and math scores dropped two and three points respectively from 1977-78 to 1978-79.

While national scores have shown average declines of two and three points annually since 1967-68, Quincy scores have been declining about six points per year.

Research assistant Carmen Mariano told the committee that Quincy high schools are "Bucking the trend" of decreased SAT participation nationwide, one possible reason scores are dropping so fast here.

Since 1967-68, he told the committee, the number of North Quincy seniors taking SAT's has increased from 52 percent to 68 percent. At Quincy High, participation has risen slightly from 45 to 49 percent.

Nationwide, he said, participation has fallen from 57 percent of high school seniors in 1967-68 to 38 percent in 1978-79.

As the number of students taking SAT's increases, Creedon told the committee, chances are that a smaller percentage of that group will be adequately prepared for the tests. Thus, the average scores will drop.

"We see that as a very large part of it," Creedon added in an interview last week, "but not the only reason."

Possible fear that the drop in scores represents an overall decline in the quality of education are "just too simplistic," Creedon said.

So-called modern educational methods like open classrooms, "new math," elective rather than required courses and the like, are a possible factor in the decline, Creedon said.

"However, I don't see it as a particularly strong one," he said.

Other measurements of how well Quincy schools prepares students for college are as strong as ever, Creedon said. Advanced placement exam scores, achieved by students seeking college credit for the high school work, are "better than ever," he said.

The percentage of students advancing to some post-secondary education is "as high or higher than ever," he said, and "there is no change" in the number of students accepted at "prestigious schools."

"Our concern is, if a student who has been adequately prepared and who has taken the proper sequence on courses, takes the test, can we be assured that student will score well?" Creedon said.

"We are totally confident of that."

One reaction to the score decline, Creedon said, is a "Closer monitoring system" of potential SAT takers, beginning in junior high school, several years before most students will take the tests.

The program, which goes into effect this year, features increased guidance and "a constant reminder" to students as to what courses and what quality of work is necessary to score well on the college boards, Creedon said.

"What we want to be able to do is to say, 'OK, you've taken these courses, and achieved these marks, therefore you will most likely score within this range,'" he said.

Principals Peter Chrisom of North Quincy High and Lloyd Hill of Quincy High reported to the committee on steps taken at their schools to stem the SAT slide, such as counseling and orientation sessions for test takers.

But, they agreed, the most important preparation isn't a crash course or "cramming," but taking the proper courses and years of proper grounding in the basic skills.

"If a youngster doesn't take the proper courses," added Carl Deyoso, director of academic education, "he's not going to do well."

SAT Slide Steep Nationwide But Steeper In Quincy

Figures supplied by Quincy Public Schools point out that, while both Quincy and national SAT scores are dropping, scores here are falling at a faster rate. Quincy scores have dropped from generally above the national average, in 1967-68, to below average in 1978-79. A sample of scores from past years follows:

Year	MATH SCORES
	N. Quincy		Quincy High		National average boys	girls	boys	girls
67-68	500	392	484	487	472

Shipbuilders' Strike Enters 12th Week

"We are fighting on the side of right and we will win because right always wins over might," John Grogan, international vice president of the CIO Shipbuilders Union told a Local 5 membership meeting.

The meeting was held in the Quincy High School auditorium as the shipyard workers' strike against the Bethlehem Steel Co. entered its 12th week.

Other speakers were Rev. Daniel T. McColgan, professor of moral theology at St. John's Seminary, and Rev. Bedros Baharian, pastor of Quincy Point Congregational Church.

"The liberalistic, laissez faire of market prices of labor and unlimited profits for capital is an un-Christian hoax perpetrated by practitioners in the 18th and 19th centuries," said the Rev. McColgan.

"I hope that Uncle Joe Beth will get back in the good graces of the people of this city as he was during the war," said Rev. Baharian.

MANETS WIN SECOND

Frank St. Peter scored two touchdowns as the Quincy Manets defeated the New Haven Clippers, 33-13, at Municipal Stadium for their second straight New England Pro Conference victory.

The Manets lineup included: Woronick, Brennan, Tocci, Pappie, ends; Kilrain, DiBona, Salvati, tackles; Pecce, Leahy, Graziano, Parsons, Bumpus, guards; Gray, Boston, centers; Aimola, St. Peter, Duhart, Saba, Cantelli, Cavallo, Cappacioli, Morelli, backs.

INCINERATOR CONSIDERED

Mayor Charles A. Ross disclosed he was considering the purchase of a municipal incinerator as "the only method of disposing of rubbish and garbage."

"The only question has been the cost," said the Mayor. "I now think that the city is financially able to undertake such a project."

VETS HOUSING OPENS

The first group of 12 veterans moved into the new 95-unit $850,000 Meadowbrook Apartments at the corner of Adams St. and Furnace Brook Parkway, where 4 1/2-room apartments rented for $93.50.

Builder L. Robert Rolde said a second apartment house with 120 units was planned at $1,250,000 on the same grounds.

26 Christian Education Leaders At Squantum Church

Twenty-six persons were commissioned Sunday at the First Church of Squantum as Christian education leaders for the year.

Four others are expected to be added within the next four weeks.

The dedication ceremony of the leaders took place during a special service celebrating the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first Sunday school in Gloucester, England, by Robert Raikes.

The new teachers and the grades they will teach are:

Nancy Ellis, Sarah Mildram, Susan Scott, Deborah Stohlberg, nursery and kindergarten; Recilla Stamos, Lorraine Josselyn, Diane Linton, Janet Williamson, grades one and two (two classes); Barbara Colwell, Marie Reister, grade three; Valerie Gorrill, Hazel Mayne, grade four; Marsha Anderson, Donna Stevens, Ginger Snap; Sandra Ahearn, Nancy Allen, Gene Langevin, Mark Paul, Si Porter, Kathy Williams, Richard Williams, Steve Williams, Steven Williams, Tom Williamson, Cinnamon Toast; Mary Ruth Scott, chous; Paul Paulson, Orange Crush.

Barbara Walter and Grace Holmes greeted the worshippers arriving for the service. A large picture of Robert Raikes was in the foyer for all to see.

The service opened with a call to worship read responsively by groups in the congregation and led by Tom Williamson, superintendent of the Sunday School, and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin. The Senior Choir sang "Children of the Heavenly Father" by Berg, Olson and Liemohn set to a Swedish folk melody.

Rev. Dr. Langevin told the children of the church the story of Robert Raikes, a newspaper editor in England. In 1780, looking at the plight of thousands of children who were working 16 hours a day and spending their free time on the streets, Raikes felt they should have a chance to learn to read and write and become acquainted with the Scriptures.

To accomplish his dream, Raikes held school for the youngsters Sunday mornings and afternoons, the only time they were not required to work. The idea spread quickly through the English-speaking world, in part through Raikes' influence as editor of The Gloucester Journal. Sunday schools eventually developed throughout the world and became a popular international movement.

Sermon topic for the morning was, "The Ministry of the Sunday School". The service concluded with a congregational litany of remembrance and thanksgiving for the life and work of Robert Raikes. A reception following the service was hosted by Kathy Hansen, Shirley Mason and Sandra Sumner.

This Sunday at 10:15 a.m., the pastor will preach the second in a series of sermons on the life of Jesus. Subject will be the story of the boy Jesus in the Temple and a musical play on that theme will be presented by some of the children in the church.

Cinnamon Toast (grades five to 12) begins at 8:30 a.m.; Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. The Youth Choir practices at 11:30 a.m. Orange Crush (senior high youth) meets 1 to 2:30 p.m. Seven-Up (junior high youth) will have outdoor game time 3:45 to 5 p.m.

Bible Study meets Monday at 6:45 p.m. A Christian weight loss group called "Willpower" meets at 8 p.m. There is a fee for "Willpower" and all money raised goes to support Christian missions.

The Tuesday morning Crafts Group meets at 9:30 a.m. There are dancing classes for girls from 12-4 p.m. that day.

There are three choir rehearsals on Thursday: the Junior Choir Rehearsal at 2:30 p.m.; Boys' Choir at 3:15 p.m. and Senior Choir at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday Registration Deadline For St. Joseph's Religious Education Program

Sunday, Sept. 21, is the last day for parents or adults to register youngsters for religious education classes at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

Registration can be made 9:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the school hall, 22 Pray St., and a fee to help cover class costs should also be paid at that time.

Classes begin the week of Sept. 28. Baptismal record copies must be presented by parents of children who are being enrolled in grades two or nine, are being enrolled in St. Joseph's CCD program for the first time (grades three to eight), and who were not baptized at St. Joseph's Church.

Class schedule will be:

Grades one through six, Sunday 10 to 11 a.m.; grades seven and eight, Monday, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.; and grade nine (confirmation program), Sunday, 6:30 to 7:45 p.m.

No registrations can be accepted during any regular scheduled class time and no unregistered student can be admitted to CCD classes.

Additional teachers are needed in the Confirmation program and interested persons can leave their name with one of the priests after Mass or contact Paul Grant, 479-2093.

Rally Day Sept. 21 At Faith Lutheran

Faith Lutheran Church 201 Granite St. Quincy is planning a Rally Day Sunday Sept. 21 at 9 a.m.

Church School teachers and staff will be installed by Rev. James Kimmell. Miss Barbara Berg is superintendent of the church school.

Following the service, registration for church school will be held. Beginning that Sunday, also, there will be a nursery available for those parents wishing to attend church.

Grossman Among Those Planning $6 Million N. Quincy Building

Grossman Industrial Properties is a member of a development group that is planning to build a six-story office building, costing up to $6 million, over an MBTA parking lot in North Quincy.

Mark Dickinson, whose Dickinson Development Corp. is another member of the group, said the soonest the building could be off the ground is next spring, depending upon financial conditions.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin noted that it will be the seventh such office building to go on the planning boards in the past two and a half years since his administration has been in office.

The disclosure of the new building came as ground was broken for a $3.79 million parking garage over the small MBTA serve the planned $10 million Center Plaza building at Hancock and Granite Sts.

Dickinson said the new North Quincy building would be constructed over the small MBTA parking lot on the Newport Ave. side of the tracks not far from the Kemper Insurance Co. building.

"It is only in the conceptual planning stage," he said.

He said the group will also want to build a parking garage to serve the building and plans are to apply for an urban development action grant (UDAG) in conjunction with the city.

With Grossman and Dickinson in the project is South Bayshore Associates, made up of two publicly held real estate trusts, Hospital Mortgage Group, Inc. of Miami and Transco Realty Trust of Boston.

Dickinson Development Corp. was formed last February by Dickinson, a former executive in Grossman Industrial Properties.

The new firm is also involved in a freight terminal in East Boston, a shopping center in Stoughton, an office building in Braintree and a combination office building and condominium in Orlando, Fla.

Mayor Tobin said it was hoped to announce the building at next month's economic conference but that word of it leaked out.

The economic conference, the third to be held by the Tobin administration, is scheduled for the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 7 at the Neighborhood Club.

That afternoon the South Shore Chamber of Commerce is planning an economic development luncheon at the Lantana in Randolph.

At the groundbreaking for the garage, Robert DeMarco, vice president of Campanelli, Inc., of Braintree, said his company plans to break ground for the Center Plaza building in three to four weeks.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly called the garage groundbreaking "the beginning of the most major project that this city has undertaken."

"It all begins today," he said. "Quincy is a city on the go, and it is because of the people who are here today. Many urban center depreciate their downtowns. Quincy is flying in the face of this."

Mayor Tobin and the Rev. Bedros Baharian, citywide development director, expressed appreciation for everyone's patience during the nearly 30 months of negotiations that went into the garage and Center Plaza.

ZIGGY THE CLOWN supplied balloons, gifts and other goodies for the youngsters during Wollaston's sidewalk sale in conjunction with the Constitution Celebration.

Constitutional Convention

Much controversy has surrounded the Legislature's action at an earlier Convention and their subsequent vote to adjourn. I voted not to adjourn that Convention and to take up the pressing matters of issues such as the Death Penalty and Proposition 2½.

The Legislature has been tentatively recalled for the purpose of reconvening the Constitutional Convention on September 18. The Governor's Council has intervened and has scheduled a public hearing on Wednesday, Sept. 17 at 10 a.m. to take public testimony on whether the Legislature should be called back.

If you have any feelings or opinions on the issues to be acted upon at the Constitutional Convention, please feel free to call me at 328-0900 or in the State House at 727-7035.

Returning To Ministry

ENC President To Step Down Nov. 10

Eastern Nazarene College President Rev. Dr. Donald Irwin is resigning to return to "my first love," the ministry.

ENC President since 1975, Rev. Dr. Irwin will become district superintendent for the Church of the Nazarene in southern Arkansas. His resignation is effective Nov. 10.

The college's board of trustees will hold its annual meeting Oct. 7-8, according to Richard Pritchard, ENC information officer, and will probably discuss Rev. Dr. Irwin's successor. However, a choice would not necessarily be made at that time, he said.

Born in Export, Penn., Rev. Dr. Irwin became ENC's eighth president after over 35 years in the ministry. He had served the pastorates in Florida, California, Illinois and Tennessee and, when named president, was New England district superintendent for the Church of the Nazarene.

While in Quincy, Rev. Dr. Irwin

was a member of the Rotary Club. Highlights of his presidency have included an increase in the number of majors offered at ENC and the beginning of a fund-raising campaign for a fine arts center on campus.

He and his wife Lillian have a son, Donald, and a daughter, Linda.

Mrs. Mary Powers of North Quincy is the winner of a trip to Washington D.C. for the presidential inaugural in a Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA) Promotion drawing.

Mrs. Powers' name was drawn Friday by Congressman Brian J. Donnelly from among coupons deposited at 28 QCBPA members during their recent Constitution Sale Days promotion. Her winning coupon was deposited at Casual Concept.

Mrs. Powers and her husband Richard will be guests of Congressman Brian Donnelly at the Jan. 20 inauguration and at breakfast with him in the Congressional Dining Room.

The trip, arranged by Quinwell Travel Agency, 1424 Hancock St., Quincy Center, and includes transportation, three nights accommodation for two at a Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Washington and $100 spending money.

Mrs. Powers, a housewife, and her husband, a Boston firefighter, have two children, Mary Beth, 10, and Richard, 8. They are residents of 31 Rawson Rd.

"We were especially thrilled to win because we just went on a trip to Washington this summer," says Mrs. Powers. "We just loved it; it's a beautiful city and we'd love to go back."

She wouldn't say which of the three candidates she would like to see inaugurated, though. She is a registered Democrat.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," she said.

It was the first prize she had ever won, Mrs. Powers said.

Troop 25 Open House

Quincy Bay Inn Denied Liquor License Transfer

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Following nearly two hours of discussion Tuesday, the City License Board unanimously denied Quincy Bay Inn 24-29 Hancock St., transfer of the inholder-alcoholic license from the former Carlton House.

Fire Chief Edward Barry made the motion to deny the transfer "in the interest of public safety... because of parking requirements and the corporation's apparent inability to meet them."

The motion was seconded by Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, City Clerk John Gillis also voted for the denial. Police Chief Francis Finn and Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh were not at the meeting.

Cabaret, Lord's Day, entertainment and common victualer licenses were also denied.

Gillis introduced to board members a letter from Atty. Richard J. Vita, inn manager, requesting that Dr. McKeogh not participate in the proceedings.

The letter referred to civil rights action filed by Quincy Motel Corporation against Dr. McKeogh regarding his refusal to issue, and later his denial, of an application for a motel license for the Quincy Bay Inn. Vita indicated Dr. McKeogh would be unable to consider the application before the License Board fairly and impartially.

The board recessed to await a ruling from the city solicitor's office, but the question was eventually considered moot since Dr. McKeogh was not present at the meeting.

The hearing resumed with Vita outlining the corporation's officers and asking that the board consider the motel's record for the last two months, rather than over the past when it was operated by different parties.

Vita said the corporation wants to develop the full potential of the property and that the motel with 104 rooms, is operating at about 60% capacity.

"The area lacks a first rate motel and steak house," said Vita, outlining plans for a restaurant and three banquet rooms with capacities of 150, 55, 75 and 300 persons, respectively.

Vita said there might be a trio to provide soft music in the lounge area but no loud entertainment.

Ward Six Councillor Joanne Condon read a prepared statement requesting denial of the license transfer and asking who the people were that would run the operation and what their experience was.

She also asked why the corporation had not worked with the community on the plans and presented the board a petition signed by 152 North Quincy residents opposed to the transfer.

Chief Barry asked Vita how many parking spaces were available to patrons and Vita estimated there were 219 spaces on the entrance side of the property. Vita said a permit was also being sought from the MDC for permission to park some 150 cars beneath the expressway underpass.

Gillis questioned whether there was space for 219 cars in front of the property and said half of the area used to be roped and restricted for motel patrons. MacDonald pointed out that off street parking must be under the same ownership as the property and the MDC land could not be counted towards parking requirements.

Vita then told the board there was a possibility the corporation could obtain abutting land owned by Vincent St. Pierre for additional parking.

Mrs. Condon pointed out that cars coming and going from the lounge or restaurants late at night would conflict with people sleeping in the motel.

MacDonald recounted major traffic problems in the area in the past when fire and police cars couldn't pass through the streets.

The board then voted to deny the transfer. The corporation cannot reapply for the license for one year.

Harold, Gov. Edward King, Rev. McCarthy and the other QHA members.

Fr. McCarthy said at least two QHA members have indicated some opposition to his proposal. Approval of the five members is necessary to house the family.

He added that he would withdraw his request if it became a point of controversy.

"I don't know if the entire board would go along with it now that there is opposition from the HRC," he said.

QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien said he doubted the family in question could be declared an emergency case.

"Just being without housing is not an emergency, as defined by DCA and HUD regulations," O'Brien said Monday, "except when it's through no fault of your own."

The family, which left Boston Housing on its own, thus would probably not qualify, he said.

"What they would have to do is request an exception to the rules," O'Brien said.

The case is similar in some respects to that of the Gruchy family, formerly of Weymouth, which the QHA voted unanimously in March to place in Germantown housing.

The Gruchys had been evicted from their Weymouth home after health inspectors had condemned it as unfit for human habitation.

"The difference is that, while the Gruchys were evicted, this family left out of fear," said Fr. McCarthy.

Cable TV Committee Sees 87 Channels For Quincy

provide at its own cost a network of two-way access channels to various municipal and community locations.

"The operator should have the ability to pre-empt regular programming on the system with messages of an emergency nature."

The specifications also note that Massachusetts has a statute that makes it a criminal act for any unauthorized person to attach any device to the transmitting units of a cable system.

"Any license granted by the city of Quincy should further stipulate that in order for a transmission of any sort to emanate from a subscribers' set, the subscriber must first take some positive action, such as the closing of a transmission switch.

"Each subscriber should be notified in advance of any monitoring of his cable system.

"Finally, it should be expressly understood that the cable operator will do nothing to infringe upon a subscriber's rights to privacy unless written authorization is procured from the subscriber."

North Quincy Hosts Oldtime Rival Milton

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team, hoping to rebound from two straight losing seasons, opens against oldtime rival Milton Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium in a non-league game and the Raiders must face the Hawks without one of their top offensive weapons, outstanding place kicker Jack Leone.

Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes, defeated North, 18-7, last fall and also topped the Raiders, 8-6, the year before.

North plays in the Suburban League and Milton is a member of the Bay State League.

Leone, one of the best kickers in the Suburban League, kicked several long field goals and most of his extra points last year and is being counted upon to contribute many points to the Raiders' cause this year. Incidentally, he kicks with his shoe off. He is a North co-captain.

He injured his leg and there is only the slimmest of chances he will play Saturday, but he will be back next week for North's league openers at Brockton.

"We definitely will miss Jack, because he gives us an almost sure three points when we get into the other team's territory,"

Coach Dave Burke said. "He can kick them long and he is a key man for us this year."

North's strong point at the start of the season is its defense, but the offense has been coming along and the Raiders moved the ball well in scrimmages against Braintree and Scituate.

Leone is also an excellent end and pass receiver and is a favorite target for quarterback Jack Brown.

A key for the Raiders is the offensive line. Burke has some good ball carriers but the line is inexperienced. However, offensive line coach George Liset is pleased with the progress shown in practice and feels the line is ready.

North has another questionable starter, fullback Bob McCormack, who has been injured. If he is unable to play, Dean Zoia, who will share the fullback chores with him, will start.

North's starting line on offense will have Bob Bolster (180) and Co-Capt. Glen Segalla (185) at end, John Buckley (200) and Chuck Sylva (190) at tackle, Co-Capt. Lou DePietro (190) and Ted Hannon (195) at guard and Neil Fisher (175) at center.

Co-Capt. Brown (170) will be at quarterback with Jamie Walsh (175) and Jim Sullivan (175) at the halfbacks and either McCormack (200) or Zoia (170) at fullback.

Others who will see action on offense are Billy Feeney and Steve Lee at tackle, Bill Gray and Brian O'Leary (the team's punter) at end, Paul Ciarfella at guard and Steve McEachern and Joe Dudek at halfback.

Defensive coaches Ken McPhee and Jack Raymer are delighted with the way their unit has been performing. "We are ready," McPhee said. "We have good size and speed and the defense has looked really good in scrimmages."

The starters on defense are uncertain with many boys seeing action and any one of several could start.

Feeney (180) and Mark Micelli (185), who has looked especially good, will be at noseguard, Peter

McDonough (225) and Paul Schaezel (230) or DePietro will be at tackle, Sylva, Segalla, Mike Panaro (190), Lee and McCormack all will see action at end, Gino Pillard (165), Jim McGinnis (150) and Ken Mann (155), one of the most pleasant surprises, will play at the corners, Bolster, Walsh and Chris Baker (135) will be at halfback and Paul O'Sullivan (160), Pete Alibrandi (170), Tim Tehan (170), Doug Grant (175) and Rich Stevens (150) will be the linebackers.

Ed Corcoran, Brian Marsters, Bill Stacy and Paul McAleney will also see some service on defense.

North, incidentally, has added a coach. Pete Zoia, an all-time Raider great who starred on North's first teams back in the 30's, is assisting Ted Sadowski (on an unpaid basis) with the sophomore team. He is the father of Dean.

Girls Cross Country

North Faces Newton After Braintree Tuneup

The North Quincy girls' cross country team got off to a promising start last week with a 21-37 non-league win over Braintree and Friday the Raiderettes open their Suburban League season at home against Newton, second in the all-state meet last year.

Lou Tozzi, who has coached the boys for a number of years, took over the girls' team last fall when no one else applied for the job and the Raiderettes came along strong.

At this writing it was not known who will coach the boys this season. Tozzi resigned but no replacement has been named and Lou may again wind up as coach. Tozzi is believed to be the only coach around coaching both teams.

"We took over the girls' program last year and started out with just three runners," Tozzi said. "We lost our first five meets but with the addition of several girls, finished strong and wound up 6-6. Then the girls had an outstanding winter track season with a 7-1 record and the state championship."

"We have only four runners back from last year's 13-girl roster, but we should be very competitive after we get some experience. Our immediate problem is a very difficult early schedule."

Leading the Raiderettes is Sophomore Linda Kennedy, seventh in the league championships last year, a state meet medalist in the mile last winter and potentially one of the top runners in Eastern Mass. She won the women's junior division in the recent Jay LeGrande five-mile road race in Braintree.

Senior Mary Crehan is a veteran who could be one of the big surprises in the league this year. She missed almost all of last year due to illness but has come back and she finished third in the women's junior division in the LeGrande race.

Sophomore Sheila Barrett, whose brothers Art and Mike were state medalists for Tozzi, should become one of the league's best runners with experience. She finished second in the women's junior division in the LeGrande race.

Junior Deirdre Donovan is a superior quarter mile and 600-yarder who does surprisingly well in the longer distances. She has a lot of desire and should do well this fall.

Senior Deirdre Corrigan is a much improved veteran who stayed with the program all last year and it is paying dividends.

Senior Robyn O'Donnell is a newcomer to cross country who did well in spring and winter track.

"These six will be our varsity for the first part of the season, since we have a murderous early schedule," Tozzi said.

Promising newcomers include Amanda Mujica, a fine looking sophomore, sophomores Mary Gannon and Michelle White and freshmen Cindy Rabs, Ellen DeLuca, Lori Werth and Cathy O'Connell.

Veterans from last season's track squad who are working out with the harriers are Mary Kate Kennedy, Nancy McCarthy, Karen Lindenfelzer, Linda Morash, Ann Gorczyca, Kara Crehan and Michelle Millane.

"We have a very motivated group of six for our varsity and we are pleased," Tozzi said. "The Quincy Track Club has been very helpful and many of our kids have had experience running for them."

In the opening win over Braintree Linda Kennedy won, Barrett was second, Mary Crehan fifth, Donovan sixth, O'Donnell seventh and Corrigan eighth.

Defense Question Mark

Quincy Opens At Cambridge Rindge

Quincy's football team travels to Cambridge Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin and the more experienced offense presently is ahead of the defense.

Tom Fitzgerald's Presidents hope to repeat last season's win over Cambridge (18-12), which started them on the way to a 7-2-1 record, their best in 10 years.

"We are pretty thin with many of last year's players graduating, especially on defense," Fitzgerald said. "We have moved the ball pretty well in scrimmages against Everett, Boston Tech and Arlington, and the offensive line has been particularly strong."

Fitzie has Capt. Fran Duggan (235), who should be everyone's all-scholastic this year, and Chris Chevalier (225), who has been mighty impressive, going side by side at right tackle and guard respectively and Quincy's backs should find some gaping holes to run through on that side of the line.

"I feel our offensive line is going to be really outstanding," said assistant Peter Chella. "We have excellent size and some good speed."

Although the defense is thinner and less experienced, Coaches Bill Maver and Joe Goguen are pleased with the progress shown in scrimmages.

Quincy will start an offensive line of Sean Burke (6-5, 195) and Scott Anson (190) at end, Duggan and John Varrasso (225), another standout, at tackle, Chevalier and John Taglieri (185) at guard and Ed Mackey (205) at center.

Ron Pettinelli (160), who will share the punting with Mark Picot, will start at quarterback and he has looked good in practice. Co-Capt. Ed Iodice (165), the team's fastest runner, and Mike Abboud (170) will be at halfback and Mike Monahan (170) and Picot (190) will share the fullback spot.

Fitzgerald will use many more players on offense including Sean Martin at quarterback, Steve Goguen and Javier Perez at halfback, Steve Rossetti, Mike Burns and Paul DeAngelo at guard, John Cristello, Jamie Gravales, George Slicis, Steve Aluisi, Kevin Mahoney, Bill Robinson and Paul Reinhardt at tackle and Joe LaRaia, Dan Montani, Bill Hall, Paul Martin and Bill Walsh at end.

"Pettinelli has passed the ball well and Burke and Anson are fine receivers," said Fitzgerald. "I think we will move the ball well and, if the defense does its part, we might do all right."

Several players will have to go both ways and Duggan, used almost solely on offense the past two years, will see a good deal of defensive action.

Mike Nevins (180) will be a noseguard, Mike Connors (185), Duggan and Varrasso will be at defensive tackle, Mackey, who has looked good, Burke and Anson will be at end, Co-Capt. Walt Kilgallon (175) and Chevalier are the linebackers and Greg Oriola (175), Steve Spencer (140), Iodice and Mike Shaughnessy defensive backs.

Paul Flynn, Burns, Ken Gustin and Goguen also will play on defense.

3 Quincy Teams Still In Hancock Softball Tourney

The Hancock Bank Open Softball Tournament will continue Friday night at Rotary Field with three Quincy teams remaining in the competition, Washington Tap, Hancock Bank and Farrington Market.

Friday night Washington Tap will play Arlington K. C. at 6 o'clock, Hancock Bank will meet Mago's at 7:30 and Dubuque Packing will take on Rocky's of Walpole at 9.

Saturday night it will be Norwood CETA vs. Norfolk County DA at 6, Farrington Market vs. Gerald Reilly Insurance at 7:30 and Amtico of Norwood vs. Ted's Market of Dorchester at 9.

The quarterfinals and semifinals will be played Sunday at 12:30, 2, 3:30 and 5.

The consolation game will be Monday at 6:30, followed by the championship game at 8.

Washington defeated Sharp Air, 18-10, in the first round last weekend with Bobby Mina, Ron Arria and player-coach Bill Osborne standing out.

Hancock Bank topped Pete's Pub, 6-3, with Tony Rizzo going three for three and Horace "Hoss" Thayer pitching excellent ball. Ken Cahill and Al Sassi sparkled in the outfield.

Farrington Market walloped Quincy City Hall, 14-2, with Mike Smith pitching well. Ron Colon and Paul McEachern paced the attack. Ray Cattaneo pitched well for City Hall but his defense let him down.

Other first round scores: Amtico 5, Endicott News 4; Arlington K. C. 25, Tully's 12; Norwood CETA 28, Quincy CETA 1; Rocky's 36, Perna's 1; Reilly Insurance 10, South Shore Bank 8; Ted's Market 16, Quincy Cooperative 1; Dubuque

Packing 17, J.D. Paint 1; Norfolk DA 7, Schmid 2; Mago's 9, Quincy Hospital 3.

The tournament, which started with 32 teams, is being held to benefit the 1980 United Way campaign and entry fees went to the United Way to help support 167 human care agencies throughout eastern Mass.

Trophies and jackets, courtesy of Hancock Bank, will be awarded to the winners.

Presidents Upset Raiders

North Quincy boys' soccer team opened its season impressively last week, just missing a big upset as it was edged by defending Suburban League champion Newton North, 2-1, but on Friday Quincy came along and upset the Raiders, 3-1.

Friday Quincy will host Waltham and North will go to Weymouth South. Monday North hosts Cambridge Rindge and Latin while Quincy has a bye.

Paul Bregoli's North boys made an outstanding showing against Newton. With veterans Paul Gill, Bill Koch and Steve Kavanagh back-boning the Raider defense, the first half ended scoreless.

North outplayed Newton with the Newton goalie being forced to make outstanding stops to rob Rich Palma and Greg DiBella. Meanwhile junior goalie Bob Flaherty made several good saves.

The Raiders continued to outplay the favored champions in the second half and broke the deadlock when Palma passing to Gray Donaghy, whose shot was deflected in by Chris Dunn.

Newton pressed the play and was thwarted by the fine play of Bill Bradley and John Keenan until Newton scored on a perfectly placed direct kick by Flaherty to tie the score.

The score remained at 1-1 until the final five minutes of the game and Newton again scored on a direct kick as two Newton players were left unguarded.

"I was encouraged by our performance as we continually out-hustled Newton and, but for two mistakes, we could have beaten them," Bregoli said. Newton Coach Tom Williams said, "North had us and we were scared."

Friday Jim McGuire's Quincy booters proved the spoiler as they upset the Raiders in a well played game, despite North out-shooting the Presidents, 22-9.

Quincy out-hustled North in this game and midway through the first period Claudio Sala scored the first of his two goals from 30 yards out.

North got that one back quickly as Dunn scored on a direct kick from 20 yards out.

Bill DiCarli and Peter McGillicuddy, up from the jayvees to replace the injured Palma, had good scoring chances but their shots went right at Quincy goalie Jeff Morrison.

Sala made it 2-1 in the third quarter and Geoff McGee scored on a penalty kick to tie the win for Quincy.

"We missed about eight great chances to score from 12 yards and in and you can't miss these shots and expect to win," said Bregoli. "Morrison was great in Quincy's goal and Joey Norton played well at halfback."

"I thought our defense was pretty good again with DiBella filling in for the injured Steve Sacchetti, playing well as did McGillicuddy, while Charlie Spiropoulos played his best game in two years and Billy Bourikas and Steve Dodd also played well."

McGuire was understandably pleased with the win and the Presidents showed that if they can avoid injuries and get a few breaks they might pull some upsets in the strong league.

McGuire is figuring on Co-Captains Norton and Geoff McGee to provide the leadership and expects Morrison to do well in goal.

Fullbacks George McRae, Mark Hubbard, Carl Lockart and Dave Goulart are the keys on defense and forwards Pete Papille, Sante Michaelangelo, Lou Reardon, Sala and Paul Arthur are the scoring hopes. Halfbacks Dave Church and Dave Solimini have looked good.

Meehan, Kathy Moriarty, Michelle Burke, Chris Collins, Karen Petrakas, Karen O'Reilly, Deb Cavanaugh and Michelle McCarthy.

Quincy was winless a year ago and Martin is banking on experience provided by 10 veterans.

Elizabeth Doherty, a league all-star last year, is the key to the offense. The starting forward line is made up entirely of underclassmen, Doherty, Kathy Duggan, Ann McCarthy and Janet McCarthy.

Defensively Diane Solander and Nancy Chludinski are three-year starters and should help take the pressure off new goaltender Irene Perry.

Other starters are Michelle Bevin, Sue Dacey, Holly Morris and Margaret Kerins. Providing depth are Marie Henry, Lauren Bina, Rebecca Marcus, Diane Alfano and Liz Morrison.

15 saves as Newton scored both goals on corner kicks in the second half. Lauren Apollo played well on defense and Co-Captains Cahill and Margie Ladas put pressure on the Newton defense.

Hutchins was extremely pleased with the Raiderettes' showings in both games. "We should be fairly solid," he said.

North has five returning senior starters, Cavanaugh, Cahill, Ladas, Kim Alberti and Apollo.

On the wings Hutchins goes with Welby and Lisa McCormick, while Mary Costa and Maureen Berry hold down the other midfield spots and Elva Reed and Jackie Thayer join Apollo in the backfield.

Other Raiderettes are Jane Murray, Siobhan Corrigan, Becky Holcomb, Janet Zdanowski, Smith, Susan Orlando, Chris

Engrassia, Nancy Murphy, Trish

North Girls Blank Quincy, 4-0

The North Quincy girls' soccer team has started well under new coach Rich Hutchins and last Friday blanked the Quincy girls, coached by Ron Martin, 4-0.

In their first game the Raiderettes had played well but were defeated by Newton North, 2-0.

Quincy had lost to Brookline, 5-0, in its opening game.

Friday North will host Weymouth South and Quincy will play at Waltham. Monday Quincy has a bye and North plays at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Junior Karyn Smith had the "hat trick," scoring three goals for North against Quincy. Susan Cahill added the fourth goal on a penalty kick. Smith scored two goals on direct kicks with Lisa Welby assisting on one. Lisa Cavanaugh was outstanding in goal.

In the opening loss to Newton, Cavanaugh played well and made

New Youth League Opens

The newly formed Quincy Youth Soccer League opened its season Sunday with all 24 teams in action.

More than 450 boys and girls from grades 1 through 8 are playing on five fields. The league will continue on Sunday afternoons through Nov. 2.

In the seventh and eighth grade division the Sounders edged the Timbers, 2-1, on goals by Kris Meyer and Eric Roukey. Kevin Jay scored for the Timbers.

The Aztecs shut out the Cosmos, 4-0, with Cabrera Marcello scoring two goals and Keith Freeman and Peter Schuerch one each.

In the third and fourth grade division the Metros walloped the Roughnecks, 6-1, with Sean Cappits, Matthew Collins, James DiCarli, Terry Hack, Chuck Hughes and Mike Hughes scoring the goals. Bill Warren scored for the losers.

The Caribous edged the White Caps, 2-1, on two goals by John Ciccone.

The Tornadoes defeated the Rowdies, 5-2, and the Earthquakes and Diplomats and the Lancers and Kicks played to scoreless ties.

In the girls' mixed age division the Sockers defeated the Hurricanes, 4-0, with Patricia Grant scoring twice and Karen Hendsbee and Lee Ann Coughlin one each.

The Surfers blanked the Stompers, 3-0, on two goals by Betty Ryan and one by Melissa Miles.

In the first and second grade division the Strikers topped the Teamen, 2-0. The Furies and Rogues and the Express and Sting played to scoreless ties.

Sunday games will be played from noon to 5 o'clock at LaBrecque, O'Rourke, Bishop, Perkins and Fore River Fields.

Foley, Kotowski Fallon Winners

Bill Foley and Ken Kotowski won the 40th annual Fallon Cup tournament last weekend at the Wollaston Golf Club with a 2 and 1 victory over Larry Kelley and Don Rourke.

It was the third Fallon Cup win in four years for Wollaston's Foley, all three championship flight titles coming with different partners.

"It is another early birthday present for me," smiled Foley, who will be 43 Sunday. "Nobody will want me for a partner again."

Foley won in 1977 with Dave Farina, lost in the semifinals with Farina in 1978, and won with Paul Murphy a year ago.

Foley had expected to defend with Murphy this year, but Murphy decided to play with his usual partner, Barry Driscoll. So Foley hooked up with Kotowski, who plays out of Kittansett on the Cape.

In the championship light semifinals Kelley and Rourke defeated Jerry Courville and Ron Courville in 21 holes and Foley and Kotowski defeated

Jim O'Leary and Tom Weal, 2 and 1.

In the first flight Rich Dunn and R. D. Haskell defeated Bill Pendergast and Ed Sullivan, 2 and 1, for the title.

In the semifinals Dunn and Haskell defeated Tom Kenney and Barry Flanagan, 3 and 1, and Pendergast and Sullivan defeated John Flynn and John McGarry, 1 up.

Art Fiske and Bill Sullivan defeated John O'Faherty and George Lucas, 1 up, to win the second flight title.

In the semifinals O'Faherty and Lucas defeated Mike Brandon and Rich Blomstrom, 3 and 2, and Fiske and Sullivan defeated Ron Hadley and Bob Harrington, 21 holes.

In the third flight Rich Clabby and Ed Clabby won the crown with 2 and 1 victory over Joe Gibbons and Ed Reagan.

In the semifinals the Clabys defeated Bob Donovan and Kevin Walsh, 1 up, and Gibbons and Reagan defeated Bob Shallow and Rich Ferriter, 2 and 1.

Track Club Sets 2 X-Country Records

The Quincy Track Club opened its cross country season with a bang, setting two course records at the first in a series of 2.2 and 3.7-mile road races for kids at D.W. Field Park in Brockton. The series is sponsored by Brockton Community Schools.

In the 2.2-mile race for boys and girls ages 8-12, Harry Morash set a course record of 12:47. The old mark was 13:02. Stuart Coull finished fourth in 13:26. In the girls race Mary Beth Bonner won in 14:42 with Lorrie McNeill one second behind, Tracy Fostello third, Karen Dunn fourth and Cindy Bonner fifth.

In the 3.7-mile race for ages 13-16, Tracy Coull smashed the girls' course record by five minutes with a 23:33 timing. In the boys' race Kevin Dunn and Doug Geschelein placed third and fourth respectively.

The QTC is still holding registration for any boys and girls interested. Registration will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 7 p.m. the fee is $5. The program is open to any boys and girls 4 to 18 years of age from Quincy and surrounding communities.

Quincy Tennis Tourney

O'Malley, Murray Singles, Doubles Winners

The 10th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament co-sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Co-operative Bank saw 12 champions crowned with Tony O'Malley winning the men's singles and Sue Murray taking the women's singles title.

O'Malley with partner Dick Hatton also took the men's doubles while Murray and her partner John Franceschini won the mixed doubles.

The men's singles finals saw O'Malley, a senior at Quincy High School, square off against fellow classmate at Quincy High, Gary Durante. Both boys will be playing on the Quincy High varsity tennis team next spring.

More than 200 entrants took part in this year's tournament which, according to Tournament Director John Franceschini, was the best yet.

Dan Arenas, lost a tough quarter final set to men's singles winner O'Malley. Al McDonough went to the semifinals for the second straight year. Susan Ryan, a sophomore at North Quincy High, reached the semi-finals in both the women's singles and women's doubles.

The complete list of winners and runners-up:

I BET
YOU
KNOW

Brought To You
By ROBERT COLMAN

One of the most incredible football afternoons of all-time occurred Oct. 16, 1976 when these 3 things happened . . . First, Tony Franklin of Texas A&M kicked the longest field goal (64 yards) in the 108-year history of college football. . . Then later in the same game, Franklin broke that record with a 65-yard field goal . . . Then in another game on that same day, Ove Johansson of Abilene Christian broke both those records with a 69-yard field goal . . . Thus, the 3 longest field goals in the history of college football up to that time were all kicked on the same afternoon. . . .

We thought you'd enjoy seeing the teams (with their nicknames) that played in the National Football League the first year the league was in operation, 1921. . . the NFL in its inaugural season had: the Akron Pros, Buffalo All-Americans, Canton Bulldogs, Chicago Staleys, Chicago Cardinals, Cincinnati Celts, Cleveland Indians, Columbus Panhandles, Dayton Triangles, Detroit Heralds, Green Bay Packers, Rochester Jeffersons and Rock Island Independents. . . Amazingly, of all those teams, ONLY the Green Bay Packers survive today with the same nickname in the same city. . . .

I bet you didn't know . . . that Colman's has everything you need in sportswear for men, women and children. And Colman's has all the sporting goods you need and at money saving low prices. Shop now, you'll find everything you'll need.

Ariel Stiles Art Exhibit At Crane Library

The art work of Ariel M. Stiles of Hingham is being exhibited this month in the Main Hall Gallery of the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Center.

Miss Stiles uses the techniques of monotype, silk screen and lithography to depict environmental and atmospheric changes.

Born in Chicago, Ill., Miss Stiles was a free lance illustrator in New York City before becoming a printmaker.

She studied at the Art Center School of Design, Los Angeles, Calif., and also studied printmaking at the University of Hartford Art School where she received a BFA degree.

Her work has been exhibited in Newport, R.I., the 410 Broadway Gallery, New York, and the Experimental Etching Studio, Boston City Hall.

'Red Americans, White Invaders'

Historical Society Topic

Dr. George R. Horner will discuss, "Red Americans and White Invaders" at the Quincy Historical Society's first business meeting of the year Thursday, Sept. 25, in the Adams Academy Building.

The business meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. and the program is at 8 p.m.

Dr. Horner will compare the attitudes and behavior of the Wampanoags and the Pilgrims, Morton at Ma-re Mount and Weston of Wessagusset.

Chairman of the "Save the Lyons Turning Mill and Quarry" committee, Dr. Horner is society archaeologist and a board of director member.

He is president of the Massachusetts Archaeological Society, Fellow of the Pilgrim Society and archaeological consultant for the Braintree Historical Society.

Dr. Horner has published over 30 monographs including the Quincy Historical Society's "Germantown Glassworks". He taught for many years in area schools before retiring in 1978 as Professor Emeritus in anthropology from Bridgewater State College.

Crews Of USS Quincys Reunion Here

Officers and men who served aboard the USS Quincys during World War II will hold their 20th reunion on the weekend of Sept. 19-21 in Quincy, the city in which their ships were born.

The reunion, chaired by Vernon Whitman of 3 Oakland Ave., Wollaston, and Albert Levesque of Pawtucket, R.I., is expected to draw 350 old sailors, with headquarters at the Sheraton Tara in Braintree.

Two cruisers called Quincy served in World War II, both of them built at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard.

The first was sunk in 1942 off Savo Island during the Battle of Guadalcanal with a loss of 1,300 men.

The second carried President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference, fired the first round at Normandy, and is currently in mothballs at Bremerton, Wash.

Men who served on both ships annually attend the reunion, which was held last year in San Diego, Calif.

The first scheduled event for this year's reunion is a New England clam bake Friday evening, Sept. 19, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Milton.

The business meeting will be held Saturday morning with an afternoon visit planned to the Fore River Shipyard and a banquet in the evening at Valle's Restaurant in Braintree.

Sunday there will be a tour of the historic spots in Quincy.

Mayor Tobin is expected to designate Saturday, Sept. 20, as USS Quincy Day in Quincy in honor of the two ships and their crews that served so well in war 35 years ago.

Quincy City Club Dinner-Dance Oct. 4

The Quincy City Club will hold its sixth annual dinner-dance for members and friends Saturday, Oct. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the George F. Bryan VFW Post Hall, Broad St., Quincy.

A social hour will be held preceding the dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Richard M. Morrissey and Joseph M. Lydon are co-chairmen of the event and being assisted by Walter Berio, Daniel O'Leary, Peter Janis, Charles Shea, John Kelly, John Horrigan, Paul Nestor and Robert Feeney.

Reservations may be made with any of the committee members before the Oct. 1 deadline.

Richard J. Koch, president of the City Club, announces the organization would again conduct its annual Christmas charitable program aiding elderly and patients confined to hospitals and other institutions during the holiday season.

During the past six years, the City Club has spent more than $10,000 in its program involving charitable activities and community service.

Koch said Donald E. Conboy and Paul Lee would again head up the Christmas charitable fund-raising. Dr. Allan Yacubian will be responsible for projects selected.

N. Quincy Knights Sponsoring 'Big Band' Dance

The North Quincy Knights of Columbus will hold a dance featuring the "Big Band Sounds" of Larry Cooper, Saturday, Oct. 4, at the Quincy Armory.

The evening will include dancing from 8 p.m. to midnight and tickets are available by calling Bud Williams, John Greene or Nicholas Fasano at the council, 328-9822.

First Parish Church Service Auction Oct. 18

United First Parish Church, Quincy Center, is looking for services or items donations for its Oct. 18 Service Auction.

Contributions could include sharing handyman talents, hosting a dinner party, sharing a cottage or boat, knitting some mittens, ironing, sewing, painting, or giving an afternoon of child care.

For more information, call Louise Hall at 337-8305.

YMCA Indian Guide Enrollment Meetings Set

The Quincy YMCA's Indian Guide Program will hold enrollment meetings Monday, Sept. 22, and Thursday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m. at the "Y", 79 Coddington St.

YMCA Indian Guides is a program for fathers and sons ages six to eight. Together, they participate as big and little braves in "Tribes", units consisting of four to eight fathers and sons.

The program's purpose is to multiply the number of things that fathers and sons can do together.

The Indian Guides program is based upon American Indian lore. Tribal meetings are held bi-monthly in rotation in brave's homes. The tribes are given maximum freedom giving boys full opportunity to develop their initiative under the guidance of their dads.

Some of the program activities are: trips, handicrafts, study of Indian culture, songs, games, picnics, camping trips to Camp Burgess and Hayward in Sandwich, splash parties, gym nights, ball games (Red Sox & Celtics) and more.

The Massachusetts Nation invites all fathers and sons to the organizational meetings at the Quincy YMCA where nation members will be on hand to discuss and answer questions.

After the meetings, fathers and sons are invited to attend the tribal meeting nearest them, enabling new enrollees to view an individual tribe in action. For further information, contact William Johnson at the Quincy YMCA at 479-8500.

Granite Place Seniors To Visit Newport, R.I.

Senior Citizens from Granite Place, 125 Granite St., will leave Sept. 24, at 10 a.m., for a bus trip to Newport, R.I.

The trip will include lunch at the Pier Restaurant, a tour of the Marble House, and visits to Green Animals topiary garden, the Plant and Gift Shop and a Victorian toy museum.

Diane M. Lydon is co-ordinator of resident services for Granite Place.

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 18, 1980

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
Encourage older relatives to spin their wonderful yarns—there's lots to learn, and enjoy. Flattering words more truthful than you believe—so don't brush off any poetic admirer.

PISCES—February 20-March 20
You're fiercely competitive, and every little job becomes a challenge now. Selectivity is key; tackle most important tasks. Any trip planned now will include element of adventure.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
Stalemate situation with family member ends with offbeat move. Salesmanship shines Saturday. Romance lags Sunday, but expect big ego boost Monday-Wednesday.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22
Planning does little good this week, so enjoy each day—each hour—in spontaneous way. Weekend offers financial bonus. Monday sees significant gain in prestige.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21
Conflicts of opinion can make for stronger union, so don't give in simply to keep peace. Psychic powers are strong and you could take special interest in occult science now.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Traditional roles may undergo temporary reversal. Empathetic friends may prompt you to say more than you really want. Robust sense of humor wins you charming admirer.

LEO—July 23-August 22
Hosting is your role—whether in charge of picnic in park or elegant soiree. Meeting people of wealth or importance proves less thrilling than you'd thought—but you're a hit.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
Luck is with you on shopping expeditions. In weekend wardrobe, emphasize subtler shades. Old flame may step into picture, but this time it's just friendship he/she wants.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Summer ends on nostalgic note, but you step into autumn feeling refreshed and ready to tackle many tasks you inherit. On weekend, try to be seen—and dress with courage.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Fashion is theme of week and you're something of a trendsetter. New hobby can prove more expensive than anticipated. Luck is with you after Friday.

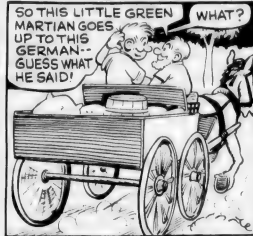

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Sports are accented; it's fine week for entering competitions or joining team. Grouchy acquaintances can bring you down, so stay clear of their paths if you want to stay cheery.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Try—hard—not to offer unsolicited advice. Partnership arrangements are accented Friday-Saturday. Shaky relationship starts to stabilize or new one gets off to splendid start.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Nobody examines life more closely than you; once curiosity is aroused, you're eager to explore. All of which makes for successful year; attention to detail yields major coup in job (by February); sense of adventure puts accent on travel and friendship (all year).

BORN THIS WEEK
September 18th, actor Jack Warden; 19th, composer Paul Williams; 20th, actress Sophia Loren; 21st, actor Larry Hagman; 22nd, actor John Houseman; 23rd, actor Mickey Rooney; 24th, actor Anthony Newley.

Brownell, Eleey, McDonald Primary Winners

Collins, since no two commissioners can reside in the same community. The third contestant was James J. Collins of Milton.

With returns incomplete, James Collins had 22,513 votes, McDonald 19,302 and Mary Collins 16,530.

Missing along with Brookline and Wellesley were some of the small towns on the outskirts of the county, including Bellingham, Millis and Medway.

McDonald was the big vote getter in Quincy with 6,585 votes. Mary Collins, a Quincy school committee woman, had 5,577 and James Collins, an incumbent, 4,297.

Cerasoli was the only name on the Democratic ballot in the Third Norfolk District and Lawler was the only name on Republican side, but a last minute sticker campaign for Cerasoli as a Republican spoiled the election.

Lawler outpolled Cerasoli by a single vote, 181 to 180, in Cerasoli's home Ward 2 in Quincy but the final vote was in doubt since Cerasoli's stickers, if any, were not counted among the early returns in Weymouth. Lawler had 306 votes in his hometown.

At most, there will be only two races on the Nov. 4 general election ballot in Quincy.

Eleey faces Republican Robinson for Governor's Councilor in the heavily Democratic district and, depending on the sticker outcome in Weymouth, Cerasoli contests Lawler for a fourth term in the State House.

Unopposed for reelection in either the primary or the general election are the Democrats Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey and Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall.

City To Maintain MBTA Parking Areas

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti plans to meet with officials of the MBTA next week to make plans for the city to take over maintenance of the parking facilities on the Red Line.

The way was cleared for such a takeover Monday night when the City Council voted to transfer the city share of ownership in the Quincy Center Parking Garage to the MBTA.

The MBTA will pay the city $2 million plus interest, the cost of the bond issue Quincy floated more than 10 years ago to build the top two floors on the garage.

(However, under questioning by councilors, City Auditor Charles L. Shea conceded that "I can't recall any time that the city has ever received any money from the MBTA.")

Councillor John J. Lydon, looking ahead to the planned maintenance takeover, was reluctant to take the transfer order out of his Finance Committee.

"I don't think we should be in the business of maintaining the MBTA stations," he said.

The Council, however, went over his head and voted the transfer order out, 5-3, with Councilors Stephen J. McGrath and Francis X. McCauley joining Lydon in opposition.

Ricciuti told the Council that the MBTA's contract with the current maintenance firm expired last April and the MBTA is now in a holding pattern.

"Time is of the essence in making the transfer," he said. "Later, the mayor will bring in a request for the managerial part of it."

The Tobin administration's reason for wanting to take over maintenance of the three parking areas is that the current contractor is not doing a good job cleaning them up.

The transfer of the two floors on the Quincy garage was okayed after Councillor Daniel G. Raymond amended the order to include payment of $91,000 in interest along with the $2 million bond refund.

Council Hearing On Cross-Town Connector Sept. 29

The City Council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee will hold a public hearing Monday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall to discuss the proposed cross-town connector.

A state public hearing on the controversial road, which will connect the proposed Burgin Parkway Extension with McGrath Highway by way of a tunnel under Hancock St., has not yet been set.

Judie Cullen of the Planning Department said the state hearing is expected to be held in late October or early November.

City To Try Again

5 Bids Rejected On Ambulance Contract

By TOM HENSHAW

The Mayor's Advisory Committee on Ambulance Service, which has been buffeted by controversy for the past month, is going to make another try at placing emergency service in the city out to bid with a private carrier.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn, committee chairman, said he plans to call a meeting of the committee next week to redraw specifications for the contract preparatory to asking for a new round of bids.

Meanwhile, Kay Shaughnessey, who is in charge of the Purchasing Department in the absence of vacationing William Kelly, said letters of rejection have been sent out to all five companies whose bids raised such a storm in July.

And Asst. Dist. Atty. Charles Hely said the Patriot Ledger has filed a charge that the committee violated the state's open meeting law when it refused admittance to a reporter at its last meeting Sept. 12.

Hely said the charge "is being considered."

Chief Finn said the Ledger's charge will have no bearing on the conduct of the committee's next meeting.

"As far as I'm concerned," he said, "I have seen no restraining order. The only thing I have is an opinion from the City Solicitor that we are not violating the open meeting law."

Mayor Tobin said he expects that the committee, which has already gone on record in favor of taking ambulance service away from the Police Department, will recommend to him a winning bidder.

The study committee raised a storm last month when its report recommended that the contract be given to Bay State Ambulance as the lowest qualified bidder among the five who submitted bids.

Two of the four losing bidders protested, claiming that they were promised an opportunity to explain their bids before the contract was awarded. The committee then gave them that chance.

The bidders were invited to 'Ridiculous,' Says Donnelly

City Maps Challenge To 'Faulty' Census

City officials have vowed an all out search, both legal and statistical, for possibly 13,000 Quincy residents who appear to have been lost in the bureaucratic labyrinth of the U.S. Census Bureau.

Preliminary figures released by the Bureau last week pegged Quincy's population at 83,904, a 10-year decrease of 4,062 people that Cong. Brian J. Donnelly called "ridiculous."

"Those figures just don't make any sense," said Donnelly.

"The Census Bureau can't really believe the city's population dropped by 4,000 and at the same time the city added 5,000 housing units.

"If those figures add up to anything they add up to Census Bureau incompetence."

The drop in the official population figure, if confirmed in the Census Bureau's final report, could mean a loss of federal funds and possibly even representation in the State Legislature.

City Clerk John Gillis said the Census Bureau told him unofficially a couple of months ago that the city's population figures would be between 96,000 and 97,000, an increase of at least 8,000. That's a difference of 13,000 from the final count.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin huddled with Donnelly in Washington early this week to formulate the city's plan for challenging the Census Bureau's figures.

"When I get back," said Tobin from Washington, "we're going to cross-reference the 1980 figures with the 1970 figures and see if we can identify the weak areas."

"When we compare the figures we'll find the spots where the dramatic changes occurred between 1970 and 1980. I believe that's where we'll find that the Census Bureau is in error."

Tobin said the city will appeal the figures — it has until Sept. 29 — and may even take some sort of legal action, although he was not sure precisely what form that action would take.

"This is a serious matter," he

Supply Plentiful But —

Heating Oil Going Up 10 to 15 Cents This Winter

You'll be paying 10 to 15 cents per gallon more for heating oil this winter.

But, you shouldn't have any trouble getting it.

That's the winter outlook according to the state Office of Energy Resources, based on its biweekly survey of dealers across the state.

The average price statewide of a gallon is now $1.024 (one dollar, two and four-tenths cents), the survey revealed. That is also exactly the average price in the Boston area.

Prices at Boston area dealers ranged from 99.4 to 104.9 cents.

"It now appears we will have adequate supplies of heating oil throughout the coming winter," said State Energy Secretary Joseph Fitzpatrick. "We expect the price, however, to continue to rise slowly through the coming six months to about $1.15 per gallon by mid-winter."

Council Takes Up Custodians Pay Order

A special meeting of the City Council was scheduled for last night (Wednesday) at 6 p.m. in City Hall to take up an order establishing a reserve for appropriation account for salaries of school personnel required for school building rental.

The order, which was tabled at the Council's Sept. 2 meeting, would permit the School Department to pay custodial employees for extra curricular work out of rental money without going through the tightly capped budget.

Since that time, the Quincy Symphony Orchestra and Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 have been denied the use of school facilities for lack of funds to pay custodians.

"The denial of the use of these public facilities to organizations which are willing to pay for their use is not in the best interests of our city," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin in a letter to Council President Leo J. Kelly.

"I have been informed by school authorities that other groups, such as CYO organizations, neighborhood organizations, and adult groups will also be denied access to the facilities until such time as the Council acts on the order."

'Work To Rule' Offshoot

Teachers May Boycott QHS Accreditation Meetings

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

What if Quincy High School held an accreditation meeting and nobody came?

That's a question being pondered by school officials in light of the teachers union's "work to rule" policy.

Quincy High is due for a visit from a New England Association of Schools and Colleges accreditation team next month. That visit is to certify that the school meets certain standards in programs, facilities and personnel.

The process, explains School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, is a "long and involved" one of two or three days, usually involving after-school meetings with teachers.

But, the Quincy Education Association members voted Sept. 2 to follow a work-to-rule policy, performing only those duties, during school hours, specifically spelled out in their contract. The policy is to protest non-payment of the teachers' 1979-80 raises.

"If work to rule is enforced, I would assume very few teachers would participate (in the meetings)," said QEA President Jo Ann O'Malley.

"The principal (QHS Principal Lloyd Hill) asked me for my opinion and asked whether attendance at the meetings could be made voluntary. I told him, 'I can't do that.' The majority of the membership voted work-to-rule and until a majority of the members votes to repeal it, it's still in effect," Mrs. O'Malley said.

When asked if the teachers' non-attendance would adversely affect Quincy High's accreditation, she said, "I honestly don't know. I'm not a high school teacher and I've never been through the accreditation process."

"I think the morale of the staff would adversely affect accreditation," she added.

When asked the same question,

Creedon replied, "No, not really."

Creedon was scheduled to discuss the matter with the School Committee last night (Wednesday) in closed-door executive session.

"We just want to inform the committee that the accreditation process is going on and that we are having discussions with the QEA leadership on the matter," Creedon said.

"This is just a precautionary measure," he said. "We want to make sure that nobody is offended."

"Say, for example, if meetings were scheduled with the accreditation team and no teachers showed up, it's possible that the accreditation team would be offended."

Teachers are scheduled to "re-examine" the work to rule policy in early October and vote on whether or not to continue it. The accreditation visit is scheduled in late October.

Council Okays Private Contractor At City Dump

Browning-Ferris Industries will be operating the city dump in West Quincy starting Oct. 1 under a $327,799 contract that was authorized by the City Council.

The Council, somewhat reluctantly, authorized the use of a private contractor for the first time after specifying that its authorization expires next June 30, just in case it doesn't work out.

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti said the "motivating factor is the tremendous repair bills we have undertaken to keep our equipment mobile."

"Just last year and part of this year, we've spent some $70,000. If we are to continue this ourselves I would be coming before you perhaps next spring with a bond order of at least $600,000."

The cost of the contract will be paid out of dump receipts, which Ricciuti estimated at $326,000 for the fiscal year. The Council order authorizes a "reserve for appropriation" account for dump receipts.

"The Council was a little bit leery of establishing such fund, which was described as a 'revolving account.'"

"Are we going to get into these revolving on every single account?" asked Councillor Francis X. McCauley, noting that several other functions of public works have been contracted out recently.

"This is not a revolving account," said Auditor Charles L. Shea. "A revolving account takes it completely out of the hands of elected officials and into the department head who has it."

"This particular type of account gives elected officials greater control over certain operations. We have to constantly be funding the project."

"If Proposition 2½ goes into effect we'll probably be trying to put every account into an account of this type to get it separated from the property tax levy."

Councillor John J. Lydon attempted to place a cap of $267,000 on the reserve for appropriation account but he was turned down in a flood of legal objections.

It was pointed out that the city has a contract with Peter Ruscitto, owner of the dump, under which the city pays him $49,000 for use of the land and he pays the city $49,000 back in taxes.

The BFI bid was $397,799, minus a trade in of $70,000 for three pieces of old Quincy DPW equipment.

The only other bidder, A.A. Will of Dedham, bid $824,000, with $37,500 for the trade-in.

$1,000 Grant To CP For Theater Workshop

Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore has been awarded $1,000 by the State Council on the Arts and Humanities to set up a theater workshop for special needs adults.

The award is part of a $36,621 "mini-grant" program for local projects which are being awarded in fiscal 1981.

Too Much Accent On Housing For Elderly In City?

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Is Quincy overemphasizing elderly housing at the expense of low-income housing?

That, according to Gerard Kavanaugh of the city Planning Department, is the stand of certain unnamed federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials, who have advised the city to beef up its construction of low-income housing.

Upon hearing Kavanaugh's statements, the Housing Authority voted to request funding for 15 units of low-income housing, along with 20+ more units of elderly housing.

According to QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien, the authority's approximately 2250 units are about equally divided between elderly and low-income housing.

"We've never been criticized about this before," O'Brien said last week.

"At one time, we had more family (low-income) than elderly housing, so we were in sort of a catch-up situation. Now it's about 50-50," he added.

The message from HUD came not from any one person, but in monthly reports in which HUD monitors the city's housing development, Kavanaugh said.

"I know this probably sounds like a mystery," he said last week, "but it's just as much a mystery to us."

"What has happened is that HUD is saying, 'OK, you're meeting the needs of the elderly, now you should construct some family housing.'"

"There's been no directive ordering the city to build low-income housing. What they would probably do is disapprove any more elderly projects," he added.

Member Carmine D'Olimpio noted that at a recent state-wide meeting of housing authority members, representatives of the state Executive Office of Communities and Development urged them to increase their numbers of low-income family housing.

"Their message was, 'if you don't have applications for mixed housing, both elderly and family housing, don't bother making your applications' D'Olimpio said.

Caretaker's Room Removed

Adams Birthplaces' New Colors Give Sites 'As They Were' Look

By TOM HENSHAW

Carole Perrault of the National Parks Service was sitting at her work table in a room of the John Adams Birthplace when the man came in.

He was a housepainter, he said, and he had a client who was fascinated by the new color of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace. Where could he get some of that paint?

Miss Perrault explained that the paint, the color of which is called "stone," is not available commercially. In fact, it had to be mixed and matched by eye instead of the usual number.

"We've had about a dozen people inquire where they could get paint like that," said Miss Perrault, an architectural conservator who is in charge of the restoration of the Birthplaces on Franklin St., South Quincy.

In case you haven't noticed, the Adams Birthplaces, which have been painted red for as long as most people can remember, are being repainted this summer, the JQA House stone, the JA House white.

The National Parks Service, which took over the houses in April, 1979, has been restoring them to the shape and condition they were in during the first quarter of the 19th Century when the last Adams lived in them.

Deciphering what color they were more than 150 years ago was a difficult process. Illustrations of the time show them to be a light color.

All the original clapboards had been removed from the John Quincy Adams Birthplace during a previous restoration. But Miss Perrault found an old beaded clapboard in the attic that looked like it might have once been part of the house.

An analysis of the trim on the JQ House showed that indeed it had been and samples of the bottom layer of paint contained yellow ochre and white lead.

A letter from Abigail Adams to her cousin, Cotton Tufts, who often acted as her business agent, dated about 1800, indicated that she wanted the cottage painted a "stone" color.

And a recipe for "stone" paint, dated 1812, showed the ingredients to be yellow ochre, white lead and lamp black.

The color was matched as closely as possible on a modern color scale and sent to the Johnson Paint Co. of Boston for duplication.

"We had to take it back three times before we got it right," said Miss Perrault.

The new paint was made by machine, which means it is smoother than the old paint in which the large pigments were mixed by hand. And it does not contain white lead, since lead-based paints are banned.

Miss Perrault was unable to determine exactly what color the JA House was in the early 1800s but John Adams' correspondence indicated he wanted it white and that was deemed justification for the new paint job.

Another change that is being undertaken, this time on the John Adams Birthplace, is removal of the caretaker's room at the rear and its replacement with a shed that was there prior to 1850.

The shed first appears in illustrations of the house in 1852 and an investigation of the nails driven into the back wall show that it was there a lot earlier.

A gabled roof was added in 1860 and, in 1950, it was remodelled to include a kitchen and bathroom for the caretaker who lived on the premises.

The second chimney has been taken down from the John Quincy Adams Birthplace and the bricks carefully numbered for eventual restoration.

"The mortar had deteriorated so badly that the only thing holding it together was powder and tradition," said Miss Perrault.

Actually, it was thought that the second chimney was a recent addition since it does not appear in a water color of the houses done in 1822 by Eliza Quincy.

But wrought iron nails in a panel showed that the chimney was indeed there prior to the time of the painting.

Replacing the shingles on the roofs of both cottages presented a problem similar to the "stone" paint. No one makes shingles that size by hand anymore.

Finally, a place in Maine was discovered that would make the odd-sized white cedar shingles by machine. Then they were sent to Quincy to be hand-planed for the old style smooth surface.

1,047 Apply For 151 Town Brook Apartments

Rev. Frank Bauer, and at least 1,047 other persons, don't think there's too much elderly housing in the city.

Rev. Bauer's Wollaston Lutheran Apartments has received enough applications for its new Town Brook Apartments to fill the 151-units seven times over.

Applications were available Sept. 15 and, as of Tuesday, 1,047 had been picked up. Deadline for picking up applications is Friday, Sept. 26 and the applications must be returned postmarked by Sept. 29.

"From the number of inquiries we received, we knew we would have a lot of applications," said Rev. Bauer. "But this is a lot more than we expected."

"It just underscores the need for this kind of housing here."

The Quincy Housing Authority was told last week that federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials feel the city may be over-emphasizing elderly housing at the expense of low-income family housing.

"I don't agree with that," said Rev. Bauer. "Incidentally, it's not just HUD that feels that way, but a lot of very vocal and very important people in the city."

"I often hear the comment that we're taking money off the tax rolls. That's not true. We pay taxes, too," he said.

The applicants will be screened by Wollaston Lutheran Apartments and chosen on the basis of need.

The facility is expected to open Dec. 1.

QJC Women's Center To Conduct Free Workshops

Free, 10-week workshops on family dynamics, personal growth and time and money management will be conducted by the Quincy Junior College Women's Center beginning the week of Oct. 6.

Funded by the Massachusetts Department of Occupational Education, the workshops are to facilitate the transition from homemaker to worker or students skills assessment and improvement.

The workshops will be held 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Lincoln Hancock School, 300 Granite St., and free child care will be provided at the Southwest Community Center by Joanne Powers Sayer. Miss Sayer is a former early childhood student at Quincy Junior College and has worked in pre-school programs for nine years.

The workshops and the days they will be held are:

Mondays, Oct. 6 to Dec. 15, "Family Dynamics and Parenting" conducted by Jeanne Evans. Parents will explore childrearing issues and topics will include setting limits, strengthening self-concept, handling death and anxiety, and dealing with effects of change on family life.

Miss Evans has a master's degree in counselor training and extensive experience as a parent group discussion leader. Mother of two daughters, she has led parenting groups for the South Area Jewish Community Center and is consultant to a Walpole psychologist.

Tuesdays, Oct. 7 to Dec. 16, "Personal Growth and Development" workshop led by Carla Goodwin. The workshop will cover values clarification, decision making skills, goal setting, role playing, interviewing, resume writing, and interest testing. Miss Goodwin will emphasize techniques for building confidence and achieving a positive life style since a major problem for people re-entering school or the job market is lack of confidence.

Wednesdays, Oct. 8 to Dec. 10, "Time and Money Management" workshop with Dr. Richard Chrystal and Francis X. McCauley. The workshop will feature five sessions each on time management and money management.

The time management sessions will cover rules and tools for managing time effectively, assumptions about time, analyzing your working style and planning for future action.

Money management sessions will include an introduction to banking, borrowing, saving, investments, taxes and setting up a budget.

Dr. Chrystal, director of staff and management development for the Quincy Public Schools, has taught courses on management and staff development at Quincy Junior College, Boston University, Bridgewater State College and Emmanuel College.

McCauley is president of Presidential Cooperative Bank and is a Quincy councilor-at-large. He is a graduate of Bentley College and the Banking School of the University of Indiana.

Target population for the workshops are single parents, minorities, people over 35, handicapped and disadvantaged persons, but general focus will be on those facing or desiring a change in lifestyle.

To register for the workshops, send your name, address, telephone number and workshop desired to Alicia Coletti, Women's Center, Quincy Junior College, 34 Coddington St., Quincy.

More information is available by calling the center at 786-8791.

Crocheting, Holiday Crafts To Begin At YMCA

Registration is being conducted for two adult special interest courses, crocheting and holiday crafts, which begin next week at the Quincy YMCA, 79 Coddington St.

Crocheting, with instructor Alice Hutchison, begins Tuesday, Sept. 30, 9 to 11 a.m. and runs through Dec. 9. (No class Nov. 11). The classes are for beginners and advanced students and many patterns are provided for items such as sweaters, hat sets and afghans.

Holiday crafts, instructed by Julie Pringle, begins Wednesday, Oct. 1, 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. and continues to Nov. 5. The six week course will feature Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations to give as presents and to keep for the home.

For more information, contact the Quincy YMCA at 479-8500.

Cheryl Keys Accepted For Graduate Study In Medicine

Cheryl L. Keys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Keys of Wollaston, has been accepted for graduate study in medicine at the University of Massachusetts School of Medicine at Worcester.

Miss Keys is a 1974 graduate of North Quincy High School, and a 1978 magna cum laude graduate of Eastern Nazarene College.

After graduation from Eastern Nazarene, Miss Keys pursued graduate study of molecular biology at Harvard University while also being involved in research at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for Cancer Research.

She co-authored three works which were presented at scientific meetings and seven publications which are in print.

Her most recent publication, "Selection of Chromosomally Localized Human DNA Segments", was in the May, 1980 issue of "Proceedings of the National Academy of Science".

During her third year at college, Miss Keys was recipient of an American Cancer Society Research Fellowship and was assigned to the Center for Cancer Research at MIT.

Her findings were presented

CHERYL L. KEYS

at the May, 1979, Conference for Cancer Research at Woods Hole and prior to that at an ENC seminar.

Title of her senior research and seminar was "Erythropoietin Independent Colony Formation Induced in the Murine System of An Erythroleukemic Response to Friend Disease".

Miss Keys was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities and is listed in the International Youth in Achievement Award Directory for Biographical Reference.

3 Residents Register College Freshmen

Three Quincy women are among the 274 members of the Regis College freshman class, the largest entering class in the history of the four year, liberal arts college for women.

They are Suzanne L. Ridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Ridge, 63 Hamilton Ave., North Quincy; Patricia D. Murray, daughter of Mrs. Marilyn Waywood of 84 Albatross Rd., Adams Shore; and Linda A. Rooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rooney of 12 Figurehead Lane, Germantown.

Aerobics In Motion At YMCA

The Quincy YMCA will hold an Aerobics In Motion dance demonstration Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 8 p.m.

The demonstration is open to the public as well as YMCA members. The 12-week program will begin the week of Sept. 29.

Registrations are now open at the "Y" Main Desk for two courses: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., and Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Aerobics In Motion is fun, and is a highly effective way for women to get fit and stay fit. The 12-week program is a series of dance routines set to music.

COMMON COLD DEBATE

Recently, the big toe - a part of the anatomy which usually gets little attention in the headlines - became news in medical circles. Israeli researchers reported that they found a cure for the common cold by chilling the big toe with a refrigerant chemical. According to the doctors, the sudden chilling dries up the nostrils and cures colds. This method has not been tested here as yet.

Unorthodox new "cures" for the common cold have popped up throughout the ages. Some have been on the off-beat side, such as wearing garlic around the neck, sniffing smelling salts and standing on one's head.

One of the most controversial cold cures in recent years is the claim by Nobel Laureate Dr.

Linus Pauling that large doses of vitamin C can prevent and cure the common cold. Other studies have found Dr. Pauling's theory debatable and have questioned the preventative or therapeutic effectiveness of vitamin C. The debate rages on - and so does the common cold.

We're 12 Years Old

The Quincy Sun is 12 years old with today's issue. The years go by so quickly.

It doesn't seem that it has been 12 years. But it is. The Sun was established in September, 1968 as "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper" — a publication concentrating on Quincy news and Quincy people.

And that is what we have remained — although we have expanded our news coverage these past 12 years and will continue to do so in the future. We want to bring our readers the best weekly newspaper we possibly can.

The Sun has been blessed with loyal readers down through the years, mainly residents of all ages who like having a community oriented newspaper — a newspaper devoted to their community interests.

The Sun's weekly circulation is now more than 11,000.

A newspaper has a responsibility to its community and to its readers to report the goings on fairly and accurately.

We have tried to do that — giving those on both sides of an issue the opportunity in The Sun's news columns to present their side of that issue.

Editorially, we have taken strong stands on many issues. Some people, of course have sometimes disagreed with the way we see it. They have the right. But we have tried honestly to "tell it like it is."

We will continue to offer both sides the opportunity to air their views on any issue affecting Quincy. And, we will continue to speak out editorially more.

As we begin our 13th year, we want to again thank you — our readers and advertisers — for your support and encouragement. And, of course, a special "thank you" goes to our ever growing army of faithful newscarrers who bring The Sun to your homes.

As we have said before you — all of you — are as much a part of The Quincy Sun as we, the staff.

Without you, we never would have reached this 12th birthday. With your continued help — and encouragement — we look ahead with confidence to our 13th year.

Thank you — all of you — sincerely,

HENRY W. BOSWORTH

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week, both of them winners several times before, which, in fairness to other contestants, leads to a new rule.

No person can win more than three T-shirts in the Quincy Quiz.

The winners of T-shirts this week are Ed Spargo, 17 Sherman St., and Al Bradish, 131 Clay St., both of Wollaston.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun Office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

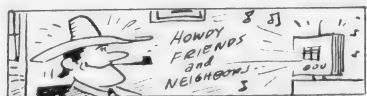

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Cable Television?
2. The Ross Parkway is named for Charles A. Ross. Who was Charles A. Ross?
3. In what section of the city is Bunker Hill Lane?
4. Quincy has had five mayors since 1958 when its current Plan A charter went into effect. Name them in order.
5. The famous ship that carried President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference was built at the Fore River Shipyard. What was her name?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Warren E. Watson is the director of the Thomas Crane Public Library.
2. Perkins Playground is in the Merrymount section of Quincy.
3. The three Jewish synagogues in Quincy are Beth Israel, Congregation Adas Shalom and Temple Beth El.
4. The City Charter specifies that the School Committee meet on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 7:30 p.m.
5. Gridley Bryant is the man who built the Granite Railway in West Quincy in 1825, the first commercial railroad in the United States.

Texas has the most AM radio stations of any state with a grand total of 287.

Curley's Heart And Hat

Fred Sheehan is quite pleased that Boston finally got around to honoring his long-time friend, James Michael Curley.

He thinks the two life-like statues dedicated last week in James Michael Curley Memorial Park at the rear of Boston City Hall near the Quincy Market "are nice".

But he still thinks there is a more fitting memorial: rename Boston City Hospital after him.

"Curley got a lot of poor people in there when they needed it," says Sheehan. "Naming the hospital for him would be quite appropriate. It symbolizes his concern for the poor."

Sheehan, who lives on Hatherly Rd., Wollaston, was an All-American tackle at Georgetown University in 1925. Now retired, he formerly owned a Penn St. cold storage warehouse.

Politically, he's a staunch Republican. And, how did a Republican become a Curley friend, admirer and voter?

They first met in 1940 at the home of a mutual friend and in turn just became good friends.

"He sure was an eloquent speaker," recalls Sheehan. "He could spellbind any audience. I was with him at the Harvard Club one time when he addressed more than 100 doctors. He amazed them with his mastery of the English language. He was as much at home there as speaking from the back of an open car or campaign truck."

Sheehan remembers him as a generous man. He recalls driving to a poor section of Boston in the early 1940's. Curley, who was then mayor, had his pockets full of half-dollars and gave hands full of them to shabbily dressed persons he saw.

Even when he was down on his own luck, says Sheehan, he was generous.

He remembers the night they stopped at a Middleboro fraternal club for a drink.

"I noticed earlier he had a hole in his shoe," says Sheehan. "He put a quarter in a slot machine and hit the jackpot. But instead of keeping the money, he put it on the bar and told the bartender to give a drink to anyone who came in."

Sheehan prizes a pearl gray fedora that belonged to Curley. Size 7 5/8's, it was made in Italy and cost about $40. On the sweatband are the initials: J.M.C.

Curley's brother-in-law, Richard Casey, gave Sheehan the hat after Curley died in November, 1958 a few days before his 84th birthday.

Sheehan, whose head size is the same, used to wear the hat frequently but no longer does "because men just don't wear hats anymore."

SHEEHAN

He hears reports a room in a Boston library may be dedicated in Curley's honor with personal and political mementos on display.

"If they do, I'll be happy to donate the hat," Sheehan says.

As for naming Boston City Hospital in Curley's honor, Sheehan has had that thought since 1966 when he was appointed to a commission by Gov. Volpe to study a memorial for Curley.

"A lot of people say he did this and he did that," says Sheehan. "I'm not sure of all the things he did or did not do. But I know one thing — he was a friend to the poor and the needy."

"I think he was one helluva man!"

GOV. KING tried playing "Can You Top This?" with Quincy Atty. Ralph Rivkind at last week's South Shore Chamber of Commerce breakfast — and the governor came out second best.

Rivkind, who is vice president of the Chamber for public affairs, was relaying questions from the audience to the governor when he came to a tough one on the MBTA.

"When was the last time you were on the MBTA?" challenged King.

"About three days ago," replied Rivkind, an answer the governor did not expect.

"That's good," he said. "Do you use it regularly?"

"Irregularly," said Rivkind. "The same way it runs."

At that point, King gave it up as a losing cause. "I've heard people who haven't been on the MBTA for years say how terrible it is," he explained, "and they didn't know the slightest thing about it."

SENATOR Edward Kennedy, who didn't make it to the South Shore Chamber of Commerce's "Presidential Series" events will be the guest speaker at a Chamber lunch Oct. 10 at the Lantana, Randolph.

A FUNDRAISER FOR City Council President Leo Kelly will be held Sunday, at the Wollaston Golf Club. Tickets for the event, to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. are $35. For information, contact Robert Stirling at 471-1903.

MYSTERY DEPT: You've heard of "The Headless Horseman." Well, Quincy has "The Horseless Horse." Val Grazioso of the Public Works Department who is in charge of the beautification project at McIntyre Mall and City Hall Constitution Plaza found an early morning set of horse hoof prints in the new turf heading toward the Quincy Center MBTA. But no one has ever found the horse they belong to.

Comments On Being Dropped As Election Worker

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I have learned a new lesson about Quincy politics. Unfortunately, my experience of this week has made me question the motives of some politicians.

For several years, I worked at the polls on election day — counting the votes and distributing the ballots — in my neighborhood, Ward 2. As I have every year, I reapplied for the position only to learn, unofficially, the evening before the Primary Election that my name had a line through it. I was crossed off the list and not to report in the morning because someone else had been named to take my place.

I called the City Clerk and he confirmed that I was not accepted to work at the polls. I enjoyed working on election day, it was exciting to be part of such an important and interesting process.

I am disappointed that the City Clerk's office did not notify me that after all these years, I was no longer to be a poll worker. I am also disillusioned by another fact I learned. The Chairman of the Democratic City Committee, Dan Raymondi, has the authority to submit the names of the Democrats to work at the polls. That authority is a legal right.

But I don't understand why as a Democrat he would not reappoint me. I've never heard of anyone who did a good job being replaced. I feel like I'm being punished and I don't know why!

Laura Fowles
35 Mass. Ave.
Quincy

(Editor's note — City Clerk John Gillis says Mrs. Fowles' name was not on the list of prospective poll workers sent to him by Raymondi. Raymondi says he submitted a list of those who expressed interest in the job and were active Democrats. He says he had not heard from Mrs. Fowles about the post.)

Will It Happen In 1980?

John Quincy Adams Last President Elected By House

By TOM HENSHAW

"May the blessing of God rest upon the event of this day!" John Quincy Adams wrote in his diary.

"...the House of Representatives immediately proceeded to the vote by ballot from the three highest candidates, when John Quincy Adams received the votes of 13, Andrew Jackson of seven and William H. Crawford of four states."

It was Feb. 9, 1825, the last time that the election of a president of the United States was thrown into the House of Representatives.

And it was John Quincy Adams of Quincy who benefited from that rarely invoked clause in the U.S. Constitution, Article II, Section 1, as amended, which reads:

"...and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president."

Once before, in 1800, a presidential election wound up in the House of Representatives when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr, both Democratic-Republicans, tied with 73 electoral votes to 65 for John Adams. Jefferson was elected after 36 ballots.

In those days, the electors voted for two candidates with the winner becoming president and the runnerup vice president. The 12th Amendment, ratified in 1804, with president and vice president running as a ticket, took care of that.

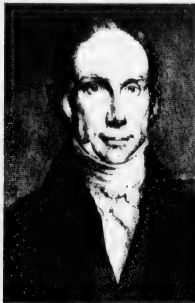

Once again, in 1980, with a third strong candidate, John Anderson, in the race with Democrat Jimmy Carter and Republican Ronald Reagan, it is possible for the election to land in the House.

The political climate was different in 1824.

The two-party system had collapsed. The Federalists of old John Adams had not been a factor in national politics for a dozen years. Their last candidate, Rufus King of New York, had been swamped by James Monroe in 1816.

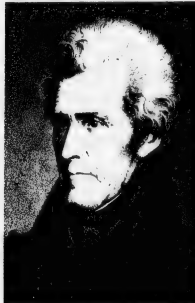

JOHN Q. ADAMS

HENRY CLAY

WILLIAM CRAWFORD

ANDREW JACKSON

The old leaders of the Revolution who had guided the Republic through its first 50 years had all but disappeared from the political scene. The last of them, Monroe, age 66, was finishing his second term in the White House.

They called it "the Era of Good Feeling," for ostensibly all the leading politicians were members of the same party, the Democratic-Republicans. But underneath the facade of unity seethed a cauldron of personal animosity and intrigue.

There were four leading candidates in 1824.

John Quincy Adams, 57, son of the second president of the United States, was Monroe's secretary of state, which in those days was traditionally the stepping stone to the presidency. He was the only candidate from the North.

Henry Clay, 47, of Kentucky was the Speaker of the House and had been, off and on, since 1811 when he was 33 years old. He was a leader of the "Young Hawks" who helped to push the country into war with England in 1812.

William H. Crawford, 52, former senator from Georgia and secretary of the treasury, killed a man in a duel in 1802 and was himself crippled in another duel four years later. He was the leading candidate for 1824 until he was stricken with paralysis.

Andrew Jackson, 57, the senator from Tennessee and the national war hero since the Battle of New Orleans in 1815. His image was somewhat tarnished by his free lance invasion of Spanish Florida in 1818, where he hanged two

Post-Donahue Era Opens In N.Q. Football

A new era of North Quincy High School football opened with a 6-0 victory over Stoughton as Carl Leone took over the coaching reins from Jack Donahue, the only coach the Raiders ever had.

Donahue had held the coaching post through 29 seasons, starting with North's first softball team in 1932.

End Bill Curran caught an 11-yard pass from Paul Gearin for the lone touchdown that made Leone's debut a winning one in the game at Stoughton.

ANDERSON TO SUE

City Councillor Carl W. Anderson said he plans to bring a libel suit against George A. Yarrington, executive director of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, "in the amount of 30 cents, which is his net worth."

"If Councillor Carl W. Anderson goes to court with me, he'll be sorry," said Yarrington. "It will be the end of his political career." Anderson did not explain how Yarrington libeled him.

APARTMENTS FOUGHT

appear before the committee at the Sept. 12 meeting but the session broke up after the Ledger reported that it violated the open meeting law.

After the Ledger reporter left, Chief Finn said, Purchasing Agent Kelly, a member of the committee, indicated that he wanted to rebid the contracts with strong specifications.

"He said he felt the city could do better," said Finn.

Henry P. Bradley, representing the Quincy Police Betterment Association, voted against the whole report and John Felci, training director at City Hospital, voted against rebidding the contract.

City Councillor Francis X.

McCauley, also a member of the committee, left the meeting before the vote was taken.

The committee then voted to dissolve itself, said Finn, but "the Mayor did not want the committee to die. He wanted us to follow through and make recommendations."

Finn said the committee closed the Sept. 12 meeting to the Ledger reporter on the advice of City Solicitor Robert Fleming that its studies did not come under the open meeting law.

"We offered to let the reporter in with the stipulation that, if we did not finish interviewing all the bidders that day, the story would not be printed until the interviews were completed," he said.

"The reporter called his editor and the editor told him that the decision what to print was up to the newspaper. The Ledger reporter was banned for that reason."

"Those were sensitive interviews. It would not be fair to the first bidder interviewed to have his interview printed in the paper for the benefit of those who were interviewed later."

Finn said he was particularly "incensed and hurt" by a Ledger editorial lambasting the committee for not opening the meeting to its reporter. He called it "an editorial cheap shot."

"We held 13 meetings before that and they never covered a single one," he said.

Homebuyers Forum Accents 'Everything You Want To Know'

A homebuyers forum on "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Buying a Home But Never Had the Time to Figure Out" was scheduled for last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center, Quarry St.

Sponsoring the seminar were DeWolfe Company, Inc., Realtors; Baybank Norfolk County Trust, Braintree Cooperative, Milton Savings Bank, Quincy Cooperative, Quincy Savings, South Boston Savings, South Shore Bank and South Weymouth Savings.

The program, an audio visual cram course, was to give current and prospective homebuyers a plan to fulfill their dreams with a low down payment and a "new style" mortgage loan.

Local bankers, lawyers, realtors and home inspectors were to give information on where to look for a house, what type of house to choose to meet a family's need, what to look for in home construction and how to make financial arrangements.

"This is a realistic public service program to increase homeownership in our community," said Richard DeWolfe, president of DeWolfe Realtors. "We want to help families find the intersection of Dream Street and Reality Road and then provide them with a new financing plan."

City Hospital Schedules Cancer Patient Nutrition Workshop

Quincy City Hospital, in cooperation with the South Shore unit of the American Cancer Society will hold a "Nutrition in the Cancer Patient" workshop Wednesday, Sept. 24, at Valles Restaurant in Braintree.

Speakers for the conference will include Dr. George Blackburn, associate professor of surgery, Harvard Medical School and director of Nutrition Support Service, New England Deaconess Hospital; Dr. Anthony Dragone, program chairman and staff physician at City Hospital; Dr. Jorge Tello, chief of oncology, City Hospital; Jean Wilson, hyperalimentation nurse clinician, Mass General Hospital; Nancy Hau, clinical dietitian, Mass General Hospital.

Conference objectives are to enhance the practical working knowledge of physicians, nurses and nutritionists in the nutritional needs of cancer patients, to advance their skills in sustaining malnourished cancer patients and to instruct them in the technique of enteral hyperalimentation.

For further information call 773-6100, ext. 300.

Other sponsors participating in the conference include Tufts University School of Medicine and Bristol, Eaton, Merck, Sharp and Dohme and Ross Laboratories.

said. "It could affect the city of Quincy for the next 10 years. We can sit back and say, 'Too bad,' or we can wage one hell of a fight."

Cong. Donnelly recommended that the city conduct its own head count in sample neighborhoods or census tracts and compare them to the official results.

"The city should be able to demonstrate quite easily that the numbers created by the Census Bureaucrats are way off base," he said.

City Clerk Gillis was particularly stunned by the newly released figures.

"We were lulled to sleep," he said bitterly.

"Bill Fleming, the regional director of the census, told us a couple months ago that Quincy's population would be between 96,000 and 97,000. We were satisfied with those figures."

Gillis said the Mayor was informed of the $3,904 figure Friday in a telegram from Vincent P. Barabba, director of the Census Bureau. He also reported the city had 34,354 housing units, up 5,000.

"In 1970," said Gillis, "we had 3.1 individuals per unit. Now the Census Bureau is telling us we have 2.4 individuals per unit. We consider that extremely low."

"We were told that if we had a 10 per cent increase in livable units that our population would stay the same. We had 6,000 units built from 1970 to 1980 and that's an increase of 14 per cent."

"The figures must be incorrect; something has to be missing."

Gillis indicated that the missing people, as many as 13,000 of them, may eventually be located in the wilds of Wollaston.

"Last summer," he recalled, "the Census Bureau gave us a preliminary figure of 76,446. When we challenged it they discovered that they had left out Wollaston because it had a different zip code."

"They led us to believe that when Wollaston was included the city would have a population around 96,000."

If the 76,446 figure without Wollaston were correct, Gillis pointed out, that would mean that Wollaston's population would be only 6,500. The number of registered voters in the Ward 5 section of Wollaston alone is 7,423, he added.

Gillis placed the number of registered voters in Quincy at 48,909 currently while they numbered 43,911 in 1970. Could the city lose 4,062 people while gaining 4,998 voters? He said he doubted it.

Gillis said it would cost the city some $35,000 to conduct a census of its own to find the missing people. But he indicated that, in terms of lost federal aid, it might be worth it.

Concerned Apartment Owners To Meet Sept. 30

The Concerned Quincy Apartment Owners Association will hold an organizational meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 30 at the Montclair Men's Club, according to spokesman Roger Lyons.

The group recently won a series of court battles with the city, forcing a rollback of several million dollars in increased assessments which had been placed on apartments.

It will continue to function as an active group, working in behalf of both apartment owners and tenants, Lyons said.

Financial support for expenses incurred by the group during the series of suits is also being sought, he said.

Parents Training Offered At Lincoln - Hancock School

The Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council will offer another eight week session of Parents Effectiveness Training on Mondays from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. starting Sept. 29 and ending Nov. 24.

PET is a nationally recognized program in adult-child communication and relationship building. The course is funded through a federal Community Development Block Grant.

Space is limited and registration is being conducted at the Lincoln-Hancock School, Office of Community Education. Information may be obtained by calling 786-8717.

Ice Skating Program Registration Starts Sept. 29

The Quincy Recreation Department will hold registration for its Instructional Ice Skating Program beginning at 9 a.m. Monday, Sept. 29.

The instructional program is for Quincy residents age six through 16.

"Instruction is offered according to skating ability under the direction of Mrs. Anne Eagles, a U.S. Figure Skating Professional. Classes are based upon USFSA standards and testing is done at the conclusion of each 10-week program. As in past years, the program is conducted weekly at the Quincy Youth Arena off Sea St., Merrymount. The classes are Monday 3:10-4 p.m. and 4:10-5 p.m.; Wednesday 3:10-4 p.m. and 4:10-5 p.m."

Enrollment is limited. A fee is payable at the time of registration. The actual program will begin its 10 week schedule Wednesday, Oct. 15 and Monday, Oct. 20.

Additional information is available by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department.

Sr. Mary Stephanie King, R.N. Celebrates Jubilee

Sister Mary Stephanie King, R.N., daughter of Mrs. Mary King of 73 Bicknell St., Germantown, recently celebrated her 25th jubilee as a Columban sister at that order's residence in Hyde Park.

The celebration, attended by 100 family members, friends and religious, was far from Mok po and Hallim in Korea where Sister Mary Stephanie has spent most of the last 25 years.

Normally, the missionary sisters come home only once every six years, but a business trip took Sister Mary Stephanie back home a bit earlier.

Her family took advantage of the timing and staged the surprise celebration which included a concelebrated Mass followed by a party.

Sister Mary Stephanie, also the daughter of the late Mr. Stephen King, has three sisters, Mrs. Frances Barry of 559

SR. MARY S. KING

Willard St., West Quincy; Mrs. Mildred Stewart of Rhode Island; and Mrs. Mary Cody of Dedham.

Attending the celebration along with the family were Columban sisters and fathers and members of the Carney Hospital School of Nursing Class of 1950 of which Sister Stephanie was a member.

The Mass was concelebrated by Rev. James Lane, pastor of St. Brendan's Church, Dorchester, and Columban fathers Rev. John Roche of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Quincy, and Rev. Owen McGrath and Rev. John Quinn, both of the Columban Fathers, Quincy.

A party followed with music by The Irish Mist.

Sister Mary Stephanie, born in South Boston, is superior at a clinic at Hallim and has been instrumental in much development there.

She has received many awards for her work in Korea with the Lepers, school of nursing and midwifery and community services, and returns to that country next week.

Builder's Old Law Suit Set For Oct 1 Hearing

A 12-year-old Wollaston Hill law suit, which was thought to have been settled a year ago, is back in Suffolk Superior Court Wednesday, Oct. 1.

The suit pits Louis G. Ouelette, owner of an apartment building at 100 Grand View Ave., against his neighbors, the Lawrence H. Howes and the Stephen P. Scheeles.

Ouelette claims that they interfered with his rights under the zoning laws when they opposed his bid for a building building permit back in 1968. The 53-unit apartment house has since been built.

The Scheeles and Howes claim that Ouelette agreed orally to drop the suit in October, 1979, when they withdrew their opposition to his application for a variance so he could add 12 spaces to his parking lot.

However, said George G. Burke, attorney for the Howes, the suit was never withdrawn even though the variance was granted and he has filed a motion for dismissal that is scheduled to be heard Oct. 1.

Ouelette also has a suit pending against the city of Quincy, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald and six city councillors for "maliciously preventing him from obtaining a building permit."

The councillors, all serving in 1968, are Arthur H. Tobin, John J. Quinn, Clifford H. Marshall Jr., J. Vincent Smyth, Edward S. Graham, and George B. McDonald. Only Quinn is still on the Council.

City Solicitor Robert Fleming said Suffolk Superior Court is seeking to get that case moved on the calendar but no firm date has been set.

"We may get it - dismissed beforehand," said Fleming. "We feel that most of the parties are immune anyway."

Applications Available For Wollaston Rehab Program

Applications for participation in the Wollaston Home Rehabilitation-Energy Conservation Loan Program will be accepted Monday, Sept. 29, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Housing Rehab Office, 55 Sea St.

The program will offer loans up to $3,000 at a 5 per cent interest rate over a maximum of five years to low and moderate income homeowners who live in the Wollaston Neighborhood Strategy area.

The program was announced by the city of Quincy and the Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Home improvements such as exterior or painting, minor carpentry, insulation and other energy conservation measures are among the activities that are eligible under the program.

First Church Of Squantum Honors Jens Thornton, Sr.

Members of the First Church of Squantum honored Jens Thornton Sr., Sunday before he begins a three week trip to Norway.

Thornton is traveling to his native land to attend the 70th anniversary of the founding of Technical University in Trondheim, Norway, where he was in the first class.

During World War II, Thornton worked on highly secret defense projects including the development of the atomic bomb, a project for which he has already received considerable publicity.

Thornton will be accompanied on the trip by his son, Gunnar, and daughter, Else. He is an active member of First Church.

"On November 12 I will be 88 years old," he says. "I am beginning to feel my age, but my mind is still clear and active. And I can still smile."

The service began with a call to worship led by Thornton. The Junior Choir and three members of Seven Up, the junior high fellowship, presented a musical play, "The Child Jesus in the Temple." Aaron Gerry played Joseph, Susan Scott played Mary and David Gerry played Jesus.

The Senior Choir sang "Jesus! Name of Wondrous Love" by Everett Titcomb. Robert Frazer was soloist.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor preached the second in a series of sermons about the life of Jesus, "You Have a Treasure Now," at the close of the service, the congregation sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" in honor of Thornton.

Greeters for the morning were Doris Longmire and Gloria Cutler. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Barbara Anderson, Vera Malmgren and Ruth Danforth.

Next Sunday's service begins at 10:15 a.m.

7 Quincy Candidates In Silver Haired Legislature Election

It was Election Day for the Silver Haired Legislature yesterday (Wednesday), with balloting at City Hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. supervised by the City Clerk and the Election office.

The successful candidates will be involved in a three-day program at the State House in which they will address questions relating to the needs of senior citizens.

Candidates for the Quincy seats in the Silver Haired Legislature were:

Senate, Norfolk District - Henry

W. Brooks and Katherine Gunning, both of Quincy.

House, First Norfolk - Blase Delollis.

House, Second Norfolk - Thomas Kenney and Thomas E. Wood.

House, Third Norfolk - Elmer Anderson and Mary Cerasoli.

"I endorse the Silver Haired Legislature with great enthusiasm," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin. "I believe it is important that our senior citizens have a direct voice in issues that directly affect their lives."

Coffee and danish, compliments of Barry's Shiphaven and O'Brien Bakery, were served during the balloting and a slide presentation of the Constitution Bicentennial Celebration was shown in the second floor conference room at City Hall.

The Silver Haired Legislature program is coordinated by the State Department of Elder Affairs, the Quincy Council on Aging and the Mayor's office.

Classes For Seniors At Granite Place

Quincy senior citizens are invited to attend free classes in arts and crafts, decoupage and macrame being held at Granite Place, 125 Granite St., Quincy Center.

The classes are sponsored by the Quincy Public Schools for continued adult education. The schedule is: arts and crafts, Mondays, 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m.; decoupage, Mondays, 12:30 to 3 p.m.; macrame, Thursdays, 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Those interested in attending any or all of the classes should contact Diane M. Lydon, resident services coordinator, at 773-4537.

British subjects. All four candidates disliked each other intensely.

The campaign, which actually started in 1820, bitterly divided the Democratic-Republicans as illustrated by the electoral vote: Jackson 99, Adams 84 (all but seven from New York and New England), Crawford 41, and Clay 37.

Clay was eliminated as the fourth man and then the real battle began for the three states, Kentucky, Missouri and Ohio, which had been unanimously in his corner.

Early in December, 1824, one Robert P. Letcher, a friend of Clay from Kentucky, approached Adams and suggested that he could never win the votes of those western states -- unless, of course, he did something nice for Clay, like a cabinet post.

On Jan. 9, 1825, Clay himself visited Adams at the latter's Washington home.

"Mr. Clay came at six, and spend the evening with me in a long conversation explanatory of the past and prospective of the future," Adams wrote in his diary.

"The time had now come at which he might be explicit in his communications with me and he had for that purpose asked this confidential interview."

"He wished me, as fast as I might think proper, to satisfy him with regard to some principles of great public importance, but without any personal considerations for himself.

"In the question to come before the House between General Jackson, Mr. Crawford, and myself, he had no hesitation in saying that his preference would be for me."

Adams, usually a prolific diarist, has nothing more to say about Clay's visit.

Two days later, the Kentucky legislature instructed its Congressmen to vote the state for Jackson but Clay ignored the directive and not only cast the vote for Adams but brought Missouri and Ohio into the Adams column as well.

Adams was inaugurated the sixth president of the United States on March 4, 1825, and on March 5 he sent the name of Henry Clay to the Senate for confirmation as a secretary of state.

Charges of a deal between Adams and Clay, although never verified, were never fully refuted either, and the lingering suspicions did much to cost Adams the presidency when he ran for reelection against Jackson in 1828.

By that time, national issues had clarified and there were two parties again, the Jackson's Democrats, which exist to this day, and the short-lived National Republicans.

And, in 156 years, there never has been another presidential election decided in the House of Representatives.

'Too Much Opposition'

Request For QHA To House Homeless Family Withdrawn

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

A request to place a homeless family in Germantown public housing was withdrawn because "there was just too much opposition," according to Rev. William McCarthy.

Fr. McCarthy, Quincy Housing Authority Chairman, also said he became convinced the twice-divorced mother and her six children don't qualify for emergency status under state regulations, and so withdrew the request pending before his fellow board members.

The QHA has been scheduled to discuss the matter at its Sept. 17 meeting. However, Fr. McCarthy, QHA chairman, left midway through the meeting, citing a previous appointment. At meeting's end, acting Chairman Edward Graham announced the item had been removed from the agenda at Fr. McCarthy's request.

Fr. McCarthy had hoped to have the family declared an emergency case, bypassing the normal waiting list, or have the QHA ask for an exception to the rules.

The family left Boston public housing in May after one of the children was threatened. Since then, they had been "from pillar to post" for two months until referred to Rev. McCarthy by a social service agency.

Since then, he said, he has been paying the family's $477 weekly bills at a Weymouth motel.

Fr. McCarthy's plan to move the family into Quincy had drawn criticism from Germantown's Harborview Residents Committee. Secretary Diane Cipitelli, in a Sept. 11 letter, claimed that Fr. McCarthy, by attempting to circumventing state regulations, was making the area "a dumping ground."

At least two QHA members also opposed the request, according to Fr. McCarthy.

"There was just too much opposition to it," said Fr. Rev. McCarthy. "I didn't think the board would go along with it."

"The family doesn't qualify according to the rules set by the DCA," he added.

"They just don't qualify" (for emergency status) said QHA Administrator Clement O'Brien. "Even if the board voted to ask for an exception to the rules, they wouldn't get it."

Because the family left Boston housing on its own, O'Brien said, they would not qualify for emergency status. Fr. McCarthy said the family was still staying at the Weymouth motel. He was trying to obtain housing for them through several other means, he said.

Two Men Arrested In Germantown Break

Two Germantown men were arrested Sept. 17 in connection with an Aug. 14 break-in at a Taffrail Rd. home.

According to Capt. Paul Nestor of Quincy Police, Ronald T. West, 38, and Richard L. Mullin, 33, both of 178 Taffrail Rd., were arrested and charged with breaking and entering a dwelling in the nighttime.

The pair pleaded innocent in Quincy District Court on Sept. 18 and their cases were continued.

West's to Oct. 23 and Mullin's to Oct. 28. The pair were released on their own recognizance.

Arrests were made by Detective Lt. William Stenman and Officer Richard MacDonald.

As reported in the Aug. 28 Quincy Sun, the Taffrail home was broken into during a week-long absence of the family's divorced mother and her three children. The family returned to the home to find it vandalized and burglarized.

Among the missing items were a couch, chairs, a TV set and mattress. Much of the house's furnishings were strewn about and several rooms bore the smell of stale urine.

"Everything was just smashed around," said the family's divorced father, who lives in another part of Quincy. "They tore the place apart."

Several items apparently stolen as a result of the break-in have been recovered, Nestor said.

Water Quality Excellent At City Beaches, Says Koch

Water quality at Quincy beaches was "excellent" this summer, says Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the city Park and Recreation Board.

Weekly testing by the city Health Department at the city's 13 beaches revealed only one coliform count over 1,000 indicating caution - out of 156 tests.

The remaining 155 samples tested was good to excellent, Koch said.

By comparison, he said, coliform counts over 1,000 were recorded 21 times in 1979; 11 in 1978; 11 in 1977; five in 1976 and 22 in 1975. A coliform count over 1,000 indicates that additional investigation, survey or analysis is necessary.

In other beach news, Koch said, over 1,500 cubic yards of sand, costing $7,937, were deposited at city beaches.

Beaches receiving the largest amounts of sand were the Quincy

Point's Avalon Beach, 396 cubic yards; Houghs Neck's Perry Beach, 378; Germantown's Baker Beach, 288 and Squantum's Nickerson Beach, 108.

Quincy District Court's Earn-It program, under the supervision of Ray Kelley, assisted the Park Department in cleaning up the beaches, helping to offset the lack of summer employees because of the city austerity program, Koch said.

$30,000 Contract Awarded To Spruce Up Grasso Park

A $30,000 contract has been awarded to J. Farmer and Co., Inc., of Middleton to refurbish Grasso Park on Columbia St., South Quincy, a neighborhood playground.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and Councillor James A. Sheets said the money will come from the community development block grant that the city received from the federal government.

The basketball court will be resurfaced, new basketball standards and nets installed, other equipment repaired and replaced and the park landscaped and reseeded.

Tobin said other neighborhood parks and playgrounds will be fixed up later under another federal grant from the Department of the Interior.

Stop Smoking Program At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital is offering a Stop Smoking Program in conjunction with the South Shore Unit of the American Cancer Society.

It is an educational effort to inform participants about the health hazards of smoking and to provide an opportunity to learn about the process of quitting cigarettes.

There will be five two-hour sessions to begin Monday, Sept. 29 from 7:30 to 9:30.

For further information and registration, contact John Felci at Quincy City Hospital, 773-6100 ext. 308.

Republican Poll Workers Needed For Presidential Election

The Quincy City Republican Committee reports poll workers are needed by the party for the upcoming presidential election Nov. 4.

Any registered Republican who can arrange to work at the polls that day is requested to contact city chairwoman Joyce I. Baker, 121 Marlboro St., Wollaston.

At the committee's recent monthly meeting at Wollaston Methodist Church, Andrew Card, state representative from Holbrook, detailed his experiences at the Republican National Convention this summer in Detroit.

A member of the by-law committee as well as delegate, Card escorted vice presidential candidate George Bush to the podium from the convention floor.

Also at the committee meeting, Gerald Lawler was unanimously endorsed as candidate for representative from the third Norfolk district, Catherine Roberts spoke on "Commitment '80" and plans for support of presidential candidate Ronald Reagan.

The next committee meeting will be in November with Ronald Kaufman, Republican National Committee New England Political Director, as principal speaker.

Beth Ann Lagodimos Scholarship Fund Established

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lagodimos of Independence Lane, Hingham, formerly of Quincy, have established a scholarship fund in memory of their late daughter Beth Ann who died in February in a car accident.

Miss Lagodimos, 24, was a graduate of North Quincy High School as well as Bridgewater State College and the University of Massachusetts.

She was employed as a special education teacher and the scholarship will be awarded to a graduating high school senior who will further his or her studies in childhood education.

Donations may be forwarded to the Beth Ann Lagodimos Scholarship Fund, c/o Attorney Stephen W. Murphy, 94 Washington St., Weymouth.

QJC To Begin Early Saturday Program Oct. 4

In response to a recent community needs assessment, Quincy Junior College will offer four courses as part of an Early Saturday Program beginning Oct. 4, 8:30 to 11:10 a.m.

The program will continue to Feb. 7, excluding Nov. 29, Dec. 27 and Jan. 3.

Courses will be Accounting I, English composition I, Basic Mathematics I and Typing I.

According to Dr. Edward F. Pierce, Quincy Junior College president, classes are being offered for those unable to attend college at other times and for those who wish to accelerate their program with an additional class.

Thomas Mullen, assistant dean for special programs, explained, "We chose to run courses that are required for various programs. Our motto is, Start Your Saturday Right. Start Early. Have most of the day left."

For more information, call Mr. Mullen at 786-8741.

Reading, Language Enrichment Program At Lincoln Hancock

Registration is now underway for the Lincoln Hancock Community School's reading and language arts and math enrichment program for elementary school students, which begins Oct. 1.

The eight-week program attempts to provide children with "stimulating yet fun" learning experiences, aimed at strengthening reading-language arts and math skills.

During the course, a one-night parents workshop is offered, to help parents understand how their child learns and what they can do to help to develop the child's skills.

Classes for children will be held Mondays and Wednesdays from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m.

For information, call 786-8717.

Bryan VFW Auxiliary Chicken Bake Supper Saturday

The George F. Bryan VFW Auxiliary is sponsoring a chicken bake supper Saturday, from 5 to 7 p.m., at the Post lower hall.

Junior Vice President Marianne DeGrecio is the chairwoman. The committee includes Senior Vice President

Ruth Perry, Treasurer Judith Cross, Ethel Fisher, Janet Nelson, Madeline Roberts and Glenn Perry, Past Post Commander.

Tickets are available at the Post or by calling Marianne DeGrecio at 262-6800.

For Everyone's Safety

Students, Motorists Must Be Alert And Cooperate

By ANTHONY R. POLLARA
Quincy School Safety Officer

Approximately 13,000 Quincy youngsters are moving through the city's streets going to and from school.

Alertness at all times is required of motorists if we are to complete the school year without accidents. Many of the exuberant kids cross streets in droves, others sometimes race out unexpectedly. It is the adult driver who must be alert.

The citizens of Quincy - the school department, police, parents, youngsters and motorists - must all cooperate to avoid accidents.

In an effort to protect the students, from pre-kindergarten pupils to college men and women a major safety force will be on hand.

The main streets and intersections will be monitored by 44 women traffic supervisors and regular police officers. They will be assisted by nearly 1,000 pupils serving on safety patrols.

Every citizen can help to make the miles traveled between home and school a pleasure and not a hazardous trip by encouraging children to follow these rules:

- Always walk on the sidewalk.
- Cross only at corners, looking both ways before crossing.
- Use crosswalk whenever possible.
- Don't cross from behind parked cars.
- When crossing at a traffic light, wait for the light to change and for traffic to stop before crossing.
- Obey your school traffic supervisor and patrol.
- Watch for turning cars.

- Never dart out into the street.
- Walk defensively; be especially alert for careless drivers.

Additional safety rules for school bus riders are:

- Wait for the bus in an orderly line.
- When boarding or leaving a bus, do not run.
- Place books or bundles where they cannot slide or fall.
- Keep arms and legs out of aisles.
- Your head, arms and bundles are safest inside the bus.
- Don't talk to the bus driver except in an emergency.
- Don't open windows without permission.

Remember that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Beware Of The 'Friendly Stranger'

Parents should warn their youngsters to be wary of too-friendly strangers, warns Anthony Pollara, Quincy school safety officer.

"There is no way to tell who those people are by the way they look," says Pollara. "They come in different sizes, shapes and colors, both men and women. These people can be friendly and it is difficult to recognize a friend or foe."

"Parents should be aware of this and instruct them not to talk to strangers," Pollara adds.

Adults will use the following ploys to gain a child's attention, he warns:

1. Offering candy, cookies, anything that children like to eat or drink.
2. They may offer a ride, sometimes to a park, beach or playground, almost anywhere children might want to go.

3. They may even stop and ask for directions when they are walking or riding in a car.

4. Be careful of strangers offering money.

5. A stranger could also try to attract a child by offering a gift such as a pretty ring or a new baseball.

When children do not know what to look for, a stranger or non-friend can easily talk them into going for a ride or taking some candy. These children may find out that their new friend who seemed to be very generous is really not a friend at all.

Mothers and fathers can help children by:

1. Have the child play with one or more children, this cuts down strangers chances of getting close to the child.
2. Know who your child is with at all times.

3. Know where your child is at all times.

4. Make an effort to know your child's friends and where their friends live.

5. Instruct your child to be home before it is dark.

6. Make sure your child plays in a well patrolled and open area, preferably within hearing distance of home.

Instruct your child beforehand that if he or she is approached by a stranger to come directly home after the incident. If your child can remember what the person looked like, or a license plate number, or any information pertinent to the incident, then call the Quincy Police immediately at 911. If at all possible, confer with neighbors as to which homes your child may go if the incident should occur again and you are not home. Precautionary measures are the best way to insure your child's safety all year round.

Historic Walking Tour In Successful Debut

About 1000 people, most of them from Quincy and Metropolitan Boston, made the walking tour of historic sites in and near Quincy Center during the past summer.

"It was a very successful first season," said Carol Pisano, assistant city planner in charge of tourist development. The program was offered in July and August.

"Considering that the weather for at least one of the two months was not conducive to encouraging people to walk the 1½-mile route we did very well," said Miss Pisano.

While most of the tourists were local, the walking tour also accommodated visitors from North Carolina, Hawaii, New Jersey and Colorado who were staying in Boston and spent the day in Quincy.

Some 20 high school and junior high school youngsters were trained to act as tour guides and two of them, Mariellen Burns and Kathleen Stempkowski, said they planned to volunteer again next year.

Houghs Neck Teens To Hold Benefit Skate-A-Thon Saturday

The 35 member Hough's Neck Teen Organization is sponsoring a Skate-a-thon to benefit Boston's Ronald McDonald House Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the parking lot of Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck.

Any person age 10 or over is eligible to participate. There is an admission charge unless the entrant provides a pledge card with $5 worth of pledges.

The teen organization decided to donate proceeds from the event to the Ronald McDonald House after hearing that Quincy residents had used the home.

The house is a "home-away-from-home" for families whose children are being treated for leukemia or other cancer related diseases. It depends largely on donations for its daily upkeep and maintenance.

For more information, contact Maureen Bythrow at 472-0864.

Ballroom Dancing At Montello's Starts Friday

Montello's Ballroom, 53 Mass. Ave., Quincy Point, will present an evening of ballroom dancing every Friday, beginning Sept. 26.

The programs, from 8 p.m. to midnight, will feature music by the popular local five-piece band, the Royal Troubadors. Music will include waltzes, fox-trots, chachas, polkas and others.

Part of the evenings' proceeds will go to the Goodwill Performers, a non-profit group which performs for rest-home patients.

City Republican Flea Market Sunday

Tables are still available for a flea market to be held by the Quincy City Republican Committee Sunday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Grossman's parking lot, Granite St., Quincy Center.

To reserve tables, contact Mrs. Sandra McCauley, 210 Manet Ave., or Mrs. Hazel Usher, 177 Belmont St.

Quincy, North Bands In Jubilee Parade

The Quincy and North Quincy High School bands took part in Boston's 350th Birthday Parade Sunday, negotiating the downtown route in near 90-degree weather without casualties.

A number of marchers were felled by the heat during the parade, which wound up festivities of the Boston Jubilee.

The Quincy band, directed by William Morrill, marched near the head of the parade. North Quincy's band was directed by Anthony Ferrante of the Music Department.

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 25

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
You can win support, perhaps financial assistance for pet project. At same time long-range goal comes into focus and you have grasp of what next move should be.

PISCES—February 20-March 20
Possible resentments in job arena make work uncomfortable; it may be up to you to draft peace treaty. Enjoy celebration with surplus of fanfare. Machinery demands meticulous care.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
Personally fulfilling week, so long as you're not too hard on yourself. Rescheduled date proves worth wait. Children's casual observations are rich in insight; listen!

TAURUS—April 21-May 22
It's easy for your most heartening remarks to be misinterpreted by pessimistic friends. Meanwhile, news from abroad may be misinterpreted by you. Small windfall brightens weekend.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21
Relationships in general improve and at least one shaky alliance settles down. Travel and travel planning favored. Family news bulletins must be read between the lines.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Thursday-Friday are for catching up on any job involving writing. Social Saturday-Sunday finds you face-to-face with mystery person. Tuesday brings intangible rewards.

LEO—July 23-August 22
A confident approach combined with research earns you respect in work or academic circles. Taste is extreme Saturday, so postpone purchases for home or wardrobe.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
Patience is critical through weekend, lest you say something you regret for months. Accept flattery gracefully. Be alert to financial opportunity Tuesday-Wednesday.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Old friend comes to your rescue and together you end month on note of triumph. You're bursting with bright financial ideas; put them to use by Tuesday.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Postponements and cancellations frustrate, but loving actions soothe. Rumors fly but you win points with discretion. Long-distance communications merits extra-careful reading.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Someone you like lets you down—but perhaps problem has to do with unrealistic expectations. Meanwhile, recent family feud is put to rest. You feel like celebrating—so indulge.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Moves that have been blocked for several weeks are reactivated. Don't second guess loved ones. Travel is highlighted on weekend. Recent mystery takes yet another turn.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're person of such high standards it's the rarefied soul who can live up to them. But it's usually worth effort. Forced to take important stand—perhaps on family matters—you find you enjoy experience. Career/academic success emphasized through year.

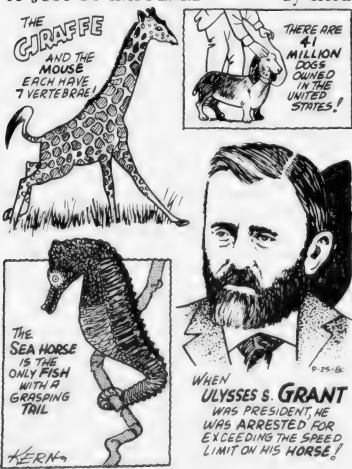

BORN THIS WEEK
September 25th; newscaster Barbara Walters; 26th, actress Julie London; 27th, actor William Conrad; 28th, singer Olivia Newton-John; 29th, cowboy Gene Autry; 30th, singer Johnny Mathis; October 1st, actress Julie Andrews.

Raiders Gear For Brockton Powerhouse

Defense was supposed to be North Quincy's strong point this fall and it lived up to expectations last Saturday.

But the Raiders' offense came through far better than expected as Coach Dave Burke's team finally conquered oldtime rival Milton, 21-0, in a non-league opener at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North's offense and defense will have to be at their best this Saturday when the Raiders travel to Marciano Stadium in Brockton to clash with perennial Suburban League power Brockton, which last week opened with an 18-0 non-league decision over New Bedford.

"I was very pleased with the way our offense operated," Burke said. The defense held up well as expected, but I really didn't expect to move the ball as well as we did." (North, sticking to the ground, picked up 169 yards rushing to 112 for Milton.)

"Dean Zoia (two touchdowns),

Mini-Swim Courses At Lincoln Hancock Pool

The Quincy Recreation Department announces registration for two mini-courses as part of its program of swimming at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool, starting Sept. 24.

The first course is a program of instruction for adult non-swimmers. Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. featuring individual attention to adult non-swimmers.

Steve McEachern (the other TD), quarterback Jack Brown and Joe Dudek all ran well," Burke said.

Zoia, son of all-time North great Pete Zoia and brother of former Raider back Greg, had a fine first game, gaining 63 yards in 10 carries. Bob McCormack, scheduled to share the fullback chores with Zoia, played only on defense last week.

Offensive line coach George Liset was delighted with the way Segalls, Jack Leone (not expected to play but playing a little at end but not kicking), Bob Bolster, who was outstanding, Lou DePietro, Mike Panaro, Neil Fosher, Bill Feeney, John Buckley and Ted Hannon. "They were immense today," said Liset.

"We took their game away from them and our secondary was just great," said Assistant Ken McPhee. North intercepted four Milton passes, two by Paul O'Sullivan, who was given the game ball, and one each by Chris Baker and Rich Stevens.

McPhee had good words for O'Sullivan, Ken Mann, Gino Pillard, Jim McGinnis and Bolster.

The other defensive coach, Jack Raymer, hailed the work of the line and had good words in particular for McCormack and Pete McDonough, playing at new positions and doing well.

North also shut out the opposition in two pre-season scrimmages with Braintree and Scituate.

Burke came up with a fine kicker to replace Leone, whose injured leg prevented him from kicking points or field goals. Steve Howley kicked the points after each of the three touchdowns.

Zoia, McEachern, a much improved runner this year, and Dudek carried North down the field in the second period. Brown passed to Jim Sullivan for 11 yards, Zoia picked up 10 to the two from where he scored. Howley kicked the point.

Hancock Pool

Registration for both courses can be made in person at the pool office beginning immediately. Registration is limited. There is no charge. Both programs will run five weeks.

Sports

The Raiders scored twice in the final period as Milton was hit hard by penalties.

Milton quarterback Ed Bent once directed the Hawks to the North 15 where the Raiders held.

Baker intercepted a pass on North's 34 and the Raiders marched 66 yards with McEachern scoring from the eight. Howley again added the point.

O'Sullivan's second intercepttion on Milton's 30 set up the final touchdown. Zoia went 13 yards, then two for his second tally. Howley kicked the final point.

Brown threw only four passes, completing two for 13 yards. Bent hit on five of 14 for Milton for 60 yards but the four interceptions ruined his efforts.

Cambridge Rindge 8, Quincy 7 Presidents Tune Up Offense For Weymouth

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team opened last week at Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a Suburban league game and the results were just the opposite of what the coaches had expected.

The Presidents' more experienced offense was expected to be their strong point with the less experienced defense a big question mark.

However, the defense came through with flying colors but the offense sputtered as Quincy dropped an 8-7 squeaker.

Coach Tom Fitzgerald hopes for a more productive offense this Saturday when the Presidents host Weymouth South at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Weymouth, which has had its troubles in past years, may be no pushover. It has a 7-0 victory over Marshfield and a 14-13 decision over Hingham.

"Our defense really did a good job, but the offense was disappointing," Fitzgerald said.

"The offensive line, which has good size and speed, just didn't open the holes like we thought it would. We moved the ball well at times but failed to score once from the one and another time from the 10."

"Cambridge is a much improved team and the coach has done a fine job. I think they will give everyone trouble this year."

Quincy's defense dug in and held Cambridge several times, holding it on the two-yard line once.

"Chris Chevalier did an outstanding job on defense, as did Walter Kilgallon," said Bill Maver, one of the defensive coaches. Others singled out by Maver for their defensive performances were Mike Nevins, Mike Connors, Scott Anson, John Varrasso, Greg Oriola, Ed Iodice, Mike Shaughnessy and Ken Gustin.

On offense Mike Abboud, coming off an injury, ran well. Ron Pettinelli did well at quarterback. Sean Burke looked good at end and Varrasso and Anson, playing both ways, also looked good on offense.

Penalties hurt Quincy and one time the Presidents drove from their 20 to Cambridge's 20 only to be hit with two 15-yard penalties and a five-yarder.

Quincy scored in the second period when Iodice capped a drive by going over from the two. Pettinelli kicked the extra point. He had to kick it twice, Quincy being penalized five yards on his first attempt.

Cambridge scored in the third period when Don Samules dove over from the three. Rindge and Latin went for the two points and Samules went around end for the two winning points.

Quincy, Weymouth S. Game On WJDA

Station WJDA will do the play-by-play broadcast of the Quincy-Weymouth South football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium Saturday. Air time is 1:25 and the game will start at 1:30.

The station will bring in reports of the North Quincy at Brockton game as well as Walpole at Braintree and Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Weymouth North.

Sunday it will do the play-by-play of the Marian at Abp. Williams game.

Aquinas Road Race Oct. 5

The Aquinas Alumnæ Association of Aquinas Junior College of Milton will sponsor a five-mile road race Sunday, Oct. 5, at 11 a.m. starting and finishing at the Aquinas campus.

Registration fee is $3 and registration forms can be obtained by writing to the Alumni Director, Aquinas Junior College, 303 Adams Street, Milton 02186 or by calling the school at 698-0205 or 696-3100.

The race is sanctioned by the NEAAU and AAU and all runners will be given T-shirts.

● Youth Football Apaches, Manet Win

The Apaches won their second straight Quincy Youth Football League game Sunday, topping the Panthers, 18-6.

Mike Gill raced 65 yards for the first Apaches touchdown in the opening period. Gill also scored the second TD in the second period from 10 yards out and Eddie Page scored the final touchdown in the third quarter on a six-yard run.

Dave Britt scored for the Panthers on a 30-yard run.

Jon Sheehan, Steve Kearns,

Mike Kubera, John Ainsley, Bob Flynn and Gill were offensive standouts for the Apaches. Gill gained 131 yards in 11 carries. Defensively Gill, Dan Kelley, Keith Smith and Sheehan stood out.

The Manets improved their record to 2-1 with a 6-0 decision over the Sailors.

Earlier the Panthers (1-1) had defeated the Manets, 20-12.

Bill Shaughnessy passed 10 yards to Britt for the Panthers' first touchdown but the Manets came back to tie it on a 50-yard pass play to Bill Canen, who ran 30 yards for the TD.

The Panthers took the lead early in the second half with Mike Gilmore scoring from the two but the Manets again tied it up with Shaughnessy passing to Bob Carty for 20 yards. Gilmore scored the winning touchdown from the two.

The Sailors (1-2) topped the Elks (0-2), 12-0, with Gerard Coughlin passing to Mike Barry for the winning touchdown late in the third period.

Billy Doherty scored the second touchdown in the final period.

Sportscaster Howard Cosell is also a lawyer.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

When was the last time a team won the championship of the National Football League with a rookie as its regular quarterback?

It hasn't happened since 1945 when the Rams won the NFL title with rookie Bob Waterfield at quarterback.

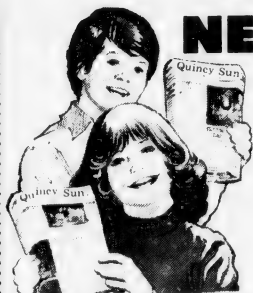

Did you know that when Maury Wills was appointed manager of Seattle in August, he became the first manager in the history of major league baseball to be in a position to manage against his own son... Maury's son, Bump, plays for Texas... Never before in big league baseball has a father-and-son combination faced each other in the same league at the same time.

Can you name the only 4 teams in the National Football League who didn't make the playoffs in ANY season in the 1970s? ... They are New Orleans, New York Giants, New York Jets and Seattle... Every other NFL team made the playoffs at least once in the 1970s.

I bet you didn't know... that COLMAN'S is your one stop store for all your sporting goods, hunting, archery, action wear fashions. You'll find a wide selection and lowest prices in the area.

Quincy Ties Waltham, North Bows Twice

The North Quincy boy's soccer team had rough sledding last week, losing to Sharon, 4-2, in a non-league game and bowing to Weymouth South, 2-0, in a Suburban League game.

Quincy, following its big win over North, turned in another fine performance to tie Waltham, 1-1, in a league game.

North Quincy will host Weymouth North Friday and Quincy will play at Cambridge. Tuesday North will be at Brookline and Quincy will be home to Brockton. All games will be at 3:30.

"We played the worst half of soccer (the first half against Sharon) in the three years I've been at North," said Coach Paul Bregoli. "We weren't aggressive, our passing wasn't sharp and we didn't communicate with each other."

Sharon led, 2-0, at the half and made it 3-0 as a 50-yard shot eluded North goalie Bob Flaherty. The Raiders then came to life and Rich Palma scored with Bill DiCarli assisting.

Sharon made it 4-1 before Palma scored his second goal, picking the bottom right corner from 15 yards out. DiCarli again assisted.

Paul Gill, North's fine senior fullback, was sorely missed in the Sharon game as he was sidelined with a sprained ankle. Steve Hawes, a junior, filled in well and sophomore Pete McGillicuddy and Chris Dunn played well.

Junior Pat King was in goal Friday against Weymouth South and played well in his first varsity game.

"Our defense made only two mistakes but they cost us as Weymouth scored midway in the first quarter on an 18-yarder (from Rich Holmes)," Bregoli said. "South scored again in the second quarter as a lack of communication allowed one of their players to walk in alone on King."

North was a team of almosts in that game as it nearly had three or four goals. John Keenan just missed a goal early in the game from 20 yards out. In the fourth quarter Steve Cahill, Steve Dodd and Bill Bourikas saw their shots go either high or wide.

Senior fullback Steve Kavanagh played well and saved two sure goals and DiCarli played well again, showing some much-needed aggressiveness.

"We just can't seem to click in front of the other team's net," Bregoli said. "We have to score and take some of the pressure off our defense. It's beginning to get frustrating for me and the kids."

Sante Michaelangelo scored with less than five minutes to play to give Jim McGuire's Quincy team its tie with Waltham. Claudio Sala set up the score with a pass from the wing out front to Michaelangelo.

In girls' soccer North Quincy bowed to Weymouth South, 4-0.

North X-Country Girls Lose First Meet

Although Linda Kennedy and Sheila Barrett finished second and third, respectively, the North Quincy girls' cross-country team suffered its first defeat, 23-32, at the hands of Newton North in a Suburban League meet. North had won its non-league opener over Braintree.

The North boys were shut out by Newton North, 16-49, in their opener with Gary Morin the only Raider finishing in the top 10. He finished in 12:52.

The North teams will host Weymouth North next Tuesday at 3:15.

CG Boating Course

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will give a free boating safety and seamanship course Wednesday.

Oct. 1, at 7 p.m., in room 245 at Weymouth North High School. There is a small fee for available materials.

'Good Samaritan' Law To Protect Yachtsmen

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) has issued a reminder to yachtsmen that "Good Samaritan" will be protected by law the next time Quincy Bay Race Week rolls around.

Gov. Edward J. King has signed a law, effective in mid-

September, that eliminates liability when a person renders emergency aid to another person during a boat race or a regatta.

QUINCY PUBLIC SCHOOLS NOTICE

The Quincy Public Schools today announced a free milk and free meal and reduced price meal policy for school children unable to pay the full price of milk and meals served in schools under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast Program and Special Milk Program. Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for use in determining eligibility.

INCOME ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA FAMILY SIZE AND GROSS INCOME SCALES

Family Size [All members of household]	Maximum Gross Income For Free Milk and Free Meals	Maximum Gross Income For Reduced Price Meals
One	$ 0 to 5,230	$ 5,231 to 8,150
Two	0 to 6,900	6,901 to 10,760
Three	0 to 8,580	8,581 to 13,380
Four	0 to 10,250	10,251 to 15,990
Five	0 to 11,930	11,931 to 18,600
Six	0 to 13,600	13,601 to 21,220
Seven	0 to 15,280	15,281 to 23,830
Eight	0 to 16,950	16,951 to 26,440
Each additional family member	1,680	2,610

Children from families whose income is at or below those shown are eligible for milk and meals free or at reduced prices. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other special hardship conditions due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply. Further, children having parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced price meals or for free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income caused the family income during the period of unemployment to be within eligibility criteria. Should your income or family size change, contact the approving official.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the following statement is placed just above the parents' or guardians' signature on the application: "I certify that the above information I have given is true and correct, that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of State and Federal funds, that school officials may for cause: (1) request an informal conference with the parents to substantiate the information on the application (or if requested by either party the Fair Hearing Procedure may be used); (2) verify the information on the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of the information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable State and Federal criminal statutes."

Parents should clearly understand that every meal served in schools is subsidized to a greater or lesser degree by State-Federal reimbursements. Those lunches served at full price are subsidized as well as those served free or reduced. Therefore, there should be no reluctance to apply for either a free or reduced price meal. If your family size, and gross income is within the "Income Eligibility Criteria" for free or reduced price meals, we urge you and all eligible parents to fill out the application. The intent of these programs is to improve the nutrition of all children.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home with a letter to parents. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. In certain cases foster children are eligible for free milk and free meals or reduced price meals regardless of your family income. If you have such children living with you and wish to apply for such milks and meals for them, please file a separate application for each child, and indicate the amount of State support only as income.

Under the provision of the policy, the principal will review all applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he/she may wish to discuss the decision with the approving official on an informal basis or make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision to Dr. Lawrence P. Creighton, Superintendent, Quincy Public Schools, Quincy, MA 786-8700.

Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy and a complete copy of the policy is on file in the office of the superintendent of schools where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

The policy also provides that there will be no overt identification and/or discrimination against any child because of his race, sex, color, handicap or national origin, in the operation of the child feeding program.

Application forms for the Free or Reduced Price Meals have been sent home to all parents of children in the City or they may be obtained from the following agencies:

Kennedy Wins Boston Gear Road Race

Jim Kennedy of the Quincy Flyers won the second annual Boston Gear, 5-mile road race last Saturday, covering the distance in 27:18.

Although only 74 runners competed, representing the Flyers, BAA, South Shore Striders, Cooper Striders and the Greater Boston Track Club, race officials were pleased with the close competition and feel they are well-established now for next year.

The women's winner was Kathy Kazanjian, who finished in 38:20.

The first Boston Gear male finisher was Ken Sheaff (36:51). Guy Dodds and Gregory Wright were 1-2 in the men's 18 and under division, Kennedy and Roger Gutzwiller 1-2 in the 19-29 division, Mike Thompson and Fred Thurston 1-2 in 30-39 and Paul Antonelli and Buzz Hollander 1-2 in the masters division.

The first Boston Gear female finisher was Kathy Needleman (41:24).

Kazanjian and Elizabeth Young were 1-2 in women's 19-29, Needleman and Joanna Ayres 1-2 in 30-39 and Beverly Nolan and Suzanne Dixon 1-2 in the masters division.

Ruth Rothfarb, at 79, the oldest competitive women's runner in the country who is currently training for her first marathon, finished in the respectable time of 50:02.

Track Club Members Shine In Kids Road Races

The Quincy Track Club cross country runners turned in some excellent performances for the second week in a row at D.W. Field Park in Brockton last Saturday in the Brockton Kids Road Races.

In the 2.2 mile run for boys 8-12 Harry Morash placed third, while in the girls' race Mary Beth Bonner took third, Lorrie McNeil fourth and Karen Dunn fifth.

Several club members made big improvements from the previous week with Jeff Pywell shaving off five minutes and Tammy Coull, just turned six, improving by seven minutes. Other good runs were turned in by Nancy Sheehy and newcomers Carolyn Fredney, Julie Killion and Jennifer Shores.

In the 13-16 division Ron Cogliano and Kevin Dunn took second and third in the boys' race, while Tracy Coull took a full minute off her course record, running the 3.7-miler in 22:30. Bernadette Murphy and Eileen Morris placed third and fifth respectively.

The QTC will hold its fourth annual awards banquet tonight (Thursday) at Kings Hill Hall in Braintree. Quincy Marathon winner Jim Capuzzo and former North Quincy and Cornell star Bart Petracca will be present. Trophies and certificates will be awarded and a slide show of this summer's action will be featured.

Fitzgerald Keynotes At Bobby Orr Dinner

Retired sportswriter Tom Fitzgerald will be the guest speaker at the Montclair Men's Club 30th annual awards dinner, honoring former Bruins great Bobby Orr, Saturday, Oct. 11, in the clubhouse, Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

Fitzgerald covered the Bruins and the National Hockey League for more than 35 years and was golf editor for almost 40 years.

He was the first president of the Professional Hockey Writers Association in 1967 and 1968 and received the Lester Patrick Award for services to hockey in the United States two years ago. He is the current chairman of the Hockey Hall of Fame Selection Committee.

Fitzgerald was honored by the Montclair Club in 1972.

Club president William Bereszniwicz will be toastmaster. Dinner chairman Joe Gildea is being assisted by Dick Post, Andy Orrock, George Olson, Ted O'Reilly, Jim Warren, Ed Adams, Herb Baker, Walter Marsh and Jim Kelley.

The committee will meet in the clubhouse tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 to complete arrangements.

The ticket deadline is Thursday, Oct. 2, at the regular monthly business meeting.

Midget A's Bow, 5-1

Quincy Youth Hockey's Browning-Ferris Midget A team lost to Lexington, 5-1, in its opening game of the season.

The lone Quincy goal was scored by Paul Bambery, with Kevin Craig and Kevin Duff assisting. Tom Corliss sparked in goal as he had 44 saves.

Others playing for Quincy were Dennis Furtado, Rich Milano, Tom Lester, Mike McGrath, Tom Benson, Dennis Croke, Bill Bomar, Dick Tapper, Paul McCabe, Shawn Cunningham, Mike Cullen, Bob Lynch, Tom Schofield and Frank Reynolds.

The Midgets will play at Randolph tonight (Thursday) at 7 o'clock and Sunday will face Winchester at 3 o'clock at the Arlington rink.

K. Of C. Road Race Oct. 19

The North Weymouth Knights of Columbus Council has scheduled a road race Oct. 19, at 10 a.m. to benefit the South Shore Center for Brain Injured Children, Building Fund.

The five-mile race will start and finish at the U Haul Truck Rental parking lot at the corner of Bridge Street (Route 3A) and Neck St., North Weymouth.

Pre-entries must submit entry blanks and fee no later than Oct. 11. Post entries will be accepted until 9:30 a.m., the day of the race. Entry fee is $3.00.

Entry forms are available by mail from John Moloney, Knights of Columbus Council 4719, 38 Emerson Street, East Weymouth 02189 or by calling 337-1210 or 337-8448.

To Construct New Building Atlas Liquors Granted License Transfer

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Following more than a year of applications and discussions, Atlas Liquors, Inc., was given the go-ahead Tuesday by the Quincy License Board to construct a new building with additional parking and one exit and entrance on Adams St.

Board members unanimously approved transfer of Atlas' all alcoholic beverages - retail package goods store license to a new, brick veneered building to be located at 659-665 Adams St., and 49-53 Eddie St.

Construction will begin within 30 days and a parking area will be at 665-673 Adams St. and 60-72 Hilda St.

Fire Chief Edward Barry made the motion to grant the transfer, which was seconded by Police Chief Francis Finn. City Clerk John Gillis and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald also were in favor of the request. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh was not at the meeting.

The transfer was granted with some 13 stipulations regarding fencing and upkeep of the property, deliveries at the rear of the building between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., and the hiring of a special duty policeman to conduct traffic holidays and busy weeks ends as designated by the Police Chief.

Ward Councillors James Sheets and John Lydon, and members of the Lakin Square Neighborhood Association consistently opposed Atlas' plans at Tuesday's and other meetings.

Sheets and Lydon pointed out the new building's larger capacity would result in increased business and a greater volume of traffic which would affect public safety in the already traffic congested area.

Carolyn Reardon, representing the neighborhood association, said her organization vehemently opposed the license transfer because of the burden of excess parking which would again fall on area residents, the increase of Adams St. traffic and resulting negative impact on the community.

She pointed out that according to Massachusetts DPW figures, accidents in the area have increased 33% over the past four years and that 11 pedestrian accidents have occurred over the last year.

Miss Reardon asked board members if they could assure children's safety in the area after construction of the new building.

Chief Finn reiterated his stand that Atlas' plans with one exit and entrance would improve the traffic flow and said, "I'd rather gamble that the children will be safer with the new plan than the way things are now," said Finn.

Residents couldn't live with the problem as it was contended Finn, and the new plans were a chance to correct the situation.

Finn also pointed out to Atlas manager Robert White that the residents would not have attended the meetings and been as militant as they had if managers at the store in the past had been half way decent to them.

that all restrictions in the license must be complied with before occupancy permits for the new building are issued, and that violation of any restrictions would be cause for revocation of the license.

In other action, the License Board:

- Granted California, a disco at 79 Parkway, licenses for an astraid, galaxion and space invader electric video machine. The establishment must notify the board of any change in the type of machines.

- Granted the Montclair Men's Club a one day all alcoholic license to be used in conjunction with a Las Vegas Night, run by members, Saturday, Oct. 4, 7 p.m. to midnight at the clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Rd.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Houghs Neck Men's Softball League for the organization's annual banquet Saturday, Sept. 27, 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the North Quincy Football Boosters for their annual adult social, "Fall Frolic", Saturday, Oct. 4, 8 p.m. to midnight at Sacred Heart Hall.

The organization was instructed to check with the Health Department on the serving of food.

- A request from Luke's Lounge, 51 to 57 Granite St., for a noon opening on Sundays was withdrawn.

LEGAL NOTICE
MASSACHUSETTS WATER RESOURCES COMMISSION
DIVISION OF WATER POLLUTION CONTROL
110 TREMONT STREET
BOSTON, MASS. 02108

PUBLIC NOTICE OF SEWER EXTENSION PERMIT APPLICATIONS

The Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control has received applications for permits for construction of sewer extensions or connections to the municipal systems listed below. Section 43 of Chapter 21 of the General Laws, as amended by Chapter 546 of the Acts of 1973, requires that public notice be given of every permit proceeding.

The applications are available for inspection and copying at the Division's offices at the above address. Persons desiring to comment upon or to object to the tentative determination of the Division or to request a Public Hearing thereon should submit their views in writing to the Division at the above address within 21 days of publication of this notice. All comments received within this 21-day period will be considered by the Division in formulating the final determination regarding these applications. A Public Hearing will be held only if the response to this notice indicates, in the opinion of the Director, that the public interest would be served thereby.

Following this 21-day comment period, a final determination to issue or deny the proposed permit will be made by the Director of the Division with respect to each permit application. Where the final determination remains substantially unchanged from the tentative determination indicated in this public notice, the Director will so inform the applicant, and any person who has filed written comments during this 21-day comment period, of his final determination and of the right of any party aggrieved by the final determination to request a formal adjudicatory hearing within 14 days of the final determination.

Where the final determination is substantially changed from the tentative determination in this public notice, the Director will publish a public notice of the final determination in addition to the written notice provided above. Persons other than the applicant who feel they may have a right to and may wish to request a formal adjudicatory hearing should file written comments during the 21-day public comment period in order to assure receipt of written notification of the final determination.

Within 14 days of the final permit determination, parties as defined in sections 1, 10 and 10A of Chapter 30A of the General Laws (agreed by the determination may file a written request with the Director for an Adjudicatory Hearing under the provisions of Chapter 30A (the Massachusetts Administrative Procedure Act) and the Standard Adjudicatory Rules of Practice and Procedure (801 CMR 1.00).

Tentative determination to issue Town of Holbrook Connection of 170 residences to an existing sewer line within private property.

Sullivan Proposes Educational Uses For Closed Schools

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

School Committee member John Sullivan said he would propose school department uses for the closed Hunting and Myles Standish schools last night (Wednesday).

The committee was expected to make a decision on disposition of the Hunting School last night.

As of Tuesday, the school department was still awaiting word on a federal grant that would guarantee use of the Standish school by the South Shore High Technology Training program.

The program, now operating at Quincy Vocational Technical School on a trial basis, would move to the Standish if it received full-time funding, according to School Supt. Lawrence Creedon.

The committee voted to close the two schools, plus the Great Hill, on May 15. On Sept. 11, the committee voted to turn the Great Hill over to the city Public Works Department.

At that meeting, Creedon recommended that the committee retain control of the Standish until word was received on the federal hi-tech grant. He found "no school system need or use" for the Hunting, and recommended that it be turned over to the city.

Sullivan, however, said he would unveil proposals for use of the two schools and asked that a motion to return the Hunting School to the city be tabled.

Sullivan would not discuss details of his proposal Tuesday but added, "it's something that's been on my mind for a while."

"The major proposal involves keeping the Hunting School in a good operating school climate. It's not something that would in any way endanger the quality of the neighborhood or property values there."

The proposal involved "a sort of educational project" at the Hunting, he said. His plan for the Standish would result in "freeing up some space and moving some of our departments out to the Standish," he added.

Sullivan's proposal to retain the schools drew a mixed reaction at the committee's Sept. 10 meeting.

Member Francis Anselmo supported the idea.

But member Mary Collins said "we're not in a position to hold onto these buildings like we were five years ago. We don't even have money for the ones we have now."

"We closed the schools to neighborhood kids and now we don't want to let go of them," added Joan Picard.

Public Works Commissioner James Ricciuti said last month his department was already making plans to board up the buildings, should the School Committee vote to transfer them to his department. This was the best way to discourage vandalism and keep the buildings attractive to private developers, he said.

Representatives of various city departments would soon be meeting once the transfer was made, to sift through requests from private developers and agencies for use of the buildings, Ricciuti said. The City Council must approve any future uses of the buildings.

'Don't Want Road To Nowhere' Merchants Tie E-W Connector To Hancock Mall

"The Planning Board and the engineers have a lot of homework to do," said Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli. "There are a lot of problems here."

And most of the 100-odd persons, most of them downtown Quincy merchants, who showed up for an informal hearing into the East-West Connector Monday night agreed with him.

"I would like the message to come across to the Planning Department," said City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, who chaired the hearing before the Downtown Development Committee.

"Show us what is going to happen in the John Hancock Parking area."

"There are people who have been in this city through some pretty tough times. I just don't think that we can put a roadway right through their stores."

"Is it worth it to put so many people out of work and to put so many out of business?"

"We have to assure the people out there that it is not a pie in the sky concept."

The hearing involved the East-West Connector, a road that would cut through the city from Granite St. to McGrath Highway, passing under Hancock St. at Revere Rd.

But the project that most of those at the hearing had in mind was a proposed mall in the Hancock Parking area that would make the connector worthwhile.

Planning Director James Lydon conceded that he could not give the hearing much hard information on the mall.

"I cannot at this time mention the names of specific retailers," he said.

"We have been working for a number of years to develop a plan for the Hancock Parking Area."

"We have designated a developer, Stephen Weiner of Lethbridge, Inc."

"We have come up with about 30 different variations of site plans, each variation depending on the retailers involved."

"Last Friday we had a major retailer express strong interest in locating in the city."

"If he commits himself, we will be able to announce one if not two of the three anchor stores in the mall before the state hearing on the connector in mid-November."

That was the best Lydon could do by way of assurance.

The State DPW's public hearing on the connector, which would be built with an 80-20 ratio of federal-state funds, is crucial to construction of the roadway.

Frank Ching, vice president of transportation and environmental analysis for H. W. Moore Associates, the engineers, said state approval may depend on "the amount of unrest, dissension and public outcry that is noted from the city itself."

"It would behoove the city administration to clear up as many questions between now and (it ended on Page 20)

No Leaves Pickup In Residential Areas

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti advises residents who have previously deposited yard leaves in the gutter line that this practice must stop in order to guarantee clean streets.

The street sweeping contract, awarded in May, does not include pickup of leaves in residential areas. The city will continue to service the areas of heavy leaf concentration.

Leaves that are bagged and placed on the sidewalk will be picked up by city trucks when notification is given. The bagged leaves will be used as an addition to loam and sand to develop a cover material for sanitary landfill, saving the taxpayers money as these materials are costly.

For bagged leaves pickup, call the garage at 773-1380, ext. 231 or 232.

Emergency Count On Weekend

Did Census Lose 5,782 In 4 Areas?

By TOM HENSHAW

Four of the 14 census tracts in the city of Quincy show a loss of 5,782 people in U.S. Census Bureau figures compared to those compiled by the city from other sources.

As a result, the City Council willing, special census takers hired by the city will fan out into Houghs Neck, Germantown and Quincy Point this weekend to see where the Census Bureau fouled up.

Mayor Arthur J. Tobin went to the City Council last night (Wednesday) seeking $25,000 to finance the emergency head counts.

It is the first step in the city's all out search for residents possibly missed by the Census Bureau, who counted only 83,904 in Quincy. That's 4,062 less than in 1970.

"The low census could affect Quincy for the next 10 years and cost the city millions of dollars in federal aid," said Mayor Tobin.

City Clerk John Gillis Monday obtained from the Census Bureau a breakdown of the preliminary census of Quincy's population by census tracts, which he compared to the city's estimate.

In four of those tracts, where there were housing booms during the past 10 years, the figures showed a loss of 5,782 people.

In Tract 4178, covering all of Houghs Neck and Germantown, part of Adams Shore and more than half of Quincy Point, there was a 2,150 difference.

Since the last census was taken, there have been two major housing projects, Oceanview and Paganano Towers, built with no appreciable loss of other housing units.

"That's where we think the big error was made," said Gillis.

"That's the area we'll start with in our own census count and if it works out we'll do the others."

The others are:

Tract 4176, the area bounded roughly by Wollaston Beach, Furnace Brook Parkway, Hancock St. and Vane St. The difference in that area was 1,559. Tobin Towers and Fenno House are part of it.

Tract 4172, the Montclair section, the loss: 1,266.

Tract 4171, the area of Wollaston Heights bounded by Furnace Brook Parkway, Newport Ave. and the Milton line. The loss: 807.

Gillis said he filed notice with the Census Bureau that "as of Oct. 6, the city will take a complete census of the tracts mentioned so that we can prove that your figures were not accurate."

The Census Bureau has agreed to allow the city 20 days in which to recount the area.

Gillis said his estimates of what the populations of the tracts should be was based on the city's street listings plus the school census.

Tobin said that, if the City Council appropriates the money, the city will use 150 workers from the 1975 census crew to make the weekend count.

The city had expected to reach a population high of some 96,000 based on a preliminary figure given to Gillis by the Census Bureau during the summer.

Oct 7, Last Day For Voter Registration

Tuesday, Oct. 7, is the last day on which eligible Quincy residents, who are not already on the rolls, can register to vote in the Nov. 4 general election.

The Election Department at City Hall will be open until 10 p.m. that night for last minute registrants.

New voters can register daily at the Election Department, which is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

This week the city is making a special effort to register voters by taking the registration desk to the people and by keeping the Election Department open extra hours.

Special registrations in Wards

1 and 2 were held Tuesday in the Adams Shore Library and the Fore River Clubhouse.

Yesterday (Wednesday) potential voters in Wards 3 and 4 were given an opportunity to sign up at the Wollaston School and the Gridley Bryant School from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Today (Thursday) the traveling registration team will be at the Wollaston Methodist Church and the Quincy School from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for voters in Wards 5 and 6.

The Election Department at City Hall will be open Saturday, Oct. 4, from 12 noon to 8 p.m., and Tuesday, Oct. 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

General Dynamics Has Engineering, Design Openings

General Dynamics' Quincy Shipbuilding Division announces it has immediate personnel openings for long-term assignments in engineering and design.

The shipyard said it plans to add professional employees in marine and electrical engineering, naval architecture and structural engineering and engineering planning and records departments.

Positions open include those for engineering supervisors, specialists and planners; design, structural and electrical (both power and electronics) engineers and naval architects. Openings exist for design supervisors in hull outfitting, communications electronics, materials HVAC design, machining arrangement, piping design and electrical.

Persons interested in applying for the positions are asked to send a resume to the yard's professional employment office at Quincy.

The Quincy shipyard holds more than $100 million in contracts for new commercial construction work and overhaul projects for both Navy and commercial ships.

300 Doctors, Nurses Attend

Nutrition Therapy Fights Cancer, Workshop Told

Nutrition is a very important therapy in the treatment of cancer patients, a Quincy City Hospital workshop was told last week.

The workshop, sponsored by the Hospital's Department of Surgery and the South Shore Unit of the American Cancer Society, drew an overflow crowd of 300 doctors and nurses at Valle's Steak House in Braintree.

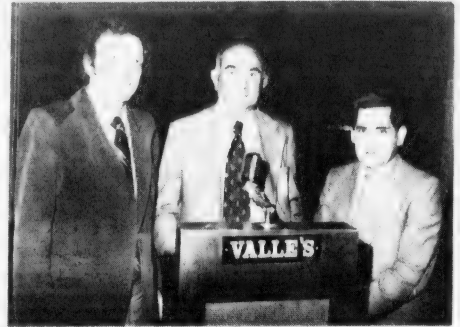

Dr. George Blackburn, director of nutrition support services at New England Deaconess Hospital, said the side effects of some drugs used to treat cancer patients cause a loss of appetite.

Thus, as many health experts believe, more than half of those persons with cancer literally die of starvation.

Dr. Anthony Dragone of the City Hospital staff pointed out that nutrition is not an alternative therapy for cancer patients but is supportive of chemo and radiation therapies.

"The added nutrients enable the body to mobilize the resources to support the patients," he said.

"It allows the patient to enjoy a quality of life in home surroundings which is beneficial to both the patient and the family."

Other speakers on the program included Dr. Jorge Tello, chief of oncology of City Hospital; Jean Wilson, nurse clinician; and Nancy Hsu, clinical dietitian, both of Mass General Hospital.

Board Takes No Action On Bay Inn Reconsideration Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy Bay Inn, appearing unofficially before the License Board Tuesday, requested reconsideration of its Sept. 16 license transfer denial but the request fell on deaf ears.

No action was taken by board members City Clerk John Gillis, Police Chief Francis Finn and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald. The denial is being appealed Oct. 23, before the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission (ABCC).

The transfer of inn-holder-all alcoholic license formerly held by the Carlton House had been denied because of apparent inability to meet parking requirements and the resultant effect on public safety.

In a Sept. 22 letter sent to board members and at Tuesday's meeting, inn attorney Richard J. Vita told the board there was adequate parking.

According to Vita, 109 parking spaces are required by zoning ordinances and Building Department records show there are 183 authorized spaces.

Vita requested the board rescind their Sept. 16 decision and grant the license transfers.

MacDonald said that for years he has asked the City Council to amend the ordinances regarding parking requirements because he feels they are inadequate.

Vita reiterated that the inn would attempt to rectify any parking problems by purchasing adjoining property.

Chief Finn said, "When the Carlton House closed, we thanked God because parking was a nightmare there."

MacDonald agreed that parking had been a problem at the establishment and said "We have an 18 year track record (with the area). There were tremendous problems with parking on Hancock St. and under the expressway. Fire lanes were not maintained."

Vita again asked for an opportunity to submit parking plans which would meet minimum requirements and answer over-all problems.

Finn stated that residents of the area "nearly committed suicide" they were so upset with problems there in the past.

"It was a horror show down there last time," said Finn, "and history tells us something."

"The ward councillors are not here, the people are not here and they'd take our heads if we go for this reconsideration concluded Finn.

QCBPA Members Told:

Tobin: Redevelopment Up To You Finn: Crime Reduced In Downtown

The number of police officers assigned to downtown Quincy has been cut considerably, says Police Chief Francis X. Finn, but at the same time the amount of crime in the area has been reduced too.

But he is not sure how long it will continue under the present budget constraints.

"The system we are working in the area and the people we have there are performing at a very, very high professional rate," Finn told a meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association at the Neighborhood Club.

But, he added, "we would like to put more people into Quincy Square because I don't think you can continue to function with the numbers of people we have there and continue to have public safety. "It is a fact you have to have police visibility or you're eventually going to be inviting crime ... and some damn serious crime, in plain English."

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin told the businessmen that part of the Sears Roebuck building will be torn down to make way for the East-West Connector, then reconstructed to house one of three department stores being sought for the city.

The Tobin administration, he said, is redeveloping downtown Quincy with the best interests of the city in 1990 in mind and "if you don't want it I'm just going to walk away from it and concentrate on other areas."

"Downtown Quincy has been studied to death," he said. "I think we showed good faith by going out and getting the Campanelli project and then you saw the rippling effect. And you're going to see other effects here."

"I have a very prominent banking institution that wants to put up a building. I'm not at liberty to name names at this time but I can see things happening and it's all going to take place. But everybody's got to see it as an asset."

Chief Finn blamed the problems of his department on a very tight budget for fiscal 1981.

"The budget constraints that we presently have in the Police Department are such that we are going to have to be very, very, very careful to get by the year, if in fact we will get by the year," he said.

"I've expressed that to the auditor, the mayor and some of the city councillors that we're going to have to be very very careful. We may not even be able to do it and I don't know how we're going to bail out if we don't."

Finn said the Police Department has been monitoring Quincy Square through its crime analysis unit "and we've reduced crime in the area by 15 per cent. And we have a 26 per cent apprehension on violent crime in the area. That's a phenomenal rate."

The chief said that while there is less manpower in Quincy Square that does not mean there is less security. There is a two-man car in the Square and other cars pass through frequently en route to their assigned posts.

Mayor ARTHUR TOBIN

Chief FRANCIS FINN

"We are 18 men short in the Police Department at the present time," he said. "I would like to be able to put them on but the budget today does not look like that is going to happen."

"We are using some civilian help in the communications center. They started off a little rough as anything new will but they're coming along very well professionally."

Finn told the businessmen that taking emergency ambulance service away from the Police Department and giving it to a private firm "will give me a minimum of 12 assigned officers" and will save Quincy about $750,000 a year.

"It has been a super good ambulance service up to now but it cannot compete in the future," he said.

"The ambulance service is Personnel Lagging Behind Enrollment Decline

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The number of school employees is declining, according to figures presented to the School Committee, but not as fast as enrollment.

The school system now had exactly 200 fewer employees than in 1976, its peak year for employment, according to School Supt. Lawrence Creedon.

The 12 percent decline, from 1,676 to 1,476 employees, however, is about half the 24 percent drop in enrollment during the same period.

Regular school enrollment, kindergarten to grade 12, was 15,244 in 1976 and is now slightly under 12,000.

"You're always going to be a year behind on that sort of thing," said Creedon. "The decline occurs and the RIF (reduction in force) follows the following year."

Of 11 categories of employees, Creedon said, nine categories have declined in number since 1976.

The number of custodians have increased by 21, Creedon said, due to an increase in school department space, such as the Lincoln Hancock School and North Quincy High and Merrymount School additions.

Teaching specialists have increased from 218 to 223, mainly caused by large increases in special needs teachers due to Chapter 76 legislation, he said.

Changes in the number of other employee groups reported by Creedon are as follows:

High school teachers dropped by 20, from 299 to 279, a 6.6 percent decrease.

School administrative staff dropped by five, from 33 to 28, a 15.2 percent decrease.

Principals and assistants dropped by two, from 38 to 36, a 5.2 percent decrease.

Junior high teachers dropped by 14, from 194 to 180, a 7.3 percent decrease.

Elementary teachers dropped by 107, from 346 to 239, a 31 percent decrease.

Clerks dropped by five, from 123 to 118, a four percent decrease.

Maintenance men dropped by three, from 29 to 26, a 10 percent decrease.

Food service workers dropped by 30, from 140 to 110, a 21 percent decrease.

Teacher aides dropped by 40, from 163 to 123, a 24 percent decrease.

Creedon said he was releasing the personnel figures to counter claims by some City Council members that the school system has "done nothing" to cut back in light of declining enrollment.

Derbes Bros. Low Bidder On Resurfacing Work

The Derbes Bros. contracting company of 44 Branch St., South Quincy was apparent low bidder on a public works contract for resurfacing various city streets.

Derbes Bros. bid $77,239 on the work, according to the office of Public Works Comm. James J. Ricciuti.

Other bidders were the F.

DeAngelis Co. of 116 Putnam St., Merrymount at $105,204.80 and the Old Colony Crushed Stone and Gravel Co. of 26 Vernon St., West Quincy, at $88,493.15

according to the public works dept.

Those were the only three bidders on the contract, Ricciuti's office said.

Bids were opened at 10:30 a.m.

on Tuesday, Sept. 30.

Acceptance of Derbes Bros. as lowest qualified bidder and awarding of the contract still requires the approval of Mayor Arthur Tobin.

Aquinas Junior College Welcomes 230 Freshmen

Administration, faculty, staff and student leaders at Aquinas Junior College, Milton, recently welcomed 230 freshmen to the college during orientation week.

The activity marked the beginning of the celebration of Aquinas 25th anniversary.

Returning and incoming students met with faculty advisors who distributed class programs and explained the role of academic advisor.

Students were also introduced to new faculty members Margaret Cesario, R.N., M.Ed., medical assisting; Christine Clark, BS, secretarial science; Alice Hanley, BS, secretarial science; S. Carole Lombard, CSJ, theology biological science; S. Rita McCormack, CSJ, theology; and Marie Frazier, M.Ed., research and development of adult education.

The week climaxed with a general assembly during which Sister Mary Louise Morgan, CSJ, spoke on the theme for the anniversary year "Women in Business - Our Business."

Guest speaker was Dorothy Mulcahy Oppenheim, a 1962 Aquinas graduate who went on to further her education and receive an AB degree from Boston University and an MBA degree from Boston College.

Sister Helene Higgins, CSJ, moderator for the Aquinas Student Association, inducted student officers for the year: Kathleen Kelley, president; Donna O'Shea, vice president; Cathleen Kelly, secretary; Joanne Vaughn, treasurer; and Christine Bentley, recording secretary.

Rev. Eugene Sullivan, superintendent of the Archdiocesan schools, was celebrant of the liturgy.

New director of development for the college is David G. Oliver, former director of development, Washington Center, Boston.

Breastfeeding Class At Quincy Hospital

A free breastfeeding class for prospective mothers who are nursing their babies will be held Monday, Oct. 6, at 10 a.m. at the Gordon House, Quincy City Hospital.

Topics covered include whether or not to breastfeed; care of the breasts before and during breastfeeding; adapting breastfeeding to the hospital schedule; nutrition for the nursing mother; establishing a modified demand schedule; expressing and freezing breastmilk; and possible problems and how to deal with them.

To register, call Ann Kurkjian, 848-8564, or Beth Rotondo, 337-8689.

Baby Sitters Course At Houghs Neck Center

Seventh grade boys and girls who would like to become "super sitters" can attend a six-week baby sitting course Fridays at 3 p.m. beginning Oct. 17, at the Houghs Neck Multi Service Community Center 1193 Sea St.

The first class will feature Joan Field, of the 4-H department of the Norfolk Cooperative Extension Service, giving demonstrations and discussing safety and care of young children. A film will also be shown.

Succeeding classes will have talks by a police officer, fire fighter, pediatric nurse, nutritionist and arts and crafts teacher.

There will also be a party for toddlers where members of the class can demonstrate what they have learned, and graduation exercises will conclude the course.

To sign up for the class, which is limited, call Patricia Ridlen at 471-8281.

CANCER PREVENTION ADVANCES

A study by the American Medical Association, which was a new development in the area of cancer detection and prevention, indicates that the incidence of the disease is decreasing in older people. This is a significant advance in the fight against cancer.

"Tumor-associated antigens" which may signal the presence of the disease in the body even before symptoms develop.

Also, among newly announced developments has been a new breast cancer drug, now in the testing stage.

First Parish Church Bill Passes Senate

A bill that would turn historic First Parish Church over to the U.S. National Parks Service has passed the Senate and needs only President Carter's signature to become law.

The measure, which was approved by the Senate late Tuesday afternoon, was expected to reach the President's desk on Monday.

"I can't see how he could fail to sign it," said Sen. Paul Tsongas, who shepherded the bill through the Senate.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly who filed the bill and saw it through the House, and State Sen. Paul D. Harold both urged the President to sign it.

Harold called the White House through David Flynn, a presidential aide from Bridgewater, to place his urgency on record.

Earlier this year, the church congregation voted to donate the structure, which is badly in need of extensive renovations they could not afford, to the U.S. government for preservation.

Part of Donnelly's bill would have the attorney general look into ways in which the congregation could continue to use the church without violating the Constitutional separation of church and state.

Harold said Tsongas told him that the bill barely survived the weekend in the Senate when Sen. Peter Domenici (R-N.M.) tried to amend it to include a Vietnam War Memorial in his state.

"That would have killed the bill," said Harold. "Senators spent all day yesterday (Monday) trying to reason with him to sign off the bill."

Harold said Tsongas told him the chances of Carter signing the bill were enhanced Saturday when a similar bill for the late Dr. Martin Luther King's church in Atlanta was passed.

"Just prior to election, there are political considerations to signing or vetoing a bill that is important in a key area like Massachusetts," said Harold.

Tobin, Two Others Honored For Aid To Mental Health

Mayor Arthur Tobin was among three persons honored Sunday by the South Shore Mental Health Center for their support to mental health.

Also honored were Elizabeth Hourihan of Milton, founder of Volunteers In Action, which aids special needs children and their parents, and Dr. F. Randolph Philbrook of the Randolph Board of Health, cited for his backing of mental health services in the town.

Ruth Paven, president of the South Shore Mental Health Center board of directors, also received a special award noting the completion of her term as president.

Ceremonies were held at Kemper Insurance, North Quincy.

William MacDonald of Quincy, vice president of the center's board of directors, noted that "Although much of the mayor's efforts have been directed toward the revitalization of business and industry, Mayor Tobin has demonstrated that his concerns are much broader.

"Today, the South Shore Mental Health Center honors him as the first mayor of the city to appropriate funding for Adult Outpatient Services so that the men and women of Quincy can benefit from mental health services here in their own community," MacDonald said.

"In the same way, we commend Mayor Tobin for recognizing the importance of providing community outreach services to the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, the Manet Health Center, The Southwest Community Center and the Germantown Service Center. These neighborhoods have benefited from the services provided by the South Shore Mental Health Center and made possible through Community Development Block Grant funds."

Silver Haired Legislature Elected

A State Senator and three State Reps, all over 65 years of age, have been chosen to represent Quincy in the Silver Haired Legislature Nov. 16-19 at the State House.

Katherine Gunning was elected to the Norfolk Senate seat over Henry W. Brook by an unofficial count of 237 to 215. Both are from Quincy.

Elmer Anderson of Quincy captured the Third Norfolk House seat when Mary Cerasoli, mother of State Rep Robert A. Cerasoli, withdrew after suffering a back injury.

Thomas E. Wood defeated Thomas Kenney in the Second Norfolk District by a vote of 62-45. Kenney will attend the legislative session as an alternate delegate.

Blase DeLollis was unopposed in the First Norfolk District.

The three-day session in the State House will deal with questions relating to the needs of senior citizens. The results of their deliberations will be considered by the next session of the real State Legislature.

Phipps St. Hearing Oct. 6

The City Council will hold a public hearing Monday, Oct. 6, at 6:45 p.m. in the Council Chamber on a proposal to change zoning on a portion of Phipps St., Quincy Center, from Residence B to Residence A.

The proposed change would be effective on the easterly side of the street from Nos. 64 to 188 and on the westerly side of the street from Nos. 61 to 193.

The Council will also hold a public hearing the same night at 6:30 p.m. on acceptance of Graham Terrace from Stewart St. to a dead end.

As Others See It Why The Drop?

In Sept. 20th Patriot Ledger
Everyone was asking why?
Quincy's decrease in population
Well, just ask the average guy.
There is no available housing
For a large family to reside.
The apartments that are occupied now,
The rents are climbing sky high.

Blame it on the taxes
Why the landlord keeps raising the rent.
There is no rent control in Quincy
The small paycheck is spent.

The highrise efficiency apartments
Are going up every day
This doesn't help the large families;
It puts them in dismay.

For every professional couple that move to this city.
A family of five move away
To a city that isn't so high to live in -
There's your decrease - wouldn't you say?

In 10 years from now rumor has it
Quincy will be a "rich man's city".
What used to be family oriented?
No children? What a pity.

The children's stores will all move away
Elementary schools will close.
No children playing in the streets
Why hasn't population rose?

Your decrease in population
Is that for every 2 people you lose 5
I myself have to leave this great city
So me and my kids can survive.

I never thought I would ever leave Quincy
A city I loved every day.
So please do something for larger families
Because we really do want to stay.

Quincy Quiz

A pair of brand new winners in the Quincy Quiz this week. T-shirts for the earliest correct answers go to Nancy Noble, 14 Myopia Rd., Wollaston, and Jeanne Nimeskern, 38 Minihaan Lane, West Quincy.

A bumper sticker was won by David Lubarsky, Water St., South Quincy.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. In what section of the city is the Quincy School?
2. What is the name of the Norfolk County Commissioner from Quincy?
3. Name the four cities and towns that make up the Norfolk Senatorial District.
4. What is the significance of the date 1640 on the City Seal of Quincy?
5. What well-known building stands at 79 Coddington St.?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. George R. Riley is the chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Cable Television.
2. Charles A. Ross was Mayor of Quincy from 1933-34 and 1943-49 and a member of the City Council from 1912-15 and 1918-26.
3. Bunker Hill Lane is in the West Quincy section of Quincy.
4. Quincy's five Mayors since the 1958 Plan A charter have been Amelio Della Chiesa, James R. McIntyre, Walter J. Hannon, Joseph J. LaRaia and Arthur H. Tobin.
5. The famous ship that carried President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference was the cruiser USS Quincy.

Clarence Darrow, the famed lawyer, went to law school for only one year. He finished his education on his own.

Curtin's Papers And Memories

The papers of former City Council President Laurence J. Curtin will be presented to the Quincy Historical Society at a reception Nov. 5.

The event, among other things, should stir memories of Quincy's stormy marriage to Plan E in the 1930s and the "good old" much simpler days of the 1930s and 1940s.

The 7:30 p.m. presentation and reception are being hosted by Senator Paul Harold, a close friend of Curtin's, on behalf of the Curtin family and the Quincy Citizens Association. Curtin was a founder and first president of the QCA.

The papers, including a scrapbook of newspaper clippings covering Quincy history during the 1930s and 1940s were given to Harold by Curtin's widow, Margaret, shortly after her husband's death in October, 1979.

Harold will give a 20-minute talk on what Quincy was like in the days when Curtin served on the City Council from 1931-36 and from 1939-42. Curtin was president of the council in 1934 and 1936.

He was considered an orator by many something along the style of James Michael Curley.

Curtin was a man of principle. He spoke out -- often a little too long, thought some critics -- on issues. But you always knew where he stood.

Curtin was a staunch advocate of the Plan A form of city government under which he served in the City Council and became one of the fiercest foes of Plan E which Quincy adopted in 1950.

Plan E -- the city manager form of government -- was born in Staunton, Va., in 1908. Two unsuccessful attempts were made in 1938 and 1940 to bring it to Quincy.

In 1940, then Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, running unopposed for his fourth Plan A term called supporters of Plan E "charter meddlers".

BURGIN

But thanks to Plan E's success in Cambridge the "meddlers" finally won. Plan E was overwhelmingly voted in (17,420 to 7,532) in 1947 to become effective Jan. 2, 1950.

The eye-appealing theme: A business-like government. Better services. Higher wages. Lower taxes.

Quincy residents who read and heard so much about Plan E, settled back to watch the magic. And to eagerly await delivery of all those promises.

Plan E got off to a pretty good start under first city manager William J. Deegan, Jr., 41, who came out of Superior, Wis.

But in May, the tax rate increased $4.20 to $44.20 and a few of the natives started to become restless.

Plan E supporters argued the increase really belonged to the previous Plan A administration.

In 1951, city employees got a $300 pay hike and the tax rate only went up $1.36. The magic seemed to be there.

But then came a $7 hike in 1952.

City Councillors Frank Orcutt, Carl Anderson, David Crowley and then Mayor David McIntosh demanded that Deegan resign. Orcutt, however, later bolted the ouster bloc. Deegan and Plan E looked strong.

ANDERSON

But then Deegan got an indictment against Anderson charging him with six violations of Chapter 43, Section 107 -- interfering with administrative affairs of the city.

A Norfolk County jury deliberated 73 minutes and found Anderson innocent.

But a $3 tax rate drop in 1953 heartened Plan E supporters. In 1954 the tax rate went up $1.20, making the figure an even $52. In 1955, Deegan surprised everyone by announcing he was resigning to enter private industry. Then came another surprise and the crushing blow for Plan E: announcement of an $8.60 tax hike.

Larry Curtin was one of the spearheads in the petition drive to get the question of returning to Plan A on the ballot. They succeeded in 1955 and the voters said "Yes" by a 1,500 vote margin. Plan A would return in 1958.

Curtin's name had become synonymous with Plan A as he also led the vocal attack against Plan E. But, though the voters turned to Plan A they turned to someone else to lead them under that form of government. In 1957 they picked Amelio Della Chiesa over Curtin as the incoming mayor by a 14,953 to 11,615 vote.

Curtin never returned to elected office but never lost his keen interest in Quincy and often resisted the changes others championed.

After his wife and family, Quincy was his big love in life.

JACK LEONE of the North Quincy High football team, who placekicks with a nearly bare foot, now has a nearly bare head to match. Leone, who wears only a sock on his kicking foot, joined several other Red Raider teammates in getting "Mohawk" haircuts, which feature only a brush of hair up the middle of the head. The rest of his head is nearly bare.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENS -- Mrs. Priscilla Denelsbeck of 156 Pine St., Wollaston, thought she had solved the mystery of the "horseless horse" that left hoofprints on McIntyre Mall the other day, as reported here last week.

But she only deepened the mystery. Mrs. Denelsbeck said she and her son, Steven, were standing outside the Bargain Center at 7:30 p.m. on Primary Day when they saw two horses with riders on the Mall.

"The riders looked like police officers," said Mrs. Denelsbeck. "They wore helmets like policemen."

But, as any Quincy Police officer can tell you, that department hasn't chased down a rustler on horseback in years.

Proposition 2½ Our Salvation

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
The opponents of Proposition 2½ are spending large sums of money and firing off salvoes of propaganda in a frenzied attempt to defeat it.

Who are these people to whom 2½ poses such a threat? They are the three Ps of our communities, the Politicians, the Predators, and the Purveyors. The Predators are those who get their money directly from government, such as public employees and aid recipients. Proposition 2½ will put a limit on how much they can receive in increases each year. The Purveyors are the social planners who dream up the multitude of programs and services on which to squander our money, along with the businessmen whose profits depend on lucrative government contracts. The Politicians are those who agree to vote for and to fund these massive outlays of our money. Their survival depends on the votes of the vocal pressure groups among the Predators, and campaign contributions from certain of the Purveyors.

Now certainly not all elected officials, aid recipients, public employees, businessmen or planners fall into these categories, but enough of them do to make it extremely difficult for the rest of us to enact meaningful tax reform legislation. The three Ps will attempt to frighten us in the weeks before election day with dire predictions of our city falling apart if 2½ is passed. That is just so much window-dressing to cover up their own greed, inept management, and their lack of concern for us, the sheep they are shearing.

Proposition 2½ will be the salvation of those of us who are now being forced to carry the burden of this burgeoning welfare state on our backs. This is what the parasitic Ps fear. There won't be so much in the trough for them to feed on.

What Is One?

Trying To Find The Missing 4,000

By FRANK MORTIMER

You probably knew that the U.S. Census Bureau recently stunned city officials with the news that Quincy's population dropped by more than 4000 over the past 10 years.

You probably know that a short count will cost the city in federal aid.

What you don't know is that my 8-year-old son and I have been out looking for the Missing Thousands.

It hasn't been easy.

First, there's the problem of deciding just what a missing person looks like. In certain police matters, we knew, a photo or composite drawing is issued, and the search is on. But Quincy's census problem is a unique case. All we're told is that in a period when 5000 housing units were built, a like number of citizens disappeared.

Very puzzling. But the Census Bureau had a ready explanation. They said that while housing went up, the number of people in the houses went down. Exact sounding figures were given: the bureau claimed that in 1970 a unit was occupied by an average of 3.1 persons; but in 1980, only 2.4 persons dwelled in the same place.

In short, roughly one-half a person had vanished from every house in Quincy.

It wasn't much to go on.

We began our search in the YMCA ballpark. The place is often good for a crowd. Sure enough, there was a game going. The bleachers were packed. But we saw no one who looked even vaguely uncounted.

The men on the field all wore bright uniforms, and shouted things like "come on, Baby, no batter no batter..." Even a bleary-eyed census taker couldn't miss them.

As for the fans, well, if you heard the uproar during a disputed call by the umpire, you'd know the census takers didn't miss a one. Never had we seen a group more willing to rise and be counted.

We watched for half an hour. The game was fun. But scanning faces for we-knew-not-what tired us out. When the last fly ball was caught, we went for a coke and headed home.

We walked in the dark. Jay was silent. I knew something was bothering him. I asked how he liked the ballgame.

"I liked the game. But I wish we found some of those lost people."

"So do I, Jay."

"But I knew we'd never find any."

"Why not?"

"Because we only looked. We didn't ask anybody if they're one of the Missing People."

"You think we should have done that?"

He shook his head yes. Clearly, he had taken our game to heart. And I had to make a decision: either go public, ask The Question to complete strangers, or tell my son that our games are somehow less serious, less important than baseball.

We were passing the Vo Tech tennis courts. A man and woman were alone on the court, playing a hard game. Actually, only the man was playing hard. His white shirt was soaked with sweat. The woman seemed cool as a cucumber. She wore little green pom poms on her socks, and the ornaments were no sign of weakness. She drilled the ball about a hundred miles an hour. The man was no match for her serves. In fact, he was on the verge of collapse.

"Should we ask them?" I said to Jay.

He nodded, and smiled, and slipped his coke.

We stepped boldly onto the court.

The man saw us approaching, and stopped. The serve bounced by him. He didn't seem to care. He dropped to one knee, and rested.

"Sir," I called, "ah Sir..."

"Huh?" he replied.

"Sir, my son and I are looking for some missing people."

"Puff. I dunno. I dunno any missing people."

"Well, are you a Quincy resident?"

"Yea...sure...Wollaston...why?"

The man picked himself up, and removed his sweatband. His black hair hung over his face.

"Were you counted in the census this year?"

"I can't remember."

No sale.

Jay watched carefully. I figured he was getting a few pointers on interview technique.

But when I gave up, he spoke.

"Mister, would you like some tonic?"

The man took the can gratefully. He drank deep, drank every drop. A trickle of coke ran down his chin.

"Thanks, kid."

"You're welcome. You look like one of the Missing People. Are you?"

The man smiled for the first time, then looked across the net.

"Hey, Karen, the kid wants to know if the census takers missed us."

The woman twirled her racket. "What census takers?"

Jay turned to me, wide-eyed. A smile came to his lips. I nodded an returned his smile.

He drew a tiny school pad from his hip pocket. Uncle Sam, chalk up two.

Now for the Missing 3,098.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Quincy Patrolman Alfred Hollis Slain By Burglar

Patrolman Alfred N. Hollis of 49 Smith St., West Quincy, was shot and killed by a burglar th, he and his partner, Patrolman John Fitzgerald, surprised while attempting to crack a safe in Pill Brothers hardware store, 1620 Hancock St.

Hollis was watching the rear entrance to the store while Fitzgerald entered the front door when the burglar came storming out the back way with his gun blazing and vanished in the darkness down Mechanic St. at 4:45 a.m.

He was the first Quincy policeman to be gunned down in the line of duty.

Mayor Thomas J. McGrath immediately offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of the popular patrolman who had been a reserve officer on the Quincy Police Department since the spring of 1926.

In three days, a relief fund reached $2,217.11 for Hollis' widow, Mary, and their three children, Dorothy 10, Geraldine 4, and Marjorie 3, and a benefit show featuring 15 acts of vaudeville and the 40-piece Boston Police Band was set for the Quincy Theater.

WOMAN COUNCILLOR DUE

City Council President Thomas S. Burgin, filling in for ailing Mayor Thomas J. McGrath in a speech to the Quincy City Federation of Women's Clubs, predicted that the time had come for Quincy to have a woman on the City Council.

"She is fitted to occupy a place in state and city affairs," he said, "owing to the fact that she has a broad outlook on things pertaining to government and her viewpoint is altogether different from that of the business man."

Mrs. Edna M. Lints, 64, Police Chiefs' Secretary

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for Mrs. Edna M. (Morris) Lints, 64, of Wollaston, retired secretary to two Quincy police chiefs.

She died Sept. 26 in Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Lints, who was also an honorary sheriff of Norfolk County, became secretary to Chief William Ferrazzi March 1, 1954, and retired May 17, 1978, as secretary to Chief Francis X. Finn.

A native of Boston, she was the daughter of the late State Sen. Edward G. Morris of South Boston; for many years public address announcer for sporting events at Harvard Stadium.

Mrs. Lints was a graduate of Quincy High School and lived in Wollaston for 60 years. She was the widow of the late Albert

MRS. EDNA LINTS

F. Lints.

She leaves three brothers, Herbert F. Morris, Charles J. Morris and Edward R. Morris, all of Wollaston, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Morrissey, also of Wollaston.

Burial will be in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Breeda Zulick, 54, Former First National Cashier

A funeral Mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. at St. Francis of Assisi Church, South Braintree, for Breeda (Hutton) Zulick, 54, of Quincy, former cashier for First National Stores.

Mrs. Zulick died Monday at a Braintree nursing home after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Ireland.

She is survived by her husband, Paul Zulick; five sisters, Mrs.

Maureen DerKinderen of Weymouth, Mrs. Josephine Quinn of Braintree, Mrs. Anna DerKinderen of Plymouth, Mrs. Angela Flaherty of Mansfield, and Mrs. Vera Joyce of Malden; and several nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in the New Braintree Cemetery.

Visiting hours were scheduled for last night (Wednesday), 7 to 9 p.m. at the Cartwright-Venuti Funeral Home, 845 Washington St., South Braintree.

John J. Turowski, Jr., 64 Retired Cable Leader At Shipyard

A funeral Mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. at Most Blessed Sacrament Church for John J. Turowski, Jr., 64, a retired cable leader at Fore River Shipyard.

He died Monday at Norfolk County Hospital Braintree.

Born in Boston, Mr. Turowski had lived in Quincy most of his life. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, AFL-CIO.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.

Helen (Marengi) Turowski; five sons, John J. Turowski III of Nashua, N.H., Joseph G. Turowski of Abington, Theodore M. Turowski of Weymouth, Peter F. Turowski and Paul Turowski, both of Quincy; a brother, Walter Terry of Falmouth; three sisters, Helen Terry and Evelyn Elms, both of Stamford, Conn., and Genevieve Thomas of Mashpee; and 10 grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St.

'Port Of Call' Series Starts Oct. 9 At Covenant Congregational

Rev. Mr. Willard E. Grant will captain the imaginary ship, "Star of the East" during a five night series for local children and youth, "Port of Call", Oct. 5 to 9, at Covenant Congregational Church, Quincy Center.

Background for the series, which will be held nightly 7 to 8:15 p.m., is the history of the clipper ship, "Star of the East" will call at ports in New York, Mexican San Diego, the Sandwich Islands, China and Alaska, a route well known to early clippers.

With Rev. Grant will be his wife, Margaret, with whom he has been a youth evangelist since 1955.

"Port of Call" is the Grant's ninth theme to be the gospel graphically and creatively. The program includes child participation, visualized songs, chalk talks and 22 marionettes, carved by Rev. Grant, who travel the high seas, stopping at a different port each night.

The Grants will appear nightly in costumes such as those worn by the clipper ship captain and his wife. Authentic ships' artifacts will be used throughout the week.

Aim of the event is to encourage youth to turn the ship of their life around to Christ and let him be their pilot.

Rev. Fred M. Lawson, pastor of Covenant Congregational, invites parents to attend nightly with the youth.

All will be urged to return to their own churches after the series.

'Choosing Your Identity'

Sermon At Squantum Church

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum, preached the third in a series of sermons Sunday on the life of Jesus, "Choosing Your Identity", based on the story of Jesus' baptism.

The Senior Choir sang "The Lone, Wild Bird" set to a Southern folk tune by David N. Johnson. Ushers were Tore Wallin, Steven Williams, Bonnie Adams, Susan Midram, Paul Paulson and Sandra Ahearn.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ida VonRiegels, Pat Myers, Dorothy Abbe and Janet Summer.

Next Sunday is Worldwide Communion Sunday and the service begins at 10:15 a.m.

A new church group, the Christian Parents' Group, met for the first time last week. Rev. Dr. Langevin spoke on "Stages In The Life Of A Child."

In his talk, Dr. Langevin explained the significance of the work of the late Swiss psychologist Jean Piaget for Christian parents.

The next meeting of the group is Oct. 22 at 8 p.m. The topic will be, "Raising Kids With A Sense Of Right And Wrong." There is no charge to attend.

Program At St. John's Oct. 8

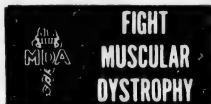

On Women In Religion

"Women of promise", a multimedia program on Catholic Women in religion, will be presented Oct. 8 at Seton House (formerly St. John's Convent) at 8 p.m.

The program, prepared for the Leadership Conference of Women Religious, will be shared with St. John's Parish by Sisters Frances Fay and Mary Cox.

The program is sponsored by St. John's Adult Religious Education Committee and all are invited. Seton House is located at 26 Phipps St., Quincy Center.

ALL Memorial gifts promptly memorialized without charge.

W. Quincy Congregational Marks 85th Anniversary

West Quincy Congregational Church, 47 Buckley St., celebrated its 85th anniversary last week-end with public officials and other invited guests joining church members in services and fellowship.

Saturday evening's service began with opening remarks by Rev. Keijo I. Aho, church pastor since 1959. Greetings were expressed by Sen. Paul Harold, Councillor James Sheets, Rev. Robert Duncan of South Shore Evangelical Mission Conference Churches, Rev. James Kimmel, of Faith Lutheran Church, Toivo Tuori, of Ujas Kaito Temperance Society; and Rev. John Haverinen, church pastor from 1942 to 1953.

Also during the service, the new church piano was played for the first time.

Following the service, the Sonsearchers Musical Group of Gardner, directed by Ray Haapaaia, performed and refreshments were served in the church hall.

Sunday's service had former pastor Rev. Haverinen, of South Paris, Me., giving the sermon. Special music was by the Singing Churchmen.

Jumalanpalvelusjulistys (order of Worship) was held in the evening.

The church began with 10 members in 1895 and membership grew during the first half of the century as the Finnish population in Quincy grew rapidly.

Women of the church formed the Ladies' Aid Society and also organized were a Boy Scout troop, Christian Endeavor Society, Sunday School and Daily Vacation Bible School in summer as well as other groups.

To accommodate the growing membership, the church was enlarged and renovated twice.

Fifty year members of the church are John E. Ojala, Urho Ojala, Vaino Nivala, Hugh W. Stentors, Karl S. Hourula, Mamie Hakkarainen, Aili Hourula, Urho Riihimäki, Edna Stenfors, Ethel Ovaska, Klaara Riihimäki, Lillian Rollins, Fred Huovinen, Arthur Riihimäki, Adeline Ray and Jenny Wainionpaa.

Openings For St. Chrysostom's Day Care

St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center, Inc., One Linden St., Wollaston, announces a few openings are still available for the fall term which begins Monday, Oct. 6.

The center is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 9 to 11:30 a.m. and is for children three to five years old.

The curriculum includes arts and crafts, music, games and basic skills instruction. Emphasis is on working with children in small groups within a caring context.

For more information, call the church office Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays at 472-0737.

New Brownie Troop Meets At Memorial Congregational Church

A new Brownie troop with 13 members was recently formed in North Quincy and is meeting every Wednesday at Memorial Congregational Church.

Troop members who officially become Girl Scouts Nov. 12, at an investiture ceremony, are: Lisa Bruno, Kristen Coleman, Lisa Drennan, Mara Graham, Pauline Hamilton, Jennifer Hogan, Kristen Joyce, Noreen Livingstone, Laurie Lund, Ann Marie Milone, Tina Parsley, Tracy Rappellis and Heather Ann Watson.

Leadership and supervision is by Linda Lund, Lucy Toohey, (a 45 year member of the Girl Scouts) and Debra Milone.

Mary Hamilton is chairperson for the Girl Scout calendars being sold by the Brownies. Debra Milone is Girl Scout cookie chairwoman. Cookie sale orders will be taken in January, 1981.

Among the events planned by the troop are: a Halloween costume party for children, of the Alice Burke Nursery School, a Christmas time visit to Oceanside Nursing Home to distribute gifts and sing carols; and trips to Quincy City Hospital, the Quincy Police Station and Logan Airport.

Concert At Central Baptist

Mrs. Wayne Berg Bradley, recording artist and speaker, will be featured in a concert Sunday, Oct. 5, at 6 p.m. at Central Baptist Church, 65 Washington St., Quincy Center.

A resident of Bloomington, Minn., Mrs. Bradley is a grandmother who works with teens and college students, particularly international students.

Active in Christian women's clubs and other organizations, Mrs. Bradley will also present a ladies' seminar, "Free to Be Me" Monday, Oct. 6, 9:30 to 3 p.m.

The public is invited to both events.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S.

Good nutrition is essential to good health. Good health includes good teeth, clean breath and strong gums. A balanced diet includes milk products, eggs, meat for other protein, fresh vegetable and fruit and grains and cereals. Milk products supply minerals, high quality protein and vitamins A and D. Eggs and meat, as well as beans and nuts, provide high quality protein, iron and vitamin B complex. Fresh vegetables and fruit supply more minerals and vitamins, especially vitamins A and C. Grains and whole or fortified cereals provide vitamin B complex.

Provide your family with a good experience with dentistry when you encourage regular visits to a carefully chosen family dentist. At the office of DANIEL P.

SWEENEY, D.D.S. we can teach you how plaque works. It's the number 1 cause of dental decay and gum disease which in turn is the cause of tooth loss. Plaque can be removed with proper brushing and flossing. When left to remain on the teeth it eats into the tooth causing decay and inflames the gums causing gum diseases which causes bone loss and thus tooth loss. We can present this process with your cooperation. Fight the cause of tooth loss and keep your teeth—they're nice things to have! 539 Adams St., East Milton Square, 698-2656.

DENTAL TIP:

Natural sugar in fruits and such are ample for the average diet without having to add refined sugars.

Comer Says:

Proposition 2½ Would Cost City $33.5 Million Tax Revenue

Passage of Proposition 2½ in the Nov. 4 referendum would cost the Quincy city treasury more than $33.5 million, including $11.5 million the very first year.

Those are the figures put together by Chief Assessor John P. Comer.

Proposition 2½ — actually it's Question 2 on the November ballot — would limit the tax levy on real and personal property to 2.5 percent of the full and fair cash value of all property.

The full and fair value of all the property in Quincy, based on the state's equalization formula, is $1,147,000,000 even though the tax rate is based on about $280 million.

That means, said Comer, that the most property taxes the city could levy would be $28,675,000 or 2.5 percent of the more than $1 billion.

The tax levy for fiscal 1980 was $62,289,355, pointing to a loss of $33,614,355.

But, under Proposition 2½, the new tax cap would be phased in at a rate of 15 percent per year until the 2.5 percent is achieved, in Quincy's case over a period of about five years.

Thus the first year's loss to the treasury on the tax levy would be $9,343,403.

Proposition 2½ also trims the auto excise tax from $66 to $25 per $1000 of adjusted market value.

The loss to Quincy in excise taxes for the year is estimated by Comer at $2.2 million, which, added to the $9.3 million, would reduce the city's tax levy by $11,543,403.

What happens in Quincy if Proposition 2½ is passed — and is not repealed or amended or otherwise tampered with by the State Legislature?

"I would call a staff meeting," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, "and we would eliminate all those areas of city government that are not really mandated to run the city."

"Then we would get into the larger areas and trim them too, starting with the things that would be the least disruptive."

He declined to speculate on which of the major areas of city government would be sacrificed to Proposition 2½.

"I don't know if it's going to pass," he said, "but I can see a lot of people voting for it."

"A person whose gross salary is being eaten away by taxes is not going to stop to look at the ramifications for the city. He's going to vote his pocketbook."

"Listen to the homeowners and the senior citizens sometime. They want tax relief. They are not interested in what the teachers want. They don't worry about its effects on fire, police, nurses, etc. They just want tax relief and if this is the way to get it they'll vote for it."

One way to get around Proposition 2½ is to place as many city services on a "pay as you go" basis through revolving accounts, reserves for appropriation and detail funds.

As City Auditor Charles L. Shea explains it:

A revolving account is one in which the money that is paid for a service can be spent as it comes in to pay bills. The amount is reported no action by the city is needed to spend it.

An example of a revolving account is the school lunch program.

A reserve for appropriation is an account in which the money taken in can be spent only after it is appropriated out of the account by the City Council.

An example of a reserve for appropriation account is the parking meter fund through which the nickels, dimes and quarters taken in from the meters are disbursed.

A detail fund is similar to a revolving account in which a company pays the city for the services of a city worker, such as a policeman, who is in turn paid by the city out of the account.

In recent months, the city has attempted to prepare for a limited tax levy by contracting such work as street cleaning and management of the city dump.

"It's one way to try to give maximum service and still lessen to tax burden," said Tobin. "But it's a two-edged sword. If there's only so much money to go around, how much can you contract out?"

Adolescent Sexuality Seminar At Manet Center

A four week seminar on adolescent sexuality begins Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Manet Community Health Center, 1193 Sea St., Houghs Neck.

Aim of the sessions is to help parents communicate with their children about issues of adolescent sexuality.

Information will be presented through informal lectures, films, tapes and literature. There will also be time for questions and discussions.

The seminar will be moderated by Joan Penney of Family Planning Services of the South Shore.

Registration is necessary as class size is limited.

For more information, contact Joan Penney at 471-8727.

Police Not Soliciting Funds

Quincy Police are in no way involved in soliciting funds for the Roy Radin's Vaudeville Show, the Celebrity Playhouse and P.M. Marketing, says Police Chief Francis X. Finn.

"We do not encourage any contributions in any way this promotion," he said.

Any claims that the Police Department, the Quincy Police Betterment Association, the Quincy Police Relief Association and the Quincy Auxiliary are connected with the fund-raising are false, he said.

Quincy Cooperative Has Option To Purchase Quincy Motor Property

The Quincy Cooperative Bank has taken an option to purchase the property of the defunct Quincy Motor Co. on Quincy Ave. as a new headquarters for the 91-year-old financial institution.

President and Board Chairman John R. Herbert said that the present downtown Quincy office at 1259 Hancock St., will be maintained whether or not the bank buys the new location.

The Quincy Motor Co., the oldest Ford dealership on the South Shore, went out of business June 27 after nearly 60 years.

The property consists of two acres of land on the west side of Quincy Ave. with a colonial style building that has about 25,000 square feet of space.

"The rapid growth of the Quincy Cooperative Bank over the past five years, with an increase of assets of more than $43 million, has necessitated more banking space," said Herbert.

He said the bank has taken a two month option to buy which expires Nov. 15.

"We are actually buying time to look at the property," said Herbert. "During the option period, the bank will study the property for its feasibility as to bank use."

The Quincy Cooperative Bank, one of the earliest cooperative banks in the state when it was founded in 1889, has branches in Braintree, Hanover, Cohasset and at 1000 Southern Artery, Quincy Point.

Fall brings ideas to spruce up home

'80s may be "now" generation for remodeling, says the NHIC

It all started when President Eisenhower declared, "'56 is the year to fix" and the National Home Improvement Council was born.

All across America contractors and do-it-yourselfers remodeled, redid and repaired.

According to NHIC President Eugene B. Squires, the 1980s may be the decade to fix.

"High mortgage rates and rising inflation are causing the homeowner to take a second look at his home and to consider doing some improvements instead of moving," said Squires.

"Over $42 billion was spent on home improvement in 1979, and by 1985 we expect that figure to reach $90 billion," Squires continued.

"The home improvement field is fast becoming the growth industry in the real estate market. If current trends continue, 1980 may be the first year expenditures on home improvements and maintenance exceed expenditures on new home building," said Squires.

Why are people willing to remodel when money is so tight and the economy so shaky?

Home best investment

Because a house is the largest investment a family is likely to make, homeowners are "investing in their investment" by upgrading their homes.

Since a new house may be out of reach due to high mortgage rates, some consumers are taking this opportunity to transform their present home into the "dream" house they might otherwise have bought.

By-product of times

And, as more homeowners heed the "don't move, improve" slogan, the modernization of whole neighborhoods may be the happy by-product of these uncertain economic times.

Another reason lies in rising energy costs. Consumers are thinking twice about moving into a "bigger and better" house that will probably be accompanied by bigger utility bills. Instead, they're retrofitting their present homes for energy efficiency.

Popular projects

According to NHIC's Green Book of Home Improvement Contractors, the most popular home improvement projects are re-insulation, re-roofing, re-siding, replacement windows, storm doors and windows.

Revitalization of inner-city neighborhoods represents yet another reason why home improvements are booming.

Custom features

The charm of older homes lies in their custom features, such as carved wood moldings, high ceilings, hardwood floors and spacious rooms.

The recycling ethic of making the best use of the resources we already have motivates many consumers to buy these older homes for less, with the idea of spending more money to remodel and update.

A final reason why homeowners are remodeling is due to the normal maintenance and upkeep requirements of any home.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

BLUE ALUMINUM SIDING gave this large older house a smart, contemporary appearance. The soft color, combined with white aluminum trim and aluminum-framed windows, helped to dramatize the building's architectural style. Remodeling with low-maintenance aluminum eliminated the need for periodic repainting of the exterior.

New siding can save you the cost of periodic repainting

If your home exterior needs painting, look into residing instead. It will enhance its appearance, eliminate the need for expensive periodic repainting and save you money. For instance, it costs $1500 to paint the outside of your home and you repaint now and then every four years, you'll have a 13-year bill of $4500. That's at today's prices. But, an inflation rate of only 10 percent a year, low by current calculations, would raise that cost to over $11,000. Contrast this to high quality aluminum siding finishes, which are now warranted to last up to 40 years. Over the last three decades, aluminum siding has been used to remodel over 12,000,000 homes. Increasingly, new homes are being surfaced with the metal because of its proven durability and resistance to corrosion and cracking. Aluminum siding is even being used to restore historical landmark houses.

In addition to freeing homeowners from the expense and chore of repainting, aluminum siding offers wide decorative choices. It comes in various styles to suit any type of architecture, and in a wide range of colors and textures.

Just make sure the style and color you choose are right for your house and that the house will blend well with neighboring ones.

Aluminum siding comes in eight-inch panels, which are the most popular for contemporary homes, and in double-four-inch panels (an eight-inch panel that has the appearance of two four-inch panels), which are well-suited to traditional or Colonial-style architecture.

Both are available in smooth or textured finishes. Horizontal is most commonly used but, for variety, vertical aluminum siding can be effective.

Vertical siding can be used to accent the gables of Colonial-type homes or to give a board and batten appearance to modern or rustic type houses.

Colors in aluminum siding run the gamut from white and pastels to deep reds, blues, greens, dark browns and earth tones. Currently, ivory, cream and beige are most favored among homeowners, with yellow, gold, brown and blue close runners-up.

New, livelier colors, including blue-greens and bright yellows, have been introduced by aluminum siding manufacturers this year. The variety of these aluminum siding colors cannot be matched in vinyl plastic siding.

Because soffit, fascia and other aluminum trim are also available in a wide range of colors, you can either match them to the siding or choose a complementary color.

Beige or cream color siding with brown trim is very effective, as is brown, gold or blue siding with white trim. Color trim can also accent white siding attractively.

Color combinations are particularly pleasing in embossed siding, which has become as popular as smooth surface aluminum finishes.

There are textures which simulate wood grains so realistically that it is virtually impossible to distinguish the aluminum siding from wood without going up and touching it.

They are being used extensively in new homes surfaced with aluminum siding, as well as for remodeling older homes.

Wood-grain effects are achieved by embossing and by new two-tone coating systems which give a more pronounced wood grain appearance from a distance. Some even have the texture of a natural sawmill wood.

In recent years, due to the need for energy conservation, most remodeling has featured insulated siding. It helps to keep heat inside the house and makes you more comfortable.

There are different kinds of insulation available, and you should know enough about them to determine which will do the best job in your home.

Insulating systems are measured by thermal resistance values (R values) and the higher the number the better the insulation properties.

Aluminum siding over a foam plastic board and reflector foil is particularly efficient, with an R factor of 5.

A polystyrene backer and one layer of foil has a 2.5-3.0 R value. Hollow-backed aluminum siding with a fiberboard backer, providing an R value of 1.4, is next best.

Uninsulated siding of any material rates an R value of less than one and has little insulating value.

To achieve maximum benefits from aluminum siding and from insulating materials, the caulking around windows and doors must be done properly before trim and accessories are added to the siding.

Thus, the quality of the job and the expertise of the installer makes your choice of a contractor as important as the type of siding you select.

Look at new homes being constructed with aluminum siding, check with neighbors and friends who have had their homes re-sided.

Rigid vinyl, a product of space-age technology, is impervious to the elements. It won't peel, crack, rot, pit or corrode, and will maintain its bright, clean finish for years. Precision extrusions form structural frame members that do not expand or contract due to changes in temperature or humidity. The result is a superior air-tight window. Hollow extruded channels form insulated air pockets and the totally non-conductive property of rigid vinyl creates a window that offers a most effective insulating barrier to the most severe weather conditions.

MAKE MONEY BY SIMPLY INSULATING YOUR HOME.

Yes! . . . We did say "make" money which can be turned around to say you'll be losing more than heat if you don't insulate.

At the end of this ad is a chart which will give you a good idea of what your own individual insulating effort will mean

Look at it as . . . "conservation" . . . "national spirit" . . . or just as dollars, the advantages are astounding!

TYPICAL SAVINGS . . .

As an example—consider a single home in the Quincy area (two full stories, usual number of rooms, walk-up attic), install 8" of mineral wool insulation and your savings will approach 25%. This is not an arbitrary figure, our customers are saving this much. Add insulation to reach this depth and your savings are about 20%. With full insulation in the attic and walls, saving 40% is entirely realistic.

And how much will it cost to save 25% on heating and cooling bills? . . . about $650 for an average 1,000 square foot attic.

A BONUS . . .

Actually the money saving is not only in oil or gas . . . you get more . . . from Uncle Sam. You can deduct 15% of what you spend from the bottom line of your income tax form. (That's about $100 on the average job).

Any local bank is likely to lend you the money to do the job resulting in payments that will be lower each month than what you would have spent for oil. Each month, year after year, you'll be saving 25%. At today's oil prices that amounts to a lot of money . . . at tomorrow's prices it could be a small fortune.

We've been in this business long enough for people to trust our judgement. Basically there's only one material we want you to consider . . . Mineral Wool (sometimes called Rock Wool). It's 100% natural, will not corrode, or cause fire and it doesn't settle or sink. Mineral Wool has no odor and is not a health hazard. It is also vermin proof and efficient.

Not every company has the sophisticated equipment necessary to inject Mineral Wool (so they may try to sell you some other less effective product). Beware!

We blow the wool into your attic under the floor. We do it in one day and there is no inconvenience to you—you don't even have to move anything out of your attic. The Frank Evans Company has served thousands of South Shore families. We can provide you with references and statements on customer's actual savings.

KEEPING THE AREA AROUND A HEAT PUMP clear of shrubbery is one way to increase the efficiency of this unit, which absorbs heat from the outside air in its outside coil during the winter and transfers it indoors (left). In the summer, the process is reversed so that heat from inside the house is transferred to the outside (right). Installing a heat pump above an area's normal snow line also is important, according to BDP Company.

Small time, money investments pay off in lower heating costs

Small investments in time or money can help keep home heating costs under control.

- Take time to open draperies on south-facing windows. On sunny days you can take advantage of solar heat — for free. Close the draperies or shades when the sun is no longer warming the glass — it will help insulate the window area.
- Check furnace filters once a month. Replacing dirty filters is a fast job — if you have extra filters on hand. Even if your furnace is equipped with permanent filters, keep the throw-away kind around to use in the furnace while the permanent filters are being washed and dried.

Wash with water

In warm weather they can be cleaned with a hose in the driveway. Use the laundry tub after the hose is put away for the winter.

- Take a few minutes to trim the shrubbery near a heat pump. Landscaping may conceal a unit, but it also can reduce essential air movement. Leaves and twigs from nearby plants can cause damage if they are sucked into the heat pump.
- Don't let snow pile up around your heat pump. The heat pump should have been installed above the normal snow line, but snow isn't always normal.
- Close the overhead doors of an attached garage, even if you might be going out again in the next half hour.
- After the fireplace fire is out, close the damper.
- Set up a regular annual schedule with your furnace service dealer to check your heating system. Equipment that is running at its best uses less energy, whether it is gas, oil or electricity.

• Ask your heating service dealer about a thermostat timer. If prospects of returning home to a cold house have prevented you from turning down the heat while gone all day, such a timer could solve the problem. It also can turn the thermostat down at night.

• Cover unused electrical outlets with the type of plugs used to prevent children from playing with outlets. These caps will help keep heat from escaping.

• Caulk windows and doors. This should be an annual event.

Additional measures

If you are making major changes in your home, such as remodeling a kitchen or replacing the heating and cooling system, these are additional measures you can take:

- Adequate insulation and either double glazed windows or storm windows are extremely important.
- If your laundry equipment or water heater is in an unheated garage, consider moving it indoors. The heat these appliances generate can help warm your home — and they will probably operate more efficiently as well.
- Locate heating equipment in the occupied space of a house and run ducts in the occupied space whenever possible.

Wood lower doors meet challenge

Whether as closet doors, room dividers or decorative accents, wood lower doors are as practical as they are beautiful. They are ideal for areas that are too cramped for ordinary doors. Narrow hallways, small foyers and cramped baths or laundry rooms are examples.

Available as folding or sliding units, they are practical alternatives to conventional swing out doors since both louver styles require less floor clearance.

Either fully or partially lowered, wood lower doors are excellent choices for rooms subject to high humidity such as kitchens and laundry rooms. That's because the louvers permit air to circulate.

Several doors can be hinged together to run on an overhead track, or they can be left free standing. Either way, they can create a decorative and functional room divider.

Whether you decide to stain wood lower doors to enhance their natural beauty or paint them to complement or contrast with room colors, lower doors add an attractive accent to any room's decor, from Colonial to contemporary.

Stock wood lower doors, along with necessary hardware, are available at local lumber dealers and building supply stores.

Time To Insulate Now

Now is the time, with winter coming and fuel costs rising to think about insulating your home, reminds the Frank Evans Co.

According to estimator Rick Loud, there are many things the homeowner can do to tighten up the home and save on energy costs.

Among them are caulking around windows, weatherstripping doors, stuffing insulation around pipes at the point of entry into the home and stuffing insulation into spaces between the main sill of the house and the foundation.

The next place to think about would be the attic. Attic insulation is very important and can account for up to 25 percent saving on your energy cost, according to Loud. If your attic is easily accessible and does not have a sub-floor you can buy rolls of 6" fibre-glass insulation and do the job yourself. If your attic has a sub-floor you will have to take the boards up to do the job.

If the job seems to big for you, then it's time to call in a professional insulation contractor, who will give you his professional opinion as to the best way to insulate your home and the cost of the work.

Dual purpose bedroom

DESIGNERS Nancy Walne and Cheryl Ross give dual purpose to an upstairs bedroom. With a bed at one side, it is ideal for guests. But its chief use is the inspired treatment of one wall making it not only decorative, but also an ideal storage system for the home sewer. The work table is a simple system of boards over equally simple orange crate-like support units. Shelves are repeated on the wall above. And, running from corner to corner is a diagonal slash of pegboard to hold spoons of thread, scissors and tapes. Pink is used for all storage against a wall of bright blue. The same color combination is repeated at the window with blue valance and apple pink blinds. A white sheer curtain at the window is a device to add height to the window.

Make home a dream

Picture your dream house. Is it a sprawling ranch house, a dignified 20th century townhouse, or a Cape Cod style clapboard house? Is it modern or traditional, or a mixture of both? What about the interior? Do you picture cozy rooms with fieldstone or brick fireplaces, or do you imagine ultra-modern, streamlined furniture?

Is the view from the living room window an expanse of trees, or the hustle and bustle of city streets far below?

As you take stock of this, you will begin to realize the sort of person you are — and the sort of home in which you would like to be living.

If the latter is relatively close in style to your present abode, great!

If not, now may be the time to think about changing it, to fit in with your ideal.

Whether your changes are as major as remodeling or residing your home, or as small as the purchase of a few new knick-knacks to display in the living room, they'll make you feel "at-home."

Turn plain into fancy

When working with wood moulding, a finishing job well done can transform a just-completed project into one with the look of elegance.

• Since there are many finishes on the market, the most important step is to read and follow the manufacturer's directions for application.

Some examples of finishes are stain, varnish, lacquer, an finishing paint (water based or oil based, wax and oils).

• Prepare the wood surface properly before applying any finish. Use wood filler to cover cracks or nail holes, etc. After the stain is applied, sand with fine sandpaper for a smoother surface.

• Water-based paints do not work well on raw wood because the moisture tends to raise the grain of the wood resulting in a rough finish.

Smooth the surface between coats of finish with steel wool or extra fine sandpaper. A rag will remove the dust after sanding.

• Textures can be applied to the wood for special effects. Some common ones are brushing with a wire brush, scorching the wood with a torch or flame and then brushing out some of the sootwood to provide contrast.

Scrapers, wire brushes, combs or can openers can be used to take the finish to give the wood a rough texture. A light sanding will eliminate splinters, but be careful not to oversand and ruin the texture.

Tips for homeowners on maintaining gas furnaces

It will come as no surprise that the cost of heating a home will be more this winter than last.

One of the biggest users of fuel in any home is the furnace. In 1979 three out of four furnaces sold were gas fueled. The key to maintaining the efficiency of the home furnace is regular attention to a few simple maintenance procedures.

Clean or replace the filter

The most important step is to regularly clean or replace the air filter. Permanent filters should be cleaned at least once a season and checked periodically. Replaceable filters should be changed once a month during the heating season.

According to Richard Prendergast, manager of heating and cooling products for Amana, "The furnace will run hotter with dirty filters because less air is passing over the heat exchanger. The hotter the system runs, the more heat losses there are to the surroundings and up the flue."

Clean air registers

Another routine maintenance procedure is cleaning air registers (including the return air register).

Restricted air flow causes a build-up of pressure in the home heating system, leading to heat loss and more work for the furnace fan motor.

Besides saving energy, these routine chores will extend the life of a furnace and help reduce costly repair bills.

The price of service calls average about $35 to $50, depending on the area. The consumer can save these costs if they normally maintain the product.

A qualified technician will adjust the pilot light, check burner temperature, fuel pressure, electrical parts and proper voltage supply.

Check energy efficiency when buying furnace

If you find that your furnace needs to be replaced, there is a bright side. Many of today's new models feature electronic ignition that can save considerable energy costs over older, pilot-light models.

The FTC also requires that "Energy Guide" labels be affixed by manufacturers to home heating products, including furnaces.

These labels advise the homeowner to see the furnace dealer's "Energy Guide." This booklet compares the energy efficiency of a particular furnace with other similarly sized furnaces available on the market.

Further, the consumers can estimate the annual cost of operation for the furnace. Even though high efficiency furnaces may have a higher price tag, its lower cost of operation can result in an overall cost saving during the life of the product.

In short, it pays the homeowner to perform regular maintenance to keep the furnace running efficiently and dependably. When a service call is required, let a qualified technician do the work.

If a replacement furnace is needed, the consumer can use the "Energy Guide" to compare the efficiency and estimate the operating cost of the new furnace.

Marriage of old young revitalizes neighborhoods

Tight money has caused the rise of a new kind of May-December marriage: the union of older, run-down homes with young, energetic couples.

Young couples, more often equipped with vitality and imagination than lots of cash, are buying older — less expensive — homes.

Most agree it's a marriage made in heaven.

The house gains a facelift while the new owners help revitalize a neighborhood. The couple gains a unique investment, one that should grow with each improvement they install.

But, there are skeptics at every wedding. Some maintain that couples are "blinded by love" when they start looking at aged Victorian mansions. Yet, this is where the attraction of this union lies — in the "great potential" a house seems to offer a prospective buyer.

However, "great potential" usually means: "it needs a lot of work."

Once the honeymoon is over and the young couple faces the reality of the amount of work to be done, it might be the right time to call the National Home Improvement Council.

NHIC maintains a nationwide network of home improvement specialists. Since membership includes all areas of home improvement expertise, a consumer can obtain the names of contractors in any field of remodeling, from attic conversions to finished basements.

Since all NHIC members pledge to adhere to a strict code of ethics, the homeowner is assured of professionalism on any job undertaken.

For winter energy savings, get ship-shape

Homeowners have to start thinking of their homes as leaky ships. So said a spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute, referring to the way our homes let expensively heated air seep out, and cold drafts blow in.

Energy-saving tips

By eliminating leaks, drafts and such, you can not only cut down heat loss but also help control fuel bills. For a start, look into these quick and thrifty energy savers.

1) Why spend money heating unused space? Close off attics, spare rooms and such, and install weatherstripping around the doors, including openings such as the crawlspace door.

2) That cherished fireplace can account for as much as 13 percent of your heat loss. Most of the heat from the fire, as well as room heat, is drawn up the chimney.

You can buy equipment to make your fireplace more efficient, but the simplest solution is to close the damper when the fireplace is not in use—and don't use fireplace at all during the extremely cold months.

3) Just as a leaky ship needs caulking, so does a house. Check from attic to basement for cracks that let out heated air.

Look around doors, windows and in places where wood meets brick or other masonry. There may even be cracks in old caulk.

Scrape out any old, loose caulk and replace it with fresh, new caulking.

And, if the joints and cracks were never caulked, now's the time to do it.

4) Inspect all windows and exterior doors for tightness, and install weatherstripping wherever you find air leaks. Aluminum storm windows can leak air at their flanges aren't snug against their casings.

If you find any loose screws, apply a bead of the caulk under the flange before re-tightening the screw.

5) Heat loss through water pipes can be substantial on long runs of piping. The less the water has to travel, the less volume has to be heated.

For example

Try to locate your washing machine near the water heater. Wrap hot water pipes with insulating tape; you can also buy inexpensive insulating blankets for the heater.

6) Get your thermostat to work for you. Make certain that no lamps, tv sets or other heat-producing appliances are within three feet of it; any of these can generate enough heat to perturb the furnace off completely.

And, look into timer attachments that turn the thermostat down during the night and during the day when no one is at home.

These are just a few simple savers—but they're part of getting your home ship-shape for the long winter voyage.

DRAFT-PROOF

Move a lighted candle around the frames and sashes of your windows. If the flame dances around, you need caulking and/or weatherstripping. Try slipping a quarter under the door. If it goes through easily, you need weatherstripping.

Change look and feel of room with coordinated wallcoverings

The recession, inflation and fluctuating interest rates mean that an increasing number of Americans who have hopes of moving to a new home or adding onto their present one are not doing so.

Consequently, architects, designers and home furnishings experts report a renewed interest in redecorating.

The Wallcovering Information Bureau suggests you take a fresh look at your own home. How do you feel about its decor? Does it reflect your personality as you are now, or as you were several years ago?

Are the home furnishings dramatic and exciting, or tired? Is your home a place you truly enjoy? Do you feel proud when guests ask for a tour?

If you can't give an affirmative "yes" to these questions, then consider redecorating with wallcoverings.

Significant element

Wallcoverings are the single most important element in changing the entire look or feeling of a room. The reason is simple: wallcoverings cover more visible surface than any other item in a decorating scheme.

"Though wallcoverings were once most strongly associated with the kitchen and bath, they are now in every room of the home, including walls near stairways and ceilings," the Wallcovering Information Bureau reports. "Wallcoverings are even being used to cover furniture such as bureaus, trunks and screens."

In addition to lending ambience and warmth to a room, wallcoverings are good value and a sound investment. They are stain-resistant, washable (some are even scrubbable), and long-lasting.

Nationwide interest

There is currently such a strong nationwide interest in this decorating medium that the Smithsonian Institution's Cooper-Hewitt Museum in New York recently held a major exhibit of wallcoverings.

And, when the Wallcovering Information Bureau recently sponsored a Wallcovering Idea Showcase, in which four apartments in a Manhattan townhouse were decorated using wallcoverings as the focal point, the Showcase drew national attention from editors of home furnishings and women's interest magazines and interior designers.

When you're ready to go shopping for wallcovering, remember:

- Bring sketches and measurements of the space to be covered.

- If possible, take swatches of the fabric and rug already in that room.

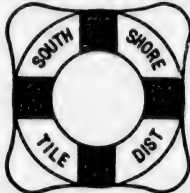

- Bold patterns and colors work best in rooms where you spend little time or for surprise, pick-me-up effects.

- It's helpful to see a swatch of the wallcovering in your room, and some stores will lend you a sample cutting or the sample book to take home overnight. Try to envision how it will look in the room, in both natural and artificial light.

- If you're interested in a milar wallcovering and you're a novice at hanging, let a professional paperhanger can ensure that your walls are in perfect condition for this type of material.

Versatile ceramic tile adds drama to the fireplace area

Good conversation. Warm gatherings of family and friends. Symbolic of the home and the social center of a room, a fireplace can now also be an exciting design element and an important part of your home decor.

Whether you've just installed a sleek new fireplace or want to revitalize the old weary hearth, ceramic tile can make your fireplace more than a display space for knick-knacks.

Ceramic tile is available in an abundant selection of shapes, colors, textures and sizes. Loose your imagination to create the look you want.

Use small scale porcelain ceramic mosaics for a contemporary look, chunky quarry tile for a rustic look.

Create interesting designs or stripes with different colors. Use a textured tile for a unique, handcrafted look. Build a raised hearth with room for seating.

The fireplace in this particular installation was set on the diagonal.

The fireplace is a striking focal point, with accessories and bamboo wallpaper lending an Oriental flavor to the room.

When creating a strong accent wall such as this one, adjacent walls should be of a blending color so that fireplace wall does not become overpowering.

In addition to its excellent design qualities, ceramic tile offers easy maintenance. Soot and ash can be wiped away easily with a damp cloth.

Ceramic tile offers you the assurance of a fire-proof material also. Fired in a kiln at extremely high temperatures, ceramic tile can be installed directly over masonry fireplace facings with dry-set portland cement.

If the fireplace itself is to be tiled and is metal such as the one shown here, install an anchorage system of self-turning metal lath to ensure that the tile adheres to the metal. Please note that fire-brick inside the fireplace should be left as is and never tiled over with ceramic tile or any other material.

Expand Within Limits Of Home With Attic Conversion

As a child, you probably walked up the stairs to your attic with mounting apprehension. Each creaky step brought another creature of your imagination to the fore: flying bats, creepy monsters, shadowy ghosts.

As an adult, you may be walking up the stairs with an equally vivid imagination. Only this time the images are of a warm fireplace, plush carpet, exposed beams and a daybed covered with pillows.

If so, you are one of the many contemporary homeowners "beating" inflationary housing and construction costs by expanding within the limits of your home.

The attic is the perfect place to add a family room or extra bedroom, says the National Home Improvement Council. The "shell" of the structure is provided and, in most cases, electrical wiring is already installed.

Basements and two-car garages are also appropriate spots for "internal additions."

Another way to expand living space without incurring the cost of an ordinary room addition is to tear down some interior walls and to reorganize the space more efficiently.

This is especially effective in older homes with tiny kitchens surrounded by small mud rooms and defunct pantries. Removing some walls can turn a tiny, dreary kitchen into a large inviting family area.

Professional contractors can give expert advice on converting rooms to their full potential, says the National Home Improvement Council.

A reliable contractor will also ensure the correct amount of insulation is installed; additional electrical wiring meets safety standards and all building codes are met.

Kitchen Cabinets Improve Any Room

Cupboards have come out of the kitchen. Now styled like furniture, they're no longer cupboards, they're cabinets that can be used to improve any room in the house, from living or family room to master bedroom, from nursery to laundry or sewing room.

What makes kitchen—and vanity—cabinets useful in so many rooms is that they can be combined in so many ways. Also, they come in many styles and finishes and offer many interior options.

To explore the many possibilities in kitchen cabinets for other rooms, visit your nearest home center or kitchen/bath dealer. You'll find lots of ideas.

Merchants Tie E-W Connector To Hancock Mall

that public hearing," said Councilor Francis X. McCauley. "Everybody is excited about development but sometimes we don't pay enough attention to the people who are there."

"These people are trying to be reasonable and they're trying to cooperate but they are going to need some help from the administration."

"And it's got to be done quickly so you don't wind up with a public hearing and three-quarters of the people in the audience are against it."

Ching said the East-West Connector would displace 15 businesses in the area of Hancock St. and Revere Rd., five of them temporarily for from six to nine months while construction is going on.

Ching said that, since the road is a federal-state project, City Council approval would not be needed at any step of the way.

But Jason Feldman, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, wanted Council assurance that it would have input into the John Hancock mall.

"We would have to have a commitment from the City Council saying that you're willing to go ahead with land taking for the mall before we can make any judgement on the road," he said.

"If the City Council is not in favor of the mall then we will have a road to nowhere."

Raymond assured him that he "does not segregate the roadway from the mall. It has to be looked at as one major project."

"What the City Council does depends on who the retailers are who are committed to the mall when the state holds its public hearing."

200 Expected At Economic Parley Tuesday

Invitations have gone out to retailers, developers and investors to the third annual Quincy development conference to be held Tuesday, Oct. 7, at 8:30 a.m. in the Neighborhood Club.

Some 200 are expected to attend.

Planning Director James Lydon said it is hoped that the city will be able to announce at the conference the name of at least one retail anchor firm for the proposed John Hancock mall.

In a note that accompanied the invitations, Mayor Arthur H.

Tobin noted that the first development conference, in May, 1978, resulted in the proposal for the Center Plaza Building in downtown Quincy.

"That building will commence construction this month and the Urban Development Action Grant awarded last year for a municipal parking structure to complement the office tower began construction last month," he said.

"This year's conference is designed to acquaint you with the city of Quincy's unique process of economic development, as well as the numerous other assets that city enjoys."

"Our neighborhoods are revitalized, social services have been expanded, recreational activities and parks in the city are unique and, finally, Quincy now has a tourism program."

"Quincy has a total approach to its people and its businesses. Economic expansion requires more than just bricks and mortar -- housing, services, playtime and leisure complement our aggressive climate of development."

Newton.

Deadline for reservations is Thursday. Those planning to attend should contact a committee member in advance.

The City Club will again participate in its annual Christmas Charitable activities program providing gifts for hospitals and patients during the holiday season.

7 Residents In Ancients' Canada Tour

Seven Quincy residents are among 170 members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts which leaves Friday for Ottawa, Canada, for a 10-day, fall field tour of duty.

The residents are Charles A. Ashland, Larry Antonelli, Rev. Frank J. Bauer, Richard G. Bird, Ernest J. Montilio, Michael McNally, and Anthony Losodoro.

Among features of the trip will be a parade in Ottawa to Parliament House, the laying of wreaths by Captain J. Barry Driscoll at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and at ceremonies in Vancouver, and the annual banquet.

Downtown Crime, Development

going from EMT-trained personnel to paramedics in very short order and this means that these people will have to be stationed at City Hospital.

"They will have to be working out of the operating room, working in the wards and becoming almost paramedics. This is not a job for police officers. The time for change is now."

The kind of money Quincy will save on ambulance runs, he said, "will not only give the downtown businessmen everything they need but I can give every area of our city the kind of protection they need with my present budget."

Mayor Tobin stressed the importance of the East-West Connector in opening downtown Quincy to shoppers from outside the city. Developers who ask about Quincy Center, he said, first ask about access and egress to the downtown area.

The alternative to opening up downtown Quincy, he said, "is to sit back and don't do a damn thing. That's what's been done in this city for years."

"I don't mean it sarcastically and I don't mean it as a threat, but if they kick downtown Quincy around as a political football, I could just as well stay down at State Street South and out in the Boston Harbor Marina."

"We're doing very well there putting up office buildings. I'll just concentrate on office buildings and apartment complexes and I'll just do my thing."

"I'm not going to sit up 24 hours a day and beat my head against the wall every day talking about downtown Quincy if no one wants to support it and no one wants to do anything about it."

It is much easier, said Tobin, to sell the builder of an office building on coming to Quincy than it is the developer of a shopping mall or a department store.

"With the economy across our country right now the retailers are pulling their horns in," he said. "They're not in an aggressive position like the office builders."

"We were able to put a package together for the Commercial Union Insurance Co. in North Quincy because that particular company was looking to expand its office needs."

"There was a new building going up in Quincy and it was right near North Quincy MBTA station and downtown Boston, etc., all the things that got both parties together fell into place."

"When I talk to retail developers, it's more intricate. They want market data. They want to know how many people live nearby and how much money they make. They're being very cautious."

Chief Finn was critical of the new law that raised the drinking age in Massachusetts from 18 to 20. It took the kids out of the bars where they drank little, he said, and put them into the parks and playgrounds where they drink a lot.

He said Quincy police have had to close down one of the city's parks because they were unable to maintain order among the vandals who frequent the park at night.

"When the young people, 18 or 19 years old, were going to the bars and the discos it was costing them from $1.50 to $2 for a drink," he said. "They spent the night dancing or socializing. They drank very little beer. It was just too darned expensive."

"Now they're banned from those places so they're going to the package stores and getting somebody to get several cases of beer for them. You know where those beer bottles are. You see them in the streets, the parks, the parking lots, the beaches."

"The accident rate has gone up sharply as a result of the new law because the kids are getting drunker. They're much more under the influence of alcohol than they were when they were allowed to go into bars."

Y Fitness Program Enrollment Oct. 4

The Quincy YMCA will hold its annual winter enrollment clinic for its physical fitness program for men and women on Saturday, Oct. 4, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Appointments must be made in advance with Y Fitness Director Bill Johnson, at 773-8500, ext. 45.

Persons wishing to enroll also must receive medical clearance from their physician and pay a registration fee.

Purpose of the program is to improve operation of the heart, circulatory and respiratory systems.

Clinic tests include an electrocardiogram, blood pressure, work capacity, flexibility, strength and body measurements. Progress of the participants is monitored throughout the year.

Workout schedule during the year is as follows:

Monday, Wednesday and Friday - 7 to 7:45 a.m.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday - 7:15 to 8 p.m.

Saturday - 9 to 10 a.m.

lanned At Standish School Committee Takes Aim At Quincy Court Theater Program

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

A Quincy District Court program proposed for the Myles Standish School received a rough reception from the School Committee last week.

It would involve about 20 youths, ages 16-19, referred to the program by the court. They would be taught to produce props, scenery and other theater materials.

The theater arts program would be entirely funded by a federal grant.

Committee members deferred any decision on allowing use of the now-closed Standish School, although several expressed reservations on the program.

"If we put these people down in that school, we'll rue the day," said member John Sullivan. "They'll wreck it."

"Mr. Sullivan has a point," added Committeewoman Patricia Toland. "If these are people that the court, naturally the connotation is there that they've been in trouble. Are they going to need some policing and some supervision?"

Participating youths would not be "a serious offender group," said Susan Buccini, Quincy District Court education counselor, last week.

None would have been convicted of crimes, she said, although some would be referred to the program after their cases were "continued without finding."

Others participating in the program might be dropouts, "disadvantaged" or referred by CETA or school counselors, she said.

If use of the Standish School is not approved, she said, the court is also interested in using the now-vacant Little Building, adjacent to North Quincy High School.

"I'm definitely not in favor of this program at all," said member Joan Picard. "It breaks my heart to see able, capable, good boys and girls who can't get jobs, and the School Committee is asked to give space to make jobs for these people."

Mrs. Picard asked School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon if youths taking part in the program would be paid.

"To the best of my knowledge, no," said Creedon. "That wouldn't make sense."

The youths would earn the minimum wage, $3.10, according to Miss Buccini.

"These aren't serious offenders," she added. "They're not juveniles, they're not really adults, you don't know what to do with them."

"You don't want to put them away, but you have to do something to put them straight."

Sullivan criticized the track record of QDC Presiding Justice Albert Kramer.

Kramer is the founder of "Earn-It," an alternative sentencing program which allows some offenders to repay the victims of their crimes in lieu of sentencing.

"Despite his press agent," Sullivan said, "a lot of people will tell you Judge Kramer's programs are not a success."

"A lot of businessmen have said to me that 'Earn-It', in their particular company, is not working," Sullivan said.

The theater arts program would "have nothing to do with the Earn-It thing at all," Creedon said.

Mrs. Picard noted that Kramer's court district covers several other communities and said, "maybe they'd like a chance to rent out space to Judge Kramer's program."

"If the School Committee isn't receptive to the idea, we have some backups," said Miss Buccini. "We're also interested in a school in Weymouth. But we'd like to keep it Quincy-based. We're serving a lot of Quincy kids."

JOHN BRILL swerves to avoid two fallen "clowns" at the recent skate-a-thon benefitting the Boston Ronald McDonald House, held in the parking lot of Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck. The skate-a-thon, sponsored by the Houghs Neck Teen Organization, raised $2,500.

Day Care Center At Hunting School?

It's far too early to enroll Junior, but a city-wide day care center at the Hunting School may be in the works.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon says preliminary talks with state funding agencies have given Quincy the go-ahead to put together a grant proposal for such a facility.

"They invited us to pursue it and look into it," said Creedon, who told the School Committee that the project is still in the earliest of planning stages.

Creedon's revelation came after committee member John Sullivan coincidentally made an identical proposal for use of the Hunting School.

Creedon said he had discussed the matter the previous day, but felt any public statement at that point would be premature.

The Hunting is one of three schools closed by the School Committee last spring because of declining enrollment. The committee has since returned one of the three, the Great Hill, to the city Public Works department.

Decisions on the Hunting and Myles Standish buildings have been deferred while the committee awaits word on various school-related uses for them.

Committee members are divided on whether to retain the buildings or give them up.

"I think it's a good idea - the city could use more day care facilities - but I'm still very concerned about the buildings," said member Mary Collins. "What if the roof falls in? We don't have enough money to pay our bills now."

She questioned the wisdom of finding new school uses for the closed buildings.

"My responsibility isn't to sit like a hump on a log and say there's no more growth in the Quincy School System," said Creedon. "My responsibility is to propose how the facilities can be used for the advancement of the school system."

Member Patricia Toland summed up the attitude of most board members: "We need more details."

EMT Course At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital is offering a new series of Emergency Medical Technician courses Oct. 6, at the hospital.

Neighborhood Problems Resolved

Goodyear Service Store Granted Storage, Bay Increase

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Goodyear Service Store, 1132-1138 Hancock St., was granted permits for additional storage and service bays at Tuesday's License Board meeting after satisfying the board complaints by neighbors had been resolved.

Goodyear was granted permits to store 45 gallons of motor fuel in tanks of cars, above ground, in addition to present storage of 75 gallons, and an increase in service bays from four to six.

The store had originally applied for the permit Sept. 2, saying the increase was necessary to offset a rent increase from $700 to $4,000 a month.

The hearing was continued when area residents at the meeting complained of Goodyear's "arrogant attitude" in the past, as well as problems with noise, delivery trucks blocking the street and other matters.

At this week's meeting, Ward Councillor Daniel Raymond, reported Goodyear had met with the neighbors and that the residents would not oppose the store's plans if stipulations agreed upon were carried out.

The stipulations, which are part of the license, are that any sign be approved by the Building Department; the area be landscaped; rubbish and tire cassings be in an enclosed area; there be no testing of car brakes on Whitney Rd.; no old or junk cars be allowed on the premises; the new addition be brick veneered; no parking by employees or customers be allowed on Whitney Rd.

Also, that the opening to the building be in the center of the property and the east end be blocked off; openings be blocked by chains at night; a night light be installed; no cars be offered for sale; snow not be pushed in the public way; hours of operation be 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and all deliveries be made on Hancock St., not Whitney Rd.

Nicholas Passias of Goodyear's real estate department said that if 60 foot trailers had to make deliveries from Hancock St., there would be problems with the trucks turning around in the parking area.

Police Chief Francis Finn said the board couldn't grant Goodyear permission to use Whitney Rd. for deliveries since commercial vehicles are excluded from that road.

A public hearing by the Traffic Commission would be necessary to change the law, said Finn.

Finn also instructed new Goodyear manager Glen Headley that any sarcasm by employees towards neighbors would result in the store appearing before the License Board.

In another matter, the board continued to Oct. 21 a hearing to show cause why Patriot Lunch's common victualer license should not be revoked for failure to comply with tax obligations, pending sale of the establishment.

The License Board also:

- Granted Lampros Viglas and Demetrio Stremmenos, both of Roslindale, a common victualer license for Nick's Lunch, 57 Granite St. The license had been held by Charles Sourmaides.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Quincy Fathers Club, sponsors of the Quincy High Football team, for a social Saturday, Oct. 18, 8 p.m. to midnight at the Fore River Club House.

- Granted a noon opening on Sundays for Spotlight Tavern, 1574 Hancock St.

- Granted a common victualer license for End of the Line, 381 Centre St., a primarily take-out restaurant to be managed by Joseph S. Ciralo. The restaurant, at the site of the old Larry's Lunch, will be open 5:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and serve full breakfasts and hot lunches.

Also at the meeting, City Clerk John Gillis read a letter from Ed Coyle informing the board that Maxwell's Parrot, 6 Maple St., is closed pending sale of the business.

Touraine Leaving Downtown Quincy

The Touraine store is leaving downtown Quincy.

Planning Director James Lydon told a Downtown Development Committee hearing Monday night that a store would be closing around Jan. 1 but he declined to say which one.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin confirmed Tuesday that it was the Touraine store.

"Their action," said Lydon, "is directly related to the closing of Sears Roebuck and the decreased foot traffic in the downtown.

"I am not so sure their action is not indicative of future actions that could be taken by some of the other major chains."

Lydon said he has spoken to retailers who would be interested in moving into the vacant Sears store on a short term basis, but not for a long period of time.

"One particular tenant might locate in Sears if later on he could relocate in the John Hancock mall," he said.

Council Vote Clears Way For Use Of Schools By Community Groups

Community groups may once again use Quincy school facilities, though they will be paying more for the privilege.

Last Wednesday's 6-3 vote by the City Council established a reserve for appropriation account allowing the school department to pay custodians from rental fees paid by community groups.

Those groups had been denied use of school facilities since failure to pay custodians' overtime in case of community use had been cut out of the budget.

To approximately cover the custodians' overtime rate, most non-school groups will pay $12 per hour, the new cost approved by the School Committee last week.

Those groups had formerly paid $7 per hour. The committee has yet to approve a new rate for youth groups, which formerly had paid $3 per hour.

Councillors Stephen McGrath, Leo Kelly, Daniel Raymond, Joseph LaRaia, James Shays and Francis McCauley voted to establish the reserve account. Opposed were Councillors Joanne Condon, John Lydon and John Quinn.

Nut Island Odor A Thing Of The Past

That foul odor from the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant that has plagued residents of Houghs Neck for the past few months is a thing of the past, says Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy).

"The MDC has assured me that the malfunctioning digester, which was the source of the foul odor, has been repaired," he said. "In addition, the chlorine mixture was increased from 3,000 to 6,000 pounds.

"However, I will continue to monitor the situation to see that it is a lasting solution to this serious public health hazard."

The nauseous smells, which drove some nearby residents out of their homes, were so bad that the situation drew a personal visit from MDC Commissioner Terrence Geoghegan two weeks ago.

Creedon, Chrystal To Conduct Workshop For Cohasset Schools

Two Quincy educators, Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon and Dr. Richard K. Chrystal will conduct a workshop, "Individualized Educational Plans for All Students" Thursday, Oct. 9, for the staff of the Osgood and Deer Hill Schools, Cohasset.

Dr. Creedon is School Superintendent and Dr. Chrystal is director of Staff and Management Development for the city.

The two hour workshop will cover procedures an individual or school system can employ to develop personalized educational plans for students. Overhead projections and handouts will be used in conjunction with the lecture.

Dr. Creedon was guest speaker recently at the fall meeting of the Southeastern Massachusetts Principals' Association in Marion.

He discussed challenges and options open to the professional community in this decade.

Expert Sees Fruitful Business Relationship Between U.S., China

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Almost all signs point to a growing and fruitful business relationship between this country and China, according to an expert in Chinese trade.

But, warns Mrs. Ming Hsu, director of international trade relations for the RCA Corporation, Americans should avoid unrealistically high expectations. They should also not overestimate the effects of China's current Westernizing trend.

"We must avoid expectations that a modernized China will look just like us," Mrs. Hsu told the Quincy Rotary Club Tuesday at its meeting at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

"In fact, it will, without doubt, look just like China."

Mrs. Hsu, born in Peking, is now a naturalized American citizen and a resident of New Jersey.

She has represented RCA in negotiations with the People's Republic of China since 1972. In that time, she has assisted that corporation in marketing products, ranging from communications satellites and TV broadcast equipment to frozen foods and carpeting, in China.

American businessmen tend to view the Chinese market - representing one-quarter of the world's population - as "a combination of Shangri La and the golden lode," said Mrs. Hsu.

But they should realize that breaking into the Chinese market often involves a costly initial investment, negotiations lasting up to a year and sometimes granting business concessions in order to establish a foothold in the country, she said.

For those companies which do get a foot in the door, opportunities are awesome.

The number of television sets sold annually in the United States, for example, is equal to about one-tenth of one percent of the potential Chinese market, she told the Rotarians.

The twin trends of Westernization and modernization have led to a change in consumer values, adding to the market potential, she added.

In years past, she said, the "Big Four" of consumer goods in China were a bicycle, wristwatch, radio and sewing machine. Those were the status symbols coveted by all Chinese.

Now, those items are so commonplace as to have little status value, she said. The "New Big Four" is now a TV, tape recorder, fan and washing machine.

Thirty-five percent of all Peking households now have televisions, she said. Although that might not sound impressive to Americans, she added, it's "extraordinarily high" when one considers that even the cheapest TV's cost the average Chinese worker five to eight months' salary.

Projections now indicate that the U.S. and China will exchange about $8 billion in trade annually over the next decade, she said, most of that in U.S. imports.

Among the chief recipients of the trade boom could be Massachusetts' growing high technology industry, said Mrs. Hsu. But there are limits to how much of that industry China can use right away, she said - like shortages in energy, transportation, trained managers and the fact that its economy is still 70 percent agricultural.

Many of the economy's shortcomings can be traced to China's social and political turmoil of the 1960's, she said.

"There's no doubt the Cultural Revolution really set back the country," said Mrs. Hsu. "That's one thing that most Chinese readily admit - which is one thing that always surprises us Americans, that they are so candid."

But the thaw in U.S.-Chinese relations in the early 1970's now seems ready to bloom into a full-scale business partnership, she said.

"I can't say for certain that these trends will continue," she said. "There will be a need to guide Sino-American relationships very carefully in the coming years."

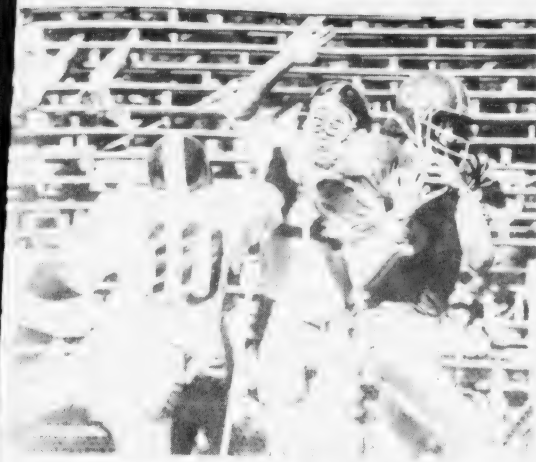

"But I don't see how, short of foreign intervention - and by that I mean Soviet intervention - the Chinese people could hold back the people now. They really have to deliver and make China a better place to live."

Farm Workers Ask 'Scab' Lettuce Removal

The United Farm Workers and a variety of local groups are urging Stop & Shop stores to remove a brand of so-called "scab" lettuce from their shelves.

The brand, Red Coach iceberg lettuce, is grown by Bruce Church, Inc. of California, which is accused of illegally breaking a strike by UFW members in California.

The union is urging a boycott of Red Coach lettuce by grocery chains. Among the groups endorsing the boycott are the Massachusetts State Legislature, state AFL-CIO, state Board of Rabbis and the Priest and Sister Senates of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Quincy 13, Weymouth S. 12 Presidents Seek Lost Offense At Revere

By TOM SULLIVAN

Two weeks ago Quincy's football team lost to a seemingly inferior team, Cambridge Rindge and Latin, by a point, when the offense bogged down.

Last Saturday the Presidents managed to sneak by another seemingly inferior opponent, Weymouth South, by a single point.

But Coach Tom Fitzgerald was far from happy at the outcome, and told the team so, after the game in the dressing room.

"This was disgraceful," he said after Quincy's 13-12 win. "Our offense was atrocious. We should have had no trouble winning this game but we couldn't move the ball and, when we did, we fumbled it away."

"The defense, which had been fooled a few times earlier, did a great job in the final period and won the game for us. But I was disgusted with the offense. It was just terrible and if we don't improve for next week's game (this Saturday at Revere in a non-league game), we will be blown off the field."

Revere, a Greater Boston League team, overpowered Arlington, 35-6, last week and looms as one of Quincy's toughest opponents. Kickoff time Saturday at Revere is 1:30.

Although Fitzgerald had nothing good to say about the offense and refused to single out any players, defensive coaches Bill Maver and Joe Goguen were pleased with the clutch performance in the last quarter.

"Ed Mackey was just outstanding all afternoon," Maver said. "We were fooled two plays in a row when Weymouth scored its first touchdown and they pushed us around pretty good in the third period when they scored their second touchdown. But the boys dug in and bailed us out in the last period when two fumbles put us in trouble."

Maver also singled out Ken Gustin, Steve Goguen, John Varrasso, Chris Chevalier, Scott Anson, Mike Nevins, Mike Shaughnessy and Steve Spencer.

Weymouth South, under first year coach Ken Rosenthal, is a much improved team and took a 2-0 record into the Quincy game. South has been trying for the past few years to drop out of the Suburban League and get into the Old Colony League, as it felt it couldn't compete with the big schools in the Suburban League.

"But we proved today we can play anyone and not be disgraced," Rosenthal said. "I'm terribly disappointed we lost today, as I felt we should have won, but the kids did a terrific job."

Quincy was sparked offensively by quarterback Ron Pettinelli, who hit on six of 10 passes for 100 yards and both touchdowns. He had good receivers in big Sean Burke and Ed Iodice, who caught the TD passes.

Weymouth had a fine quarterback, Rob Lyons, who ran and passed well, and Brian Litchfield did some fine running and outgained all the Quincy backs.

Pettinelli punted to midfield late in the first period and Weymouth quickly scored. Lyons, on a deceptive play, skirted left end for 15 yards. Quincy was penalized 15 to the 20 and on the next play Lyons, on the same play, went for the remaining 20 around left end for the touchdown. The kick for point was good.

It appeared the 6-0 score would stand throughout the half but late in the second period the Presidents, on Pettinelli's arm, went 64 yards to score.

Mike Abboud, who ran well at times, picked up 14 yards to midfield and, following a Weymouth offside, Pettinelli hit Iodice for 13 yards, threw a screen pass to Burke which went for 15 and on the next play hit Iodice for a 22-yard touchdown play with just 20 seconds left on the clock. Pettinelli kicked the go-ahead point.

Sports

A short Weymouth punt went only to the Weymouth 37 early in the third period. Iodice went for 11, added five more on two rushes and, after a Quincy offside, Pettinelli threw to Burke, who made an outstanding catch between two Weymouth defenders in the end zone. A bad pass from center spoiled any chance for the extra point.

Weymouth then marched downfield, ground out the yardage, picked up four first downs and Litchfield scored from the eight. Weymouth went for two points and Litchfield was stopped just short of the goal line.

On the final play of the third period a Quincy fumble popped right into the hands of Weymouth's Brian Milano on the Quincy 23.

Quincy's defense dug in at took over its 15, but a few plays later another fumble was recovered by Weymouth on Quincy's 40.

Again the defense held and took over on the President's 25. Weymouth got one more chance with 2:38 to play after a Pettinelli punt, but the Quincy defense held fast, the offense got the ball back and ran out the clock.

Lyons hit on six of 13 passes for 51 yards and Weymouth had a net of 111 yards on the ground to 99 for Quincy. The Presidents had 11 first downs and Weymouth 10.

Following Fitzgerald's tongue lashing, it was indeed a quiet ride from Veterans Stadium to the high school.

Apaches Scalp Elks, Sailors Sink Panthers

League-leading Apaches improved their Quincy Youth Football League record to 3-0 Sunday when they paraded over the Elks, 40-14, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Apaches scored first on a five-yard run by Mike Gill and Bob Varnado scored on a 10-yard run, with Dan Kelly passing to Keith Smith for two points and a 14-0 lead.

In the second period Kelly scored on a quarterback keeper from the two and the Elks followed with their first touchdown on a pass from Michael Joyce to David Hall. John O'Callahan rushed for the two point conversion. A four-yard run by the Apaches' Bob Varnado and a two-yard sweep by Dean Vanelli of the Elks made the score 26-14 at the half.

The Apaches scored twice more in the second half. Eddie Page scoring from the two and Mike Peters racing 65 yards. Jim Mulvey added the two points following that score.

The entire Apache varsity was outstanding and the coaches hailed the play of jayvees Matt Norton, John McCarthy, Frank Martell, Lou Morales, Gary McNamara and Matt McNamara.

The Sailors defeated the Panthers, 20-6, in the second game.

Mike Barry went seven yards for the first Sailor touchdown and Bill Doherty ran 22 yards for the second TD and also rushed for the two point conversion. Barry galloped 64 yards for the final touchdown.

The Panthers scored when Paul Marshall ran back a kick 70 yards.

Sailor coaches raised the entire team for winning two in a row and has special praise for offensive linemen Vin Giordano and Dave Gaines and defensive star John Reney.

Brockton 35, North Quincy 11 Raiders Hope To Regroup At Newton N.

North Quincy's defense, after blanking two pre-season opponents, had been tremendous again two weeks ago in an opening day 21-0 win over Milton.

North had high hopes for gaining its first win ever over Brockton last Saturday but the Boxers, exploding for several long gainers, handed the Raiders a 35-11 setback at Brockton's Marciano Stadium.

Dave Burke's North team hopes to regroup Saturday when it faces another Suburban League power, Newton North, at Newton (1:30). Newton looked strong in beating non-league rival Medford, 21-7, last week.

"They were just too fast for us," Burke said. "Talk about high speed, that boy (Jay) McGee is one of the fastest we've seen and he scored twice on runs of over 80 yards (one a kickoff return. And they killed us with two long bombs. They are really fast.

"Although we scored only one touchdown (another was called back), we moved the ball very well all day but just couldn't complete our drives. Our backs ran well but Brockton dug in when it had to."

Defensive coaches Ken McPhee and Jack Rayer were understandably disappointed.

"I never thought we could be beaten like that," McPhee said. "They really came up with the big plays and twice they caught our secondary asleep, they never staged any long drives, but they didn't have to. They are awfully fast and have an outstanding passer."

Burke hailed all his backs for moving the ball. Dean Zoia and Steve McEachern ran well again as did Joe Dudek, Jim Sullivan, Jamie Walsh, who returned to the lineup, and Jack Brown.

George Liset, offensive line coach, had good words for several players, including Glenn Segalla, Lou DiPietro, Church Sylva, Neil Fisher and Peter McDonough.

Brian O'Leary got off several fine punts, including a 73-yarder, aided by a good roll.

Penalties hurt the Raiders, who had an early touchdown nullified and other promising drives stopped.

North drove downfield and apparently scored early in the game but an offside penalty nullified the touchdown and North had to settle for Jack Leone's 30-yard field goal.

McGee took the ensuing kickoff and ran it back 83 yards for a touchdown and John Asack kicked the point.

Early in the second period Sanford McMurty scored from 12 yards out and Asack again kicked the point.

Brockton just about ended North's hopes with only seconds left in the half when Asack hit John Hancock for a 41-yard touchdown pass and the Boxers led, 20-3, at the half.

Hancock took another Asack pass for 31 yards and a touchdown in the third period.

North scored its only touchdown in the final period when Dudek scored and then took a pass from Brown for the two-point conversion. Brown passes to Leone and Segalla had set up the touchdown.

Brockton's McGee put the icing on the cake when he raced 81 yards from scrimmage for the final touchdown. Asack passed to Bob Brown for the points.

North Quincy's game against Cambridge Rindge and Latin Oct. 11 at Daley Field in Cambridge will be played at 10:30 a.m. instead of 1:30 as originally scheduled.

--TOM SULLIVAN

North Sophs Stage Comeback

and Brockton led, 14-6.

Hard hitting by the North defense enabled the young Raiders to recover a fumble in enemy territory. The running attack continued to produce huge hunks of yardage by Dave DiCarlo, Mike Cullen and Brown, with Cullen scoring the touchdown and Vin Barry passing to DiCarlo in the right corner of the end zone for the tying two pointer.

This complete reversal of play by North, with the defensive unit getting the ball back for the offense, paid off as the winning score was manufactured again primarily on the ground.

Steady gains by Cullen, Brown and DiCarlo, after a good punt run-back by Bob Leonard, put the ball on the two-yard line and Brown bulldozed over for his second touchdown. Cullen turned his right end for the final two points.

Sadowski was pleased with the results. "Everyone played to their fullest potential in the second half. We told them that they could come back and win the ball game and they did."

Friday at Cavanaugh Stadium, the North Sophs will be host to Newton-North.

Quincy, North Reports On WJDA

With both Quincy and North Quincy playing away from home, Station WJDA will do the play-by-play of Saturday's Framingham South at Braintree football game.

Reports will be brought in from Quincy at Newton North as well as Weymouth North at Waltham and Weymouth South at Scituate.

Only one runner in the history of the National Football League ever gained over 2,000 yards in a single season... The only player to reach the magic 2,000 mark is O.J. Simpson, who rushed for 2,003 yards in 1973. Closest anyone ever came to Simpson's record was Jim Brown who rushed for 1,863 yards in 1963.

One of the most unbelievable football series ever played was the one between Yale and Wesleyan... Amazingly, Yale beat Wesleyan 46 STRAIGHT TIMES up to 1913, and in those 46 games, Wesleyan scored only twice -- getting one touchdown in 1889 and one field goal in 1912.

Who's the only player in history ever to start at 3 different positions in the SAME World Series? Answer is the man who's now a TV announcer, Tony Kubek... In the 1957 World Series for the Yankees, Kubek started in leftfield in games 1, 3 and 4... He started at third base in games 2 and 7... And he started in centerfield in games 5 and 6.

Following the awards ceremonies, a family picnic for all teams involved in the tournament, their wives and children was held.

The committee members thank the umpires, Kitty Smith, Tom Boussey, Joe Conti, Art Giordani and Buster Loud, for their excellent job in handling the games.

Louis' Nite League team edged Louis' Over-30 team, 8-7, for the title. Steve Sullivan was the winning pitcher and Joe Sullivan the loser.

Steve Stone singled to left, scoring Paul Galligan with the winning run in the seventh inning. Galligan and Mike Barry had singled before Stone's winning hit.

Louis' Over-30 team bombed Chennette, 18-2, with John Sullivan the winner. He pitched five-hit ball as his mates pounded out 22 hits and played flawlessly in the field. Butch Chase and Charlie Maguire were four for five.

Chennette earlier had defeated Louis' Over-30, 12-5, with Paul Chennette the winning pitcher. Dan Picard had a home run and Fred Connolly a double. Brian Gibbons and David Dauer fielded well.

Swimming

North Girls Defeat Blue Hills

The North Quincey girls' swim team easily defeated Blue Hills Regional, 126-39, last week to even its record at 1-1.

Dianna Dawson, Yvonne Boness, Marjorie Bartolotto and Donna O'Toole won the 200-yard relay in 2:26.7 and Trisha Boness, Nancy Callow, Laura Mullin and Martha Donaghy placed second.

North swept the 250-yard freestyle with Co-Capt. Kit Harrow (2:32.1), Heather Nicholson and Carolyn Downing finishing 1-2-3. Susan Quintiliani won the 200 individual medley in 2:50.3 with Marjorie Bartolotto second.

Cathie Burke was third in the 50-yard freestyle. Sheila Quintiliani won the diving with Martha Donaghy second. North also swept the 100-yard butterfly with Co-Capt. Jacquie Pike (1:17), Yvonne Boness and Joan Ouellette

1-2-3. Donna O'Toole was first (1:13.4) and Burke third in the 100-yard freestyle.

The Raiderettes swept the 500-yard freestyle with Susan Quintiliani, Harrow and Julie Evanson 1-2-3. Another sweep came in the 100-yard backstroke with Dawson, Trisha Boness and Donna Hildaglo 1-2-3. Bartolotto won the 100-yard breaststroke (1:24.9) with Pike second.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay North's Sheila Quintiliani, Susan Quintiliani, Pike and Harrow won in 4:34.2 and Carolyn Downing, Pam McIntire, Yvonne Boness and Mullin were second.

In North's opening meet it lost to powerful Brockton, the Suburban League champion the last five years, but several Raiderettes turned in fine performances.

Dawson, Sheila Quintiliani,

Pike and Harrow placed third in the 200-yard medley relay. Pike was second in the 200-yard individual medley and third in the 100-yard butterfly. Harrow was third in the 50-yard freestyle and second in the 100-yard breaststroke. Susan Quintiliani was third in the individual medley. Dawson third in the 100-yard backstroke and Susan Quintiliani, Evanson, Eileen Donlan and Nicholson were second in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Laura Coughlin, Cathie Burke, Joan Ouellette and Donna O'Toole were third.

Sheila Quintiliani scored 124.65 points in the diving.

The North girls will host Brookline in a league meet Monday at 3:30 at the Lincoln Hancock School pool.

First Ladies Bow Is Opener

The Quincey girls' swim team is hampered by the lack of numbers and inexperience and Coach Amy Chessia is still accepting new members to build up the depth needed.

The First Ladies lost their opener to Newton North, 110-57, but the showing was good considering Newton has 62 swimmers while Quincey has only 13. Quincey also lost its second Suburban League meet to Weymouth South, 101-65.

In the Newton meet Donna Marcin won the 100-yard freestyle, and Cindy Pitts won the 500-yard freestyle.

Kathy Doherty, Dara Morris, Katie Wright and Marcin took second in the 200-yard medley relay. Pitts took second in the 200-yard freestyle. Marcin was second in the 200-yard individual medley. Doherty second in the 50-yard freestyle. Mary Kussman second in the 100-yard butterfly and Kim Lotti, Robin Lotti, Kathy Reddish and Pitts took second in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Monday Quincey will swim at Weymouth North at 3:30.

Bowling

McNally, Donahue Tie For Merchants Lead

Mike McNally and Bob Donahue are tied for the Quincey Merchants Bowling League lead with 123 averages.

Bob McDonough and John Wainwright are tied at 121, followed by Bill Regan, 117; Laurie Eklund, 116; Wayne Smith, 112; Ken Hanson and Dave Bates, 111, and Lou Pagnani, 110.

McNally rolled the weekly high single of 153. Donahue and Hanson had 147. Wainwright had the high three of 398. Hanson rolled 390 and McNally 377.

South Shore Auto Spring had both the high team single of 519 and high three of 1438. Pagnani's Gulf had a 479 single and Wells Grille 458. Wells had a 1306 three and Pagnani's 1294.

The team standings: Corner Stone, 14-4; Auto Spring, 12-6; South Shore Vending, 12-6; Yellow Cab, 12-6; Pagnani's, 12-6; Wells, 12-6; Merrymount Alleys, 10-8; Copeland Package Store, 8-10; Matt's Villa, 6-12; Purity Supreme, 4-14; T-Shirt Factory, 4-14, and A & T movers, 2-16.

Casey's Team Paces Adams Heights Men

Jack Casey's team is rolling along at the top of the Adams Heights Men's Club Bowling league with a 24-0 record.

Pete Neitz' team is second at 18-6, followed by Bill Norton, 17-7; Bob Lee Sr., 12-12; Frank Anderson, 11-13; Arch Fulton, 6-18; Donnie Cahoon, 4-20, and Charlie Buckley, 4-20.

Neitz rolled the weekly high single of 151, the high for the year. Al Landry had 148 and John Giudici and Rich Collins had 126.

Neitz' weekly high three of 387 also was the high for the season. Collins' rolled 355 and John Giudici 344.

Neitz' team rolled the weekly high three of 1587, also the season's high, and Casey and Bob Lee Sr. had 1479.

Neitz' team rolled the three high singles of the week, 537, 530 and 520. Fulton and Casey had 508.

Landry has the season's second high single of 148 and Norton has 145. John Giudici has the season's second high three of 373 and Collins has 355.

Anderson's team has the season's high single of 557. Neitz has 547 and Casey 530. Anderson has the second high three of 1559 and Casey has 1514.

The Top Ten: Neitz, 113.1; John Giudici, 112.7; Casey, 112.2; Landry, 111.7; Lee Sr., 111.0; Collins, 110.7; Sal McLeod, 105.6; Reno Giudici, 104.6; Tom McKinnon, 104.5, and Norton, 103.5.

Monti's 108.6 Paces Koch Men

Tony Monti is pacing the Koch Club Men's Bowling League with high average of 108.6 and best three string total of 353 in the opening two weeks.

Others in the top 10 in averages are: Paul Koch, 106.8, Mike Shields, 105.5, Joe Keenan, 105.1, Bill Connelly, 104.3, and best single string of 143, Al Mancuso, 103.6, Jim Moody, 103.3, Dick Koch, Jr., 101, Tony Alibrandi, 100.5 and Charlie Neagle, 99.3.

The league in its 31st season bowls Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowl-drome, Quincey Shore Drive.

A few openings remain. Men wishing to join are asked to attend next Tuesday night.

The league bowls from September through April with an awards banquet and dance in May.

Further information may be obtained from Mike Shields, president, Joe Keenan, secretary or Bob McLaren, treasurer.

Robertson Leads Koch Women

Maureen Robertson has taken an early lead in the Koch Club Women's Bowling League with the top average of 98.3.

Other bowlers in the top 10 include: Debra Koch, 95.5, Pat Murphy, 94.3, Edie Maher, 92.8, Susan Batts, 92.5, Adele Foley, 92.3, Barbara Donelin, 91.4, Gerry Caviechi, 89.1, Ellen McAdam, 88.8, and Denyse Nolan, 88.7.

Shirley McNeil holds the league's high single string to date of 117 while Debra Koch with 312 has the top three string total in the opening three weeks of competition.

The league will bowl an additional week to determine averages of new members following which officers will assemble teams for the 26th season.

Women wishing to participate in the league as regular or spare bowlers are welcome to attend the weekly sessions Thursday evenings at 8:30 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys, Broad St., Quincy.

The 40-member Koch Club Women's Bowling League is led by Debra Koch, president; Pat Murphy, secretary and Karen Moody, treasurer.

Koch Youth Co-Ed League Opens Saturday

The Koch Club Youth Co-Ed Bowling League will begin its 18th season Saturday at 9 a.m., at the Merrymount Daylight Alley, Broad St., Quincy.

Boys and girls, seven through 16 are invited to join. Ages seven through 12 will be assigned to the Junior Division and the 13 to 16 to the Senior Loop.

The league formed in 1963 by Director Anthony T. Delmonico was originally a boys league but expanded to include girls two years ago. Delmonico is assisted by Gary DeMole.

Girls and boys attending the Saturday morning opening session will register for the season and bowl for average. Following several weeks of bowling when averages are established, teams will be assembled and every participant will be assigned to a team. Following the season, next April, an awards banquet will be held to complete the program.

Further information may be obtained from Delmonico at 35 Gannett Rd., Quincy.

Junior High Football

Central, Sterling In Wins

By PETE ZOIA

Central's ninth graders defeated Atlantic-North, 12-0 in the opening Junior High football game last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

A penalty moved Central to North's six-yard line from where Paul Ryan ran around left end to score. The try for the two-point conversion was stopped.

Central had another first half chance to score, working the ball to the opponents' 11-yard line, only to be pushed back to the 26 when the half ended.

The final touchdown was set up by a Nunzio Carbone to Jack Bolster pass completion to the North 18. On a keeper, Carbone skirted left end for the 18 yards and the touchdown. A pass for the conversion was dropped.

Bolster was outstanding, playing both ways, contributing key tackles.

The eighth grade game ended in a 6-6 stalemate, both teams scoring in the first half.

Central was on the score board first due to the North Enders' decision not to punt on fourth down in their own territory. This break was capitalized on by Central as Bill Cahill, aided by good blocking, dashed around his own right end to score. A rush for the extra points was stopped.

Atlantic-North retaliated shortly after. On an exchange of the ball, with neither team threatening, Central kicked to the Atlantic 41 where Steve Kelly, on receiving the boot, saw a multitude of gold jerseys as he started to his right. He smartly turned around and reversed to his left, being finally pushed out of bounds of the Central 12. The next play saw Joe Bangs breaking off his right side and eluding the Central secondary to tie the game. The opportunity to forge ahead on the try for extra points failed.

Kelly recovered a Central kick off fumble on Central's 36, and caught a 20 yard pass to the 16, only to have the half end.

Neither team seriously threatened during the second half, fumbles were recovered by both sides to curtail any drives.

Later in the week strong Sterling, which last year was undefeated continued its winning ways with a 34-12 victory over Point. Both teams were deadlocked, 6-6, after the first quarter due to a 20-yard touchdown by Steve Ray for Sterling and a nine yard score by Dan Curtin of Point.

Hard running by Paul Kenney got Sterling two more touchdowns on dashes of 15 and five yards to make it 18-6 by halftime.

After a scoreless third period, both schools scored in the final quarter. A 20-yard scamper by Sterling's Mark Stuart, was answered by Point, coming back with a 25-yard touchdown by Curtin for his second score of the afternoon. Not to be outdone, Ray snared a pass in the end zone to insure a Sterling win. The Sterling successful point tries were rushes by Ray and Bill Koose.

Although Point was outscored, quarterback Kevin Cabezas was outstanding, playing both ways, doing the passing, punting and most of the tackling. His 55-yard pass run play to Curtin set up one of Points touchdowns.

There wasn't any eighth grade game as Point does not field an eighth grade team.

BILLY O'BRIEN of North Quincy receives trophy from Xaverian Brothers School Headmaster Brother William Drinan for his performance during the 1980 baseball season. O'Brien batted .350 and caught and played left field. Son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Brien of 162 Elliot Ave., he was also awarded the Xaverian hockey team's "Seventh Player Award" for the 1979-80 hockey season and played for the Granite City team in this year's Quincy Babe Ruth League.

Morrisette 5.4 Mile Road Race Set Oct. 13

Morrisette Legion Post will hold its fifth annual 5.4-mile road race Monday, Oct. 13, starting at noon.

The race will start and finish in front of Morrisette Post (South-east Expressway and Furnace Brook Parkway) and will be well-manned.

There will be prizes for the top five finishers, the first five over 40, first three over 50, and first three females. There will be one team prize and entries must have five starters and be pre-entered before Oct. 9. Thirty more finishers will receive medals.

The race is limited to 300 registered runners and is AAU-sanctioned. There is a $1 entry fee until Oct. 9 and a $2 fee thereafter.

Dick Mahoney of the Greater Boston Track Club has won all four races and his times were as follows: 1979, 28:01; 1978, 26:28; 1977, 27:19; 1976, 27:01.

Further information can be obtained by writing to Morrisette Post, 294, S. Miller St., Quincy 02169, c/o Frank Mullen, or by calling 472-9193. Requests for race applications should include a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ouellette Shines In Montclair Golf Tourney

Joe Ouellette's performance highlighted the Montclair Men's Club annual golf tournament Sunday at the Presidents Golf Course.

His second shot on the par-5 16th hole came one foot from being a double eagle and inspired him to shoot low gross and win the trophy for the day's longest drive.

Jim Locke had low net, the teams of Ed Adams and Bill Connelly and Pete Savage and Andy Orrock tied for low team gross, Ray Cunningham and Tom Fantasia had low team net, and Rich Cecchini shot nearest to the pin.

Following the matches a buffet luncheon was served in the clubhouse and prizes were awarded.

Chambers Hat Trick Sparks Beau's, 6-4

Charlie Chambers had the hat trick Monday night to lead Beau's Place over Adams Sports, 6-4, in Executive Hockey League action at the Youth Arena.

Terry Flaman had two goals and Rick Golden one. Steve Dymant assisted on all three Chambers goals. Dave Hussey, Dick McCabe and Mike Haynes also had assists. Paul O'Brien also had a hat trick for Adams and Dennis O'Connell scored the other goal. Bob O'Connell, Bill Hansen, Kevin Glynn and Dennis O'Connell had assists.

Dave's squeezed by Washington Tap, 6-5, with Kevin Lewis having a hat trick and assisting on two other goals. Doug MacLean had two goals and Joe Mullen one. Gerry Ioanilli had two assists and Paul Casey one. For Washington Bernie Toland, Bill Owings, Ralph Gibbs, Mike Semertgakis and Ed St. John had the goals. Marty Tolson had two assists and Paul Dorfman, Toland, St. John, Owings and Ed Grogan one each.

Ed Linehan and Al McKay scored two goals each to spark Spotlight Tavern to a 7-3 victory over The Hofbrau. John McNeil, Kevin Sullivan and Don Costa had the other goals. Linehan, Jack Powers, McNeil and Jay Lowrance had two assists apiece and Bill Dotry and McKay one each. For Hofbrau, Artie Boyle, Jerry Fitzgerald and Dave Towle had the goals. Jim Horner had three assists and Fitzgerald and Boyle one each.

In the previous set of games Adams defeated Dave's, 4-1.

Bob Simonelli had two goals and Pete Lynch and Tom Roberts one each. Roberts had two assists and Alan Gullickson and Simonelli one each. Kevin Lewis scored for Dave's with Doug MacLean and Paul Casey assisting.

Jerry Fitzgerald scored twice and had an assist as The Hofbrau edged Beau's Place, 5-4. Other Hofbrau goals were scored by Dave Bonito, Joe Verlicco, and Wayne Cashman. Chuck Behnka, Bonito, Jim Horner and Steve Marini had assists. For Beau's Steve Dymant, Bob Carroll, Pete Golden and Dick McCabe had the goals with two assists for Charlie Chambers and one each for Dave Hussey, Mike Haynes, Dymant and Terry Flaman.

Ed Linehan and Rich Gibbs had two goals apiece to lead Sportlight Tavern over Washington Tap, 6-2. Bob Murray and John McNeil also scored. Linehan and Murray had two assists each and Ed O'Riordan, Jack Powers and Jack Duffy one each. For Washington, Ed St. John and Bill St. John had the goals and Charlie Duffy, Bill St. John and Ed St. John one each.

Midget A's Break Even

Quincy's Browning-Ferris Midget A hockey team broke even in two games during the past week.

Quincy edged Randolph, 2-1, on goals by Tom Benson and Dennis Furtado. Mike McGrath had two assists.

In a Middlesex League game Quincy dropped a 4-3 decision to Winchester. Furtado had two goals and McGrath one. Benson had two assists and Furtado and McGrath one each.

Winchester scored the winning goal with less than 50 seconds to play.

● Soccer

Frustration Stalks Raiders

The North Quincy boys' soccer season continues to be full of frustration.

The Raiders are still seeking that elusive first win after bowing to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, Brockton and Weymouth North last week.

Paul Bregoli's North team will host Waltham Friday in a Suburban League game.

North dropped a 3-2 decision to Cambridge, falling behind early, but tying it at 1-1 on Bill Bourikas' goal. Cambridge scored twice in the second quarter for a 3-1 halftime lead. North's junior goalie, Pat King, played well with his long kicks continually booming over 50 yards downfield.

The Raiders' Paul Donovan led a relentless fourth quarter attack and hit on a 10-yard shot with Gary Donaghey having an assist.

Brockton blanked North, 4-0, but the Raiders had a good chance to take an early lead only to have Bill Koch's hard shot sail over the crossbar. King kept Brockton off the board with several nice stops.

Brockton took a 2-0 lead at the half, taking advantage of two North mistakes. Brockton added two more goals in the final quarter.

Last Friday North Quincy led Weymouth North, 1-0, at the half, but dropped a 2-1 squeaker. Chris Dunn's hard shot found the top left corner of the goal as the Raiders led, and Paul Mallory, coming back from an injury was outstanding in goal. Charlie Spiropoulos also helped keep Weymouth off the board in the first half, trapping a hard shot with his chest at the goal line.

Weymouth scored a tainted goal early in the third quarter to tie it as a North fullback misplayed a ball and, after some good shots by Bill Bradley went over the crossbar. Weymouth won it with 3:19 to play. With 35 seconds left Bourikas broke in alone but his shot went wide left.

"This was a frustrating week for us," said Bregoli. "We had great chances to win both the Cambridge and Weymouth games. Sophomore Pete McGillivray is playing excellent ball and Mallory's outstanding play against Weymouth made me feel good."

"Paul Gillis due back this week after missing five games with an injury and Steve Sacchetti may also be back after missing eight games. I liked the play of Dunn, Billy DeCarli and Scott Brennan last week."

While North Quincy's varsity has been having its troubles, the junior varsity, coached by former Raider star Al Styles, is rolling along with a fine 5-1-1 record, scoring 22 goals to 12 for the opposition.

Sophomore Mike Bourikas has scored nine goals, having two three-goal games. Soph. Jimmy Boudreau has four goals, three against Quincy. Kevin Warren has scored two and Danny Dodd, Chris Butler, Ken Nutley, Nick Carbone and Sam LaValle also have scored goals. Soph. George Dolbec and junior John Hogan have played well at wing.

Leading the defense is junior fullback Jay Williams, sophs Alex Coutts and Dwayne Wilcoxen have played well as have Danny Marsters, Nutley, newcomer John Phelan, Bobby Flynn, Frank Scanlan, Chris Harrington, George Woodman and Dennis White.

Juniors King, Bob Flaherty and soph Dave Marcham share the goal-tending chores. Flaherty and King have also played with the varsity. King has allowed four goals in three games and Flaherty eight goals in three games. Marcham has not been scored upon yet.

Quincy Ties Weymouth S.

Jim McGuire's Quincy boys' soccer team continues to play well and last week tied Weymouth South, 2-2, to make its record 1-2-2.

McGuire and Weymouth coach Jon Anderson were teammates at Babson College and their teams also stage interesting games.

Twice Weymouth led but Quincy came back both times to tie it up. "I give these kids credit," McGuire said. "They showed a lot of heart coming back twice with good aggressive play."

The Presidents tied for the second time late in the third period when Joe Norton centered the ball to Joe Reardon, who scored.

Quincy's first tying goal in the first period was scored by Peter Papile, who drove one over the goalie's head.

Reardon, Dave Goulart, Bill Rollins, Mark Hubbard, Mike Rollins and Norton all played well for Quincy and Jeff Morrison looked good in goal.

Quincy, which holds a 3-1 win over North Quincy, earlier had held a strong Waltham team to a 1-1 tie.

The Presidents will play at Weymouth North Friday and will be host to Brookline Monday at 3:30.

Quincy Track Club Presents Awards

More than 300 children and their parents attended the fourth annual Quincy Track Club awards banquet at Kings Hill Hall in Braintree.

Head table guests included Mrs. Irene Kelly, club president; Jerry Libby, Joe Santo, Janice Kelly, former North Quincy High and Cornell star Bart Petracca, Brian Crowley and Roger Perrault of the Taunton Track Club. John Micelli of the Everett Track Club and city councilors Steve McGrath and Joanna Condon.

Coach Jeff Hennessy was toastmaster and Quincy Marathon winner Jimmy Cappuzzuto was a special guest.

Coaches awards went to Tracy Wilson and Mark Lunnin for their outstanding seasons, the Frank Kelly Memorial Awards for dedication and excellence went to Maureen Roche and Kevin Dunn, and the MVP awards went to Jamie McArdle and Kristine Picarski.

Councilors McGrath and Condon presented framed certificates of merit to all club officers and coaches and Doug Geschelin and Jeff Pywell presented Hennessy with a plaque expressing their gratitude for his work during the past season.

Each boy and girl received a certificate for their involvement in the program and the banquet concluded with a movie and slide show of this past summer's action.

In cross country action at Brockton's D.W. Field Park, Harry Morash took third in boys 8-12 over the 2.2-mile course, and Lorrie McNeill, Mary Beth Bonner and Tracy Fostello placed 3-4-5 in the girls' race.

In 13-16 Kevin Dunn was fourth in the boys' race and Tracy Cull was second. Bernadette Murphy third and Eileen Morris fifth in the girls' run.

Big improvements were made by Kevin O'Brien, Deirdre Murphy, Kim Musso, John Shea and Susanne Sheehy.

Squirt B's Bomb Brockton

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team bombed Brockton, 13-1, as Richie Golden, Kevin Marston and Mike Toland had two goals apiece. Mike McClory, Ralph Richardson, Terry Hack, Mark Dwyer, Hank Miller, Tony Pecce and Kirk McDonald had one goal each.

Miller had two assists and Dwyer, McDonald, Bobby Kane, Pecce, Mike McClory, Hack, Toland, Marston and Jeff McClory one each.

Scott Cunningham and Eddie Ryan sparked in goal. The Squirt B's had earlier rolled over Weymouth, 9-1.

5 Quincy Teams In Junior Baseball Tourney

Five teams represented Quincy in the recent Junior Baseball League triple elimination tournament held at Artery Fields 1 and 2. The tournament was won by Norwood Colombos.

The Quincy Junior League

American League all-stars fared the best among Quincy teams with a 5-3 record and was eliminated in the semifinal round.

The Quincy National League all-stars had a 4-3 record. St. John's made a fine showing with a 3-3 record, bowing to the two Norwood teams, the tournament finalists, and the Quincy National League team.

Making a surprising showing was an 11-year-old team sponsored by Morrisette Post which, playing against 12-year-old teams, had a 2-3 record, losing all games by one run.

The other Quincy team was the Triple A All-Stars, who went 1-3, being eliminated by the Morrisette stars, 4-3.

The city can be proud of these fine baseball players, who performed so well both on and off the field, and their coaches, who gave of their time this summer to coach the boys.

'Month Of The Coast' Programs

Nature Walk Planned For Black's Creek Salt Marsh

The eighth in a series of scenic walks in Quincy will be conducted Sunday, Oct. 5, on the Quincy Salt Marsh in the Black's Creek open space complex off Fenno St., Wollaston.

The nature walk is part of the Quincy Conservation Commission's program for "Quincy Month of the Coast," which has been proclaimed for October by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

Those going on the walk are asked to meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Conservation Commission headquarters in the old Nike site at 100 Southern Artery.

The walk will take about an hour and a half and consist of some two miles of easy walking designed to acquaint people with the beauty and value of a section of Quincy's 27 miles of coastline. In case of inclement weather, an indoor slide program of Quincy's natural areas will be shown in the Conservation Commission office.

Mayor Tobin's proclamation points out that "there is a national interest in the effective management, beneficial use, protection, and development of the coastal zone."

"The citizens of Quincy should be made more aware of the rich recreational and economic resources" which are "ecologically fragile and extremely vulnerable to destruction by man's alterations."

The Mayor recommended that

Quincy "should become an active participant in the national campaign (Year of the Coast) to educate citizens about the importance of protecting, conserving and restoring our coasts."

The Quincy Month of the Coast is coordinated by the Conservation Commission and the Quincy public schools.

Some other activities that they are sponsoring during October include exhibits of books and materials concerning the coast in the main library and in all branches.

There will also be an exhibit of work done by Quincy students in the lobby of City Hall.

MUSIC AND DANCING were enjoyed by a large and enthusiastic crowd Friday at Montello's, marking the first of a series of evenings of ballroom dancing. The popular local group, the Royal Troubadours, perform waltzes, foxtrots, line dances and others, each Friday from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Patricia Morrell Paintings At Houghs Neck Center

The artwork of Patricia Morrell is being exhibited during October and November at the Houghs Neck Multi Service Community Center, 1193 Sea St., as part of an "Artist in Residence" series.

Local artist Joanne Dondoro was the first "Artist in Residence" and exhibited her paintings during August and September.

Ron Goodman's work will be displayed in December.

Rummage Sale At Wollaston Congregational

Local artists who would like to lend their paintings for future exhibits can contact Patricia Riden, community affairs coordinator, at 471-8251.

Church will sponsor a rummage sale on Saturday, Oct. 4 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The church is located at the corner of Lincoln and Winthrop Ave., Wollaston.

Free Movie Series At No. Quincy Library

The North Quincy branch library will sponsor free films on Oct. 4, 20 and 27.

Featured in the "October Film Fest" are Charlie Chaplin's "The Great Dictator" on Oct. 4; "Mother Teresa of Calcutta" and

"Rose Kennedy Remembers", both on Oct. 20 and John Huston's "The African Queen", with Humphrey Bogart and Katherine Hepburn on Oct. 27.

All films begin at 7 p.m. at the library, 381 Hancock St., North Quincy.

Puppet Show At Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church will sponsor a Puppet

Show on Oct. 11 to benefit its Harvest Holiday Fair.

The show, by Rockland puppeteer Bob Caldiera, begins at 2 p.m. and "children of all ages" are invited. Popcorn and candy will be on sale. The church is located at 444 Washington St., Quincy Point.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 2.

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

Pace quickens until Monday, which is marred by communication and/or transportation tie ups. Love shows its sentimental side on weekend. Friends are counting on your cheerful support.

PISCES—February 20-March 20

New beginnings characterize week—favored is move or the launching of important relationship. But three warnings: Don't overeat, overspend, or overtrust.

ARIES—March 21-April 20

You excel now in role of treasurer—collecting debts, balancing accounts. Honors come your way by Saturday. Lovers' tiff isn't nearly as serious as you think.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22

A couple of embarrassing situations—forgetting a name, missing an appointment—make for red-faced week. Actually, green is your color, with unexpected cash arriving by Tuesday.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Self indulgent streak can find you involved in mindless entertainment. A pity to get carried away, with a little ambition, romantic adventure or exciting job can be yours for asking.

CANCER—June 22-July 22

Behind-the-scenes activities suggest financially brighter October. A broken friendship may show faint sign of recovery; it's up to you to make next move.

LEO—July 23-August 22

Yours is role of recorder—of details and anecdotes. You bring wit and insight to anything you write. Weekend tete-a-tete may turn into crowd.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Keep your feet on ground—emphasize predictable—and you'll manage giant step in career and social spheres. Critical relatives offer surprisingly shrewd advice.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22

Long-range financial goals demand more time. Stubborn acquaintance cramps your style, but higher-up is eager to listen to your most innovative ideas. Weekend's accent is on cultural events.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Color week bright and bold—and dress yourself accordingly. Financial strain eases somewhat and new relationship is off on humorous note. Prepare for slowdown after Monday.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

A little argumentative, you could find friends keeping some distance this weekend. Loved one finally reacts to last week's announcement. Behind-the-scenes maneuver leads to academic advancement.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

Dull job can't be postponed any longer but social life becomes more varied. Possessive friend relaxes his/her grip and finally respects your independence. Children provide choice entertainment.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

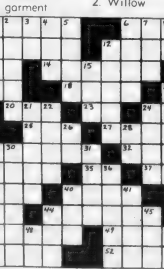

You understand both sides, which makes it easy for you to adapt...and compromise. A superb listener, but unless more decisive you'll miss taking advantage of splendid financial tips and career hints you hear through year. Christmas news gives you a glow for months.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 2nd, columnist Rex Reed; 3rd, author Gore Vidal; 4th actor Charlton Heston; 5th, actress Glynnis Johns; 6th, actress Janet Gaynor; 7th, actress June Allyson; 8th, comedian Chevy Chase.

At Chamber Breakfast

Gov. King, Aide Cite How Massachusetts Is Making It

By TOM HENSHAW

"Boy, do we have a list of successes here in Massachusetts!" said James Carlin, commissioner of commerce and development, by way of warming up the audience for his boss, Gov. Edward J. King.

And together, for the benefit of breakfasting members of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce at the Lantana, Randolph, Carlin and the boss ticked off the things that have happened since King became governor.

"Starting in 1979, this has been the first time in 36 years that the overall property tax in the Commonwealth has been lowered," said King. "Income taxes were reduced slightly by increasing the value of exemption, increasing the value of the exemption."

"Right now, our unemployment rate among the industrial states is tied with Texas as the lowest," said Carlin. "If anybody predicted that three years ago they'd have said he was crazy."

"We have brought down the percentage that the Commonwealth takes in taxes from the people of Massachusetts as part of their gross earnings from 17.8 percent in 1978 to something like 16.5 percent now," said King.

"Fortune Magazine produces a list of the 1,000 largest industrial companies," said Carlin. "Of the new additions to that list, 22 percent of them last year were Massachusetts companies."

Even the MBTA come in for some good words from King, although the packed dining room at the Lantana in Randolph was a trifle skeptical about that.

"Buses and train schedules are met each day over 90 percent," said the governor. "We now have garages that are working. We have the equipment; we have the mechanics. Financial conditions have improved. The system is functioning well."

"We find very, very few businesses in the state that aren't doing well," said Carlin. "Massachusetts is making it."

And, just by coincidence, the new motto of the Bay State is "Make It in Massachusetts."

Gov. King had high praise for the State Legislature's action last Thursday in taking first steps toward a constitutional amendment to control the growth of state and local taxes.

"It suggests very strongly that the time has arrived that these problems are going to be addressed," he said. "Whatever the outcome in 1981, it will be a continuing step in the right direction."

The amendment is something that's sensible because it controls the percentage of taxes that may be extracted from us and that percentage of taxes is related to the gross income of the state."

He likes the amendment better, he said, than Proposition 2½, which he calculated would cost the state $489 million in lost tax revenues.

"I'm not sure how we would deal with the results of a cut like that," he said.

"For instance, we have an elderly program that continues to grow for home care each year. I don't know who is going to stand up and say that that's not necessary. I know I'm not going to be one of them."

"It (2½) is a great issue every time there's an election but I think you ought to remember this, too, that things like 2½ have never been successful."

"The tax cap worked. It didn't solve all our problems but it's in the right direction and I think this amendment is a followup."

Prayer To St. Jude

Most holy apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the Church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost departed. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make me I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help almost departed. O Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations, and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. Amen 1

Tobin's Reply To Council:

Sewer Vote Means $8-10 On Tax Rate

By TOM HENSHAW

The City Council's rejection of his sewer use charge proposal will have an impact of $8 to $10 on the property tax rate, an angry Mayor Arthur H. Tobin charged Tuesday.

The Mayor called it "the McCauley tax."

The night before, Councillor Francis X. McCauley, leading the opposition to the Mayor's proposal, referred to the sewer use charge as "this Tobin sewer tax."

The Mayor's proposal would have taken the cost of the sewer department out of the tax levy and charged it to the users in a separate billing under a formula based on water use.

It was necessary, the Mayor said, to fulfill new guidelines for federal aid and to meet an MDC requirement that the city charge according to use or the state will set up the system for it.

But the Council couldn't see it by an unexpected vote of 7-2 with only Councillors John J. Lydon Jr. and John J. Quinn voting with the Mayor.

The Council seemed to feel that the Mayor had not given enough consideration to an alternative plan that would keep residential users on the tax levy and bill major industrial users and tax exempt separately.

McCauley also saw the Tobin plan as an effort by the Mayor "to reduce the tax rate so that he will look good." He called the proposal "a cruel tax."

"We are going on a user kick in this city," he said. "Everyone pays his fair share. But there are many items that should not be charged to the user because we all benefit from them."

"Why not do the same for the School Department? The net cost of educating a child is $2,000. If Mr. Smith has five kids in school, why not send him a bill for $10,000?"

"This Tobin sewer tax is only one of several ways under which we can fulfill the federal and state

Homeless Family Seeks Aid At City Hall

A mother with six young children and two dogs set up temporary housekeeping in the Council Chamber at City Hall Tuesday after they were forced to leave a Weymouth motel.

The family left public housing in Boston in May and had been living in various places until the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy, took them in town.

Fr. McCarthy paid their motel bill of nearly $500 a week while trying unsuccessfully to get them into public housing in Quincy.

"Monday afternoon," said Fr. McCarthy, "I told them I couldn't pay the motel bill anymore."

Channel 4 in Boston came down to the Weymouth motel Monday night to interview the family and Fr. McCarthy.

Shortly before noon Tuesday, the family and the Channel 4 cameras wound up in Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's office in Quincy.

"The family plunked themselves down in the City Council Chamber and said they wouldn't leave until we helped them," said Tobin. "They said they weren't mad at us, they just wanted housing."

The Mayor called the Welfare Department and the wandering mother and her six kids and two dogs were promised shelter for at least one night.

Council Approves Police Pay Hikes

The City Council has given final approval to raises to superior officers in the Police Department that were granted recently through binding arbitration to bring them to the level of fire fighters.

Starting on Jan. 1 captains will receive $35,795, up from $29,819; lieutenants $29,104, up from $24,243; and sergeants $23,660, up from $19,710.

As part of the package, Chief Francis X. Finn's salary will go from $37,274 to $44,744 equal to Fire Chief Edward Barry.

223-Car Garage

$2.9 Million UDAG Grant Sought For Dimmock St. Project

The City Council's Downtown Development Committee is considering another Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) application for Quincy Center.

This one is for $2,925,000, a federal loan to Quincy Associates to build a 223-car parking garage on air rights over the MBTA tracks at Dimmock St.

The garage will aid the development of a $14 million, twin tower residential-office-retail space complex that Quincy Associates is planning to construct at Hancock and Dimmock Sts.

Part of the UDAG would go to assist in relocating existing tenants back into the new structure.

The Planning Department will schedule a hearing into the UDAG sometime between now and Oct. 20.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, in a supporting letter to the Council, said the proposed UDAG loan would be paid back to the city at the rate of 6 per cent interest over 40 years.

"The developer will own and operate the garage for the use of the twin tower development," he said.

"The developer will then pay back to the Planning Department approximately $120,000 per year as loan pay-back as well as any increased taxes."

"The repaid loan money will be used by the city to help further other worthwhile development projects which would be in the best interest of our citizens."

12 Can Win

Trip To United Nations Prize In Student's Poster, Essay Contests

Twelve Quincy school students will receive a top prize of a trip to the United Nations headquarters in New York City in a United Nations Day poster and essay contest.

The contest, open to all public and private school students, grades seven to 12, is co-sponsored by the city of Quincy and The Quincy Sun.

Students must create a poem, essay or poster on the theme "What the UN means to me: Young people helping young people through the UN." Entries must be received at the Quincy Sun Office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center, by Oct. 20.

The top two entries in each grade will be honored at City Hall in United Nations Day ceremonies, Oct. 24. They will also visit the UN at a later date. That trip will be sponsored by several local civic organizations.

Written responses must be typed or handwritten in black ink on 8½-by-11 inch paper.

Posters must be on 9-by-12 inch paper, using black crayon, ink or magic marker.

All entries must be labeled on the back with the student's name, age, grade, school, home address and telephone number.

Coordinators of the contest are Rev. Keith Munson of United First Parish Church, chairman of the city UN Day committee, and Richard Ramsdell, coordinator of arts and humanities for Quincy Public Schools.

Other members of the city UN Day and contest committee are Carol Pisano of the city Planning Department, Ann Keating and John Harrington and Janet DiTullio of Quincy Public Schools.

2 Taxi Firms Ask Fare Increase

Two major taxi companies in Quincy have asked the City Council to approve what amounts to a 20 cents a mile increase in cab fares throughout the city.

The Council sent the request on to its Public Safety Committee.

The North Quincy Taxi Service and Yellow Cab Inc. asked for rates of $1 for the first three-sixths of a mile and 20 cents for each additional one-sixth of a mile.

That comes to $1.60 for the first mile and $1.20 for each additional mile.

The current rates in Quincy are $1.40 for the first mile and $1 for each additional mile.

Wayne E. McCulley of North Quincy Taxi and George J. Parker of Yellow Cab pointed out that Quincy's cab fares are among the lowest in eastern Massachusetts.

By comparison, Arlington's fares are $2.20 for the first mile and $1.40 for each additional mile; Boston's are $1.90 and $1.20; Newton's $1.60 and $1.60; and the proposed new rates for Brockton are $1.80 and $1.20.

Quincy's use time of $10 an hour would remain the same.

Assets $286. Million

Quincy, South Scituate Savings Banks To Merge Dec. 1

The Quincy Savings Bank and the South Scituate Savings Bank will merge Dec. 1 into a financial institution with $286.8 million in assets that will retain the Quincy name.

The merger has received a certificate of consolidation from State Banking Commissioner Gerald T. Mulligan.

"As far as we are concerned," said QSB President Charles A. Pearce, "the merger will give us entry into two new market areas, Norwell Center and Queen Ann Corner in Norwell.

"The reason for seeking a merger is to provide the resources needed to expand their banking operation. We will be able to provide services in Norwell that South Scituate did not."

Pearce will remain as president of the consolidated bank.

David B. Richardson, current president of SSSB, will be senior vice president and Kenneth L. Torrey, now executive vice president and treasurer of South Scituate, will be a vice president.

SSSB Asst. Treasurer Richard A. Merritt will hold the same title with the merged bank.

Trustees and corporators of South Scituate will serve in the same roles and the boards of investment and auditing committees of both banks will be substantially combined.

The current staff of the SSSB at both the main office in Norwell Center and the branch at Queen Ann Plaza also will remain.

The present QSB headquarters at 1200 Hancock St., Quincy, will be the main office of the consolidated bank, which becomes the fifth largest of 33 institutions in the Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Milton and Hanover area.

"The merger will not detract from but rather will strengthen the competitive banking structure within the primary service areas," said Pearce.

"Both banks have evidenced a very strong commitment to excellence in banking through their efforts to provide the best possible services to their depositors and the public.

"Each has a well-established reputation for treating customers with dignity. 'Personal banking' is a way of doing business at both institutions."

Some of the new services the bank will be able to offer in Norwell include pay by phone, IRA and Keogh accounts, automatic tellers, safe deposit boxes and VEC check cashing cards.

The Quincy Savings Bank was founded in 1845 and the South Scituate Savings Bank was incorporated in 1834. South Scituate is the old name for the town of Norwell.

The QSB's statement of condition on June 30, 1980 showed that it had assets of $264.8 million. Pearce said the assets of the SSSB at that time totalled $21 million.

The QSB has other branches at 1374 Hancock St., Quincy Center; 371 Hancock St., North Quincy; 138 Franklin St., South Quincy; 461 Washington St., Quincy Point; 303 Columbia Rd., Hanover; and 405 Washington St., Braintree.

Council Officially Makes Nov. 4 Election Day

The City Council Monday night confirmed what had long been suspected—that there will be an election Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Under the law, the Council is required to issue a call for the election, the date of which has long since been set by higher authority.

The Council also designated 39 polling places, the same as those used in the September primary when the Adams Shore Library replaced the Hunting School as polling place in Ward 1, Precinct 4.

$100,000 In Wiring

A total of 120 permits for wiring estimated to cost $100,920 were issued during the month of September, it was reported by Wire Inspector William H. Pitts.

The major project was a five-unit apartment building at 208 School St.

The department collected $1,411.25 in fees, made 148 inspections, noted 20 defects and made 13 reinspections and two fire calls.

Forty one certificates of approval were issued to the Massachusetts Electric Co.

Selling Quincy At Economic Development Conference: Bigger The Project, Better The Deal

By TOM HENSHAW

The first time the city held an economic development conference in 1978, the result was the $10 million Campanelli-Stop and Shop building which is going up on the old Della Chiesa Parking Area.

The second conference in 1979 produced Stephen Weiner of Letherbee Inc. in the role of designated developer of a shopping mall that has been proposed for the John Hancock Parking Area.

"I make the same offer now," the Rev. Bedros Baharian, citywide development director, told some 180 people at the third annual conference Tuesday morning at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. "The bigger the project, the better the deal."

The conference, which was more precisely a panel discussion, centered around the Campanelli-Stop and Shop building and the intricate wheeling and dealing that went into its planning.

The expected announcement of the name of at least one of the three major retail tenants who would fill an anchor store in the John Hancock mall failed to materialize.

"You will hear more about that in about six to eight weeks," said Baharian. "We will have some interesting and exciting announcements."

"Mr. Weiner is coming to see me in a week or two," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, "and we'll go over the preliminary model and some additional documentation on the East-West Connector."

"Then he said he feels he will have letters of intent from retail tenants based on the road. We won't have any announcement until we pull the whole thing together."

Baharian offered the developers at the conference five pieces of potential development property:

- The Old Colony Crushed Stone site in West Quincy, 200 acres of "fabulous development possibilities on a big scale."

- The old Quantum Naval Air Station, on which "a master plan will be presented soon."

- State Street South which "struggled for 10 years to do something with the land and this administration made it possible." These buildings are in various stages of construction and room for more.

- The Shea Ruscito area of West Quincy west of the Expressway, "a beautiful piece of land, 450 acres just crying for development."

- Quarry St., site of the old

Kannavos project which went down in the crash of 1974, "a fantastic residential or office site."

"We are willing to negotiate and work together for the benefit of the city and the developer," said Baharian.

Some of the principals in the Campanelli-Stop and Shop project were on the panel that discussed how the city and the developer worked together to pave the way for that building.

Frank Crowley, vice president for real estate for Stop and Shop Cos. Inc., told why his company chose to move from South Boston to Quincy.

"We wanted a livable deal," he said. "It was nothing more than a good location, the right price and a cooperative community."

Robert Kenney, president of Urban Consulting Associates of Boston, explained how the Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) was obtained to build a parking garage behind the building.

"Stop and Shop was considering moving to a suburb where there was adequate parking without a garage," he said. "We had to find some way to equalize the deal."

"The federal UDAG program is one of the best to come out of Washington in a long time. It's fast and simple. It encourages private development in a lot of ways."

"The funds in this case were used for a parking garage and they were just what was needed because Quincy was unable to appropriate the money to build the garage."

Judie Cullen, principal planner in the Planning Department, told how the city and Campanelli worked together to obtain all the state, federal and local approvals for bonds, leasing and land taking.

Flu Vaccine Program Underway

The Quincy Health Department has started its annual immunization program against influenza for the 1980-81 flu season using vaccine provided by the state.

A "moderately severe" season is expected.

In the past, the city has purchased its own vaccine but, said Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, this year it is relying on state supplies due to budget restrictions.

The free program started Monday at the J.F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., and continued yesterday

(Wednesday) and tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The program is being held only at the Health Center.

"Two years ago we held it at 58 locations," said Dr. McKeogh, "and last year we cut it to 30. This year, because of productivity we can only hold it at one place."

Dr. McKeogh said the city usually provides 3,000 inoculations but the state provided only 1,830 doses so many people will have to get their shots from private doctors.

Last month, the State Department of Public Health warned of a new strain of influenza virus called A/Bangkok "which we believe will cause a significant outbreak of influenza this year."

It recommended immunization for senior citizens, persons in nursing homes, persons with chronic diseases and those who risk exposure while providing an essential community service.

Dr. McKeogh said it had been planned to provide immunization for senior citizens at their housing complexes through the Council on Aging but the plan has been abandoned for lack of funds.

Patriot Lunch License Transfer Approved

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City License Board approved the transfer Tuesday of the common victualer license for Patriot Lunch, 1248 Hancock St., from Lester Brockman to Albert and Daisy Zero of Quincy.

The transfer, is contingent on the board's receiving a letter from Brian Sullivan of the Massachusetts Department of Revenue stating past tax obligations have been satisfied.

Transfer of the license has been held up for months because of the establishment's alleged failure to comply with the Mass Meal Tax.

The tax department asked that the board not approve the license transfer until the matter was cleared up.

At this week's meeting, Attorney Sumner Gillette, representing the Zeros, indicated the taxes would be paid with the profits from the sale of the luncheonette.

Gillette said the check for the purchase would be made out to Brockman and to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The matter had been scheduled for the Oct. 21, License Board meeting but Atty. Gillette asked that the hearing be moved up to this week because he had other commitments.

The Zeros are owners of another Quincy eating establishment, Gina's.

In another matter, Hassan Haydar requested a permit for the Boston Harbor Marina Antique Craft and Flea Show to open Friday, Nov. 7, 6 p.m. to 12 a.m. City Clerk John Gillis told Haydar that each vendor at the show must have a tax certificate before the permit can be issued.

The License Board also:

- Granted a one-day, all alcoholic license to the Sacred Heart Parish Council, North Quincy, for a dance Saturday, Oct. 11, 8 p.m. to midnight, in Sacred Heart Hall. The council was instructed to check with the Health Department concerning serving of food.

- Granted a one-day, all alcoholic license to St. Boniface Church for an adult dance Friday, Oct. 24, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the church hall. The board also agreed to send a letter to the council requesting that a representative appear before the board in person with any future requests.

- Granted Pete's Grille, Inc., 540 South St., permits for a pinball and pool table machine, subject to approval of their location in the establishment by the Building and Fire Departments. Fire Chief Edward Barry reminded owners of the establishment they must inform the board of any changes in the type of machines.

- Granted a one-day, all alcoholic license to the Committee to Re-Elect Paul D. Harold for Friday, Oct. 29, 8 p.m. to midnight, at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. No food will be served.

May, '81 Vote Asked On School Reorganization

Supporters of neighborhood schools should probably circle the dates March 31, April 30 and May 13, 1981, on their calendars.

Those dates, though highly tentative, may figure strongly in which of the city's 26 schools will survive the 1980's, and in what form.

A "time line" presented to the School Committee by School Supt. Lawrence Creedon suggests that they appoint a community task force this month to study the topic of school system reorganization.

The schedule further recommends delivery of the task force's report to Creedon on March 31, 1981, a public hearing on its recommendations on April 30 and a School Committee vote on reorganization on or about May 13.

Creedon has estimated that a total reorganization of the school system could close as many as eight schools in addition to the three closed last spring.

The possible reorganization is tied into the declining enrollment in Quincy schools. Enrollment, which peaked at 17,100 in 1971, is now around 12,000 and is expected to bottom out between 8,000 and 10,000 in the mid-80's.

A change in school grade structures - such as elementary schools for kindergarten to grade five, "middle schools" of grades six to eight and high schools for grades nine to 12 - is also among the numerous possibilities which could be considered in a total reorganization.

The School Committee last week delayed making a decision on how the citizen's task force would be chosen.

School administrators Wilfred Nolan and Arthur Woodward, who prepared the time line, had suggested representatives from each school's parent-teacher groups.

But committee member Patricia Toland called that "not adequate", saying parents would probably have "emotional ties" to keeping their child's school open.

She suggested that letters be sent to a number of community groups, inviting participation by "a broad spectrum of the community."

The task force probably should not include school system employees, Creedon added.

QCA Reaffirms Support For Proposition 2½

The Quincy Citizens Association, after hearing a representative from Citizens for Limited Taxation last week, voted to reaffirm its support of Proposition 2½.

Mike Corby told the October monthly meeting of the QCA that it was necessary to go the referendum route for tax relief because the Legislature will not do anything to reduce property taxes.

A decisive vote in favor of Proposition 2½ would force the Legislature into action, he said.

The QCA also voted to reaffirm its opposition to the East-West Connector, the cross-town road through downtown Quincy.

And members affirmed their support of the 10-story height limitation ordinance which the QCA was instrumental in passing several years ago.

Quincy Quiz

The Quincy Quiz has its first out of town winner this week. She is Susan Gustin of 34 Park Ave., Abington, who used to live on Madison Ave., South Quincy. She wins a T-shirt.

Another T-shirt winner is 14-year-old Catherine Barry of 30 Dysart St., Quincy Center.

And the week's only bumper sticker goes to David Lubarsky of Water St., South Quincy.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The collected papers of Laurence J. Curtin are to be presented to the Quincy Historical Society Nov. 5. Who was Laurence J. Curtin?
2. What is the name of the Tax collector of Quincy?
3. The Myles Standish School is named for the famed captain of the Plymouth Pilgrims. What was Capt. Myles Standish's connection with Quincy?
4. In what section of the city is Huckins Ave.?
5. What is the correct name of the Quincy District Court?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The Quincy School is in the Atlantic or North Quincy section of the city.
2. George B. McDonald is the Norfolk County Commissioner from Quincy.
3. Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon make up the Norfolk Senatorial District.
4. Quincy separated from Boston as part of the new town of Braintree in 1640.
5. The Quincy YMCA is at 79 Coddington St.

Ties And Trinkets

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is taking one more giant step forward for womanhood and equal rights.

Several years ago, the Chamber opened its annual summer clambake to women despite the protests of one or two male chauvinist diehards who considered the bake one of the last places in the world where a man could go to get away from women.

But, as it turned out, the gals added a touch of class to it.

Now, next step:

You're probably familiar with the fact that the Chamber has seagull motif neckties that are presented to distinguished guest speakers at the Chamber's breakfast meetings and other events.

Among those sporting the ties are Ronald Reagan, George Bush, John Anderson, Senator Edward Kennedy, Gerry Brown, Edward King, Mike Dukakis, Edward Brooke, Senator Paul Tsongas, Thomas (Tip) O'Neil, Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neil, newscaster Tom Ellis, etc.

The ties -- in dark blue, burgundy, brown and green -- have proven such a sartorial hit (Bush seems to wear his all the time) additional shades are going to be added, according to the Chamber's Ron Frazier.

Of, course, women don't wear ties. Not yet, anyway. So, what do you give a women guest speaker?

The Chamber has asked itself that question. And has come up with this answer: It is adding a line of jewelry with seagull motif. Such pester (possibly sterling) trinkets as pendants, earrings, stick pins, etc.

So, if Rosalynn Carter, Jackie Onassis or Raquel Welch turns up at a Chamber breakfast, she'll be given honors equal to what men now get.

And, if anyone would like to buy one of these trinkets, well that may be arranged, too.

Fly seagull! Up and away!

STORK DEPT: Rep. Robert Cerasoli and his wife, Jo-Ann, are expecting a little constituent in February - their first child. And, whether it's a boy or a girl, the middle name will be Keverian as in Majority House Leader George Keverian. Keverian introduced them when Jo-Ann was his secretary and Cerasoli was an aide to then Senator Arthur Tobin. "You should marry this girl," Keverian told him.

"I asked her out 26 times before she finally would go out with me," Cerasoli smiles. And, between Keverian and Dan Cupid, a romance started and wedding bells rang.

Donnelly Expects Town Brook Flood Control Funds O.K.

Congressman Brian Donnelly says he expects the federal government will approve a flood protection plan for Quincy's Town Brook area next year.

The plan has been under study since 1970.

"The Army Corps of Engineers is close to a final decision on the flood control project. I expect to ask Congress next year to budget the money for it," Donnelly said. The Corps' Board of Engineers at Port Belvoir, Virginia is conducting a final review of the flood control plan this month.

The proposal includes a 4,000 foot long tunnel to carry overflow from the brook near the MBTA tracks at School Street to the Town River wetland near the Southern Artery. A dike will be built on the north shore of the Old Quincy Reservoir and the dam there will be repaired, according to the plan.

"The Corps of Engineers figures this will save more than $13 million if there's a major flood, and it will bring the community about $2 million in benefits in years with normal rainfall," Donnelly said. The flood control project is expected to cost the federal government $21 million.

Donnelly is a member of the House Committee on Public Works, which will have to approve the money. "This is an insurance policy against a serious flood. I'm sure I can get my colleagues to go along with it once the corps makes its formal recommendation," Donnelly said.

Samuel Slater, who designed the first mechanized cotton-spinning mill, is credited with introducing the factory system to the U.S. in the late 18th century.

Air Force General Tells Rotarians:

Big Boosts Needed In Military Salaries

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

"You know, some of the Marine guards now in captivity at the embassy in Iran are making less than we were paying the janitors at that embassy," says Air Force Major General Thomas Sadler.

"I think that's un-American," he told the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at the Neighborhood Clubs Tuesday.

Sadler, commander of the 21st Air Force, said increases in military salaries are a necessary first step to boosting national defense.

"If you want good armed forces, you have to pay a decent salary," he said. "We've got good people now, but inflation is killing us."

"You can buy all the expensive equipment and all the advanced weaponry you want, but if you don't have the people to run them, it means nothing," he said.

The national defense situation is made more critical by three factors, Sadler said: America's increasing dependence on foreign raw materials, Soviet expansionism and growing influence of developing countries.

"It takes a national will to support world freedom," said Sadler. "The Soviets respect strength, nothing else."

"They have the ability to project and protect their strategies wherever they want to go."

America's military strength, once far superior to the Soviet's, is now considered "essentially equivalent," he added. "They've been outbuilding us for ten years. The momentum seems to be in their favor."

"You people are the stockholders," he said. "It's up to you how you vote, how you run your business and how you talk to your congressman to decide how much you want to spend on defense vis-a-vis some very good and very important other programs."

Sadler said he wouldn't take sides on the presidential election, or any other one.

"I'm apolitical," he said. "I don't want to tell you who to vote for."

Inflation hits the military just as hard as the rest of us, Sadler said. An average Army tank costs $1 million, he said, and an airplane part that cost $45 a few years ago now costs over $700.

And, he adds, "have we got old aircraft? You better believe it. We need some new equipment. It's getting hard to keep what we have together."

Still, Sadler said, "I see a very optimistic turn and our people are beginning to realize it."

President Carter has approved a bill increasing military salaries, Sadler said, but more is needed. Pay for many servicemen and women is so low that they qualify for foodstamps.

Last year, Air Force commissaries took in $10 million in food stamps," he said. "I say that if you take in one food stamp, it's too many."

Upping salaries is the only way to make the volunteer armed forces work, he said.

"We've got to be recruiting people to stay in, not just to fill squares," he said. "We've got to compete with what people could make on the outside."

"If our Air Force had to go someplace in a hurry, we could do it. I don't know how long we can sustain it, but the capability is there."

Wildcat Strike Of War Workers Ends At Fore River

A wildcat strike of some 5,500 workers at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard ended when management and labor agreed to turn their dispute over to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration.

First of the workers to walk out were 1,800 welders, complaining that the company had upgraded rates and revised the bonus contract system without consulting with the union.

William Mullaney, president of the Independent Union of Fore River Workers, said the strike was not authorized but was led by "loud-voiced demurrers" in disregard of an understanding with the company.

The strike was kept from spreading throughout the yard by Major Edward C. Madden, an Air Corps veteran just back from 30 months in Europe, who spoke to the men about hardships suffered overseas.

The shipyard continued to operate during the walkout.

Hospital Happy At Bond Vote

The City Council drew a round of wholehearted applause from City Hospital Tuesday morning.

That was the day after the Council finally passed the 'long pending (since June 16) $2 million bond issue to buy new equipment for the hospital.

"Fantastic," said Hospital Director Anthony DeFalso.

"This is going to enable us to replace a lot of obsolete equipment and a lot of non-existent equipment."

"We will be able to do a lot of testing inhouse that we have to send out to other hospitals now."

One of the most badly needed pieces of equipment is a head scanner for diagnosing head injuries.

"Any hospital that treats 30,000 people in its emergency room should have a head scanner," said DeFalso.

"They can be obtained today for as little as $150,000. We are working on a certificate of need right now and we plan to file it with the state in January."

Another badly needed piece of equipment is a centrifugal analyzer. That's one of the tests that is sent out now. Two of them at $72,000 will be purchased out of the bond issue.

Other items include an Argonne laser for eye surgery, $35,000; a portable X-ray, $32,000; monitoring equipment for the Intensive Care Unit, $47,950; three cardiac monitors, $15,000; a Zeiss operating microscope for ophthalmology, $10,000.

Meals On Wheels Drivers Needed

South Shore Home Care Services, Inc., is seeking volunteer drivers in Quincy one day a week for Meals on Wheels, a project to provide hot meals to homebound persons 60 years of age or older.

The program is designed to provide older persons who are home bound, convalescent, handicapped or unable to prepare adequate meals for themselves with the support they need to continue living independent lives.

Volunteers would pick up the meals at noon and deliver them to those who need them in Quincy with maximum time being an hour and a half. Gas is reimbursed at $1.7 a mile.

The hot meals are designed to meet one third of an older persons daily nutritional needs and are prepared by a caterer approved by the Home Care Services.

The program is subsidized by federal funds and may make confidential, voluntary contributions. No applicants will be refused because of financial status, and acceptance in the program is based on overall need.

For more information on the program or to volunteer, call Sophia Karolias, home delivered meals coordinator, at 471-0796 or 471-0798.

Phipps St. Zoning May Go To Court

The Cavicchi family will go to court, "where common sense prevails," if the City Council rezones their land on Phipps St., Quincy Center, their attorney said Monday night.

"This is an emotional issue," atty. Kevin Madden told the City Council. "It has brought threats and harassment to the Cavicchi family. We are not going to roll over and play dead."

Residents of the street are trying to have that section from Nos. 61 to 193 changed from Residence B to Residence A to forestall possible

m. unit development.

The Cavicchi sought to sell their property at 118-120 Phipps St. to the Quincy Housing Authority for the development of low-income apartments. The QHA dropped the plan in the face of opposition.

Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi presented a petition with 370 names of area residents who favored the zoning change to preserve the single family residential character of the street.

Madden told the Council that "the real issue is whether 118-120 will be low-income housing. That's what started this. That's when fear and prejudice came to Phipps St." Madden said the property at 118-120 Phipps is the "only parcel on the street big enough to lose value in this zoning change. The Cavicchi figure to lose $30,000 in property value."

Roland Cavicchi, one of the owners who lives in Brockton, told councillors that "if you vote for this it will come back to haunt you. You would be voting against low income housing and elderly housing."

Tax Rate In 10 Days Possible But Not Likely

The Quincy tax rate for 1981 could be set in a week to 10 days, Auditor Charles L. Shea told the City Council Monday night.

But both he and Mayor Arthur H. Tobin indicated that it is unlikely.

"We are at the mercy of the state in this thing," said Shea. "We have compiled certain numbers. Hopefully, the state forms will be in our hands Friday. Then they'll set a date for us to come in."

Tobin said he didn't want to disagree with Shea but "we're still waiting for some of the figures."

One of the figures, he said, was the expected passage of his sewer use charge by the City Council, which not only failed to pass it but blew it out of the water.

The tax rate came up at the Council meeting when Treasurer Robert E. Foy III asked for permission to borrow more money in anticipation of taxes to keep the city running.

Last summer, the Council put a $20 million cap on tax anticipation notes (TANs) in an effort to force the city administration to set an early tax rate.

Foy said he had already borrowed the $20 million to pay salaries of city workers and vendors for supplies sold to the city and if he didn't get some more money there would be a payless payday Oct. 13.

The Council reluctantly gave him permission to borrow $5 million more — but only after wringing from him and Shea all the information it could about the city's financial position.

Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. at first suggested that Foy be empowered to borrow only $3 million, enough to meet the payrolls for two weeks, and put off paying the vendors.

"The only thing I'm trying to do," said Foy angrily, "is keep the city's credit rating up. It was bad a while ago but we have brought it back."

"We are trying to sell $6,635,000 in bonds on Oct. 15 and any restriction on borrowing power would hurt the city when the bonds go out to bid."

Foy explained that the city had just had its credit rating boosted from A to AAA by Standard and Poor's, the credit rating agency.

The rating came about, he said, largely because two insurance companies agreed to guarantee any bonds that were sold if the AAA rating were granted. The insurance cost $70,000, offset by a lower interest rate.

Foy said Quincy is only the second city in Massachusetts to achieve a AAA rating. The other is Newton.

As a result of obtaining the AAA rating, the city is going to refinance existing bonds to the tune of $6,635,000.

A total of $6,035,000 will go to repay temporary loans issued to construct North Quincy High School and the Merrymount School addition and $600,000 for land acquisition in downtown Quincy.

Shea told the Council, that "for the first time this year all departments are reporting to me on a monthly basis as to their budget status."

"We have all heard rumors," said Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, "of what can happen in April or May. My idea of living within the appropriation does not mean massive layoffs in April or May."

2 Local Agencies Take Part In United Way Week

Two Quincy-based agencies were among more than 50 groups taking part in a recent United Way Week at Boston's Faneuil Hall Marketplace.

Three students from the Cerebral Palsy Woodworking Training Center of North Quincy displayed and demonstrated items built at the workshop.

Volunteers from the South Shore Council on Alcoholism manned an exhibit offering information on alcoholism and the council's services to victims, their friends and families.

United Way Week was the kickoff for the organization's 1980 fund-raising campaign, which runs through Nov. 25. United Way hopes to raise $23.5 million to support 167 affiliated agencies in Greater Boston.

One of those is the Cerebral Palsy Workshop, which offers vocational training to ten physically handicapped adults. Items made in the program are sold at United Cerebral Palsy's main office at 105 Adams St., Quincy Center.

The South Shore Council on Alcoholism is based at 148 Old Colony Ave., Wollaston, and serves South Shore residents of all ages. Among its services are counseling, rehabilitation and education programs.

Quincy Radio Operator Aids Cruise Ship Rescue

David Ring finally got to call home at 6:30 a.m. Monday.

"He sounded exhausted," said his mother, Mary. "He said he had only three hours sleep in three days."

Ring, 29, was the assistant radio operator aboard the super-tanker Williamsburg that spearheaded the rescue of 506 passengers and crewmen from the Dutch cruise ship Prinsendam that caught fire in the Gulf of Alaska.

"We're very proud of him," said Mary Ring, 14 Barry St., West Quincy, who is a school crossing guard for the MDC. "He has a certificate signed by the skipper of the Dutch ship."

Mrs. Ring said her son told her the Williamsburg had just taken on a load of oil at Valdez, Alaska, and was headed for Texas when the call came from the stricken Prinsendam at 12:26 a.m. Saturday.

The burning ship was 90 miles away and the Williamsburg covered the distance in five hours at 17.5 knots, with Ring manning the 500 band for emergency calls.

The rescue operation went very efficiently, he said, as the 1,000-foot Williamsburg took aboard 359 passengers and brought them back to Valdez.

DAVID RING

Young Ring, who has lived at the Barry St. address since 1953, has been interested in radio since he was a student at St. Mary's School, West Quincy.

"I used to write notes to him in Morse code," said his mother, "and he would translate them when he got home from school."

Except for an extension course at MIT when he was 14 years old, Mrs. Ring said, her son is self taught in radio. His ham call letters are N1EA.

He attended St. Mary's Manter Hall School in Cambridge and worked briefly as an engineer for WJDA before joining the crew of the Williamsburg last June 5.

His father, David J. Ring, is a certified public accountant with an office in Weymouth.

He has two brothers, Joseph, 24, a student at the University of Lowell, and John, 21, who works for Sea Coast Marine, Hull, and a sister, Maura, 16, who attended Sacred Heart High School, Weymouth.

Council Sewer Vote Means $8-$10 On Tax Rate, Says Tobin mandates. Let's force the Mayor to come in with another plan."

The Mayor called McCauley's reference to the Tobin sewer tax "a cheap political shot."

"I can see Mr. McCauley as a potential candidate (for mayor) advocating a higher property tax for the Tobin administration," he said.

"This is the third time in three years that Mr. McCauley has gone on record in favor of a higher tax rate. At least you know where he stands."

Tobin said he had not decided what course to pursue to bring the city into line with federal and state guidelines but, he added, "if the next one adds to the tax rate, we'll call it the McCauley sewer tax."

Last week, the Mayor called a news conference to explain the reasoning behind his sewer users charge proposal and Sewer Supt. Russell Eranion added a sense of urgency to the proceedings.

"With all the construction that's going on now in the city," he said, "if we got two days of constant rain, waste disposal is going to come up through the manholes into the streets."

Right now, the Quincy sewer system is paid for out of the property tax levy, an arrangement that the federal government is not likely to view as equitable under its most recent guidelines.

"We are being told that the sewer charge must be separate," Tobin told the news conference.

"I am recommending a sewer charge based on water usage as the best and fairest way for Quincy to qualify for 90 per cent aid to modernize our antiquated sewer system at the lowest possible expense to the taxpayer."

The sewer charge, said Water Supt. Owen Eaton, would be based on the estimate that 80 per cent of the water that goes into the average residence comes back out in the form of sewerage.

Industry, he said, would have to prove to the city how much of the water it uses goes into the sewer system, perhaps through use of a "flowmeter," which costs about $1,000.

Tobin said the city had three alternatives for meeting the guidelines:

One, it could incorporate it into the property tax levy as it does now and send separate bills to major industrial users and to tax exempt institutions. Tobin ruled this out as unfair.

"Let us assume the sewer use portion of the tax bill amounts to $8 per $1,000 valuation," he said. "A house assessed for $5,000 would pay $40 while a house assessed for $15,000 would pay $120."

"This means that the sewer use charge would be based on valuations and would even impose a sewer use charge on vacant land, some of which is unbuildable."

"It is questionable as to whether or not the federal government would look on this plan as being equitable."

Two, it could assess a fixed charge on residences and a metered water usage system on all other taxpayers. The problem is, said Tobin, the federal government has ruled out any flat rate proposal.

Three, the sewer use charge.

Tobin said it is imperative to impose the sewer use charge as soon as possible because of the amount of new development that has been entered into the city in the past two years, most as yet unbuilt.

"Along with this development, certain city services will have to be upgraded," he said.

"Probably the most important of those services is modernization of the sewer system, which dates back to 1895, and whose present capacity is incapable of handling the waste which will be generated by these new structures."

"The federal government has recognized the need for updating basic services to accommodate new development and many aid programs have been made available to communities that meet certain criteria."

"A city can qualify for 90 per cent aid (75 per cent federal, 15 per cent state) in updating its sewer system if it adopts a use charge that is equitable to all inhabitants."

In addition, he said, the MDC has mandated that the city institute a sewer use charge soon or the MDC will do it and deduct it from the city's cherry sheet.

Tobin said that, at present, "it appears that approximately 70 per cent of the sewer billings will be allowable deductions on the federal income tax forms."

Also, he added, "if Proposition 2½ should be a reality, a separate billing based on water usage would be outside the property tax and would reduce anticipated lost revenue by about $2 million."

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti said the city will need massive doses of federal aid as it goes into the construction phase of its sewer program, including construction of the Fort Hill pumping station.

"If we do not get that federal aid," he warned, "we will have to have substantial bonding to complete the program."

Stop & Shop Responds To Lettuce Boycott

A representative of the Stop & Shop Company has defended that company's sale of so-called "scab" lettuce.

Stop & Shop continues to sell Red Coach brand lettuce, grown by the Bruce Church Co. of California. That company is accused of using illegally imported workers to break a United Farm Workers strike.

The union has asked retailers to stop carrying that brand of lettuce.

"We don't feel the Stop & Shop Co. should be taking sides in a labor dispute," said Larry Parnell, Stop & Shop public relations director. "It's not up to us to tell people what lettuce to buy."

"The choice is up to our customers," he said. "If they don't buy it, we don't stock it." Since Red Coach lettuce became an issue last spring, Parnell said, the chain has cut back its purchases of the brand by half and offered customers an alternate choice, a Stop & Shop brand lettuce.

"Here in the Boston area, every grocery chain has removed Red Coach from its shelves except Stop & Shop," said UFW spokesman Rob Everts in a press release. "Stop & Shop has rejected both the farm workers' calls for help and the appeals of hundreds of community leaders all across New England."

Proponent Warns:

Tax Increase Looms If Prop 2½ Loses

By TOM HENSHAW

If Proposition 2 1/2 is voted down at the polls next month, state and city governments will take it as voter approval to raise taxes next year, warns Barbara Anderson, executive director of Citizens for Limited Taxation.

"But if there is a big vote for it, even the State Legislature will be afraid to change it," Miss Anderson told a meeting of the Quincy Taxpayers Association last week.

Citizens for Limited Taxation (CLT) is a moving force behind Proposition 2 1/2, which would limit the property tax levy of a community to 2.5 per cent of the full and fair market value of all its property.

Massachusetts is now at 3.4 per cent, she said, and the national average is 1.9 per cent.

A city like Quincy, Miss Anderson conceded, would be particularly hard hit by proposition 2½. It's 1980 tax levy was $62.3 million. Under Prop 2 1/2 it would be cut to $28.6 million.

"Quincy will have to have more local aid from the state in order to deal with it," she said.

"If the city goes to the state now, the state will say to raise the property tax. Under 2 1/2 the state will have to find some other way to do it."

There are other ways in which the state can fund programs that are mandated to the cities and towns, she said, "but unless Prop 2 1/2 passes, the state will never look for them. We have to get their attention."

Miss Anderson estimated that there is about $700 million in waste in the state budget and that some $600 million of it could be freed to bail out the cities and towns in the wake of Prop 2 1/2.

"The state does not want Prop 2 1/2," she said. "It is fighting us all the way."

"The state says if we do not vote for 2½ the state will cut taxes. But we don't believe the promises of the state any more."

Miss Anderson said CLT is having trouble raising money with which to fight for Prop 2 1/2, especially since Associated Industries of Massachusetts (AIM) was "frightened" by the Legislature into neutrality.

"We have been mailing out bumper stickers," she said, "a lot of people are afraid to put them on their cars. I had one torn off my car three times."

"We have had firemen come into our office and say, 'We'll get you if we lose our jobs.'"

She urged her listeners to write letters to the editor supporting Prop 2 1/2 --- "just a few lines saying, 'I'm fed up' --- and place calls to radio talk shows."

"We don't have much money to campaign for 2½," she said, "but if we are able to spend about one-third of what the opposition is spending then we can win."

Illegal Search Ruled

Marijuana Charges Against Quincy Teacher Thrown Out

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

When Quincy police arrested school teacher John Oliva April 22, they alleged there were 24 pounds of marijuana in his car.

Actually, says his lawyer, there were 27.

"There's no denying the facts," said Atty. Jeffrey LaPointe. "It's all a matter of how you count it."

But charges against Oliva and a co-defendant were thrown out of court last week when Norfolk County Superior Court Judge Robert V. Mulken ruled that the April 22 search of Oliva's car was illegally conducted.

Oliva, of 42 Warwick St., North Quincy, and Eulus Martins of Falmouth had been charged with possession of a Class D substance (marijuana) with intent to distribute. They had pleaded innocent.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Matthew Connolly says he will apply for an appeal of the case before the state Supreme Judicial Court, probably this week.

Oliva will probably decide this week whether he will seek to be re-instated to his Quincy teaching job, LaPointe said. At the time of his arrest, he was a physical education teacher at the Lincoln Hancock School.

He is now on an unpaid leave of absence, after School Supt. Lawrence Creedon gave him the choice between that leave or a suspension.

Creedon said Tuesday he had "no comment at all" on the Oliva case, including his possible reinstatement, until the court process was completed.

The heart of the case, according to both attorneys, is whether arresting officer Robert Crowley and Peter Gallagher had "probable cause" to stop and search Oliva's car.

If not, it was an "unreasonable search," prohibited by the Fourth Amendment.

On the day of the arrest, Gallagher and Crowley gave this account of the arrest:

The pair followed Oliva and Martins from Quincy to a Howard Johnson's in Canton, where Oliva dropped off Martins, left, and returned 10 minutes later. Oliva and Martins then returned to Quincy and stopped at the Wollaston Beach parking area, near Fenns St. Gallagher and Crowley saw Oliva move a large plastic bag from the trunk of his car to the front seat, followed the car when it left the parking area, and, with the assistance of a patrol car, stopped Oliva's car near Beach St. in Wollaston.

Police announced that 24 one-pound bags of marijuana, worth about $20,000, were found in Oliva's car.

"Actually, there were 27 pounds," said LaPointe Monday. "Twenty-five in the trunk and two in the car."

But, LaPointe said, the illegal search voids whatever evidence that was recovered.

"In general, before you can stop a car, the police have to have probable cause that a crime has been committed in their presence. It was obvious to both us and to the judge that they didn't have probable cause in this case," LaPointe said.

"They had a hearsay rumor that he (Oliva) was dealing drugs, that's all. And they watched him perform certain activities—he took a shopping bag out of his car in the middle of the day on Wollaston Beach, he had something to eat at a Howard Johnson's in Canton—there's nothing illegal about that."

"Crowley and Gallagher are good cops. They've had a lot of charges stick. But they just didn't have enough, and I think they knew it," LaPointe said.

"I have no question that, on appeal, the Supreme Court would uphold Judge Mulken's decision," he added.

"I thought they had reasonable cause in this case," said Connolly. "Judge Mulken didn't think so, but that's a very subjective thing. Another judge might agree with us."

Mulken would not allow introduction of at least two pieces of evidence that would have helped establish probable cause in the minds of the two officers, Connolly said.

One of these was communications from Braintree and Weymouth police on the alleged drug dealing of an unnamed Quincy teacher whose description was similar to Oliva's Connolly said.

"Judge Mulken would not allow us to introduce that," said Connolly. "I think he made a mistake on that."

Mulken didn't take the two officers' experience in drug investigations into account when differentiating between probable cause and a mere hunch," cause and a mere hunch, Connolly said.

Connolly said he would argue before the Supreme Judicial Court that "if the officers are acting on a good hunch, and there is a small violation of the suspect's rights, that shouldn't mean the exclusion of all the evidence. There are other remedies."

Oliva will decide soon whether he wants to teach again, LaPointe said.

"He really doesn't know what he wants to do," said LaPointe. Oliva had previously taught at Squantum and Atlantic Junior High schools.

LaPointe wouldn't say what Oliva has been doing since the April 22 arrest.

"He hasn't been teaching," he said. "He's just been earning a living, that's all."

Drafty windows, doors rob you of costly heat

If your windows and doors are loose and drafty, you won't significantly reduce the amount of heat you use this winter by turning down the thermostat.

When cold air leaks into the house through ill-fitting and warped old windows, your most practical solution may be double-glazed aluminum-framed replacements. They can cut heat loss through these openings by as much as 40 percent.

Replacement windows help to keep warmth inside the house and reduce the amount of heat you need for comfort, an important factor in the face of steadily rising energy costs.

Savings nationwide

While savings in heating fuel can be more dramatic in normally colder sections of the country, economies can also be significant in milder climates where modern aluminum replacement windows help prevent cooled air from escaping to the outside.

For instance, by replacing 250 square feet of window area with double-glazed aluminum-framed units including storm sash, a homeowner in Buffalo, N.Y., (which has a 7000 heating degree day temperature) could save over $400 a year in energy bills if he heats with oil costing $1.10 a gallon. Savings would be higher with electricity and less with gas heat.

In Miami, Fla., (with a 4500 degree day climate) a family with the same window area installing the same type replacements, could effect savings of $140 annually in electricity to air condition their home.

In addition to their efficiency, aluminum-framed replacement windows require little maintenance, do not need frequent repainting, and don't shrink, swell or rot.

They can be selected to blend with any style of architecture from Victorian to the most modern design, and with either an anodized finish or a baked-on enamel finish in a myriad of colors to harmonize with decorating schemes. These colors remain bright and clear.

Standard sizes and shapes are available, or the windows can be custom fitted in any style, be it picture, bay, double or single hung, vertical or horizontal slider.

Thermalized windows are the most popular type replacements because, by reducing heat conduction throughout the entire window, they offer the most protection against heat loss. They insulate as well as wood or vinyl windows, but have the advantages of rigidity and strength, and a low-maintenance finish.

A good "break"

A thermalized aluminum-framed window incorporates a thermal "break" in the frame and superior weatherstripping in all its component parts, along with double or triple glazing. The dead air space between the sheets of glass acts as insulation.

Other types of aluminum-framed replacement windows are also efficient. These come with either double or single-glazing plus storm windows and self-storing screens.

Most include easy-cleaning features such as sliders that lift out and double-hung windows that tilt into the room.

Windows can usually be installed in a single day by a qualified technician. They come completely pre-assembled with aluminum frame, balances, hardware, glass, weatherstripping and trim.

Moreover, you don't have to wait to take advantage of the energy savings they achieve because they can be set in place as easily on a cold winter day as in the spring or summer.

If you can't afford to have the entire house done at once, replace the windows in the most frequently used or coolest rooms first, and install them in other rooms as your budget permits.

Tax credit

The government helps by allowing you a credit of 15 percent up to a maximum of $300 on your Federal income tax for this type of energy conserving improvement.

When you make the decision to replace your old windows, take your time before deciding on the units you buy. Compare the quality of the various styles you're shown and check a complete window instead of a small cross section.

Then, compare prices with at least three contractors and, when you choose one, verify his workmanship with past customers. Proper installation is as important as the quality of the window.

Solid vinyl siding is investment for reducing maintenance

To get the most for your money, it is important to consider a variety of options before embarking on a home remodeling project. A home is one of the biggest investments most people make and remodeling adds to its resale value.

The cost of maintaining a home's exterior is soaring in these inflationary times. Have you had a painting estimate recently?

Today's costs high

Regular painting of a home, including the clapboard, shutters, rain carrying equipment as well as soffit and fascia systems, is expensive.

If you paint your house every four years, you would be amazed at the cost of exterior maintenance over the lifetime of your home.

More and more homeowners are discovering that it pays to invest in solid vinyl siding and accessories. One of the most popular building materials in the country, solid vinyl never needs painting, eliminating the time-consuming and costly chore.

Technological triumph

According to siding experts at Bird & Son, building materials manufacturers since 1795, solid vinyl is a triumph of modern technology. It can be kept looking clean year-round with a spray of the garden hose.

The average price of installing solid vinyl siding is about equal to the cost of two paint jobs, and it lasts the lifetime of a home.

thousands of dollars in painting bills over the years. If thermal insulating backerboard is applied with a solid vinyl siding installation, fuel bills can also be reduced.

Besides eliminating the need to paint, solid vinyl solves other problems that are inherent with wood, such as peeling, rotting, blistering and termites.

Homeowners can have the good looks of wood without the work by selecting one of the new solid vinyl sidings etched with a woodgrain texture, and each panel is squared off on the bottom to look like wood clapboard.

Unlike other types of siding, solid vinyl does not show scratches because the color goes all the way through the material. It will not dent, corrode or conduct electricity.

A favored remodeling material for both new and older homes, vinyl siding is easily applied over existing surfaces.

The wide range of colors, styles and textures available can be used to dramatically restore an older home's original beauty or enhance a new home's distinctive architecture.

A quality vinyl siding application is complemented by low maintenance vinyl accessories. Vinyl trim carrying equipment is Practical solution . . .

Hidden lavatory in bedroom can solve family's 'traffic jam'

A vexing problem faced by almost everyone living in a one-bathroom house is queuing up in the morning to use the only available lavatory facility.

It's an irritating way to start the day. When the house is shared by two working adults, one of them is going to end up waiting—and burning—while the other monopolizes the lone facility.

Recognizing how commonplace this problem is, interior designers at Armstrong came up with a solution that is long on ingenuity and short on expensive additions or alterations.

Hidden facilities

What they did was to take one end of a master bedroom and equip it with a self-contained lavatory—sink, mirrors, drawer space for towels and so on.

The trick involves hooking up the new plumbing to existing plumbing, so this solution only works when the master bedroom adjoins a bathroom. Fortunately, this is the floor plan in most houses.

In a two-foot deep space along one end of the bedroom, they placed an old armoire bought at a secondhand store and flanked it with his and her closets with folding louvered doors. They gutted the armoire and replaced the old insides with a sink and counter.

Room for accessories

Below the sink is storage space. A shelf above the sink holds toilet articles. Above that is a mirror.

The new sink is hooked up to the plumbing for the existing sink on the other side of the NIFTY SOLUTION to shortage of washing facilities is hidden lavatory within armoire occupying part of master bedroom wall.

bedroom-bathroom wall. (The hookup is simple enough for an amateur to do, if you wish to save the expense of a plumber.)

The armoire doors inside are covered with mirrors which allow the sink user a back view. The bottom drawers of the armoire were left intact.

The refurbished bedroom with its newly acquired lavatory was done over in maintenance-free materials and furniture.

The walls, closets and armoire are all powder blue. (Most monochromatic color schemes are beige, oyster or some other neutral tint. Powder blue is equally restful but lots more interesting.)

Coordinated decor

The furniture is rattan. It consists of two chairs covered in bleached muslin for lounging or tanning under a sunlamp, end tables. (The bed at the other end of the 16-foot-long master bedroom—unseen in the photograph—is also covered in the same muslin but quilted.)

Accent in yellow

The room's accent color is citron yellow, for the towels, telephone and the chairs' throw pillows. Plants lend further interest and color to the decor.

This hidden lavatory within a bedroom (shut the armoire doors and you'd never know it's there) is a neat solution to the lack of adequate facilities.

But, more than that, it's affordable, downright good-looking, easy to maintain and so clever you're probably wondering why someone didn't think of it before.

REPLACE OLD FURNACE MOTOR RIGHT NOW

With steadily rising energy costs fueling an inflationary spiral, getting the old homestead ready for winter has become a major fall project all across America.

Adding attic insulation, installing storm windows, caulking window sash, weatherstripping doors, and turning down the thermostat have all become part of the energy-saving program of cost-conscious homeowners.

However, there is one area of potential energy-saving that has been largely overlooked by most homeowners: their furnace motor, the one that forces air throughout the house.

Many home heating system motors are inefficient by present day standards since they were specified at a time when electricity was penny cheap and manufacturers were less concerned about efficiency than they are today.

But today electrical energy has skyrocketed in cost—just like fuel oil and gasoline—and inefficient motors can contribute substantially to the drain on the homeowner's operating budget.

Don't wait until your serviceman tells you your furnace motor has to be replaced before looking into the economies of an Energy-Saver motor.

MIRRORED WALLS are super space stretchers

Mirrors are super space stretchers

If your rooms give you claustrophobia, it's time to put mirrors to work.

Just adding a single strip of floor-to-ceiling mirror will create an elusive quality of light and shadow, and increase depth and dimension.

Placing mirror panels strategically around a room or mirroring entire walls can perform astounding feats, such as stretch boundaries, brighten a dark room, unify a too-eclectic furniture mix, mask architectural flaws, and double the effect of an already successful decor.

If "strategic" mirroring sounds like so much Greek to you, take heart. For here's some down-to-earth advice from design experts:

"Mirror ONE wall, for example, and immediately you've doubled the size of a room," they say. "Mirror TWO walls, and you've quadrupled the room size. To widen a narrow space, mirror one of the long walls, and to raise the roof, use floor-to-ceiling mirror strips. Or, mirror the ceiling."

Alternating mirror and wood, wallpaper or stucco strips creates fabulous architectural effects that are sure to chase the sameness blues from plain-Jane rooms.

Strips may run horizontally, diagonally, or even in zig-zag patterns, but the Binswanger experts warn that such treatments are best for contemporary rooms. Mirror panels framed with molding are an elegant choice for traditional rooms.

To brighten a dark room, use mirrored surfaces where they'll catch and bounce back the most light. The wall facing the brightest window(s) is the natural choice. A framed mirror placed at the right angle from a table lamp will double its wattage, and crystal sconces look fabulous and cast twice the light when they are mounted on a mirrored wall.

Wrap up hot water heater to save energy year-round

As the cold weather approaches, homeowners are becoming increasingly concerned with conserving heat energy. Today's homeowner can substantially reduce heat loss by insulating certain key points in the home where heat either escapes or is inefficiently used.

One such area is the hot water heater—the second largest user of energy in the home. By properly insulating the outer portion of the heater, enough energy can be saved to amount to a $25 to $40 savings each year.

The U.S. Department of Energy recommends adding external insulation to gas, electric and oil water heaters for these reasons:

- The energy used to heat water in the average home is greater than the combined uses for lighting, cooking, refrigeration, television and air conditioning.

• Virtually all water heaters are manufactured with insufficient insulation.

Some consumers attempt to insulate their water heaters with ordinary building insulation. Not only is this material inefficient, but the Department of Energy warns that, for reasons of safety, ordinary insulation should not be applied to gas heaters.

They do, however, recommend the use of specially designed water heater insulation kits.

Coat your roof regularly and save on repair bills

An ounce of prevention can be worth a stack of repair bills when it comes to roof coatings. Regular applications of a roof coating will protect your roof from the elements, extend its life, and cut down on repairs—ultimately saving you money.

Because roof coating procedures vary depending on the condition of the roof, material to be covered, and type of coating to be used, many homeowners turn the job over to a contractor.

Whether you plan to perform your roof maintenance projects yourself, or oversee a contractor's work, the National Paint and Coatings Association offers this advice:

• The perfect time to undertake roof coatings projects is during fall's mild weather, since blistering can result if a coating is applied in hot weather.

• The first step in any roof maintenance program should be a thorough inspection for holes and broken seams. Then, repairs should be made to correct any damage. Before deciding to use a roof coating, be sure your roof's problems aren't serious enough to require reroofing instead.

• Before a roof coating can be successfully applied, the roof must be free of moisture since the action of the sun's heat on a wet surface will cause blistering on some roofs. You should also make sure the roof is clean and free of dirt and debris by brushing or sweeping carefully.

• Roof coatings are available in many types. For advice on the best type of coating for your job, consult a roof coatings retailer.

• If you decide to hire a contractor, ask for references and check with the local Better Business Bureau about the company's reputation.

If the job is done well, it should protect your roof for three to four years before recoating is necessary.

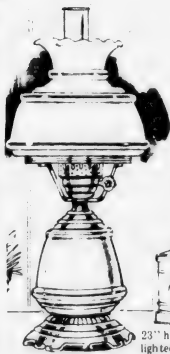

PROTECT YOUR ROOF with regular applications of a roof coating.

Converting living space to "family room" easy

Converting a living space into family room need not be problematic. Interior designer Emily Foster illustrates how, with imagination, the application of many do-it-yourself ideas, and the use of quality materials, you can create a room that is stylish, practical and fun for the entire family to enjoy.

Platforms add interest

To create architectural interest and to maximize space, Emily Foster had platforms constructed. She chose a red, green and white plaid Belgian linen fabric to upholster the sofa cushions and pillows, while a coordinated linen plaid fabric in brown, red and white was used to make the window shades.

This corner of the room has now been transformed into a conversational area where family and friends can congregate informally.

Hiding cracked walls

A 100 percent Belgian linen wallcovering was used on the walls to help camouflage the cracked and bumpy walls. The textural surface of this wallcovering creates a dimension and adds decorative appeal.

The advantages of using linen wallcoverings are numerous. Some of the outstanding features include insulation, durability and soundproofing and, since it is anti-static, dust accumulation is kept to a minimum.

Little upkeep

Maintenance is minimal: just vacuum twice a year. Spots are removed by means of a damp sponge and mild detergent, while some stubborn stains are removable with a solvent cleaner.

For easy maintenance and durability, 12"x12" floor tile squares with a no wax surface were installed on the floors. These tiles add textural interest and dimension with their marbled pattern in shades of red, dark orange and white.

Built-in storage

The built-in bookcases and shelves provide storage and easy accessibility for the stereo.

Siding Saves Solid Vinyl

double the thickness of ordinary metal systems.

Solid vinyl gutters and downspouts are efficient, attractive and virtually maintenance-free. They will not corrode or dent like metal or need oiling like wood.

Vinyl soffit system panels give homes an attractive overhang as well as protecting against trapped wall and attic moisture.

They are easily adaptable for horizontal, sloping or wide installations. These soffit systems can be combined with vinyl fascia systems to protect areas which are hard to paint.

Final touch

Add the finishing touch to a solid vinyl exterior with Woodstead polystyrene shutters. They offer rugged weather resistance in an open, louvered design that is easily installed.

The Woodstead storm door, made of structural foam polystyrene, offers the advantages of low maintenance and reduces heat flow from the inside out.

If you look beyond the initial expense to the potential cost of future painting bills, solid vinyl siding is an investment that pays for itself in a short time.

Consult contractor

Before making a decision, consult a reliable home improvement contractor. He will answer your questions, show samples and give you an accurate idea of the time and expense involved. Look at other customers with solid vinyl siding and talk to the owners.

TV, radio and other paraphernalia.

Decorative wall hangings and other art pieces reflect personal preferences and add visual interest.

With minimum makeover, this room has been transformed into separate living areas where members of the family can enjoy hobby crafts, games and informal entertaining.

"Watch your step" when buying carpet to get what you pay for

A paint job can do wonders for your room but, if your carpet is dull and dingy, much of that "new look" will be lost. There comes a time when any floor covering has to be replaced.

Today, three quarters of America's living rooms are covered with wall to wall carpeting, and that percentage is growing. Although carpeting is the single largest furnishing expenditure for many people, the price, surprisingly, hasn't risen that much over the past 20 years.

Nevertheless, it's still an expensive outlay. Here are some buying guidelines that will help to ensure that you get what you pay for.

For example, all synthetics are not alike. There is a wide range of fibers and blends. Some wear better than others, and some take and hold color better than others.

Strongest synthetic

Nylon, for example, ranks as the strongest synthetic, but it also has a hard feel. It's easy to clean, but it also shows dirt more quickly.

On the other hand, the acrylics are judged to be most like wool. They're strong, resilient and considered easy to clean. These are usually more expensive than nylon. These are just two examples of the many choices available to you.

Many people judge carpet value by the depth of the pile, but it is total surface weight—not depth of pile—that is the important factor if you want a long wearing carpet.

Testing the weight

To test the density or surface weight, bend the carpet and try offer this service unless you insist upon it.

Carpet that is soft blue under store lights can turn to cold steel-gray under your living room light.

By having a sample, it's further protection that the carpet when delivered is the color AND the quality you selected.

What's included?

In many parts of the country, the price of the carpet includes padding and installation. If that padding is very thin, it will pay you in the long run to spend a small additional amount for better quality. Good padding will add years of life to your carpet, and it's softer under foot.

If this is your first wall to wall carpeting, you'll be surprised at how beautifully it pulls your room together, and how it absorbs noise. What you may not have known is that carpet fibers also absorb odors. Vacuuming alone won't dispel them.

Fresh deodorizer

What you'll need is a good rug and room deodorizer for that job.

Your room will smell as fresh as it looks. It's a nice finishing touch.

A basic knowledge of a striking or struck tool's design is helpful for using it properly and safely, according to the Hand Tools Institute (HTI), a trade association of American and Canadian manufacturers of quality hand tools.

The faces of striking and struck tools are designed to direct the force of a blow to the center or body of the tool where it can be absorbed.

Dangerous blow

Off-center blows send the shock along the sides of a tool where there is insufficient backup material. Rather than cushioning the blow, the effect is shearing which can be dangerous.

Struck tools for cutting have edges designed for maximum cut and durability by means of the angle and thickness of the cutting edge.

Many failures and injuries are caused by a dull cutting edge because the tool can no longer function as it was intended.

Next to the common nail hammer, perhaps the most widely used type is the ballpeen hammer which, by its design, underlines the importance of

Top Off Your Dining Room With Ceiling Tiles

The great outdoors and the great indoors run on different cycles. The warm weather that brings flora and fauna to life — and brings us out of doors to enjoy them — sends certain rooms of the home into hibernation.

Notably the dining room. Formal dining is as rare in the summertime as long underwear. If visitors set foot at all in the dining room, it's usually only in transit from the front door to the backyard for a cookout.

Hearty dining

When the thermostat starts to fall, however, the dining room's stock starts to rise. Harvest-time means the hefty-eating holidays of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's are right around the corner. Dining room decorum sets holiday repasts apart from ordinary meals.

The problem is, when we're ready to recall the dining room to active duty, it may not be able to pass the physical.

Not ready

Especially the ceiling. Cracking plaster, chipping paint or discoloring tiles aren't helped any by a hot summer of cold neglect.

So the place to start "winterizing" your dining room, to make it company-worthy, is at the top — with a new ceiling.

In picking a ceiling, be frugal and lavish at the same time. Save money with an install-it-yourself model, but put some of those "saved" dollars into a stylish design and other features befitting the dining room's special status.

Unlike old-fashioned tiles, these have square edges which meld snugly for wall-to-wall pattern without any obvious seams.

"High" in extras

Like a luxury automobile, these ceilings come "loaded" with extra features. They are acoustical, which means they'll muffle digestion-disturbing noises in dining rooms. They are easily washed with a sponge soaked in a solution of mild detergent and lukewarm water.

The special material used to make the tiles resists extreme shrinking and swelling caused by temperature and humidity fluctuations. It also makes the tiles fire-retardant, so they won't contribute to the spread of flames in the event of fire.

The tiles can be either cemented or stapled in place. If the old ceiling is level and in reasonably good shape, five drops of cement per tile (one at each corner and one in the center) will do the trick.

For damaged ceilings

If the old ceiling is uneven or badly damaged (or consists of exposed joists), wood furring strips should first be nailed to it, and then the tiles should be stapled to the strips.

Functional as well as fashionable, these ceilings are appropriate not only for dining rooms, but also for living rooms, family rooms, kitchens — any room you want to remove from "cold storage" for fall and winter festivities.

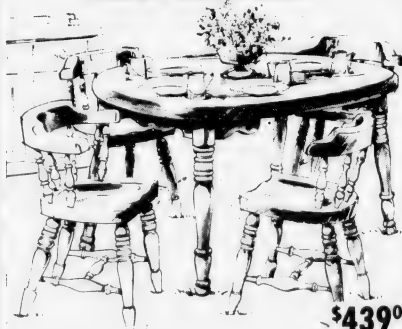

'WINTERIZING' YOUR DINING ROOM to make it company-worthy for the holidays can start with a new install-it-yourself ceiling.

Rigid vinyl, a product of space-age technology, is impervious to the elements. It won't peel, crack, rot, pit or corrode, and will maintain its bright, clean finish for years. Precision extrusions form structural frame members that do not expand or contract due to changes in temperature or humidity. The result is a superior air-tight window. Hollow extruded channels form insulated air pockets and the totally non-conductive property of rigid vinyl creates a window that offers a most effective insulating barrier to the most severe weather conditions.

How to choose paint colors that will enhance your decor

Selecting just the right paint colors for your decorating projects often seems overwhelming because of the great variety of shades available. These suggestions from the National Paint and Coatings Association will help eliminate much of the guesswork.

Since walls are the largest surface in the room and provide a background for furnishings and the rest of your decor, paint color is an integral part of the overall decorating scheme. Ideally, you should coordinate paint colors at the same time you are selecting your carpeting, upholstery and drapery fabrics.

Take along samples

When you make your initial visit to your paint dealer, take samples of all materials to be used in the room—carpet, fabrics, wall coverings.

Select several paint chips that you think will work well with your furnishings, keeping in mind that the color will be much more intense on a large wall than on a small paint chip.

When studying paint chips, be sure to mask other colors on the same paint card. Otherwise your eyes will tend to blend them all rather than see them individually.

Take the chips of several possible colors home and examine them in the room you will be painting—under both natural daylight and artificial lighting. Hold or prop them up in a vertical position, as they'll appear on the wall.

If the color match must be precise, or if you're still unsure about your color choice, buy the color that seems best in the smallest available quantity. Brush out several 2' X 2' samples on the walls of the room you will be painting. After they've dried, study the samples in daylight and under artificial lighting, next to other materials that will be used in the room.

Buy all paint at once

If you're sure about your color choice, buy all the paint you will need for the project at the same time to ensure color consistency. Your paint dealer can help you estimate how much you'll need. When finishing one can of paint and starting with another, always begin and end at a corner so that any color differences will be unnoticeable.

Inflation bullet is easier to bite with soft water supply

The economic bullet. With inflation hovering in the upper teens, it's being bitten by Americans from coast to coast. And, to meet the "high cost of living" statistics show that consumers are developing some innovative ways to make the bullet a bit more palatable.

The taste of chicken, for instance, is being savored by more meat-and-potato stalwarts as evidenced by a 22 percent rise in poultry sales over the past three years. Car owners, too, are getting into the act, "pooling" passengers to reduce gas consumption and trading in less often as the average age of cars on the road rose from 5.5 years in 1970 up to 6.8 in 1979.

For those looking for ways to make inflation a pill they can swallow, especially with cold weather utility bills just around the corner, the Water Quality Association offers some around-the-house advice when dealing with the home water supply.

• Hot Water. Everyone knows how expensive an unintended leaky faucet can be in creating higher utility bills, but fewer realize how much can be lost due to scale buildup inside the hot water heater from minerals found in hard water.

A recent study conducted at New Mexico State University found that an electric heater can actually lose up to 10 percent of its efficiency as unwanted minerals form scale on the heater walls.

Installation of a home water softener that removes hardness minerals can help heaters work at their maximum, thus eliminating unnecessary costs.

• Cleaning Aids. According to U.S. Government statistics, a family of four currently spends an average of $956 annually on cleaning supplies, a figure likely to rise even higher in the face of double-digit inflation.

When it's important to make a little go a longer way, the Water Quality Association advises that it's possible when soaps and detergents are combined with soft water.

Know Tools For Best Results

selecting the right tool for a specific job.

The ball peen hammer has a rounded, slightly crowned striking face with beveled edges and a round, ball-shaped peen on the opposite end of the head.

Ball peen hammers of the proper size are designed for striking chisels and punches and for riveting, shaping and straightening unhardened metal.

Proper diameter

When used for striking a steel tool, the ball peen's face should have a diameter at least 3/8 inches larger than the face of the struck tool.

Using the ball peen hammer safely means always striking squarely with the hammer's striking face parallel to the struck surface. Glancing blows should be avoided to minimize chipping the hammer's face.

Never strike with the side or check of the hammer.

According to HTI, the most important safety rule for all striking and struck tools is the use of safety goggles.

Rid of hardness minerals that can leave soap scum around bathtubs, streaks on windows, spots on chrome, soft water actually boosts the efficiency of cleaning products reducing consumption by as much as 60 percent.

• Clothing and Other Washables. Though the cost of ready-to-wear has risen over 10 percent in the last year, figures on clothing repair are increasing just as sharply as consumers seek out quality merchandise that will hold up longer.

To save wear and tear on apparel as well as the sewing basket, experts agree that laundering in soft water is best.

In fact, a 10-year study comparing life-spans of items washed in hard and soft water, showed that the soft water-washed items increased life-spans between 20 and 30 percent, a prime consideration in view of the price tags on today's designer jeans.

This fall, though it appears that the economic barometer will continue to rise with little relief in sight, remember that an inflation hedge such as a home water softener can help homeowners get the bitter taste out of today's inflationary bullet.

'Roadway Dangerous'

Morrissey Urges Newport Ave. Repair

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) has asked the State Department of Public Works to make repairs as soon as possible to Newport Ave. in the vicinity of State Street South.

"The roadway is especially dangerous during inclement weather when cars often break down after traveling through the puddles," Morrissey told DPW Commissioner Dean Amidon.

"And conditions are worsening."

Morrissey said some of his constituents call that section of the road a "roller coaster."

He said the DPW is in the process of awarding contracts for repairs to the road and that Amidon told him he will look into the situation and make efforts to expedite the project.

But the commissioner added that the department is concerned any work on the road would have to take into consideration pedestrian safety and the large volume of traffic that uses the road.

Presidents Face High-Powered Waltham

By TOM SULLIVAN

If the Quincy football season continues its present pattern, Coach Tom Fitzgerald may not last out the year.

The Presidents lost their opener to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 8-7. They then squeezed by Weymouth South, 13-12.

Last Saturday they made an outstanding showing against Revere, the eighth-ranked team in Eastern Mass., but had to be satisfied with a 7-7 tie.

"I'm going to be a nervous wreck," said Fitzgerald, whose team Saturday faces high-powered Waltham in a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Last week Waltham pulverized Weymouth North, 48-0, after beating Brookline, 21-6. The Hawks dropped a 14-13 non-league squeaker to BC High in their opener.

Quincy's defense was outstanding again last week and the offense was vastly improved over its poor showing against Weymouth South.

"We moved the ball pretty well but the offense usually had to start near its own goal line," Fitzgerald said. "Our defense stopped them four times inside our five-yard line and that makes it tough for the offense. And we had two touchdowns called back."

Ed Mackey again was outstanding both ways. He made some fine catches of Ron Pettinelli passes, as did Sean Burke.

Burke caught what looked like a touchdown pass but an official nullified it. Mike Shaughnessy ran back a kickoff 80 yards for another apparent score but another penalty voided it.

On defense Mackey was superb and others hailed by defensive coaches Joe Goguen and Bill Maver were Ken Gustin, who made a key pass interception on the goal line, and Co-Capt. Walt Kilgallon, who had eight tackles and assisted on 10 others. "He really showed his leadership qualities," Goguen said.

Maver also singled out Mike Nevins, who stopped a quarterback sneak on the one-yard line to halt a Revere score; Scott Anson, Capt. Fran Duggan, John Taglieri, Chris Chevalier, Mike Burns and sophomore Jamie Gravales.

Quincy - Waltham Game On WJDA

WJDA will carry a live play-by-play account of the Quincy-Waltham game from Veterans Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Sports

Fitzgerald had good words for Pettinelli at quarterback, Mike

Abboud and Javier Perez, who did well in his first varsity game, replacing the injured Ed Iodice, the Presidents' fastest ball carrier.

Also praised for their work on offense were Duggan, John Varrasso, Anson and Mackey.

"We made them change their game plan and stopped their great running back, (Eddie) Santosuosso," Fitzgerald said.

Quincy drove 80 yards after the opening kickoff to score its touchdown, Pettinelli going over from the two and also kicking the point.

In the third period Revere scored on an eight-yard pass from Jim Mercurio and Richie Diaz.

Santosuosso missed the extra point kick but Quincy was offside and he made the second kick to tie the score.

Quincy gained a net of 126 yards on the ground to 91 for Revere. The Presidents had 54 yards passing as Pettinelli hit on six of eight, while Revere picked up 165 yards through the air on seven for 18. Quincy had 10 first downs, Revere 10.

Sportlight, Adams, Beau's Rack Up Wins

Sportlight Tavern defeated Dayce's, 4-3 Monday night in Executive Hockey League action at the Youth Arena.

John McNeill had two goals for Sportlight and Jack Powers and Charlie Duffy had one each. Ed Dwyer had two assists and Al McKay, Ed Lenihan, Bob Murray and Don Costa one each. For Dayce's Jack Valle had two goals and David Mullen one. Mullen, Colin Campbell and Doug McClean had assists.

Dennis O'Connell and Tom Roberts scored two goals apiece to spark Adams Sports to a 6-3 win over The Hofbrau. Bob Donovan and Bob Simonelli had the other Adams goals. Kevin Glynn had three assists and Alan Gullickson and Donovan two each. Jerry Fitzgerald, Dave Edgren and Wayne Cashman scored for Hofbrau with Art Boyle, Jack Hurley and Dave Towle having assists.

Beau's Place topped Washington Tap, 4-1, on goals by Ken Gardiner, Mike Haynes, Terry Flaman and Rick Golden. Flaman had two assists and Bob Carroll, Steve Dymont and Charlie Chambers one each. Ralph Gibbs scored for Washington with Ed Grogan and Paul Casey assisting.

North Still Chases First Win

The North Quincy boys' soccer team continues to play well but still cannot get its first win of the year.

Paul Bregoli's Raiders last week bowed to Suburban League leader Brookline, 5-2, and lost to Waltham, 5-1.

The Raiders yesterday (Wednesday) played Quincy. Today (Thursday) North plays at Sharon and next Wednesday will host Weymouth South at 3:30.

The Brookline game was closer than the score indicates. Brookline broke on top in the first period on the first of two goals by Matt Yorks. Paul Mallory's aggressive goalkeeping kept the league leaders off the board for the rest of the half.

The Raiders tied the score midway in the second period as Charlie Spiropoulos and John Keenan hooked up on a direct kick. Spiropoulos passed to Keenan, who directed the ball by the Brookline goalie.

The third period saw North stun Brookline with a goal by Peter McGillicuddy. Steve Dodd, playing well at his inside spot, made a perfect cross to McGillicuddy, who drilled it past the goalie from 10 yards out.

North's joy was short-lived as Brookline fought back with two late third period scores and added two goals in the final period. Steve Cahill and McGillicuddy missed good scoring chances, for North.

Injuries again plagued the Raiders with Tri-Capt. Bill Bradley forced to miss two games and Chris Dunn hobbled by a muscle pull. Tri-Capt. Paul Gill did return and played well as did the other Tri-Capt. Bill Koch. Bregoli also singled out Keenan, Spiropoulos and McGillicuddy for their performances.

A fired-up Waltham team took the early lead over North but the Raiders came back to tie it up on Keenan's second goal in as many games. Spiropoulos' shot deflected off a Waltham player and Keenan put the rebound into the top right hand corner of the net.

Waltham scored two second period goals and dominated play in the final quarter.

Mallory again played well in goal in sloppy conditions, making 23 saves as Waltham outshot the Raiders, 30-4. Pat King added two saves late in the game. Scott Brennan played well as did Keenan, Spiropoulos, Gill and Koch.

North Quincy 14, Newton N. 14 Raiders Chase No. 2 At Cambridge Latin

North Quincy's football team made a fine comeback after its bombing at Brockton and, after a 14-14 tie with highly-rated Newton North at Newton Saturday, Coach Dave Burke was pleased with the Raiders' overall performance.

Saturday North will try for its second win when it travels to Daley Field in Cambridge for a 10:30 morning game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Cambridge upset Quincy, 8-7, in its opener but then lost to Weymouth North, 18-6, and B.C. High, 28-14.

"This was a very good Newton North team and I'm proud of the way we twice came from behind to tie them," Burke said. "Ted Sadowski was very impressed with Newton when he saw them defeat Medford and thought they were better than Brockton. We had our chances to win it. Our offense did well against a highly-touted defense. All our backs ran well, especially Capt. Jack Brown, Dean Zoia and Steve McEachern. Of course, much of the credit is due our offensive line."

"The line played very well against a team ranked Number 6 in Eastern Massachusetts," said offensive line coach George Liset. "They had allowed only six first downs in the first two games."

Liset singled out Bob Bolster, Glen Segalla, Jack Leone, Brian Feeney, Lou DiPietro, Chuck Sylva, John Buckley and Peter McDonough for their work.

"They have a good football team but I feel we were a better one," said defensive coach Ken McPhee. "We made mistakes early but the boys really played outstanding defense in the second half. The secondary played much better than it did at Brockton."

McPhee and Jack Raymer, the other defensive coach, had good words for Ken Mann, Gino Pillard, Chris Baker, Sylva, Paul O'Sullivan. Sylva, usually a linebacker, played defensive end due to an injury to Bob McCormack.

Newton Coach Norm Walker was impressed with the Raiders. "Now that they have faced us and Brockton, I don't see anyone else on their schedule who can beat them," he said. "They are going to get better and better. Their quarterback (Brown) killed us all day long on third down."

Newton was first on the scoreboard, Bob Billings passing to Armando Proia for seven yards and a touchdown in the second period. Jerry Gentile kicked the point.

North scored in the third period when Zoia scored from seven yards out, his third touchdown of the season, culminating a 77-yard drive from the kickoff. A bad pass from center resulted in a missed kick for the tying point.

Newton took the kickoff and drove 64 yards for its second touchdown, Billings scoring from the one. Gentile again kicked the point and Newton led, 14-6.

North again came back in the final period. Zoia handed off to Brown, who scored from the 12 and Brown also skirted right end for the tying points.

Late in the game Leone barely missed a 45-yard field goal attempt, the ball falling just short.

Zoia picked up 81 yards in 13 carries. Brown had 77 yards on 11 carries and McEachern added 45 yards on 14 carries. Jim Sullivan and Jamie Walsh also ran well. Walsh also blocked well.

Oddly enough, the record for the biggest crowd ever to attend a football game was NOT set at a college or pro football game as you'd expect, but at a high school game... The all-time football attendance record was at Soldier Field, Chicago, Nov. 27, 1937, when 125,000 people came to see a high school playoff game.

What are the most points ever scored by one player in a National Football League game?... The record was set Nov. 28, 1929 when Ernie Nevers of the Cardinals ran for 6 touchdowns and kicked 4 extra points in one game to score 40 points — a record that's never been equalled by any other player in the NFL before or since.

Did you know that only 8 teenagers have ever played in a World Series: 18-year-old Fred Lindstrom for the Giants in 1924, and 19-year-olds Don Gullett (Reds '70), Ken Brett (Red Sox '67), Willie Crawford (Dodgers '65), Tom Carroll (Yanks '65), Mickey Mantle (Yanks '51), Phil Cavarretta (Cubs '35) and Travis Jackson (Giants '23).

Track Club Distance Runners In Good Performances

In 8-12 boys, Harry Morash again took third, Stuart Coull was fourth and Matty Werth fifth in excellent times. In the girls' race Mary Beth Bonner took third and Karen Dunn fourth.

Other good performances in this age group were turned in by Marisa Zona and Karen Miller. Big improvements were shown by Tina Hamilton and Karen Cashman.

In 13-16 Kevin Dunn took fourth and in the girls' race Tracy Coull took second and Bernadette Murphy third.

Sunday in the Dawson Memorial 10-kilometer race in Worcester, Kevin Dunn took third in 14-under boys, Tracy Coull won in 14-under girls, was the fourth woman overall and received a $100 savings bond. Mary Beth Bonner took third in that division.

Several club members will run in races on Columbus Day Monday.

In the Bonnie Bell mini-marathon Karen and Terri Rodgers, Nancy Sullivan, Tracy Coull, Mary Beth Bonner and Marisa Zona will run as a team over the 10-kilometer distance.

Georgia Traficante will attempt to defend her title in the 5.4-mile Morrisette Post road race, and the rest of the team will compete in Lakeville in a series of age group cross country races.

Junior High Football

Broad Meadows Downs Central, Sterling Wins

By PETE ZOIA

Broad Meadows' ninth grade football team defeated Central 24-14, in Junior High action last week.

It didn't take BM long to get on the scoreboard as Mike Notarangelo returned the opening kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown. Tony Cascarano passed to Ed Boyle for the two-point conversion.

Both teams scored in the second quarter. Notarangelo took a screen pass from Cascarano for a 22-yard run and score. Again two points were added by Boyle on a pass.

Central came back with a Nunzio Carbone to Paul Ryan reception that was good for 56 yards overall and a TD.

Not to be outdone, a well-executed flea flicker pass and lateral from Cascarano to Boyle to Greg Keefe went for a 51-yard tally. Notarangelo added two more points to make it BM 24-6 at halftime.

Central controlled the ball mostly in the second half as BM gave up the ball on downs on the Central 30.

A pass to Tim Reardon good for 23 yards set up the only score during the final half, and Ryan bolted over from one yard out. Carbone added two more points around his left end.

The Sterling ninth grade team finally found the end zone, defeating North, 22-8. Mark Stuart scored from the eight on a double reverse, and Paul Kenny added two points for a Sterling 8-0 lead. This resulted from a North fumble after it had made a great goal line stand.

Later a quick dash around left end by Steve Ray for 58 yards made it 14-0 and Stuart punched in for the conversion points.

Holding North at bay, Sterling continued its hard running attack. Kenny sprinted for 35 yards to North's 13, and Stuart again tallied on the same reverse. That ended the Sterling scoring.

North came back with a well-executed pass-run play from Dan Curvels to Brian Gibbons good for a 60 yard touchdown. Joe Callahan smashed over for the final two points.

The afore mentioned goal line stand by North with Sterling on the North six yard line produced some great defensive play. Three successive tackles were made by Jim Kennedy to stop Sterling with North taking over.

Central's ninth grade edged a spunky Point team, 26-20.

Central led, 20-8, at halftime thanks to a seven-yard run by Bill Fahey, a 20-yard scamper by Mark Valpando and a 30-yard pass reception by Paul Ryan from Nunzio Carbone. Point notched it eight points from a 21-yard dash by Dan Curtin. Rick Coscia added two points pulling in an aerial from Kevin Cabezas.

The Central conversion was also a pass from Carbone to Vic DiGravio.

Fahey contributed his second TD on a three yard plunge in the third period, only to have Point come back with 12 points in the final quarter.

This was an exciting time for the Pointers as Curtin scored on a one-yarder and Cabezas shined on a dazzling 40-yard broken field run that had nine opponents grasping for him in vain, as he streaked into the end zone.

There were two eighth grade games this past week. Atlantic and Sterling played to an 8 to 8 tie game. Darryl Tucker went into the end zone from one yard out and Gerry Frazier added the two extra points for Sterling.

A 35-yard half-back pass play thrown by Steven Kelly to Richie Horrigan put Atlantic on Sterling's 14 where 'e Bangs broke through his right tackle for Atlantic's score. The two-point conversion to tie the game was a pass from Dave Zuroms to Horrigan. This happened in the third quarter to end the scoring.

The Broad Meadows eighth grade team eked out a 6-0 win over Central, the lone score coming in the first quarter.

A nice bit of running by Paul Miller from the Central 48 to the 35 enabled Joey Cullen to gallop around his left side for six points. A rush for the two points was stopped.

Miller was the victim of a clipping penalty against BM when he made a spectacular 48-yard run for an apparent score in the third quarter.

● Girls Swimming

North Has Strong Nucleus

The North Quincy girls' swim team enjoyed its inest season ever last season with a 9-2 record and Coach Bill Walker and assistant Barbara Winters and Michele Keenan have the nucleus of another strong team this year.

North has a squad of 32 swimmers and divers, led by Co-Captains Kit Harrow and Jacqui Pike, two of the Raiderettes' 10 seniors.

Other seniors are Eileen, Donlan, Julie Evanson, Joan Ouelette, Diana Dawson, Heather Nicholson, Mary Toland, Marybeth McLean, and Donna O'Toole.

Juniors are Cathie Burke, Susan Quintiliani, Martha Donaghue, Jeanne Callow, Susan Hardin, Carolyn Downing, Trisha Boness, Marjorie Bartolotto, and Cindy Johnson.

North has several good looking sophomores including Pam McIntire, Eileen Burke, Sheila Quintiliani, Cindy Rogers, Yvonne Boness, Nancy Callow, Susan Halletsted and Emily Schwartz.

Rounding out the squad are six promising ninth graders, Julia Clark, Lynne Byron, Laura Coughlin, Donna Hidalgo, Laura Mullin and Rena Crooke.

Despite the fine nucleus, the Raiderettes are finding the competition strong and have only a 1-3 record.

Last week they gave Weymouth South a great battle before bowing 89-83, in a Suburban League meet. Weymouth took an early lead but North came back to tie the score and it wasn't until the final event that Weymouth pulled out the victory.

Dawson, Bartolotto, Callow and O'Toole placed second in the 200 medley relay. Pike took second in the 200 freestyle. Susan Quintiliani won the 200 individual medley. Harrow won the 50 freestyle. Sheila Quintiliani was second in diving. Pike won the 100 butterfly. Donaghue was third in diving. Boness was second in the 100 butterfly. Harrow won the 100 freestyle. Susan Quintiliani won the 500 freestyle. Dawson won the 100 backstroke. Bartolotto won the 100 breaststroke and the 400 freestyle relay team of Sheila Quintiliani, Susan Quintiliani, O'Toole and Pike placed second.

North met a tarter in undefeated Canton and dropped a 115-57 non-league decision.

Harrow won the 50 freestyle and Susan Quintiliani won the 500 freestyle.

Dawson, Bartolotto, Pike and Harrow placed third in the 200 medley relay. Susan Quintiliani was third in the 200 freestyle. Pike took third in the 200 individual medley. Sheila Quintiliani was third in diving. Pike was second in the 100 butterfly. Harrow second in the 100 freestyle. Donlan third in the 500 freestyle. Dawson third in the 100 backstroke. Bartolotto second in the 100 breaststroke and Sheila and Susan Quintiliani, Boness and Evanson second in the 400 freestyle.

The Raiderettes went into the Brookline meet with several girls sick with the flu and Brookline won, 102-67.

Harrow won the 100 freestyle. Susan Quintiliani won the 500 freestyle. Bartolotto won the 100 breaststroke and Pike, Boness, Susan Quintiliani and Harrow won the 200 medley relay.

Burke, Mullin, Ouelette and Byron placed third in the 200 medley relay. Pike was second in the 200 freestyle and 100 butterfly. Susan Quintiliani third in the 200 individual medley. Harrow second in the 500 freestyle. Dawson second in the 100 backstroke and Dawson, Downing, Nicholson and Donlan second in the 400 freestyle relay.

The North girls will swim Friday at Newton North and Tuesday at 3:30 will be home to Cambridge Rindge and Latin at the Lincoln Hancock School pool.

Quincy Needs Depth

The Quincy girls' swim team had only a 3-9 record last season and the First Ladies' hopes of improving that record this year are hampered by another small and inexperienced squad.

Coach Amy Chessa has only 15 swimmers and divers, including seven sophomores. Miss Chessa has five seniors including Tri-Captains Cindy Pitts, Donna Marcin and Robin Lotti, and only two juniors.

"I am still accepting new members in hopes of getting some much needed depth," the coach said. "In our first meet with Newton North, they had 62 swimmers and divers as compared with our 15. We received some excellent individual performances in that meet as well as the others, but we need many more girls if we hope to compete with the Suburban League powers."

Mary Kussman, Kim Lotti, Kathy Reddish and Jodi Megnia, former Quincy Point students, are especially promising sophomores, while Dara Morris, Kathy Doherty and Eileen Sullivan also look good.

Karen Hassey and Cheryl Walsh, the only juniors, are fine swimmers and the captains. Pitts, Marcin and Robin Lotti as well as the other two seniors, Cindy Smith and Katie Wright, look good. Karen Kozlowski and Julie Capile round out the squad.

"Donna Marcin, an all-scholastic last season, is the backbone of our team," Miss Chessa said. "All our swimmers are versatile and can swim all four strokes. We hope to win a few meets, but we definitely need more swimmers. We are in a strong league with some of the strongest swim teams in the state and we just don't have the depth to compete with them."

Quincy last week defeated Blue Hills Regional, 109-59, in a non-league meet, taking nine first places.

Papile, Morris, Lotti and Sullivan combined to win the 200 yard medley relay. Marcin won the 200 freestyle. Wright took the 200 individual medley. Marcin the 100 butterfly. Kussman the diving. Pitts the 100 freestyle. Hassey the 100 backstroke. Morris the 100 breaststroke and Marcin, Wright, Pitts and Hassey the 400 freestyle relay.

Weymouth North proved too strong for Quincy and took a 115-51 victory in a league meet.

Marcin won both the 200 and 500 freestyles and the only other Quincy win came in the 400 freestyle relay with Marcin, Doherty, Wright and Hassey.

The First Ladies today (Thursday) lost Waltham at the Lincoln Hancock School pool at 3:30 in a league meet. Next Wednesday Quincy will be home to Brookline at 3:30 in a league meet.

Football Kick-a-thon Raises $359 For Muscular Dystrophy

Two Quincy residents, Jack Leone of 87 Cedar St., and Rick Iacobucci of 10 Hyde St. have raised $359 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association by holding a football "Kick-a-thon" recently at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

The two men, who thought up the unique fundraiser on their own attempted 100 extra points a piece at a distance of about 20 yards.

Leone completed 99 successful kicks through the goalposts, and Iacobucci completed 94.

Sponsors pledged an average of five to 10 cents for each successful kick, and some donated a flat $10.

The pledged money is still coming in.

Leone, 16, is entering his senior year at North Quincy High School. He is a place kicker and wide receiver for the school's varsity football team.

Iacobucci, 22, intends to try out for the football team at Arcadia College, Nova Scotia, where he will be taking graduate courses in physical education this fall. He is a Boston College graduate.

When asked if the pair would like to continue the event next year, Leone responded, "Oh, yeah. We'd like to get even more people involved next time!"

Malvesti Only Senior On ENC Women's Team

Lois Malvesti, senior captain, one of Quincy High's outstanding all-around athletes, is the only senior on the Eastern Nazarene College women's volleyball team.

The other members of Coach Nancy Bertwiler's team are Brenda Healey of West Mifflin, Pa.; Gayle Allan, Lexington Park, Md.; Carol Riedel, Bethel Park, Pa.; Donna Wege, Scotia, NY; Karen Hardy, Moncton, NB; Denise Ahart, Candor, NY; Kathy Fritz, Falls Church, Va.; Dodie Baldwin, Pawtucket, RI; Helene Reed, Mongaup Valley, NY; Becky Steins, Altona, NY; and Dana Scott, Fairfax, Va.

The Crusaderettes will play at Bridgewater State Saturday at 9 a.m. and will host U of Lowell Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Apaches Win 4th Straight, Panthers Defeat Elks

The Apaches improved their record to 4-0 in the Quincy Youth Football League with a 26-14 victory over the Manets Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Apaches took an early lead when Bob Varnado sent six yards for a touchdown and another score by Varnado from the one. Mike Gill rushed for the two-point conversion following the second touchdown.

Varnado scored his third touchdown in the third period on a 22-yard run after Steve Kearns recovered a fumble to set up the score. Eddie Page scored the Apaches' final Td from the three.

The Manets' touchdowns came on 60-yard pass plays from Bob Carty to Billy Cannane.

Varnado, Gill, Kearns, Jon Sheehan, Jim Milano, Ken Yaneffsky and Keith Smith were outstanding for the Apaches.

For the Manets Mark Cohen, Steve Rosher, Billy Burkhead and John Palmer played well.

The Panthers defeated the Elks, 8-0, in the other game with Chris Shaughnessy intercepting a pass and running it back for the only touchdown. Shaughnessy passed to Daren Zemp for the conversion.

Paul Marshal, Ritchie Pettinelli, Tommy Travers, Chris Sause and Rickie Burns played well for the Panthers, while Dan Vannelli, John O'Callahan, Paul Canavan and David Hall did well for the Elks.

DON'T BLAME HOMOSEXUAL'S PARENTS

It's popular to hold parents to blame anytime an offspring goes wrong. For instance, parents were often held responsible for producing homosexual sons through the combination of domineering mother, remote, hostile father in an atmosphere of constant bickering. But how accurate is this to the truth?

Not very close say clinical psychologists at California's Loma Linda University. They claim it is really the son who is different in the first place, and this difference influences parent's behavior. The mother, sensing her son's difference, seeks to protect him - gradually dominating him. The father, unable to understand his son's distaste for masculine activities, withdraws from him.

Since homosexuals also come from families with good relationships, the researchers conclude that the most likely primary cause is some genetic or biological deviance. Parental actions are the result - not the cause - of their son's role.

140th Anniversary

Cardinal Medeiros To Celebrate Mass At St. Mary's Saturday

Cardinal Humberto Medeiros will celebrate a Mass of Thanksgiving Saturday at 4 p.m. at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, in observance of the church's 140th anniversary.

The dinner dance which was also to be held Saturday has been postponed to Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. The event will be held in Mullarkey Hall, 115 Crescent St. and music will be by John DiMasi and his band. A roast chicken dinner will be served.

Tickets can be obtained at St. Mary's Rectory or from ticket committee members Mrs. Leo Meady, Mrs. Roger Beatson, Mrs. George McDonald, Mrs. Walter Egan and Mrs. Arthur Fay.

Anointing Of The Sick At Sacred Heart Church

The sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick will be celebrated in the context of a Mass Monday, Oct. 13, at 11 a.m. at Sacred Heart Parish, North Quincy.

The sacrament is given to any sick or elderly person who wants God's health in regaining his or her health.

In the past, this sacrament was called the Last Rites and was given only to those seriously ill or dying, with prayers to help the person prepare for death.

This has all been changed. The new practice of anointing the sick before they become gravely ill is more in accord with the tradition of the early church.

The bible says, Jesus sent his apostles out to preach and heal and "they anointed many sick people with oil and they were healed."

Refreshments will be served after the Mass.

Those in need of transportation to and from the church can contact one of the following before Oct. 10: Roger Kineavy, chairman, 328-6721; Ann Mulken, 328-5287; Paul Nestor, 328-7886; Betty Foley, 472-4914; Simmie Koch, 328-8286; Mary Phelan, 328-8865; or John Salenius, 328-5921.

Fall Seminar Series At HN Congregational

Registration is being taken for a fall seminar series to be held Tuesdays Oct. 14, 21, and 28, 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Houghs Neck Congregational Church, 310 Manet Ave.

The seminars will be "Turning Points: Changing Roles for Women" conducted by Alicia Coletti, and "Protestant Denominations" by Robert L. Johnston.

Mrs. Coletti is Title IX-622 Coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools as well as director of the Quincy Junior College Women's Center. Her seminars will focus on the changes that have occurred in women's lives and the impact of the ERA. The role of women in religion will also be discussed as well as the ways equal opportunity within the school system will affect children.

Johnston, principal of the Woodward School, will present a brief look at the history and differences between the many branches of Protestantism.

Following class meetings, coffee and social hours will be hosted by the church deaconesses.

The series is sponsored by the church council and supported by the boards of deacons and deaconesses.

The seminars are open to everyone and registration material can be obtained from the church or William Corea, coordinator and registrar, or by calling 479-8778.

Sacred Heart Sodality To Open Season Oct. 15

The Sacred Heart Ladies Sodality of North Quincy will open its season with the rosary and a Mass Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 7:15 p.m. in the chapel.

A short business meeting will follow in the school hall. Guest speaker will be Rev. John Doher from St. Augustine's Parish.

Refreshments will be served and ladies of the parish are welcome as new members.

The sodality board held its opening meeting recently at the home new prefect, Mrs. Mae Crowley.

Sodality officers are Mary Raux, vice-prefect; Marilyn Ridge, secretary; and Sally Tobin, treasurer. Board members are Gertrude Barry, Phyllis Connolly, Mary Dowling, Adelaide Durkin, Gertrude Leonard, Lucy Lippens, Ida Mahn, Susan Noonan, Betty O'Neill, Terry Pecech and Patricia Welch.

First Monthly Assembly At St. Joseph's School

Students at St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point, had their first monthly assembly recently which was chaired by sixth grader Sean McCarthy.

Rev. Joseph Raeke said the opening prayer and spoke to the student body. He also presented school spirit banners to grades three and five as the classes with the highest number of points for school spirit for the month.

Students from grades four, five and six shared their ideas on the meaning of school spirit and how it can be practiced at St. Joseph's.

Sister Anne Judge, SND, principal, expressed admiration and appreciation to the students and faculty for the enthusiasm

First Michael DeThomaso Memorial Bloodmobile Oct. 15

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Almost a year ago, Michael DeThomaso, a strong, determined happy little boy, died at the age of five of acute lymphocytic leukemia.

During his young life, Michael needed many units of blood and its components - such as red cells, platelets and white cells - to fight the disease. To help and give life to other people, Michael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeThomaso, are sponsoring a bloodmobile in his memory.

The First Michael DeThomaso Memorial Bloodmobile will be held in conjunction with St. John's semi-annual bloodmobile, Wednesday, Oct. 15, 3:30 to 9 p.m. at St. John's School, Phipps St., Quincy Center.

As parents of a sick child, the DeThomasos of 78 Prospect St., North Quincy, know how important it can be to have blood available when it is needed.

Michael was diagnosed as having leukemia at the age of two years and four months. He was treated with chemotherapy and radiation at Boston Floating Hospital and was in remission within a month.

The first remission lasted almost two years. During that time, Michael had clinic visits but was never confined to the hospital.

He remained an active little boy with many interests, especially sports ranging from baseball and football to miniature golf and bowling.

Michael had his first relapse shortly after his fourth birthday. With chemotherapy, he was brought into remission again but relapsed four months later.

During his last months, Michael was in and out of the hospital constantly and needed many pints of blood. He coped amazingly well with his medications and hospitalizations, and was a source of strength to his parents. Michael died Nov. 1, 1979.

The DeThomasos were aided by the support and compassion of the Boston Floating Hospital staff during their only child's illness.

They also feel they were fortunate in having friends and relatives as blood donors for Michael. Hopefully, the bloodmobile will fill a need for those not as fortunate.

St. John's is the first parish to host two memorial bloodmobiles. The other bloodmobile is in memory of William J. Horne III, 23 old son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Horne of 95 Monroe Rd., Quincy Center, who died in 1971 of leukemia.

Healthy individuals between the ages of 17 and 66 are encouraged to donate blood at the bloodmobile.

Squantum Pastor Decries 'Increasing Anti-Semitism'

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum, decried increasing anti-Semitism in some quarter during a special service at the church last week on World Communion Sunday.

Similar observances of the Lord's Supper were held in Christian churches of all denominations throughout the world.

Dr. Langevin spoke out against the sentiment recently expressed by the president of the Southern Baptist Convention that God does not hear the prayers of Jews.

"At the very least," said the pastor, "the remark is nonsense. Doesn't that man know that Jesus was a Jew? Even beyond that, however, the remark is profoundly unchristian."

"Followers of Jesus Christ would be well-advised these days to watch where they are going. Our country seems to be engulfed these days in a wave of right-wing conservatism. Religious leaders - especially fundamentalists - are doing and saying things now that I am sure they will later regret. It might be more Christian for them to be a little less arrogant and less sure that only they know the will of God."

Dr. Langevin suggested the southern churchman's comment was "insensitive and even a little ominous when seen in an international context."

"Do you know that in Europe there has been a bombing during each of the last few months attributed to the neo-Nazis and directed against the Jews? Christians must be concerned about this development."

The Squantum pastor is an American Baptist. His sermon was "The Unsettling Good News of Jesus", the fourth in a series of sermons about the life of Christ. The sermon was based on the story of Jesus' first sermon in his hometown synagogue after his baptism.

The Youth Choir, led by Mary Ruth Scott, sang a new hymn composed by Dr. Langevin and set to a contemporary rock melody. The Senior Choir sang, "Lead Me, Lord" by Samuel Wesley with Lee Sindelar as soloist.

Greeters for the morning were Ida and Bob VonRiegers. Ushers were Tore Wallin, Steve Williams, Susan Mildram, Bonnie Adams, Paul Paulson, Steven Williams and Donna Stevens. Seated at the Lord's Table with the pastor were Deacons Doris Longmire, Donald Frazier, Katherine Hansen and Ralph Dougherty.

The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Lorraine Josselyn.

Renee Johnson and Adelaide Nelson.

Theme of next Sunday's service will be "The Temptations of Jesus." Christian education for young people in the fifth grade and up begins at 8:30 a.m. with breakfast and then the Cinnamon Toast program. Sunday School for younger children or those who prefer the more traditional Sunday School class begins at 9:30 a.m. The service begins at 10:15 a.m. and will include a play.

At Symphony, Carnegie Hall

5 Quincy Choir Members To Perform With BSO

Five Quincy youths are among 48 students of the Boston Archdiocesan Choir School who will perform four times this month with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders at the school will perform with the BSO at Symphony Hall on Oct. 8 and 9 and at Carnegie Hall in New York on Oct. 15 and 16.

The choir will join the orchestra for the performance of Mahler Symphony No. 8, "Symphony of a Thousand".

The five Quincy members of the choir are:

Eighth graders Stephen J. Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly of 54 Tyler St., North Quincy and Robert W. Halloran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halloran of 29 Tyler St., North Quincy.

Sixth graders David W. Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mann of 62 Upton St., West Quincy; Bernard Haugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haugh of 16

Randlett St., Wollaston and Patrick McDermott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott, 146 Taylor St., Wollaston. Patrick is a Quincy Sun Carrier.

Also attending the school is fifth grader Michael K. Cahalane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Cahalane of 7 Willard Terrace, West Quincy. However, fifth graders will not take part in the performances.

The school is located at St. Paul's Church, Cambridge.

RESIDENTS AND STAFF MEMBERS of the Quincy Nursing Home recently had a "Cabaret Night". At center is Patricia Burud, activities consultant, and Francis Pinkman, resident. At left is Ellen Connolly, resident, with Thomas Kelley of the nursing home staff.

Quincy Art Association To Open Oct. 14

The Quincy Art Association will open its fall season Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Salvation Army Headquarters, 6 Baxter St. Quincy.

Guest demonstrator will be

Francis McWade of Weymouth, artist and teacher. McWade, noted for his murals, will demonstrate a landscape in oils.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Newly elected association officers for 1980-81 are:

Marcia Oster - president; Rita Miller - vice president; Jane Madden - treasurer; Bea Hurley - recording secretary; Betty Sawyer - corresponding secretary; Anne Muir - membership chairperson; Kay Hansen - Exhibit chairperson; Paula Verlicco - city exhibits; Cynthia McCloskey - publicity chairperson; Pearl Finn, Eleanor Stelfox - fund raising; Anet Paglierani, chairwoman; Edna Solander, Olive Tompkins - hospitality; Helen Burgess, Mary Rennie - telephone committee.

Members of the advisory board are Kathy Burgess, Cynthia McCloskey, Anet Paglierani and Phyllis Strungis.

Quincy Nursing Home Holds 'Cabaret Night'

A festive atmosphere prevailed recently at the Quincy Nursing Home, McGrath Highway, as more than 50 residents, staff members and volunteers gathered for a "Cabaret Night".

The second floor living room was decorated with colorful streamers for the occasion, and music was provided by a three piece band from the Musicians Union, Local 9-535.

Many residents and staffers danced to the music, while others were content to listen to the band.

The kitchen staff provided hor d'oeuvres, fruit punch and wine, and everyone present enjoyed an evening of fun and fellowship.

YMCA Stained Glass Course

A course on creating stained glass gifts will begin at the Quincy YMCA on Wednesday, Oct. 22.

The five-week course will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m. each Wednesday until Nov. 19. Instructor is Doris Lang of Weymouth, who will discuss window hangings and artistic design pieces suitable for holiday gifts.

Registrations are now being accepted. For information call 479-8500.

Fiesta '80 At Quantum Church

In a colorful indoor garden setting recently, the first church of Quantum began its "Fiesta '80" celebration, a series of fund-raising events to be held by the church during the next three months.

A quiche lunch was served to those who wished to dine at tables set between the banks of chrysanthemums placed throughout the room. Others stopped in for coffee and muffins at the coffee shop near a garden pool. Still others were there to buy chrysanthemums.

"We kept the price of the mums low deliberately so that we would attract people to the brunch," explained Marie Reister, coordinator of "Fiesta '80" with Sue Sullivan.

Ellen Ogilvie was in charge of the restaurant assisted by Barbara Walter, Hazel Mayne, Ginny Galerneaux, Millie Johnson, Grace Holmes, Kay Kelly, Barbara Frazer, Si Porter, Ray Sweet, Steve Williams, Steven Williams, Richard Williams, Susan Scott, Sarah Mildram and Bonnie Adams. Susan Mildram and Kathy Williams sold "Fiesta '80" tee shirts.

The coffee shop was managed by Barbara Anderson. Her assistants were Donna Stevens, Marsha Anderson, Paul Paulson, Lorraine Josselyn and Carl Anderson. Cilla Stamos, Barbara Colwell and Helen Miller supervised the sale of the plants. Entertainment was by contemporary and gospel singers, August and Deneen.

Mrs. Reister said that many of the people who attended urged that the sale become an annual event at the church.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 9.

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
You can be too independent now, finding yourself far out on a lonely limb. Weekend news has double dose of mystery. Loved one needs help in handling success.

PISCES—February 20-March 20
Think twice before leaving any kind of team or other group; you're too easily disappointed now. Behind-the-scenes, plans are being laid for upcoming advancement or award.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
Easy for tempers to start flying, so keep out of frays at work, home, anywhere. Financial venture is more exciting than profitable. Good week for giving yourself new look.

TAURUS—April 21-May 20
Recent extravagances may mean lean week. Friends can be bit touchy, even peculiar, but don't fence them in. Keep records of any cash transactions.

GEMINI—May 21-June 21
Week is fine for cooling off; any strained relationship can improve from break. Socially, gear up for an adventure. Gloomy relative may get you down Tuesday-Wednesday.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Opportunities have way of slipping by, so don't miss chance to sign up for educational/vocational program. Jokes may not meet with success; don't try so hard.

LEO—July 23-August 22
Sharing is week's theme—sometimes hard for "center-stage" Leo. A mystery becomes more intense and you may have to ask relative/friend to explain motives and maneuvers.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
A friendship is at turning point—you'll be making critical decision by end of period. Financial news is sweet. A second question mark is added to educational dilemma.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Ideas are rich but you're in lazy mood. Force yourself to explore opportunities. Festive weekend has surprise twist. Suspicious friend is trusting once again.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Brimming with bright ideas—artistic, financial, domestic. Complications set in when surprise guest arrives. Friends decide it's your turn to be big spender—and you like role.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Romance is off to quick start—you soar from cloud six to nine by end of period. Don't neglect emotional needs of old friends. Financial gain likely Monday.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Commitments are stressed—to people and to health and welfare programs. More time spent on road than planned. Loved one can misinterpret remarks all weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're known for diplomatic skills and outstanding taste. When you decide something, sometimes too much thought has gone into it. Focus during next eight months is on career and education—more opportunities, more responsibility.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 9th, singer John Lennon; 10th, actress Helen Hayes; 11th, choreographer Jerome Robbins; 12th, opera star Luciano Pavarotti; 13th, singer Marie Osmond; 14th, actor Roger Moore; 15th, actress Linda Lavin.

Koch Club Scholarship Fund Over $10,000 Mark

The Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund has increased to $10,283 according to Richard J. Koch, Executive Director of the organization.

A recent gift from the Koch Club Men's Bowling League of $100 and individual donations from Mrs. Trudy Kimball, Mrs. Karen Moody, Robert McLaren and Joseph Koch, combined with the interest, put the fund past the $10,000.

The fund was established in 1973 on the 25th Anniversary of the Koch Club with a $5,000 Trust established. $3,000 raised from the organization's silver anniversary events, a $1,000 gift from the parent North Quincy District and $1,000 from the Broad Meadows District.

The fund, has increased with a combination of memorial and individual gifts and the interest accrued.

The Permanent Scholarship Fund was established to guarantee that the tradition and continuity of the Koch Club Scholarship Activity would continue should the organization cease and on the 50th anniversary of the Koch Club in 1998, the fund will provide scholarships annually with the interest accrued from the previous year and each year thereafter assuring that the principal amount would perpetuate the annual gift.

The Scholarship Awards of the Koch Club were initiated in 1959 when the organization wished to impress upon the boys and girls in its recreational programs the importance of its educational endeavors equally.

Since 1959, the Koch Club Active Scholarship Fund has provided the total of 99,000 in Scholarship Awards to 100 boy and girl graduates of North Quincy High School, Quincy High School and the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Anthony T. Delmonico, director of the Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club, is chairman of the Active Scholarship Committee of the organization.

Persons wishing to donate to the scholarship fund may make checks payable to the "Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund" c/o City Treasurer, City Hall, Quincy, MA 02169 or Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., Quincy, MA 02171.

The Koch Club of Quincy has expended and committed a total of $20,000 to date on behalf of present and future scholarship endeavors.

Hope For Compromise

Parents Council Meeting Seeks To End 'Work To Rule' Dispute

Representatives of the City Council, School Committee and teachers union were to meet Tuesday in a conference aimed at ending the teachers' "work-to-rule" policy.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting, at the Fore River Clubhouse, was scheduled by the Citywide Quincy Parents Council.

"We want to get everybody face-to-face and hopefully, work out a compromise," said Barbara Wigmore, president of the parents' group. "We can't stand too much more of this."

The Quincy Education Association voted Sept. 2 to follow a "work-to-rule" policy performing only those duties, during school hours, specified in the union contract. The policy is to protest of non-payment of the teachers' 1979-80 pay raises.

"Work to rule" prohibits teachers from taking part in such activities as after-school detention, field trips, parent conferences or student help outside regular hours and supervising dances, sports events or similar activities. The QEA now prefers to call the work to rule policy "withdrawal of voluntary services," according to President Jo Ann O'Malley.

Parents are "very upset" at the teachers' policy, "especially at the junior high and high school levels," said Mrs. Wigmore.

"I'm not saying the elementary schools aren't important, but it seems to have less effect there," she said.

At a Sept. 8 meeting, the Citywide Quincy Parents Council voted to urge the City Council to fund last year's raises for school employees, either through a bond or supplemental budget.

The parents council however, also voted unanimously to condemn the teachers' work to rule tactics at the same meeting.

Special Council Meeting

Tobin In Last Try For Sewer Charge Before Tax Rate Set

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin is going to make one last try tonight (Thursday) to get the City Council to approve a sewer use charge before the 1981 tax rate is set.

"Either way," said Tobin, "we will be going in to the State House Friday morning to start the process for setting the tax rate."

"If the Council does not approve a sewer use charge then the tax rate will be about $8 higher than it could be."

The Council rejected Tobin's sewer use charge plan on Oct. 6 by a vote of 7-2 in spite of pleas that if it did not pass the city would lose federal funding to revitalize its ancient sewer system.

Tobin asked for the special meeting of the City Council tonight to give councillors an opportunity to re-examine his plan and perhaps change their minds.

Right now, the costs of operating the Sewer Department come out of the property tax levy with each taxpayer paying a share based on the value of his or her property.

Under the sewer use charge plan, home owners and industrial plants would be charged by the amount of water they use based on the knowledge that 80 per cent of the water that goes into a location comes back out as waste.

Both the MDC, of which the Quincy sewer system is a part, and the federal government demand that the city have a users charge or face the loss of financial aid.

"The City Council's options are simple," said Tobin.

"If they choose not to address the problem then the state will handle it for us and deduct it from the cherry sheet and we will get less aid."

"Or they can have an intelligent discussion on the issue and adopt a sewer use charge so that we can get federal funds to update our overburdened sewer system which dates back to 1895."

At the last Council meeting, most of the councillors seemed to feel that a plan could be formulated to keep sewer costs on the tax levy while billing major industrial users and tax exempts separately.

Councillor Francis X. McCauley called it "this Tobin sewer tax."

Tobin said that, at tonight's meeting, "I want to take personalities and politics out of it. It's not a new tax. Every taxpayer in Quincy is paying $8 per $1,000 for it now."

And the Mayor added: "I don't see why Mr. McCauley is always advocating a higher tax rate."

McCauley said he is willing "to examine any new information that the Mayor brings before us at tonight's meeting."

"The plan and the figures that were presented to us last week did not show well for the average homeowner and the tax exempts," he said. "It was not in the best interests of the home owners."

Tobin said he has had his staff look into the affect of the sewer use charge on residential taxpayers in Quincy.

"Under our water use charge plan," he said, "we send out 21,000 bills to residential users."

"If you apply the data from

City Census Finds 1,047 'Missed' By U.S. Count

Mayor Tobin and City Clerk John Gillis were scheduled to meet with U.S. Census Bureau officials yesterday (Wednesday) to present them with 1,047 more residents of Quincy.

That's the number of extra residents apparently missed by the census takers but turned up by city enumerators in a special sweep of Census Tract 4178, which includes Houghs Neck and Germantown.

The feds counted 9,231 residents; the city 10,279.

The city feels it was short-changed in preliminary census figures that showed a population of 83,904 citywide, 4,062 less than in 1970 and far short of the 96,000 expected in 1980.

"It would only take 500 people in eight census tracts to make up for the alleged loss from 1970," said Tobin, and we found more than 1,000 in the first tract we counted."

"We believe we have the data to prove the city correct," said Gillis. "I think in the next couple of days we are going to prove our figures."

If the Census Bureau does not accept the city's figures, he said, a law suit is possible charging the Bureau with a "false count."

Contract Expires At Midnight GD Sees Local 5 Talks 'Optimistic'

By TOM HENSHAW

The three-year contract between General Dynamics and Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 expires tonight (Thursday) at midnight and GD spokesman Alex Piranian described negotiations for a new one as "optimistic."

But Earl Christian, executive secretary of Local 5, warned that "anytime there is not an agreement there could be some kind of action. We're playing it by ear."

Christian said the union has reserved Veterans Memorial Stadium, where Local 5 stakes most of its contract and strike votes, for two Sundays, Oct. 19 and 26, "depending on how it goes."

The last two times that Local 5 contracts expired at the Quincy shipyard it took a 17-week strike in 1974 and a 13-week strike in 1977 to hammer out new agreements.

Most of the workers at the shipyard received a $2.40 an hour increase in 1977, bringing the hourly wage rate for mechanics to about $8.

Meanwhile, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly said that the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard has received contracts to build three more liquefied natural gas (LNG) tankers for the Ogden Corp. of

New York.

That's in addition to the three LNG contracts that were announced the week before for Zapata Western LNG.

"Ogden filed an application with the U.S. Maritime Administration for financing last Thursday," said Donnelly, "and if it is approved on schedule, construction of the tankers could get started by the end of 1982."

Purchase price of the three new tankers was estimated at $500 million. They will be owned and operated jointly by General Dynamics and Ogden Marine Industries, Inc.

All six tankers to be built at the Fore River yard will carry natural gas from Indonesia to two west coast utilities, Pacific Lighting Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric.

The General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard has just finished construction of 10 LNG tankers.

Sun Purchases Hingham Journal

The 153-year-old Hingham Journal has been purchased by Henry W. Bosworth, Jr., publisher and founder of The Quincy Sun.

Announcement was made jointly Wednesday by Bosworth and Frank H. MacLean, publisher of the weekly Hingham Journal since 1946.

MacLean will remain with the newspaper indefinitely as assistant to the new publisher.

The Journal, one of the oldest newspapers in the country, dates back to 1827 when it was The Gazette. It has a paid circulation of more than 3,000. The Sun, established in 1968, has a paid circulation of more than 11,000.

Bosworth said the two newspapers will be operated separately with each continuing its individual role as a community oriented newspaper. The Sun in Quincy and The Journal in Hingham.

Combination advertising rates will be available, he said.

This week's issue (Thursday, Oct. 16) of The Journal is the first published under the new ownership. It marked the first time The Journal has been produced by the modern photo-typesetting and offset printing method. Until now, The Journal had been printed by letterpress.

Bosworth said the modern equipment will give The Journal "a new and brighter look while retaining its hometown image and flavor."

In purchasing The Journal, Bosworth also acquired the newspaper's commercial printing business. He said he plans to expand both the newspaper and its commercial printing division.

The old Gazette became The Hingham Patriot in 1838 and The Hingham Journal in 1850. The newspaper has been in the MacLean family since 1930 when it was acquired by MacLean's father, the late Earl J. MacLean.

Bosworth began his newspaper career at the then Quincy Patriot Ledger while still a student at Quincy High School in 1942. He returned to the Ledger after service aboard a destroyer in the South Pacific during World War II. In 1956 he joined the Boston Traveler as a reporter and columnist and stayed with the merged Herald Traveler until he left in 1968 to start The Sun.

Marine Corps League Honor 13-Year-Old Cited For Life-Saving Rescue

Andy Cardarelli of 51 Phipps St., Quincy Center, has been honored by the National Commandant of the Marine Corps League for a life-saving rescue in Orlando, Fla. Aug. 27. Andy, 13, was in Orlando with his parents, Leo and Patricia Cardarelli, who were attending the national Marine Corps League Convention. Cardarelli is a past commandant of Quincy's William R. Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League.

According to Mr. Cardarelli, the family was visiting the Wet 'n' Wild amusement park in Orlando when the rescue occurred.

The park features several large pools, including one that makes ocean-type waves.

"Some of the grown-ups by the deep end said that a little boy, about nine years old, was at the bottom of the pool (about 10 to 14 feet) and he was not moving. But no one did anything," Cardarelli said.

"So Andy jumped in and went to the bottom of the pool and picked up the little boy and brought him up to the side of the pool. With that, two lifeguards jumped in and took the little boy out of the pool and revived him," he said.

"Andy's feat was announced to the convention's 600 delegates by national Commandant Paul Hastings, who said a national citation would be presented to him by the commandant of Mr. Cardarelli's own detachment, David Dunderdale.

The citation was presented recently during the detachment's installation ceremonies at the Fore River Clubhouse.

A citation from state Commandant Ronald Kater will also be presented to Andy at a later date.

He is an eighth grader at Sterling Junior High School.

Visits Sun, Speaks At Chamber Luncheon

Kennedy Sees Shipyard Revival With Navy Force

By TOM HENSHAW

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, on a pre-election visit to the South Shore, has suggested that a rejuvenation of the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard could be just around the corner.

"Over the next several years," he said, "the greatest need for our defense is going to be conventional force which is going to mean both additional shipbuilding and rehabilitation of existing ships."

"We are working closely with General Dynamics and with President Carter to insure that the shipyard is going to be the vital force that it has been and should be in the future."

Kennedy, who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke at a South Shore Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Lantana in Randolph. He also visited The Quincy Sun office.

"My first conversation with President Carter after the Democratic convention," he said, "we talked about the future of the yard itself and what it meant in the terms of the Massachusetts economy."

"We are facing some tight times right now but there are some really important opportunities to be pursued."

"I've been a strong supporter of strengthening our conventional forces although I have had serious questions about some areas of the strategic force, like the B-1 bomber."

"What I think we need is the basic elements of a strong military force -- not gold-plating the military -- one that is capable of defending our interests around the world and that means ships."

"We've been meeting with the management of the yard and the unions as well as the Navy and President Carter to stress the importance of this yard and its solid reputation for quality."

Kennedy declined to look past next Nov. 4 to his own plans for 1984, the next presidential year.

"I'm just looking forward to 1980 now," he said. "I'm taking it one step at a time. I'm looking forward to working in the Senate and I'll let the future take care of itself."

He predicted that President Carter will win re-election in a close contest.

"The fundamental question is whether people believe that the election of Ronald Reagan is going to be in the interest of the working people and their families," he said.

Clearly, Kennedy doesn't believe it.

"Take for instance Mr. Reagan's tax policy," he said.

"Everyone on the South Shore making over $200,000 a year gets a $12,000 tax credit. At $20,000 a year you get about $200. I don't think that's fair and equitable."

"I think people are going to start thinking about the election in economic terms."

John Anderson, the Republican congressman who is running as an independent, is a factor in the election, particularly in Massachusetts, said Kennedy.

"Polls show he's running close to 20 per cent," he said. "In a close election two to five points is a factor."

"I don't think he'll carry any of the states, but he is a factor if he gets a significant vote in a swing state. He is doing that now."

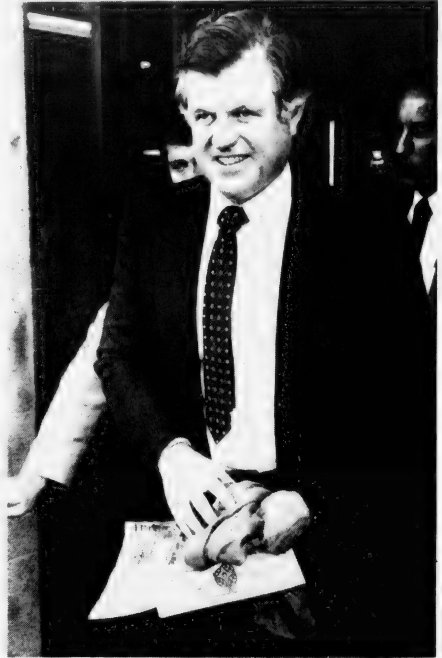

Kennedy devoted most of his time at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon to fielding questions from the audience, composed largely of businessmen.

He told them that, contrary to the popular view, he is not an indiscriminate defender of the role of big government in the economic and social life of the country.

"Each generation," he said, "ought to define what the appropriate role is and we should have the willingness and courage to define it and get out of areas we shouldn't be in and get into areas where we should be in."

"I am suggesting that there is an appropriate role for government at different times. In the 1930s it was appropriate to regulate airlines to try and help them get started in an area where we don't have much of an industry."

Kennedy said that he got

TED KENNEDY clutches a copy of Historic Quincy, The Quincy Sun's tourist guide, as he leaves The Sun office.

"some satisfaction" out of passage of legislation that de-regulated air fares. He called it "the most anti-inflationary that passed Congress. I was proud to have authored the bill."

"We have seen the application in the last three weeks of lower air fares between Boston and New York and Washington and other parts of the country," he said.

"We were able to take the lesson from airline deregulation legislation and pass it over into other areas of transportation."

"It's going to make new

At Health Center

Flu Vaccine Program Will Resume Friday

The city's flu vaccine program will resume tomorrow (Friday) with a clinic from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the J. F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

The program was suspended Wednesday, Oct. 8, two days after it began, when the original state allotment of 1,830 doses of vaccine ran out.

But, said Public Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, the state came to the rescue with 1,090 more doses that arrived in Quincy Tuesday morning.

How long they will last is not known, he said, but if there are any left the city will run another clinic next week.

This is the first year that Quincy has conducted its flu immunization program with state-supplied vaccine. Budget restrictions prevented the city from purchasing its own as in the past.

Under previous programs, said Dr. McKeogh, the city provided about 3,000 inoculations for its residents.

Earlier this year, the State Department of Public Health warned of a new strain of influenza virus called A/Bangkok that promised to produce a "moderately severe" flu season.

opportunities for small business to enter into the trucking area. Hopefully this will mean lower costs to shippers, and savings of about $5 billion to consumers.

"Five billion dollars in that area is 4/10ths of one per cent reduction in the inflation rate."

Kennedy said he doesn't think it's big government or small government that most concerns people.

"I think it's competent government that basically people are asking for," he said. "I'm for eliminating waste and inefficiency and I yield to no one on that."

"But I also think we ought to be creative and compassionate enough to be able to make something work without getting caught up in sloganeering and that's been true of both political parties.

"That is going to be one of the challenges of the 1980s."

Kennedy also appeared to take a step backward from the wage and price controls he advocated during his campaign for the presidential nomination.

"I made that recommendation at a time when our interest rates were in excess of 19 per cent, unemployment was increasing and inflation was as high as 14 to 17 per cent," he said.

"There is obviously less need at the present time for that particular method of controlling inflation. Mandatory controls are absolutely the last resort."

Kennedy said he fears a Reagan victory in the Nov. 4 election for the lasting effect it might have on the judicial system, particularly the U.S. Supreme Court.

"The new administration will have the opportunity to appoint three, perhaps four, Supreme Court justices," he said. "I am much concerned that Mr. Reagan would follow the ideological test for judicial office that is in the Republican platform."

"I think the test for service on the Supreme Court ought to be judicial competency and integrity."

"I have supported for appointment to the Supreme Court of Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., who is considered to be a very conservative individual, and I think he has been an outstanding member of the Supreme Court."

Conservation Commission Meets

The Conservation Commission was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at 100 Southern Artery, Merrymount.

On the agenda were a meeting with Marjorie O'Malley of the Coastal Zone Management office, considerations of two Wetland Protection Act requests filed concerning property at Willard and Stedman Streets, West Quincy, and Heritage Drive and South Rd., North Quincy, and a discussion of Quincy Month of the Coast activities.

Board Continues Wollaston Auto Body Shop Hearing

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A hearing on a request for permits for a second auto body shop at the site of Karl's Auto Body Repair Company, Wollaston, was continued to Oct. 21, at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Charles W. Ayres applied to the board for a motor vehicle repair shop permit and a permit to store 100 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars at the building to the rear of 32-34 Safford St.

Atty. Richard Barry explained Ayres, a Vo-Tech graduate, has done automobile body work for about five years. He will lease the property from Karl's, which issued him a letter of recommendation.

City Clerk John Gillis said he felt the entire Karl's Auto property was already licensed for auto body work. Police Chief Francis Finn agreed it was a new business on the same plot, and that a new man was just being licensed as manager of a portion of the business.

Ward Councillor John Lydon asked that the matter be continued because what was being proposed was a new business to the area. Lydon said he would like time to sit down with the neighbors and find out if they want another auto body shop in the area.

Fire Chief Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald questioned the street address of Karl's Auto which is listed on its permit to a non-existent 65 Holbrook, and a storage permit for 1,000 gallons of gasoline, above ground. Chief Barry felt the storage permits were so excessive as to be an error in the records.

The hearing was continued so that Lydon could meet with the neighbors, and Alan LeBrun of Karl's Auto could be requested to appear at the next meeting to clear up the discrepancies on the establishment's permits and address.

Chief Finn also suggested the City Solicitor be contacted for a ruling on whether Ayres needs permits for his shop.

In another matter, the board granted the transfer of the retail package goods store-alcoholic license for Morton's Liquor Store, 120 Granite St., from Albert Slate to Joseph Hennessey of Scituate.

Hennessey, of Hennessey's South Braintree News, Inc. will be the store's manager.

Chief Finn instructed Hennessey on checking Massachusetts driver's licenses when there is a question as to any purchaser's age.

Finn also commented that if all liquor stores were run the way Slate had run his, there would be no problems.

The License Board also granted tag day permits to:

- The Jewish War Veterans of Quincy for their annual poppy drive Oct. 23, 24 and 25, with proceeds to benefit the organization's hospital program.

- The Quincy Fathers Club for Nov. 14 and 15.

Both organizations were instructed not to solicit at intersections.

- The North Quincy Kickers Youth Soccer League had also requested tag day permits for Oct. 24, 3:30 to 9 p.m. and Oct. 25, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. but preference was given to the Jewish War Veterans which traditionally holds its poppy drive each year at this time. The league can request another set of dates.

A request from Donald Reinhart of Bargains Galore, 69 Billings Rd., for an auctioneer's license was postponed to Oct. 21.

Granite Place Seniors

To Visit Sudbury

On Tuesday, October 21st, the senior citizens of Granite Place, 125 Granite St., Quincy, will take a trip to Sudbury for lunch at the Longfellow's Wayside Inn.

After the meal, the seniors will tour the Grist Mill, which still operates today and visit an old fashioned Country Store.

The bus will leave the complex at 12:30 p.m.

Veterans' Council Meeting

City Clerk John Gillis will be installed as commander of the Quincy Veterans Council tonight (Thursday).

The council will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Committee To Reconsider School Rental Fees Threaten YMCA Basketball League

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The nation's oldest and largest church basketball league could end because of an increase in school rental fees, the School Committee was told last week.

After hearing that, the committee voted to reconsider the fee increase, but to keep the new $12 per hour rate in effect until a final decision was made.

The increase became necessary when the committee cut custodial overtime funds "for community purposes" out of its budget. It was agreed that all non-school groups would pay, through a revolving fund, $12 per hour, which roughly covers the overtime rate for custodians.

Previously, youth groups had paid $3 per hour, all others $7.

But Jim Rendle, director of the Quincy YMCA Church Basketball League, told the committee last week, "We don't see how we can afford to go on."

"We don't see any other alternative to cancelling the program," he said.

The league paid the school department about $6,200 in rental fees during 1979-80, Rendle said. That figure would increase to $24,800 if the $12 rate stayed in effect.

More importantly, said Ray Dunn, coach of the St. Joseph's team, "you'll be driving these kids off the basketball court and into Judge Kramer's court."

The program involves over 1,300 youths on 127 team, playing 60 games per week between early December and mid-March, according to Rendle.

Rendle said he didn't think the league should have to pay for a custodian whose only function was to "open the doors and let the kids play," when there is always another custodian assigned to the building anyway.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon said that, traditionally, the second custodian is always assigned to a building when it is leased.

Although it's not a contractual agreement, he said, custodians say they cannot be held responsible for damage to a school by an outside group when they are working in another part of the building.

Mayor Arthur Tobin thought that perhaps groups like the YMCA league could be allowed to use schools without a second custodian. The group's adult supervisors could be responsible for the buildings, he said.

"At that point, why lock the doors?" asked committee member Joan Picard. "Just hand the keys to whoever signs up to use the school."

Rendle presented the committee with petitions signed by about 2,500 persons, asking that the $12 rate be reduced.

But member Frank Anselmo asked Rendle to present those names to the City Council instead and urge them to approve increased funding for the school system.

"They've got to play a hand or many a program will go down the drain," Anselmo said.

"If we have to pay people to supervise, we have to get the money," said member Patricia Toland. "I don't know where we're going to get the money because we've suffered a very large cut ourselves."

The committee voted unanimously to reconsider the new rates. However, groups using the schools now will still pay $12 per hour until a final decision is made.

"In the end, we can always send a check back," explained member Mary Collins. "It's easier than to chase them for it."

Korean Students Seeking Quincy Pen Pals

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Please forgive me for taking up your valuable time. I am a teacher of high school in Seoul, Korea. In my school there are so many students who want to correspond with your people in English. Then I am writing this in the hope you would help them get in touch with young people in your country.

I am one of the English teachers of high school which has about 1,500 students. And their ages are ranging from 13 to 18 who are attending at junior and senior high school. Pupils have five or six English classes a week, then they are very eager to brush up English skill through correspondence.

I think this kind of direct communication between friends of the countries will help both to learn about each other's country. And I also think they might have fun in swapping items of their hobby collections.

Readers Forum

I am sure each of them will be the faithful friends of anyone who write to them, and it would be appreciated if their new friends will kindly write about themselves including age, sex and hobbies.

I sincerely hope you will try to publish by name and address in your esteemed paper. Then we will anxiously wait for the letters from your country. Thank you so much for your time and kind consideration.

A 'Thank You' For Baseball Coverage

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Thank you for the good coverage of the baseball week-end enjoyed in Quincy recently by the Caribe Stars baseball team of 14 to 16 year olds from Brooklyn, New York.

This is the 5th year the event has taken place and each year The Sun has been generous with coverage.

This is very gratifying to the New York visitors who always get copies of The Sun, and also to the Quincy families and teams involved in the activities. It was a very happy and successful time for all concerned.

Many thanks and best wishes.
Sincerely,
Clare M. Yeomans

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

They are Thomas Burke of 18 North Payne St., South Quincy, and David Lubarsky of Water St., also South Quincy.

They will receive T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to The Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee?
2. In what section of the city is the Abigail Adams Cairn?
3. Quincy's public library is named for Thomas Crane. Who was Thomas Crane?
4. The Sgt. Philip Greenberg Bridge traverses what body of water in Quincy?
5. Veterans Memorial Stadium was built on the site of an earlier football field. What was that field called?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Laurence J. Curtin was a city councillor from 1931-36 and 1939-42; Council President in 1934 and 1936; and a leader in the fight to restore Plan A government to Quincy.
2. Robert E. Foy III is the tax collector of Quincy.
3. Myles Standish was the first recorded European to visit what is now Quincy on Sept. 30, 1621; later he led the expedition that drove Thomas Morton out of Merrymount.
4. Huckins Ave. is in the Squantum section of the city.
5. The correct name of the Quincy District Court is the District Court of East Norfolk.

Bobby Orr: Youth Needs Him

They say there will never be another Bobby Orr. That's a shame.

We could use at least another couple dozen. Not to win hockey games. But to influence our youth.

Bobby was honored by the Montclair Men's Club Saturday night, receiving the club's John Gillooly Memorial Award.

Those of us who were there were captivated by Bobby's charisma. I'm sure every man there would love to have his son grow up to be just like Bobby.

He comes through with humility and sincerity. What a difference say than a blowhard like Muhammed Ali who ought to be retired for taking money under false pretenses.

Bobby doesn't feel sorry for himself because injuries halted his career long before his time. But he is concerned. He's concerned about today's youth in sports, whether it be hockey, football, baseball or basketball.

He's concerned that many adults put the accent on winning, not in playing the game. Adults who boo youngsters for missing a shot on goal. Even parents who criticize their own for making a mistake.

As I watched Bobby and listened to him I couldn't help wondering why they don't create a new cabinet post: Secretary of Youth.

And, appoint Bobby Orr the first one.

With all the violence, and sex on television and in the movies, with all the drugs kids today have to contend with, it isn't easy being a kid these days. But just think if someone like Bobby Orr could be in a position to organize programs for them, to talk with them, to help them, to set an example for them, to guide them.

He did so much on the ice. But he could do so much more off it.

INCIDENTALLY, many fathers successful in various fields have hoped their sons might follow in their footsteps. And many have been disappointed when their sons balk.

Add Bobby Orr to the list. His six-year-old son, Darrin, doesn't like hockey and won't play it.

But Bobby is not disappointed because Darrin made that decision. It's because why.

"He was too young to remember me play," says Bobby. "But he remembers me coming home on crutches. One day I asked him why he didn't want to play hockey and he said, 'Because of what happened to you.'"

JEANNIE UMANA, press secretary to former Mayor Joseph LaRaia, is back in Quincy renewing acquaintances. She now lives in Big Sur, Calif., does some singing (jazz, blues, ballads) in nightspots. She also writes poetry and sketches in her spare time. "Quincy looks good," she says. (No, she's not planning to write a book).

SENATOR Paul Harold was in the appropriate place when he received word that President Jimmy Carter had signed the First Parish Church bill. Harold was attending a meeting of the Adams Family Memorial Association at the Adams Mansion when Senator Edward Kennedy's office called from Washington to notify him.

The first person Harold related the news to was Thomas Boylston Adams, who clapped his hands together to get everyone's attention.

Purpose of the meeting was for members of the Adams family to meet National Parks regional director Richard Stanton. Coincidentally, the meeting -- set a month earlier -- was held on the very day and at the very hour the President signed the bill turning the church over to the National Parks Service.

THE PRESIDENTIAL election campaigns seem to be stepping up on the local fronts.

Dist. Atty. William Delahunt has been named Norfolk County coordinator for the Carter-Mondale campaign and Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Quincy coordinator.

On the Republican side, Kathryn Roberts of Quincy has been appointed Norfolk County campaign coordinator for the Reagan-Bush drive. And Peter and Norma Gacia, also of Quincy, are the Quincy coordinators.

Local Aid Sought For 'Christmas In November'

Quincy firms and organizations are being sought to contribute to the third annual "Christmas In November", benefiting students of the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton.

The event is sponsored by the Quincy-based Massachusetts Association for Handicapped Children. Among those planning the event are Quincy residents Paul Clasby, president; Ed Graham, executive director and George Mathieson, director.

On Nov. 13, according to Mathieson, a mile-and-a-half long caravan of vans and buses will transport about 130 wheelchair-bound youths from the Hospital School to Florian Hall in Dorchester, where they will take part in a "unique Christmas party."

Besides music, entertainment and refreshments, the students will receive gifts donated by local businesses, fraternal, civic and veterans groups.

These gifts are chosen from a list of items requested by the students. They may include TV's, stereos, pinball machines and other entertainment items which cannot be included in the school's budget.

Vans and buses for the evening are donated by the Commonwealth Coach Co. and Florian Hall is donated by the Boston Fire Department.

The Massachusetts Association for Handicapped Children was founded in 1973 in Quincy as a charitable corporation to sponsor special projects to educate, train and rehabilitate physically handicapped children.

According to Mathieson, 100 percent of the funds raised by the association go directly to helping handicapped children.

Home Oil Supplies 'Abundant' Despite Iran-Iraq Conflict

The Iran-Iraq conflict has yet to affect the price of home heating oil in Massachusetts, according to the latest survey of dealers conducted by the state Office of Energy Resources.

The Oct. 7 survey showed that the average price of number 2 oil remained at one dollar, 2.4 cents per gallon, the same as in the Sept. 16 survey. Prices in several areas of the state actually dropped slightly.

"We will continue to monitor the market as it reacts to the Iran-Iraq conflict," said State Energy Secretary Joseph Fitzpatrick. "So far the market has remained relatively quiet, in large part because of the abundant supplies presently on hand."

Prices in the Boston area averaged one dollar, 2.8 cents per gallon, with individual dealers' prices ranging from 99.9 cents to $1.07 per gallon.

Auto Inspectors, Take A Breather

By FRANK MORTIMER

Well, guys, it's over. At least for another six months. This is the moment you've been waiting for. The car inspection deadline has arrived.

No more cars limping into the station with bald tires, busted mufflers, horns that won't toot, wipers that don't wipe, and floors rotted clean through as if the vehicle is powered by human legs. Fred Flintstone style.

Think of it: no more drivers pulling into the station three minutes before closing time on the last day of fall inspection, telling you the car must get the blue sticker because the wife is pregnant and due any day now ("You wouldn't want her to take a cab to the hospital, now would you?").

Swearing that he has four brand new tires at home to replace the banana skins he slipped in on ("Gonna put 'em on soon as I get home.")

Promising to quiet that jet-loud muffler ("I already have an appointment at Midas.")

Begging you to overlook the wobbly ball-joints in the front wheels ("I'm real careful about bumps and potholes anyhow.")

Reminding you that directional blinkers are not a strict requirement ("My dad always used hand signals, and they're good enough for me.")

Insisting that the windshield wasn't cracked (he drove into the station; "I believe that ol' Chevy ahead of me threw a pebble. Happened on your property, too.")

Sit down. Savor the moment. They're gone.

Gone are the cars loaded with dirty-faced kids or babes in their mother's arms -- the group obviously on an errand of sympathy for the ailing family car.

Gone, too, are the fast talkers in new cars, who have no patience.

Like that one in the shiny, new Lincoln, who jumped out of his car dressed for Wall Street and frowned at his watch. He made sure you caught that frown. Heaven help you if you dare do a thorough inspection of his clean, well-oiled battleship.

But you did your job; and in doing so found a wide, deep cut in the right front tire. The owner was outraged.

You tried to calm him: "Sure the treads are perfect. But look at this."

You got down on your knees and grasped the laceration with four fingers.

The owner checked his watch, leaned over, and swore the tire looks perfect to him. You offered to bring the boss into the consultation.

"Never mind, I'll replace the tire," the man said.

"Okay." You waited for him to leave. Seven cars were lined up behind his. He just stood there.

"Well, don't I get a sticker?"

"You have to replace the tire first."

"Are you kidding?"

"No, it's the law."

"I think you get your kicks turning people down."

"No, sir, not at all. If that tire blows out, which it's about to, you could get hurt."

"I'll take my chances."

"And somebody else could get hurt."

"Well, I gotta get the sticker. I'm driving to New York in the morning."

"The best we can do is sell you a tire."

"Ah ha! So that's the con. Think I'll take my business to the next station."

The driver climbed into his craft, slammed it into reverse, shook his head as if to say the world is full of crooks, then roared away.

Good thing there were no pebbles lying around the lot. Because the next guy in line had a cracked windshield.

New County Commission Aims To Curb Youth Delinquency

Norfolk County has formed a Delinquency Prevention Advisory Commission with 25 members drawn from the fields of education, law enforcement, youth services and business throughout the county.

"The commission will serve as a major component in our efforts at the county level to help curb delinquency in our cities and towns," said James J. Collins, chairman of the County Commissioners.

"We want to create an atmosphere of healthy cooperation for all those concerned with youth."

Among the members are Barbara DiNatale of the Quincy Police Department; Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; and George Raymond, president of the South Shore Board of Realtors.

Collins said the commission will provide a forum for the discussion of problems affecting youth, available services and programs, and strategy and programs for the future.

"There are many people, programs and systems throughout the country that work with and help kids," said Collins. "Very often these people and programs can get isolated from each other."

"By bringing representatives together on a commission, we hope to break down the barriers and isolations and develop a more unified approach to the problem where ideas and expertise can be shared."

Diana Kerr, delinquency prevention specialist for Norfolk County, will be coordinating the activities of the commission. She said one of the first jobs will be to document present problem areas.

"I would not be surprised if acts of vandalism, drug and alcohol abuse and related school problems surfaced as the major problem areas," she said.

"What action is recommended to deal with these issues will be the object of long and very sincere debate and action by commission members."

"As much as possible, I hope we can promote interest in positive youth development and recognize kids who do not get in trouble and who wish to improve society just as much as we do."

Council Asks 2-Way For Lowell St.

The Traffic Commission has been asked by the City Council to look into the feasibility of changing Lowell St., West Quincy, from one-way to two-way.

The City Council also asked the Commission to study the possibility of:

Reducing the speed on Smith St., West Quincy, from 30 miles an hour to 15 mph

Placing a stop sign on Ferriter St., West Quincy, at the intersection of Grove St.

Banning parking on one side of Safford, Farrington and Fayette Sts., Wollaston.

Removing no parking signs on Gordon St., South Quincy, except on the south side from a point 125 feet easterly from Water St. to Granite St.

Public Lecture Here

Oct. 17 On

'Science Of Christian Healing'

Centered on the conviction that Christ Jesus was "the greatest healer the world has ever known," a Christian Science lecture will be given Oct. 17 at 8 p.m. in first Church of Christ, Scientist, Greenleaf St., Quincy.

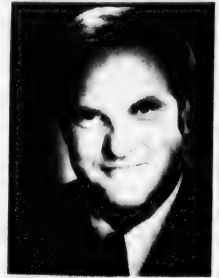

Jack Edward Hubbell, of Palo Alto, Calif., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will discuss a number of biblical and contemporary healings, citing on his own long experience in the public healing practice of Christian Science.

Hubbell explains his view that Jesus' healings "weren't miracles restricted to an age 2000 years ago, but demonstrations of universal and eternal spiritual laws — laws that can be used by anyone, anywhere, anytime."

"Jesus affirmed spiritual sonship," Hubbell adds, "not only for himself, but for every individual. He acknowledged that we too are the beloved children of God... the golden thread that runs through all of Jesus' teachings is God's great love for man."

This love and unity between God and man, Hubbell explains, forms the basic premise for "The Science of Christian Healing," as he has titled his lecture.

Hubbell served in the U.S. Air force before entering the electronics business. For more than 15 years he has committed his full time to Christian healing. In 1970 he became an authorized teacher of Christian Science. He has also served his Church as an advisor to the Christian Science Organization at Stanford University.

The Hubbell lecture is open to the public. It is sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Quincy. Admission is free. Mrs. Holly Boon, the Second Reader of the Quincy Church, will introduce the lecturer.

High School Night At St. Joseph's School

Representatives from eight high schools spoke to eighth grade students of St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point and their parents, at a special "High School Night" sponsored by the school Monday.

The schools were Archbishop Williams, Notre Dame Academy, Fontbonne Academy, Xavierian

Brothers High School, Boston College High School, Cardinal Cushing Central High School, Norfolk County Agricultural High School and Quincy High School.

Representatives explained programs, extra curricular activities and special features of their schools to assist the eighth graders in choosing a high school.

SMOKING AND AMPUTATION

Dr. John Juergens, who specializes in problems of hardening of the arteries at the famed Mayo Clinic tells his fellow artery surgeons, "I can do as much for a patient's legs by getting him to quit smoking as they can by operating."

Dr. Juergens has followed closely the progress of 158 cigarette smokers suffering from advanced arteriosclerosis of the extremities. Of the 71 who stopped smoking, none required amputation. But of the 88 who continued to smoke, ten had to lose a limb.

"Nicotine," says Dr. Juergens, "is a potent constrictor of arteries. I tell patients, 'It's your cigarettes or your leg.'"

All of the Mayo Clinic surgeons in cardiology speak with a single voice on the dangers of smoking. They see too many needless deaths and amputations which could have been prevented by the simple motivation to prolong one's life by giving up smoking cigarettes.

Young People Perform Play At Squantum Church Service

Young people of the First Church of Squantum performed a play during the worship service Sunday morning.

Entitled "Jesus and the Stranger", the play was intended to help the congregation visualize the Bible story of the morning, the temptations of Jesus.

Steven Williams played the part of Jesus, Donna Stevens the part of the stranger and Bonnie Adams, Marsha Anderson and Susan Mildram were angels. Donna Stevens wore an elaborate puppet costume in her role as the stranger. The costume had been made by Richard Williams.

The Senior Choir sang the anthem, "Oh, Hold Thou Me Up" by Marcello-Wienhorst. The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "On Battling Temptation." It was the fifth in a series of sermons on the life of Jesus.

Greeters for the morning were Sven and Edna Swanson. Fellowship Hour was hosted by Millie Johnson, Ginny Galarneaux and Sally Wainwright.

The title of next week's sermon will be "Samples for the Lord." Both the Senior Choir and the Youth Choir will sing. The service begins at 10:15 a.m.

Legion's Walk For Youth Oct 19

The seventh annual Walk for Youth for the benefit of Horizons for Youth will be held Sunday, Oct. 19, at 1 p.m. starting and ending on Hancock St. at Merrymount Park.

Horizons for Youth provides services for more than 5,000 boys and girls who have emotional or physical problems, or have been neglected or abused or are economically disadvantaged.

Paul A. M. Hunt of the Morrisette Legion Post is the local walk coordinator.

Among the volunteers who have helped are George Nicholson, Mary Timcoe, John Belcastro, John Comer, James Bragg, John Pavva, Warren Demers, Robert Lafleur and members of the city's Legion posts.

Those wishing to take part in the walk may do so either by obtaining a sponsor sheet in school or by calling toll free 1-800-242-5875.

The walkathon route is as follows:

Beginning at Merrymount Park, the walk will move down the Southern Artery to Washington St., left to South St., continuing onto East Howard St., right on Quincy Ave. to Water St., and continuing up Water St. and Copeland St. to the Morrisette Post at Furnace Brook Parkway. The walk will then continue up Furnace Brook Parkway to Hancock St. and Merrymount Park.

Tobin In Last Try For Sewer Charge

those bills to sewer users then 52 per cent will be paying less, 14 per cent will be paying the same, and 34 per cent will be paying more.

"That means that two out of every three taxpayers out there in the wards will be paying the same or less for using the sewer system."

Tobin said that his staff found that the minimum water bill in Quincy is $32 a year.

"If you calculate the current sewer tax as $8 on the tax rate, then a homeowner whose house is assessed for $8,000 is paying $64 for using the sewer," he said.

Tobin said he wants to get the sewer issue out of the way so that the 1981 tax rate can be set as quickly as possible. The target date for the tax rate, he said, is Nov. 1 so bills could be paid by Dec. 1.

"The sewer charge ought to be debated on its merits Thursday night and whatever action the Council takes we will go forth on that," he said.

Going forth means that Auditor Charles L. Shea will take the city budget and tax cap forms into the State Department of Revenue on Friday morning.

Once the state notifies the city that the auditor's figures have been accepted then Chief Assessor John Comer is free to put them on his recap sheet and submit a tax rate for the state's approval.

"We're at the state's mercy as far as timing goes," said Comer. "But we can't wait any longer than Thursday night. We've got to get in town and get things started."

"We are shooting for a tax rate by Nov. 1 so the first installments of the tax bills can be paid by Dec. 1 and people won't have to pay them around Christmas time like last year."

All Out Proxy Fight For South Shore Bank Control

Rival factions among shareholders of the Multibank Financial Corp. are girding for an all-out proxy fight in which one of the prizes is the South Shore Bank with its assets of more than $367 million.

A dissident group, headed by Abraham D. Gosman of Weston and including the Rev. Bedros Baharian, chairman of the Quincy Planning Board, is seeking to oust Chairmen and President David B. Lynch of Dedham.

If the Gosman group wins the proxy fight, it is reported that Baharian will become president of the South Shore Bank, the largest in the Multibank group and the oldest bank in Quincy.

In the most recent actions in the fight, Baharian and two other dissidents were ousted from the Board of Directors of the South Shore Bank.

The others are Frank S. Waterman of Wayland, president of J.S. Waterman and Sons Inc., funeral homes; and David Heard, engineer for Factory Mutual Research Corp. of Norwood.

At the same time, Multibank filed suit in U.S. District Court charging that the Gosman group violated federal banking laws and illegally solicited proxies in its attempt to oust Lynch.

The suit alleges that, if successful, Gosman plans to sell off Multibank subsidiaries as the first step toward an ultimate merger with the United States Trust Co.

Baharian said that he anticipates a victory in the proxy fight.

"I wouldn't stick my neck out if I didn't think we'd win," he said. "I don't back losers generally."

He said that he expected his ouster from the South Shore Bank Board of Directors.

"The axe not only fell, it was predestined to fall," he said.

"The stock in the South Shore Bank is held by a holding company (Multibank). The head of the holding company votes the stock en bloc. It wasn't the board that decided. It was Mr. Lynch."

"Mr. Lynch is fighting for his job, using the shareholders' money. I hope things will get organized for a proxy fight. I hope we will gain control."

Lynch acknowledged that he requested the removal of the three directors, adding that "the sole question is one of publicly disagreeing with the stated position of the parent board."

Gosman is expected to call for a special shareholders meeting before the end of the year to vote on a new Board of Directors. It can be called by any group that owns at least 10 per cent of the stock and Gosman himself owns 21 per cent.

The Gosman group is unhappy with the dividend policies of Multibank under Lynch, who recently announced a 32 cents a share dividend, an increase from the previous 25 cents a share.

Lynch, who became chairman and president of Multibank in September, 1975, defended his management of the holding company in a recent letter to shareholders.

"When I became chairman and president," he said, "we faced serious problems which affected earnings most negatively in 1976. Prudent management, we felt, necessitated drastic dividend reductions in late 1975 and 1976."

"We believe we have successfully met the challenges presented by these problems and at the same time placed your company on solid footing for the future."

"Since 1976, we have nearly tripled the quarterly dividend rate in the last two years as we recently declared a third quarter dividend of 32 cents per share."

"There has been dividend reductions, deemed essential by management, from 38 cents per share in the third quarter of 1975 to 11 1/2 cents per share in the fourth quarter of 1976."

Lynch charged that Gosman used only $600,000 of his own funds to purchase his $4.5 million investment in Multibank.

"Of the money borrowed," he said, "close to $2 million is borrowed from a competitor of Multibank."

"We are concerned," he added, "that Mr. Gosman's highly leveraged position may cause him to pursue policies to get immediate funds (such as selling off certain subsidiary banks) which would not be in the long range interests of the company."

Multibank's seven member banks include Durfee Attleboro Bank, Bristol County; Falmouth National Bank, Barnstable County; First Agricultural Bank, Berkshire County; Mechanics Bank, Worcester County; Northampton National Bank, Hampshire County; Security National Bank, Hampden County; South Shore Bank, Norfolk County.

A BONUS. We can help you save money on your home. We'll show you how to get the most out of your home. We'll show you how to get the most out of your home.

Any one who is likely to spend the money to improve their home, should consider the money they can save by insulating their home. It could be a small fortune.

Don't be misled by the National Energy Research Institute's report that says that insulating a home will save you $1,000 a year. This is only true if you have a home that is 100% insulated. Most homes are only 50% insulated. This means that you can save $500 a year by insulating your home. This is a small fortune.

We took the word "insulate" and made it mean "to keep out the cold." We can help you save money on your home. We'll show you how to get the most out of your home. We'll show you how to get the most out of your home.

Employers Face $1,000 Fine For Keeping Employee Tips

Employers who keep employees' tips and gratuities may be fined up to $1,000 under new legislation effective Monday, Senator Paul D. Harold notes.

The law already had made it illegal for an employer in the food or beverage business to take or keep employees' tips, and makes any employment agreement allowing such practices unenforceable, Senator Harold noted.

The new legislation increases the maximum fine from $100 to $1,000, and provides that the court may order restitution to the employees of any tips retained by the employer.

It also requires that an employer who presents a customer with a bill which includes a service charge must clearly state in the bill the services rendered and the amount of the service charge paid as a tip or gratuity.

The new law was approved by the legislature in the past session and signed into law by Governor King, Effective September 15.

'Nautical No-No's Tells You How Not To Sail A Boat

The first of the "How Not To" books, not to be confused with the "How To's" has just been published.

It's called "Nautical No-No's," by Elyse and Robert Katz of Newton, who, in 10 years of sailing, seem to have done just about everything that shouldn't be done in a sailboat.

And, unlike most sailors, they're willing to write about it.

It began with a broken spreader on a 16-foot daysailer, even before the boat was in the water. The neophyte Katzes had forgotten to loosen the shrouds before pulling up the mast.

It continued through a lost rudder on a 22-foot sloop when they neglected to tie the tiller firmly amidships in preparation for a week of heavy winds and choppy seas.

They even managed to ground a 28-foot cruising sailboat with a five-foot draft by failing to consult the tide book and their own depth finder before going ashore to visit friends.

But, in spite of all these no-no's, the Katzes survived and even taught classes in sailing for the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 1-503, where they told their students of their misadventures.

"You ought to write a book," said one of the students and so they did.

The book, published by Shayna Ltd. of Newton with type set at The Quincy Sun, is now available at Hanceock, 1552 Hancock St., Quincy.

$169,000 In Gas, Plumbing

The city department of Plumbing and Gas Inspection issued permits for an estimated $169,936 in work during September, according to its monthly report.

According to Plumbing and Gas Inspector James A. Erwin, Jr., in 191 inspections, the department issued 118 plumbing permits for work costing an estimated $85,145 and collected $828 in fees.

For gas fitting work, 113 inspections were made, 103 permits issued for work costing an estimated $84,791, and $616 in fees collected.

What Causes Inflation?

The American College Dictionary correctly defines inflation as the "undue expansion or increase of the currency of a country, esp. by issuing of paper money not redeemable in specie."

The Federal Reserve System has been increasing the quantity of dollars in ever-larger numbers for over 50 years. That is the cause of inflation.

Remember, only the Federal Government causes inflation, so only the Federal Government should be blamed for it.

Empty Promises . . .

The Balance-The-Budget Scam

In January of this year President Carter revealed a proposed Federal budget for fiscal year 1981 that included a planned deficit of $16 billion. But because of unprecedented rises in prices of everything from apples to xylophones over the next few weeks, he announced a revised budget that, miracle of miracles, would be "balanced."

However, Colorado Senator William Armstrong has warned that "any idea that the 1981 budget is balanced is fantasy. It's balanced on paper and because we are using outdated economic assumptions." He warns that the '81 budget will run $25 billion in the red. Other estimates are that the deficit could reach $40 billion.

Robert C. Brown, executive vice-president of the Tax Foundation, Inc., points out that "the balance promised for FY 1981 has been done with mirrors — the 'cuts' were taken from upward 'revisions' of the costs for 1980 and 1981 given in the original January budget. The new budget, assuming predictions hold, will show a 15 percent increase in actual spending from FY 1979 through 1980, and a 7½ percent increase from 1980-1981."

In short, many Congressmen with records as big spenders are currently mouthing all kinds of platitudes about a balanced budget simply to pull the wool over the eyes of unwary voters. Then, if they are still in Washington next year, the shearing of the sheep will continue.

Unless of course, the beleaguered taxpayer studies his Representative's voting record and insists that he truly work to put an end to the profligate ways of the Federal Government that are causing such economic havoc. ■

- 1. POSTAL SERVICE REORGANIZATION. H.R. 79. This bill increases subsidies to the deficit-plagued U.S. Postal Service over the next four years by $1.3 billion. The House passed it 350-14. (Congressional Record 9/7/79, pp. H7431-H7456.) Total Cost: $1.3 billion.
- 2. FOREIGN MILITARY AID. H.R. 3173. This one-year authorization contained more than $2 billion for Israel and Egypt, with smaller amounts for Turkey, Greece and Zaire. The bill passed 256-147. (Congressional Record 10/16/79, pp. H9201-H9204.) Total Cost: $2.8 billion.
- 3. HIGHER EDUCATION REAUTHORIZATION. H.R. 5192. This bill extends for five years various aid programs to college students. It will cost untold billions in increased Federal spending. It passed 382-15. (Congressional Record 11/7/79, pp. H10335-H10348.) Total Cost: Unknown.
- 4. WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT ACT. H.R. 4788. This bill authorizes numerous "pork barrel" projects in about 70 per cent of the nation's congressional districts. The vote for passage was 283-127. (Congressional Record 2/5/80, pp. H544-H571.) Total Cost: $4.5 billion.
- 5. DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS DEREGULATION AND MONETARY CONTROL ACT. H.R. 4986. This is one of the most revolutionary laws passed by Congress in the last 70 years. It places ALL banks and lending institutions under the control of the Federal Reserve System, which is the Government's engine of inflation. It is a very dangerous step toward nationalization of the banking system and worthless paper money. Nevertheless, the bill breezed through the House 380-13. (Congressional Record 3/27/80, pp. H2273-2293.) Total Cost: Unknown.
- 6. WINDFALL PROFITS TAX. H.R. 3919. This bill has been sold to the public as a tax on "obscene" oil company profits for the next ten years. It is really a tax consumers will pay in the form of higher prices for petroleum products. The Conference Report was approved 302-107. (Congressional Record 3/13/80, pp. H1833-H1861.) Total Cost: $227 billion.
- 7. FOOD STAMPS. H. Res. 545. This bill raised the statutory ceiling on food stamp funds for fiscal years 1980 and 1981 by $2.6 billion and $3.1 billion. The House was "stampeded" to act by a funding crisis. The program is the nation's largest, most expensive welfare program, with 21 million people feeding at this Federal trough. The House approved it 316-36. (Congressional Record 5/15/80, pp. H3727-H3732.) Total Cost: $5.7 billion.
- 8. INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT BANKS. S. 662. This bill authorized $3.6 billion in funds for three international lending institutions. The Conference Report passed 224-181. (Congressional Record, 5/21/80, pp. H3911-H3921.) Total Cost: $3.6 billion.
- 9. OIL IMPORT FEE. H.R. 7428. This bill dealt with President Carter's attempt to impose a new tax on gasoline of ten cents per gallon. The vote to override his veto of a resolution to kill the oil import fee was 335-34. (Congressional Record 6/5/80, pp. H4600-H4602.) Total Cost: $12.6 billion.

About The Votes

□ TRIM selects final votes on bills involving a billion dollars or more of your taxes. On a few occasions we choose bills which do not have a precise dollar figure, but which nevertheless will have a significant economic impact.

We are convinced that the general public is especially interested in the fact that every year Congress votes to spend hundreds of billions of dollars. The final vote on any bill is especially important because that is the vote that determines how much money the Government will spend.

All 435 members of the House of Representatives are scored on the same bills. The TRIM Bulletin does not vary from one Congressional District to the next. We never select bills to make any Congressman look good or bad.

The TRIM Bulletin is published quarterly, so over the course of a year we will have reported on many of the final votes on major money bills.

The votes on page four involve 257.5 billion of your tax dollars. If your Congressman voted against all these bills, he saved your household $3,289. If he voted for all nine of them, he increased the tax burden of every household by that amount. Please study these votes to determine whether your Representative voted to increase or decrease your tax burden. After you have done so, let him know whether you approve of the way he voted, since he is there to serve you. After all, it's your hard-earned money that's involved.

Rotary Foundation Offering Educational Awards

The Quincy Rotary Club, invites outstanding young men and women to apply for a one-year "study abroad" award.

Through this award, qualified undergraduate and graduate students, technicians, professional journalists and teachers of the handicapped are offered the opportunity to fulfill a dual role of student and "ambassador of goodwill."

An award covers round-trip transportation, educational, living and miscellaneous related expenses for one academic year, plus, in certain cases, a period of intensive language training in the study country.

Since this program's inception in 1947, the Rotary has provided more than $50 million in educational awards and grants to more than 15,000 students and young business and professional leaders for study abroad.

For more information and the specific requirements of Rotary awards, write to the Quincy Rotary Club, PO Box 346, Quincy, 02169. Completed applications must be received by March 1, 1981.

For more information call: Jerry Reilly, Quincy Rotary Club, 262-6806.

U.S. Coast Guard Academy Taking Cadet Applications

The U.S. Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., is now accepting and processing applications from men and women for appointment as cadets for the Class of 1985.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly (D-Dorchester) pointed out that the Coast Guard appointments are given solely on a basis of nationwide competition with no congressional appointments involved.

Applications must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320, prior to Dec. 15, 1980.

Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test

(SAT) by the Dec. 6 administration or the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) by the Dec. 13 administration.

The competition is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or the ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school activities, community affairs or parttime employment.

The applicant must be unmarried at the time of the appointment, have no legal obligations from a previous marriage and must have reached the age of 17, but not 22, by July 1, 1981.

All must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1981, and have completed three units in English and three in math, including algebra and plane or coordinate geometry.

Additional information may be obtained from the director of admissions at the academy or from one of Cong. Donnelly's three district offices.

Arts Lottery Seen As Boost To Tourism

The Massachusetts Arts Lottery got underway this week and Mayor Arthur H. Tobin hailed the move as "an invaluable resource in terms of tourism development."

The net revenues of the arts lottery will be distributed by the newly created Arts Lottery Council to local art councils to support such activities as community theater, dance and musical groups.

Massachusetts is the first state in the nation with a lottery game specifically created to support the arts. It is administered by the State Lottery Commission, which has operated since 1972.

The purchase of a $5 arts lottery ticket from any sales agent makes the player eligible for four consecutive weekly drawings.

There is a top prize of $10,000 for each of the first three weeks of each cycle and a grand prize of $200,000 to be awarded in the fourth week.

Presidents Hope To Rebound At Newton N.

By TOM SULLIVAN

Although Quincy's football team lost by a 26-0 score to Waltham, a Suburban League power, last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Coach Tom Fitzgerald was pleased with the Presidents' performance.

"Two weeks ago I was very upset at our effort in squeezing by a weak Weymouth South team," Fitzgerald said. "I really blew my top after that game, but today I was proud of these boys. Waltham has a very strong team and we got some bad breaks in the first half. We stayed in there fighting and I am pleased despite the loss."

Quincy has another tough opponent this Saturday when it travels to Newton to face Newton North in a 1:30 p.m. league game. Newton, rated one of the top teams in Eastern Mass., will be trying to rebound from a surprising 42-8 shellacking last week at Brockton's hands.

The previous week Newton was held to a tie by North Quincy after topping Medford. "Newton will be really tough, no doubt about it, but if we play like we did today, we'll give them a ball game," Fitzie promised.

A look at the statistics doesn't show that Quincy was ever in the game, but they are a bit deceiving.

Waltham's brother combination of John and Steve El-Masry combined for 224 yards rushing and three touchdowns, while Quincy could gain only 40 yards on the ground. The other Waltham backs added only 39 yards.

Waltham clicked off 21 first downs while Quincy could pick up only four.

One bright spot for the Presidents was the passing of junior quarterback Sean Martin, starting his first game in place of the injured Ron Pettinelli. Martin hit on seven of nine passes for 61 yards, although being intercepted twice. He also showed signs of being an excellent runner.

"Sean did very well as we had only three days to work with him," Fitzgerald said. "He threw well and almost broke away several times running. Pettinelli is questionable again at Newton, but we will have some time to work with Martin before that game."

Another bright spot was the punting of Mark Picot, who got off five booming punts, averaging more than 40 yards, including one beauty which was downed on Waltham's one-yard line.

Ed Iodice ran well and Capt. Fran Duggan, who has been outstanding all season long and was singled out by offensive line coach Peter Chella for his consistent performances; Sean Burke, Scott Anson, Ed Mackey, a two-way standout once again (he has been Quincy's most outstanding two-way player this year), Walt Kilgallon, Ken Gustin, Jim Nevins and Chris Chevalier were all praised by their coaches.

"Duggan really deserves mention for his great blocking," Chella said. "I don't think there is a better offensive lineman in the state."

"One of these days we are going to put it all together and be a really good football team and surprise some people," Fitzgerald concluded.

Waltham controlled the ball during the first half and Quincy had troubles getting the ball. The Presidents carried only six times in the first two periods and wound up with a loss of 21 yards, not gaining on a single play.

Sports

The Hawks drove to Quincy's 16 in the opening period but a clip set them back and Quincy took over on its 33. Quincy couldn't gain and Picot got off a long punt to Waltham's 27.

Waltham again marched downfield and early in the second period Quincy received a rough break when a highly questionable pass, interference call against the Presidents in the end zone gave Waltham a first down on the one from where Steve El-Masry scored. Mike Oliveri kicked the point.

With just eight seconds left in the half quarterback Scott Awisus hit and Dave LeLievre, who was hit twice at midfield but broke away and raced for a touchdown, the play covering 61 yards. Oliveri again kicked the point.

Quincy came out fast in the third period as it took the kickoff, Martin raced, for 18 yards and Iodice skirted right and went 34 yards. Martin hit Burke for a 12-yard pass to Waltham's 18, but Martin's next pass was intercepted, ending Quincy's only real threat.

Another Martin pass was intercepted and returned 40 yards for an apparent score but a 15-yard penalty nullified the play.

Quincy's Greg Oriola recovered a fumble on the Presidents' 16 to halt another Waltham threat. Iodice ran for 12 but the Hawks held and Picot got off another booming punt to Waltham's 38.

Steve El-Masry capped another Waltham drive by scoring his ninth touchdown of the season from the one.

John El-Masry later raced 40 yards through the right side for the final touchdown.

A few plays later Picot got off his best kick of the day, downed by Kilgallon on the Hawks' one-yard line.

Youth Football

Apaches, Manets Win

The league-leading Apaches improved their record to 5-0 in the Quincy Youth Football League Sunday with a 24-12 victory over the Sailors at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Eddie Page scored first for the Apaches on a two-yard plunge and Mike Gill added the two-point conversion.

Bob Flynn sacked the Sailors' quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Gill scored on a nine-yard run and Keith Smith added the two points and Jimmy Milano scored the final touchdown on an eight-yard run.

Gill, Page, Milano, Bob Varnado, Dan Kelly and the entire Apache offensive line were praised by their coaches and Varnado, Gill, Smith, Flynn, Lou Morales and Steve Miller were singled out on defense.

The Manets moved into second place (3-2) with a 22-6 win over the winless Elks.

The Elks scored first when Mike Joyce went over from the two. They held the lead throughout the first half but the Manets' Billy Conneen raced 64 yards to tie the score early in the third period.

Later in the period John Palmer scored from the 10 and Bill Burkhead ran for the two-point conversion.

In the final period Conneen ran 11 yards for the final touchdown and Chris Doyle added the two-point conversion.

Raiders Come Home To Host Weymouth N.

North Quincy's football team makes its first Veterans Memorial Stadium appearance in three weeks Saturday when it hosts Weymouth North in a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game.

The Raiders will be favored after one of their best performances of the year last Saturday when they rolled over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 33-0, at Cambridge to improve their record to 2-1-1.

Weymouth is having another rough season with only an 18-6 win over Cambridge. The Maroons have lost to Braintree, Waltham and Hingham.

"We are not taking them lightly as they always play us tough," North Coach Dave Burke said. "But our offense came alive at Cambridge and the defense was outstanding once again. We will be tough to beat the rest of the way if we just continue to play as we did at Cambridge."

Penalties killed the Raiders in the first period. Ken Mann returned the opening kickoff to the 50 and Jack Brown raced 40 yards to the Cambridge nine but three successive penalties set North back.

Once they overcame the penalty problems, North rolled for three second period touchdowns and it was clear sailing the rest of the way.

A bright spot for North was the brilliant punting of Brian O'Leary, who got off booming punts of 47, 56 and 62 yards.

Jamie Walsh, who had returned to action the previous week at Newton after an injury, had a big day for the Raiders, twice intercepting passes and running back one for a score, and playing outstanding ball both ways.

NORTH SEASON'S SCORING

| Donaghey | 1 | 0 | 0 | 6 |
| Leone | 0 | 3 | 1 | 6 |
| Howley | 0 | 3 | 0 | 3 |

"We need Walsh, he's a fine ball player," Burke said. "He did a great job for us. Steve McEachern (two touchdowns) had a fine day running the ball and our reserves, playing most of the second half, did well and Phil Donaghey ran very well and scored."

"We sputtered badly in the first period and needed a big play which Walsh gave us with his first pass interception."

"The shutout speaks for itself," said Ken McPhee who, with Jack Raymer, handles the defense. "Cambridge didn't threaten and Walsh and Mann performed well."

The offensive line also did an excellent job, opening up some big holes for the backs.

Early in the second period Walsh intercepted a pass and returned it to Cambridge's 31.

McEachern picked up 10 yards, than ran 22 yards for a touchdown. Jack Leone's kick was declared no good by the officials, although it appeared to everyone to have split the uprights.

Brown soon found Walsh all alone and hit him with a pass to the right and Walsh scored, the play covering 35 yards. Leone kicked the point.

Dean Zoia, who ran well again, had a 25-yard run nullified by a penalty.

Walsh picked off a Cambridge pass on the Rindge and Latin 41 and ran it all the way for his second touchdown and Leone's kick made it 20-0 at the half.

In the third period a hard tackle by Mann forced a fumble on the Cambridge 15, Mann recovering. McEachern scored from the four and Leone kicked the point.

That was it for the North starters. Pat Burke took over at quarterback and, with the ball on Cambridge's 24, Burke picked up nine yards and Donaghey, on three straight rushes, gained six, five and the final four for the TD.

North Sophs Make It A Sweep, 14-6

The North Quincy Sophomore football team again played a so-so first half but an aroused second half to defeat Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 14-6, last week.

The young Red Raiders, after receiving the opening kick-off, marched to the opponent's one-yard line and fumbled over to Cambridge.

A see-saw battle was the theme for the remainder of the half as good defensive play by both clubs clogged the offensive thrusts of each.

Early in the third quarter the Cambridge visitors sprung one of their backs for a 70 yard TD run. North stiffened and stopped the two-point try and the invaders led, 6-0.

It was all North after that. The hard running of Rich Brown ignited the Raider attack, with Dave DiCarlo helping out on his counter gains. Brown was able to bust through the line for a 72-yard run, veering out to the left sideline and out-racing his pursuers. Noticeable on this run was the conveying of Dave Ceurvels who separated Brown from his would-be tacklers. The two point attempt was not good.

The Ted Sadowski-coached Northerners added another third period score. Brown again registering from the nine-yard line. He then smashed over at the final two points. A DiCarlo long run set up this score.

Another apparent North score, a pass from Vin Barry to Brown, was nullified due to a clipping call in the closing minutes of the game.

Doing a good job in the offensive back-field were Mike Cullen, John McDonald, Bob Leonard, Mike Costa and Mark Balzarini, who also did some fine kicking.

The line play of Jerry Conley, Chris Flaherty, Gary Dalton, Shawn Cunningham, Steve Varnado and Ted Reilly was outstanding along with the defensive tactics of Ceurvels, who forced a punt receiver to fumble after a punishing hit, and the over-all play of Peter Clark, Steve Mallory, Paul Graham, Jay Pillard, Pat Fitzgerald and Bob Walker.

Sadowski said he was also pleased with the defensive play of Rich Tapper, Richie Reardon, Rich Myatt and Neil McDonald.

The North Sophs travel to Weymouth North Friday.

North Girl Swimmers Win

The North Quincy girls' swim team defeated Newton South, 96-76, last week for its second victory of the season.

North had three double winners, Kit Harrow winning the 50 and 100 freestyles, Jacqui Pike taking the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly and Susan Quintiliani winning the 200 and 500 freestyles.

Sheila Quintiliani, Diana Dawson and Marjorie Bortolotto also were winners for Coach Bill Walker's squad.

The Raiderettes (2-4) host Waltham today (Thursday) at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool and next Tuesday will swim at Weymouth North at 3:30. Both are Suburban League meets.

Here's a World Series oddity... The 2 teams who hold the record for winning the most games in one season in big league baseball history did NOT, oddly enough, win the World Series... The winningest teams ever in major league baseball were the 1906 Cubs (who won 116 games) and the 1954 Indians (who won 111) — but neither team won the World Series and, in fact, the '54 Indians lost it in 4 straight games, after winning all those games in the regular season.

Strange but true! The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League have had 6 different head coaches in the last 6 years... Dick Nolan was the 49er head coach in 1975, Monte Clark in '76, Ken Meyer in '77, Pete McCulley and Fred O'Connor in '78 and Bill Walsh in '79 and '80.

Surprisingly, the deciding game of the World Series has been won most often in history by the visiting team and NOT the home team... Of the 76 World Series played before 1980, the deciding game has been won by the visiting team 42 times, and by the home team 34 times.

May Sit Out Season

5 Female Hockey Players, QYHA In Dispute

By FRANK MORTIMER

Five of Quincy's most talented female ice hockey players may elect to sit out the current season because of an eligibility dispute with Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

The girls are Lauren Apollo, 17; Kathy Flynn, 16; Sue Gallery, 17; Nancy MacDonald, 17; and Lynn McGoff, 15.

The Quincy residents played last year for the North River Penguins, a Pembroke team that placed third in the Woman's Senior National Championship in Philadelphia. The girls want to continue playing for the Penguins.

Quincy Youth Hockey Association wants them to play for the local team.

Under Amateur Hockey Association of the United States rules, a release must be obtained if a girl under age 20 wishes to play for a team outside her hometown.

Quincy Youth Hockey last year granted conditional releases stating the girls will return to Quincy hockey this year.

The girls' recent application for a new release was denied.

Paul McCabe, president of QYHA explained the decision in a letter to the players and their parents. The letter reads, in part:

"While we are sympathetic to the predicament this creates for you, it is hoped you will understand that, for the good of our entire girls program, we simply cannot let our better players continue to leave to play for other towns.

"We have chosen to abide by the AHA rule (Article VI, #29) which states: 'A player on a youth division registered team of A.H.A.C.M. in the Mite, Squirt, Pee Wee, Bantam and Midget Divisions must play for the city or town they reside in.'"

The players do not question the legality of the decision. But they feel it is unrealistic and unfair.

"We'd be playing with some kids who are really just learning to skate," said Lauren Apollo, a 5-10 135-pound rightwinger who has been skating on teams for eight years.

"Quincy doesn't have the caliber of skating these girls are used to," said Helen MacDonald, Nancy's mother. "They shouldn't be forced to skate in a lower division."

Parents joined their daughters in a quiet protest march Friday night outside the QYH-sponsored bingo game in Elks Hall on Hancock St. The group hoped to draw attention to their cause and turn Bingo players away in support of their grievance. Proceeds from Bingo benefit Quincy's hockey program.

Marchers carried placards that read: "Release Our Hostages" and "Boycott Bingo".

Roger Apollo, Lauren's father, explained the dispute this way:

"Quincy had a senior team two years ago. The coach retired and the senior team disbanded. Our girls were granted a release because Quincy felt the girls' best interest was being served. The girls believed there would be a senior team to come back to, but there isn't one."

The parents said a return to the local program will hurt their daughters' chances of being scouted by college teams and winning athletic scholarships.

They said it cost them over $500 a year in ice fees, equipment, and transportation, to keep their children on skates.

In a separate interview, McCabe agreed that outside leagues offer stiffer competition. He agreed the girls are equal to that competition. He felt, however, that they could still win a college scholarship playing for Quincy. Other girls have done so already, he said.

McCabe said that as far as he knows, the board has no plan to reconsider the decision.

Donald Q. Joyce, coach of the North River Penguins, applied directly to the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States for a rules waiver on behalf of the girls. The request was denied.

He has filed for arbitration with the National Director of AHAUS. He expects the case to come up in about two weeks.

Broad Meadows Rolls, Central, Point On Win Trail

By PETE ZOIA

Gene Macomber's Broad Meadows football team looms as the team to beat in the junior high football league, as it easily handled North, 28-0.

Having played only two games to date, defeating Central, 24-14, previously, (it meets improved Central this week) it looked powerful in amassing 52 points in its two contests. BM remains the only unbeaten team to date.

Central put up a strong defense when needed to chalk up a surprise 6-0 win over strong Sterling. The lone score came in the first quarter, set up by a 32-yard run by Mark Valpando to the Sterling 15. Quarterback Nunzio Carbone then passed to Jack Bolster in the end zone.

Sterling threatened continuously throughout the remainder of the game, but great defensive play by Dave Magnell and outstanding kicks by Carbone thwarted every Sterling drive. Sterling reached the Central 19, the seven, and the 13, only to be stopped.

Central threatened to score in the final quarter with a first down on the Sterling nine but, was driven back and lost the ball on downs.

Point won its first game of the season, 14-2, over North. Both of Points scores were from passes. Kevin Cabezas hit Dan Curtin with a 10-yard heave in the second quarter and also they teamed up together again in the third frame for a 30-yard touchdown pass.

A 32-yard dash by Cabezas, followed by a 48-yard sprint by Doug Tocchio set up the first score.

North had a two-point lead at the end of the first quarter due to a blocked point punt by Phil Iacobacci, resulting in a safety.

Tocchio scored the two-point conversion after the Point second touchdown.

In a game that was rescheduled, the Atlantic eighth graders defeated Broad Meadows, 12-0. A 15-yard pass and run play from David Zurom to Joe Bangs was good for the first period touchdown.

Broad Meadows almost scored in the second quarter as time ran out, and the Atlantic defense held.

The final six points came on a six-yard run by Steven Kelly behind a good block thrown by Al DiBella. Both of the conversion tries were stopped.

In another eighth grade meeting, Sterling had a big win over Central, 28-6. Outstanding for Sterling was Gerry Frazier, who scored on runs of four yards, 51 yards and six yards. Mike Dracchio intercepted a Central pass and ran it back 14 yards for the final touchdown.

Darryl Tucker and Frazier banged over for the two-point conversions.

After a march of 63 yards, Central scored on the last play of the game with Rich Fitzpatrick knifing through from one yard out.

Patti Catalano Sets Record In Bonne Bell Race

Patti (Lyons) Catalano, formerly of Quincy, set an American women's record Monday when she easily won the annual Bonne Bell 10-kilometer race in Boston.

Patti covered the distance in 32:24, easily beating out Gillian Adams of Bromley, England.

Patti, wife of former Quincy High track coach Joe Catalano, her trainer, finished a tremendous 2:17 ahead of Gillian.

She has had an amazing six months, having set eight American records at 5 miles, 10 km., 15 km., 10 miles, 20 km., the half marathon, 30 km. and the marathon.

Patti has established herself as the First Lady Runner.

'Serious Mistake To Leave Bruins,' Says Orr

By TOM HENSHAW

Bobby Orr told the Montclair Men's Club Saturday night that he made a "serious mistake" four years ago when he left the Boston Bruins and signed with the Chicago Black Hawks.

"I wasn't thinking completely on my own," he said. "I should have negotiated further with the Bruins."

"The record books say that I retired in 1978 but, in my heart, hockey ended for me in 1976, the day I stopped playing for the Bruins. I'm happy to be back. I'll always consider myself a Bruin."

Orr, who now lives in Weston, was the recipient of the John Gillooly Award, presented at the 30th annual awards dinner of the Montclair Men's Club by its president, William Bereszniwicz.

Orr, whose injury-scarred career ended at the age of 30, said that his son, Darrin, 6, does not like hockey.

"Peggy and I took him to a skating program in Chicago," he said. "It looked like he enjoyed himself immensely. But he didn't want to go back a second time."

"I asked him why not. He said, 'I don't like hockey because of what it did to you.'"

He never really had a chance to see me play. All he remembers about hockey is me coming home on crutches."

Orr, who is now employed as a traveling good-will ambassador for Standard Brands, said he is concerned by the attitude that many parents have toward their sons who play hockey and other sports.

They constantly criticize the coaches and the officials, he said, and they even criticize their own children for not living up to their unreasonable expectations.

"It is up to all of us to make sure that the kids who play sports are taught the right way to play," he said.

"But very few make it into the pros so it is just as important to make sure that we teach them a hell of a lot more than just how to play the game. Then if they make it into the pros it's just a big bonus."

Orr was introduced by Tom Fitzgerald of Scituate, retired Boston Globe hockey writer and chairman of the Hockey Hall of Fame committee, who won the Gillooly Award himself in 1972.

Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the Park Department, on behalf of Mayor Tobin, presented Orr with an honorary citizenship plaque "from 83,000 to 97,000 people, whatever the census comes up with."

Bereszniwicz presented Orr with a cartoon by Leo White. Sen. Paul D. Harold presented him an official citation from the State Senate.

Head table guests included Ken Fallon, vice president of WJDA; Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun; and Eddie Germano, sports cartoonist for the Brockton Enterprise.

Raiders Defeat Quincy For First Win

The North Quincy boys' soccer team finally entered the win column last week with a 3-1 victory over Quincy and just missed a second win, being edged by Sharon, 4-3, in a non-league game.

The Raiders dominated the first period of the Quincy game as they used a strong wind to its advantage and kept the Presidents in their own end.

Midway through the quarter Rich Palma, Peter McGillicuddy and Bill DiCarli combined on a fine play in front of the net which resulted in a penalty shot. Tri-Captain Bill Bradley took the shot and blasted a shot into the bottom left corner of the net by Quincy goalie Jeff Morrison. North goalie Paul Mallory kept Quincy scoreless in the first half with several fine saves.

North made it 2-0 early in the third quarter as John Kennan scored his third goal in four games on a head shot off a perfect chip shot by sophomore McGillicuddy. McGillicuddy was a factor all day with his excellent play.

Quincy scored its goal near the end of the quarter as Cladio Sala rifled home an 18-yard shot past Mallory.

The Presidents, who earlier had defeated North, nearly tied it up as Geoff McGee's shot hit the post.

Six minutes into the fourth quarter North made it 3-1 as McGillicuddy crossed a perfect ball to Steve Dodd, who was in perfect position to score his first goal of the season.

"Dodd has been playing fine ball the past four games and it was just a matter of time before he scored," Coach Paul Bregoli said. "McGillicuddy also has been great and I'm looking forward to having him for two more years."

The Raiders faced Sharon the next day and looked tired as the first quarter ended scoreless. Paul Donnan's head shot nicked the post and was the best chance for North.

Midway through the second quarter sophomore Mike Bourikas, up from the jayvees with whom he scored 13 goals, blasted a 35-yarder into the top left hand corner of the net. That ignited the Raiders as they pressed the advantage and nearly had another goal as Billy Bourikas, Mike's older brother, just missed hitting an open net.

Sharon scored four times in the third period as North's defense broke down completely.

quarter as Sophomore Greg DiBella scored his first goal of the year and Mike Bourikas scored his second varsity goal. North dominated the period but couldn't get the equalizer.

North will play at Cambridge

Rindge and Latin Friday at 3:30. It will host Brockton Tuesday at 3:30 at the field behind Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Jim McGuire's Quincy team will play at Weymouth South Tuesday at 3:30.

North Girls Win Pair

The improving North Quincy girls' soccer team, under first-year coach Rich Hutchins, captured its third and fourth wins of the season last week, featuring a 5-0 win over cross-town rival Quincy.

Five different players scored for the Raiderettes, Caryn Smith,

Susan Cahill, Debbie Kiley, Nancy Murphy and Marge Ladas. All goals came in the second half.

Kiley and Janet Zdankowski had assists, fullback Jackie Thayer was strong on defense and goalie Lisa Cavanaugh had 10 saves. Fullback Nancy Chludinski played an excellent game for Quincy, helping keep North scoreless through the first half.

North also edged Arlington, 2-1, in a non-league game, on goals by Elva Reed and Kiley.

Reed's goal, the winner, came on a penalty kick. Ladas and Cahill provided strong defense to help the Raiderettes' cause.

Track Club Youngsters Dominate At Lakeville

The Quincy Track Club had a busy holiday weekend with appearances in a number of meets.

In the Warrior Track Club Cross Country Invitational at Apponequet High School in Lakeville Monday, the 10-under girls dominated their race with 27 points.

Scoring for Quincy were Cindy Bonner, second; Nancy Sheehy, fourth; Deirdre Murphy, sixth; Marisa Zona, seventh, and Dorothy Bonner, eighth. Sheehy's performance was a pleasant surprise for Coach Jeff Hennessy, as she has been running seventh or eighth best on the team. Other QTC finishers were Karen Dunn, 10th; Karen Cashman, 16th; Sarah Edwards, 18th; Karen Miller, 21st; Corinne Radzevich, 24th, and Kathy Sheehy, 25th.

In boys 10 and under Quincy had only four runners, one short of an official team. John Dunderdale placed eighth, Bobby Wilson was 1st, John Shea 28th and Don Hamilton 31st.

In girls 11-12, with the top three runners competing in the Bonne Belle mini-marathon in Boston, the team took third place with 60 points.

Tracy Wilson took fourth.

Lorrie McNeil ninth, Tracy Fostello 12th, Caroline Fredey 15th and Marilyn Fredey 20th.

In the boys' race the team took second with Robbie Glynn finishing second, Harry Morash sixth, Stue Coull seventh, Matty Werth 10th and Mike Flebotte 53rd. Jeff Pywell also ran, taking 63rd place.

In girls 13-14 Eileen Morris outkicked Bernadette Murphy for first place and Karen Dunn took ninth place. Quincy won that division as no one had five runners. In 13-14 boys Doug Geschelin took 20th.

In boys' 15-16 Ron Cogliano took seventh and Kevin Dunn eighth.

The Lakeville course is the site of the N.E. Junior Olympics and Monday's race provided valuable experience for the Quincy runners.

The QTC runners provided some outstanding performances in the Bonne Belle mini-marathon in Boston Monday.

Terri Rodgers, 11, covered the 10-kilometer distance in 38:10 to finish 45th in a field of over 6000 women from all over the nation. Her younger sister, Karen, set a national record for 10 year olders with an excellent 39:11, good for 70th overall. Tracy Coull, 12, placed 215th in 41:42, Nancy Sullivan, 11, ran 42:57, good for 307th and Mary Beth Bonner ran 45:19 for 558th.

Harry Morash and Stu Coull came up with their usual good performances Saturday in the Brockton Kids Fun Runs over the D. W. Field Park course in Brockton.

Morash chopped 25 seconds off his best time for the course and Coull shaved five seconds off his best for a 2-4 finish and Matty Werth placed fifth in 11-12 boys.

In the girls race Mary Beth Bonner took 19 seconds off her best time on the Brockton circuit for second and was followed by Lorrie McNeill, Tracy Fostello and Tracy Parker, all of whom broke 15 minutes over the 2½-mile course.

In 13-16 boys Kevin Dunn won with an outstanding performance, taking a minute and 18 seconds off his best time with a 20:42 timing. In the girls' race Tracy Coull, Bernie Murphy and Eileen Morris placed 2-3-4 with Morris running two minutes faster than her previous best.

Others making big improvements were John Dunderdale, Terry Parker and Jennifer Shores.

Girls Cross Country North Bows To Waltham

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, still missing its number one runner, Linda Kennedy, lost to Waltham last week, 24-34, dropping its record to 5-2-1.

Sheila Barrett won the meet for the Raiderettes, Mary Crehan was third, Deirdre Corrigan ninth and Deirdre Donovan 10th.

Earlier in the week the North girls defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 20-35, with Barrett placing second, Crehan third, Donovan fourth, Corrigan fifth and Roby O'Donnell sixth.

The North boys continue to have trouble and lost twice last week. The Raiders lost to Waltham, 23-36, to drop their record to 2-6.

Gary Morin finished second, Rick O'Brien fifth and Walter McConaghy sixth.

North also bowed to Cambridge, 17-46, with Morin fourth and O'Brien 10th.

Linda Kennedy has missed the last three meets for North due to an asthmatic condition which will leave her sidelined for an undetermined period.

Earlier the North girls had defeated Boston Latin, 18-38, in a non-league meet.

The Raiderettes took the first four places with Sheila Barrett winning, followed by Mary Crehan, Deirdre Corrigan and Deirdre Donovan. Cinda Rabs in eighth place was the other North scorer and Amanda Mujica finished 10th.

The North girls earlier had defeated Weymouth North, 20-35, in a Suburban League meet.

Barrett was second, Crehan third, Donovan fourth, Corrigan fifth, and Robin O'Donnell sixth. Weymouth's Deirdre Hayes was the winner, spoiling a North sweep.

The North Quincy boys, being coached by former North and Cornell star Bart Petracca, finished second Friday in a quadrangular meet, dropping their record to 2-4.

Boston Latin won with 19 points, North had 46, Hyde Park 89 and Latin Academy 104.

Gary Morin was North's first finisher in fourth place and Rich O'Brien finished ninth.

The North boys earlier had lost to Weymouth North, 18-45, with Morin finishing third, the only Raider in the top ten.

Cappezutto Morrisette Winner

Quincy's Jim Cappezutto, who won the Quincy Presidents Marathon recently, won Monday's annual Morrisette Post 5.4-mile road race in 26:50, the second best time for the race.

Young Georgia Traficante of the Quincy Track Club won the women's division for the second year in a row in 37:21, chopping nine minutes off her winning time of a year ago.

Following Cappezutto were Robert Chasen, Greater Boston Track Club; George Itz, Coast Track Club; Chris Gorman, South Shore Striders, and Richard White, Colonial Road Runners.

Victoria Mathieu, unattached, was second to Traficante and Gail Jones, unattached, was third.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 16.

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
Salemian—shun, and if that's your profession you make outstanding contribution. Relationship brightens noticeably by Saturday... and so do you.

PICES—February 20-March 20
Week finds you walking in on friend's crisis and taking on role of consultant. Think twice before making extravagant purchases or extravagant gestures.

ARIES—March 21-April 20
On positive side, you're ambitious and energetic all week... and when you speak, higher-ups listen. Negatively, it's easy to be deceived; you're especially gullible after Sunday.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22
Stubborn streak is prominent, working against you in relationships (force yourself to be adaptable) and for you in career/education (stick-to-itiveness earns reward or award).

GEMINI—May 23-June 21
Weekend plans go haywire—but it's more fun than frustrating. Monday's theme laughter. Tuesday-Wednesday find you straightening out errors of others.

CANCER—June 22-July 22
Patience most definitely is virtue this week—which finds you facing unexpected guests and still waiting for payment. Love takes on very bright glow.

LEO—July 23-August 22
Brightening up scene is your major contribution, and "scene" includes everything from reunion to conference. Weekend features at least one financial-financial-brightener.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22
Technical matters not as simple as thought, but personal problems solved with unexpected ease. Arts and sports accented on weekend and include profit-making angle.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Hidden talents being admired by people in extremely high places. Weekend includes hilarious mixups—and delightful romance. Lucky cycle begins Tuesday.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Evasive goals becoming more clearly defined and you receive boost that allows you to expand educational and/or career horizons. Friends unexpectedly supportive.

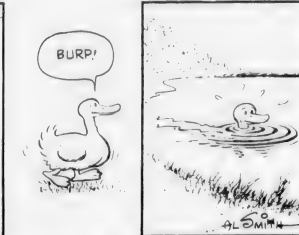

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Not week for extravagance but still socially lively time. Diet requires more attention; romance seems to look after itself. Colleague's or neighbor's deception revealed.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
Communication not strongest point; messages become garbled, mails are slow and there could be phone trouble. But intuition is potent—and can account for modest financial gain.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Lover of harmony and beauty, be careful that you don't adopt a "peace-at-any-price" policy. Sometimes you place people on too high a pedestal—though you always bring out their best. Research and study—including study of self—are stressed through year.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 16th, actress Suzanne Somers; 17th, actress Rita Hayworth; 18th, actor George C. Scott; 19th, actress La Wanda Page; 20th, singer Isaac Hayes; 21st violinist Alexander Schneider; 22nd, actress Catherine Deneuve.

$35,000 Cost

Fore River Clubhouse Renovations Completed

Two years of renovations to Quincy Point's Fore River Clubhouse have been completed, according to Richard Koch, Park-Recreation Board executive secretary.

Renovations to the building, used by about 40,000 persons annually, cost $35,000 said Koch. The two major expenses were replacement of the clubhouse's toilets, costing $23,134, and modernization of the lighting and wiring, costing $9,943.

Each of the restrooms have been made accessible to the handicapped, Koch noted. Replacements of the building's water heater and lighting system are expected to help conserve energy, he added.

Koch thanked Mayor Arthur Tobin and Councilor Daniel Raymond for their help in obtaining funding for the renovations.

The clubhouse has been a community center for Quincy Point for years and provides a home for such groups as General Dynamics Draftsmen Local 151, Amvets and the William R. Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League.

One of the largest public buildings in the city, it is used frequently for banquets, exercise classes, whist parties, dances, award nights and community meetings.

The building's large hall has a capacity of 680 for assemblies and 340 for banquets while the smaller hall has a capacity of 250 persons.

In addition to the recent $35,000 in renovations, the clubhouse roof was replaced in 1978 at a cost of $13,800, Koch said.

Siesta Sleep Shop Moving To Old Prilgrim Electric Building

After 27 years at 221 Parking-way, Siesta Sleep Shop is moving around the corner to the Old Prilgrim Electric Building, next to St. John's Church on School St.

Steven Glickman, Siesta president and founder, said there will be "a tremendous liquidation sale at the old location through November at almost wholesale prices, so we can open the new store with all new, fresh displays."

Glickman explained that Siesta moved into the old building "in 1953 when only Stop & Shop and Robert Hall were neighbors. We took a big gamble with the basement store."

"But then, Raymond's built next to us, and the entire Parking-way became part of Quincy downtown."

"We owe a lot to our Quincy area customers; after 27 years, we're selling to the third generation of many families and the Quincy store has been our best location."

"We have signed a long lease at the new location and we expect to be there for another 27 years," said Glickman.

Siesta Sleep Shops are at 12 locations in Massachusetts and specialize in mattresses, waterbeds, brass beds and headboards.

5 New Sponsors In Executive League

Welcoming five new sponsors, the Executive Hockey League is off to a fine start at the Youth Arena.

The new sponsors are Adams Sports, Beau's Place, Dayce's Place, Budget Rent-A-Car and Luke's Lounge. Washington Tapp continues to sponsor a team as it has for the past few years.

Monday night Budget defeated Dayce's, 5-2. Steve Marini, Art Boyle, Dave Towle, Bill Serroland and Jerry Fitzgerald had the goals. Fitzgerald and Jim Horner had two assists each and Boyle, Marini, Dave Edgren and Towle one apiece. For Dayce's Dave Mullen and Doug McLean had the goals and Peter Bertrand and Ken Marini had assists.

Luke's blasted Beau's Place, 10-1, with Dave Costa, Rich Gibbs and Ralph Freeman having hat tricks. John McNeil had the other goal. Gibbs had three assists, Costa two and Kevin Sullivan, Jack Powers, Ed Dwyer, Freeman and Ed Lenahan one each. Ned Burke scored for Beau's with Bill Carroll assisting.

Adams Sports topped Washington Tapp, 4-2, on goals by Tom Roberts, Bob Donovan, Kevin Glynn and Pete Lynch. Alan Gullickson, Dennis O'Connell, Bill Hanson, Roberts and Bob Simonelli had assists. Ralph Gibbs and Bill Sweeney scored for Washington with assists for Marty Tolson and Bernie Toland.

Broad Meadows Has 3 Wins And Tie

The Broad Meadows Junior High girls' soccer team, coached by Mary Pratt, finished the first half of the season undefeated with three wins and a tie.

BM, winner of the city title last year, defeated Sterling twice, 2-1 and 4-0, topped Point, 2-1, and tied Atlantic, 1-1.

The team has been strengthened by the addition of four ninth graders who came out for the squad for the first time. Mary Joyce, Susan Wright and Kristine Picarski have shared the halfback slots and Kim Marshall has alternated at fullback and in goal.

Returning from last year are

Judy Balducci Game Raises $2,554 For Cancer

The second annual Judy Balducci Memorial Softball game between Quincy city officials and the Boston Bruins All Stars raised $2,554.43 for the fight against cancer.

Daniel G. Raymond, a director of the South Shore Unit of the American Cancer Society, called it "a huge success."

The Bruins All Stars featured Bobby Orr, John Wensink, Ken Hodge, Wayne Cashman, Rick Middleton and Bobby Miller as well as two ringers from the Celtics, Dave Cowens and Henry Finkel.

Raymond praised the work of Bob Hatfield, who organized the game with the help of the Bruins, city officials, Quincy's Park, Recreation and Police Departments, the Girl's Softball League and the Amateur Softball officials.

Said Raymond:

"We realize the time and effort that Henry Bosworth, editor of The Quincy Sun dedicates each and every year to help Muscular Dystrophy and help Jerry's kids and we greatly appreciate all his efforts on our behalf to help the crusade against cancer as well.

"We are grateful also to many other individuals who helped make this event the total success that it was."

"Beau Page and Jim Gambino, who hosted a reception after the game; Roger Galante, Dave Chew and Bill Rondle who helped with the food; Bob Colman, who donated the raffle items; Chuck DeNicola who announced the game; and Paul Newton for his assistance on the field."

Mancuso Team Takes Top Spot In Koch Men's League

Al Mancuso has moved his team into first place in the Koch Club Men's Bowling League with a 12-4 record and is followed closely by Joe Keenan's team at 11-5.

The rest of the standings: Mike Shields, 10-6; Steve Palumbo, and Paul Koch, 8-8; Jim Moody, 7-9; Tony Alibrandi and Mike Doyle, 4-12.

Shields took over the average lead with 108.5, followed by Tony Monti, 104.8; Peter Alibrandi, 104.1; Tony Alibrandi, 104.8;

Keenan 103.7; Dick Koch Jr., 102.8; Paul Koch, 102.5; Frank Hoffman, 102.0; Bill Connelly, 101.7, and Jim Moody, 101.5.

Shields rolled a 339 in the weekly "325 Club" to gain the top spot, and Tony Alibrandi rolled a 333 to gain the best 10.

Monti holds the league's high individual three string total of 353 and Billy Connelly has the top single of 143.

Shields' team has the top three of 1494 and top single of 510.

MASSACHUSETTS WATER RESOURCES COMMISSION DIVISION OF WATER POLLUTION CONTROL

110 TREMONT STREET
BOSTON, MASS. 02108

"PUBLIC NOTICE"

SEWER EXTENSION PERMIT APPLICATIONS

The Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control has received applications for permits for construction of sewer extensions or connections to the municipal systems listed below. Section 43 of Chapter 21 of the General Laws, as amended by Chapter 546 of the Acts of 1973, requires that public notice be given of every permit proceeding.

The applications are available for inspection and copying at the Division's offices at the above address. Persons desiring to comment upon or to object to the tentative determination of the Division or to request a Public Hearing thereon should submit their views in writing to the Division at the above address within 21 days of publication of this notice. All comments received within this 21-day period will be considered by the Division in formulating the final determination regarding these applications. A Public Hearing will be held only if the response to this notice indicates, in the opinion of the Director, that the public interest would be served thereby.

Following this 21-day comment period, a final determination to issue or deny the proposed permit will be made by the Director of the Division with respect to each permit application. Where the final determination remains substantially unchanged from the tentative determination indicated in this public notice, the Director will so inform the applicant, and any person who has filed written comments during this 21-day comment period, of his final determination and of the right of any party aggrieved by the final determination to request a formal adjudicatory hearing within 14 days of the final determination.

Where the final determination is substantially changed from the tentative determination in this public notice, the Director will publish a public notice of the final determination in addition to the written notice provided above. Persons other than the applicant who feel they may have a right to and may wish to request a formal adjudicatory hearing should file written comments during the 21-day public comment period in order to assure receipt of written notification of the final determination.

Within 14 days of the final permit determination, parties (as defined in sections 1, 10 and 10A of Chapter 30A of the General Laws) aggrieved by the determination may file a written request with the Director for an Adjudicatory Hearing under the provisions of Chapter 30A (the Massachusetts Administrative Procedure Act) and the Standard Adjudicatory Rules of Practice and Procedure (801 CMR 1.00).

Construction of sewer lines in various streets to serve 350 residences, 20 commercial facilities and 1 chapel.

QHS Band Greets Carter

The Quincy High School band was scheduled to welcome President Carter to Boston yesterday (Wednesday) morning at Logan Airport.

The band has, in recent months, also performed for presidential candidates Ronald Reagan and Ted Kennedy during local campaign stops, noted School Superintendent...

The Quincy High and North Quincy bands were also among many bands performing during last October's visit of Pope John Paul II to Boston.

The Quincy High Presidents have, for several years, been one of a handful of bands permitted by the White House to use the Presidential Seal, said Creedon.

Carter Signs Bill

Two Year Wait Seen For First Parish Church Funds

Federal funds may be available for the rehabilitation of historic First Parish Church in about two years, according to Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy). President Carter signed the bill

Friday permitting the U.S. National Parks Service to take over and maintain the 152-year-old church structure in downtown Quincy.

All that remains now is for the U.S. attorney general to work out an agreement that will permit current parishioners to worship there without violating church-state restrictions.

"Realistically," said Sen. Harold, "we can expect negotiations between church and federal officials to last no more than one year with federal funds being available in the next budget cycle, which would be in two years."

Harold, along with Cong. Brian J. Donnelly (D-Dorchester), have been instrumental in the drive to have the church, which is in need of an immediate $600,000 for repairs, taken over by the federal government.

"Cong. Donnelly deserves special recognition for his extraordinary efforts," said Harold. "He made this bill a priority and can truly be called one of the biggest boosters for historic Quincy."

Harold said he was notified of the signing by Carter campaign headquarters in Boston on Thursday "but I was still skeptical until I received official notification from Washington late Friday."

The senator also said he contacted Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Friday to urge him to use his influence as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee to insure that the law does not get bogged down in the attorney general's office.

The federal takeover of First Parish Church completes the Park Service protection of the Adams sites in Quincy, including the Adams Mansion and the Adams Birthplaces.

The next step, according to Cong. Donnelly, is construction of a visitors' center to tie the three sites together for the benefit of tourists.

Licenses Must Be Paid For In 30 Days

The Quincy License Board unanimously approved a resolution Tuesday whereby any license granted by the board that is not paid for and picked up within 30 days will be automatically rescinded.

The resolution is effective immediately. Any individual who's license is rescinded must re-apply for the license.

The resolution was submitted by Fire Chief Edward Barry, and seconded by Police Chief Francis Finn.

City Clerk John Gillis explained the board felt the resolution was necessary because some people never pick up new licenses.

ENCOURAGING MESSAGE from billboard firm Ackerley Communications of Boston has dominated the Quincy Center streetscape in recent weeks.

(Quincy Sun Photo by Rick Matthews)

Council Okes Rezoning Of Phipps St. Area

The City Council Monday night passed the controversial rezoning order that would effectively ban multi-family housing from Phipps St. in Quincy Center.

The order, passed unanimously, changes the zoning of Nos. 61 to 193 from Residence B to Residence A.

At an earlier hearing, Kevin Madden, counsel for the Cavicchi family, which owns property at 118-120 Phipps St., threatened to take the matter to court if the street was rezoned.

He said the Cavicchi stand to lose $30,000 in property value in the rezoning.

The controversy started when the Quincy Housing Authority sought the property at 118-120 Phipps St. for the development of low income apartments.

Nearly residents, 270 strong, petitioned for the zoning change to preserve the single family residential character of the street.

Private Bids Sought To Operate Cemeteries

The city is making another try to interest private contractors in the job of maintaining and operating its cemeteries, including Mt. Wollaston and Pine Hill.

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti issued the call for bids on the proposal, the bids to be opened in his office, Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 10 a.m.

An earlier attempt to elicit bids in September fell short when it was deemed that the few companies to answer the call were too small to handle the assignment properly.

Supt. J. Vincent Smyth, whose Cemetery Department operates on a $272,000 budget, said that none of its 22 employees would lose their jobs if the work is farmed out to a private contractor.

Recently, the Public Works Department has farmed out street sweeping, rubbish collections and the city dump to private contractors in an effort to cut expenses.

Cable TV Contract Goes Out To Bid

By TOM HENSHAW

The city is accepting bids from 12 companies to wire up a potential 21,000 homes for cable television and indications are that the job will be finished by the fall of 1982.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin issued the final specifications for the bidding Tuesday and the dozen eligible companies will have 30 days, or until 4 p.m., Friday, Nov. 21, to submit their bids.

Hearings by the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Cable TV probably will start after the first of the year, Tobin said, and he will be in a position to issue the license before the end of March.

The company then has 12 to 18 months to wire up the city.

Originally, there were 13 companies that submitted preliminary bids but one of them, Teleprompter Corp., became ineligible when it was taken over by Westinghouse Corp.

A company cannot own a cable franchise in an area that is served by a TV station which it also owns and Westinghouse owns WBZ-TV, Channel 4, in Boston.

The specifications for the Quincy cable franchise requires that the system have a minimum capacity of 87 channels, 52 residential and 35 institutional for schools and public facilities.

The specs also provide that:

- "All schools, public, private, and parochial (including Quincy Junior College and Eastern Nazarene must be provided with service at no charge (and) all schools should be connected by the institutional network at no charge."

- "Once initial rates are established, no increases will be granted for a period of two years from first activation of customer service."

- "The system must include capability to provide for communication services of the future, such as security and fire alarms, medical alert devices, education feedback, audience surveys and other two-way services as they are developed."

- "The licensee will be required to produce and cablecast a minimum of 12 hours per week of local programming, exclusive of access channel programming."
- "The licensee shall provide one local origination channel, one educational channel, one government channel and three

Sewer Use Charge Torpedoed

Tax Rate (Up $20 - $25) Expected In 10 Days

Chief Assessor John P. Comer was scheduled to go into the State House yesterday (Wednesday) seeking certification of unpleasant news for Quincy taxpayers—a $20 to $25 rise in the tax rate.

Comer said the tax rate for fiscal 1981 could be set in a week to 10 days but it was all up to the State Department of Revenue and "I don't know what they will do in there."

Comer told the City Council Monday night that "we're talking somewhere between $20 and $25 tax rate increase" due to the fact that Quincy will have to raise some $68 million on the tax levy.

The 1980 tax levy was $62.3 million; the tax rate $224.

Comer estimated the $20 to $25 tax rise after the Council passed the $901,961 school energy budget and, for the second time, shot down Mayor Tobin's bid to institute a sewer use charge.

All that remained, Comer told the Council, was to put together the final valuation figures for the city, a job that was expected to take the assessors all day Tuesday.

He said the total valuation of the city will be about $276 million, down $2 million from the last fiscal year due mostly to a court-ordered rollback of assessments on apartment houses.

Councillor Daniel G. Raymond devoted a considerable part of the meeting trying to get either Comer or Auditor Charles L. Shea to admit that the Council saved taxpayers from a $60 tax rate increase by cutting Tobin's $112 million budget to $102 million.

"You're just playing games with numbers," an exasperated Comer told him and when Raymond persisted the chief assessor added, "I just don't want to answer, that's all."

Councillor Francis X. McCauley led the assault that defeated the proposed sewer use charge, which would have taken the costs of the Sewer Department off the tax levy and made it an independent account.

Tobin sent three proposals for a user charge to the Council, including one that would have based the charge on water use. The Council rejected two and ignored the third.

The Tobin administration said that the sewer charge would have had an impact of $8 to $10 on the tax rate but Shea said that, due to the lateness of the fiscal year, it would have been only $3 in 1981.

It was the lateness of the request, said McCauley, that turned him against it.

"I think that most of us are afraid that what is happening tonight is premature," he said. "We're not turning anything down."

Under Investigation

Adams Building Fire 'Very Suspicious'

A Monday night fire in Quincy Center's Adams Building was "positively of very suspicious origin," according to Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti.

"Because of the type of the burns at the origin of the fire, we're calling it very suspicious," Valenti said. "We found a heavy char outside an office door. Apparently some sort of accelerant-gasoline or alcohol-based was used. We haven't found any kind of accidental cause."

The one-alarm fire is still under investigation, Valenti said, and the state Fire Marshal has been notified.

Early estimates have listed $4,000 in damages, Valenti said, "but we know it's going to be a lot higher than that."

The fire, reported around 6:30, started at a second floor office and spread to some third-floor offices, Valenti said.

Water and smoke damage also closed at least three street-level businesses Tuesday morning - Blackwell Studios, the Patriot Lunch and John's Hair Styling. The building is owned by Aspen Associates of Newton.

No one was injured in the fire, Valenti said.

HN Council To Honor 5 Residents Oct. 28

Five Houghs Neck residents will receive recognition at the 26th annual Honor Awards Night of the Houghs Neck Community Council Oct. 28 at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, Darrow St.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kamb of 80 Bayview Ave. will receive the "Good Neighbors" Award. They were chosen for their work with young people at church, in sports, and school, and for their community-wide activities to improve the quality of living at Houghs Neck.

They have four children. Robert Jr. is a senior at Massachusetts Maritime Academy; Joseph, a member of the National Guard and a Quincy Jr. College student; Mary and Steven, Quincy High School students.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dondero of 29 Macy St. will be honored for their civic contributions. They also have worked with youth particularly in the Houghs Neck Teen Organization and Houghs Neck Youth Hockey, as well as the Houghs Neck Committee against Drugs and Alcohol. He is 1980-81 president of Atherton Hough PTA.

Mrs. Edythe Nigro, with seven children and 12 grandchildren, will receive an award for heroism. On Jan. 4, 1980, when the DiMarzio Skating Rink burned to the ground, she came out before dawn to awaken sisters Helen F. Lynch and Jeanne DiMarzio, who lived in an apartment at the rear of the rink, and took them to her home.

Deadline for reservations to the 6 p.m. dinner is Friday, Oct. 24. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. William H. Connelly, Jr., banquet chairman; at the Houghs Neck Pharmacy, Manet Community Health Center, Patti's Beauty Salon, and from officers of the Houghs Neck Community Council. Arnold Beresen will be master of ceremonies for the presentations.

Quincy Hospital Offering: Social, Psychological Treatment For Cancer Patients

By TOM HENSHAW

There is a lot more to treating cancer patients than just radiation, chemotherapy or surgery.

There is the social treatment to make them feel they are still part of the community in which they live; and the psychological treatment to make them feel that they still have some control over their own lives.

Both of those treatments, in addition to chemotherapy and surgery, are provided by the Oncology Clinic, a service that has been offered at Quincy City Hospital for the past two years.

In fact, it provides some of those services so well that a group from the Sidney Farber Clinic at Children's Hospital recently came by to look into its unique followup program.

It's essentially a two-person operation, Dr. Jorge Tello, medical oncologist — oncology means the study of tumors — and Mrs. Mary Concheri, oncology nurse.

They treat between 80 and 90 patients a month, all on an outpatient basis.

Most of them are pretty far advanced by the time they reach the hospital. Ninety-five percent are terminal.

"We try to get them home as soon as possible and back to a normal existence," says Dr. Tello. "They come back at intervals for treatment."

Chemotherapy and most of the surgery take place at Quincy City Hospital. Radiology treatments are given at New England Medical Center in Boston or at Pondville Hospital in Norfolk.

Dr. Tello would like to see Quincy Hospital be able to handle radiation treatment as well.

"It is much better to treat at a community hospital," he says. "The family doesn't have to travel far. It's expensive to go to Boston. And here they see the same familiar people all the time."

If all the people in the Quincy

ONCOLOGY CLINIC at Quincy City Hospital is made up of Dr. Jorge Tello and Nurse Mary Concheri.

area who are in need of cancer treatments were to come to Quincy City Hospital, Dr. Tello figures he would be seeing 75 to 100 a week.

"People don't realize that this is being offered here," he says. "We can provide most of the care that is needed."

Social and psychological treatments begin with the diagnosis of cancer.

"It takes the utmost in professional skill to tell a person that he has cancer," said Dr. William Cobb, director of medical education at the Hospital who oversees the Oncology Clinic.

"When Dr. Tello tells them," says Mrs. Concheri, "he also has a treatment plan. He tells them that too, which gives them some hope. That can change their attitudes."

While Dr. Tello coordinates and administers treatments, Mrs. Concheri handles the important followup work, some aspects of which are believed to be unique at City Hospital.

There are the telephone calls to their homes between treatments to see how they feel.

"It shows that someone is thinking of them," says Mrs. Concheri.

A person under treatment for cancer often has unusual problems.

For one thing, many people lose their appetites. A lot of them die, not of cancer, but of malnutrition. It is up to Mrs. Concheri to see that they eat right.

Many cancer patients lose their jobs because treatments take up too much of their work time. Mrs. Concheri, usually with the aid of a social worker, looks into that too.

Some of those who go into Boston for radiation therapy lack transportation. They are afraid to drive because radiation makes them ill. Mrs. Concheri arranges transportation.

"People ask why do we treat these patients if most of them are going to die," says Mrs. Concheri. "If you saw how much they enjoy each day, you wouldn't ask."

"We have one patient who wanted to be around for his high school class reunion Oct. 4. He made it. Now he has set a deadline for December. The time he is getting means too much to him."

An 86-year-old woman patient has breast cancer and a brain tumor. She herself asked, "Why bother? Let me go. I've lived enough." She has been getting radiation and chemotherapy — plus Mrs. Concheri's special treatment.

"She looks great," says Mrs. Concheri. "She is able to do a lot of things she was never able to do before. She is not cured but we are adding time and enjoyment to her life."

NEW CONTRACT with General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard is ratified by members of Local 5 on a 'split of the house' vote. Those in favor of the three-year pact stood to the right of the press box at Veterans Memorial Stadium and those opposed stood to the left.

$2.20 Hike Over 3 Years

Local 5 Approves Contract, No Strike

For the first time in more than a decade there will be no strike for a new contract at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard.

Members of Local 5 of the Shipbuilding Workers Union voted overwhelmingly Sunday morning to accept a new contract that will give them a $2.20 hourly wage hike over three years.

"It was a show of confidence in the union leadership and the negotiators," said Arthur Z. Durand, president of Local 5. "The negotiators did their jobs right. It was a lot of hard work."

Agreement on the contract was reached at 1:30 a.m. Friday, an hour and a half after the old contract expired.

Durand said the vote to ratify the contract was 2,900-100. It was taken at Veterans Memorial Stadium by a "split of the house" vote with those in favor moving to one side and those opposed the other.

The new contract brings a $2.20 hourly wage increase over three years for mechanics and $1.70 across the board for those below the rank of mechanic, Durand said.

Mechanics will receive 70 cents and hour plus 10 cents cost of living allowance the first year, 50 cents and 20 cents cost of living the second, and 40 cents and 30 cents cost of living the third.

The top scale for a first class mechanic, currently $8.07 an hour, will go to $10.27 an hour in the third year.

Also in the contract are improved pension, health and dental benefits, including the lowering of the retirement age from 60 to 55.

The last two contracts for Local 5 were negotiated only after a 17-week strike in 1974 and a 13-week strike in 1977.

Vaccinate Pets

Dog Owners Warned Of Deadly Virus

All area dogs should be vaccinated against the deadly "Parvo" virus, warns Norfolk County Dog Officer Harold Robbins.

A severe breakout of the contagious disease has occurred in nearby Middlesex County, according to Robbins.

Although deadly to dogs, the Parvo virus is not dangerous to humans. Symptoms are loss of appetite, vomiting, high body temperature, diarrhea, dehydration and general weakness.

The disease is transmitted through the feces and vomit of infected dogs.

Robbins urged all dog owners to have their dogs vaccinated and confined to their own yards.

A veterinarian should be contacted if the dog exhibits any of the virus symptoms.

The disease is usually fatal to dogs within two to seven days after symptoms are observed, unless a serum is administered.

Asbestos Dumping Fuss Exaggerated, Says Ricciuti

Publicity about illegally dumped asbestos at Boston Harbor Marina is really much ado about nothing, says Public Works Commissioner James Ricciuti.

There were only 15 bags - maybe a ton or two," said Ricciuti Tuesday morning. Television news accounts of the issue had reported a larger amount of asbestos Monday night.

The asbestos was discovered at the Marina last week and transported to the city dump Tuesday morning, Ricciuti said.

It's not known who dumped the asbestos in the Marina, although it appeared to have been there for at least several weeks.

While the original dumping of the asbestos was illegal, the city's moving it to the city dump was not, said Ricciuti.

"It was moved under a permit properly issued by the Public Works Department, as approved by the Quincy Public Health Department and as recommended by the DEQE (state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering)" Ricciuti said.

Health Commissioner Dr.

Robert McKeogh had ruled the buried asbestos was not a health hazard, as it was not exposed to the open air.

Edward Tolini Attending International Culinary Exhibition

Edward V. Tolini, Culinary Arts Instructor in the Post-Graduate Division of Quincy Vocational-Technical School, has been selected to represent the Massachusetts Chapter of the Chef's de Cuisine at the International Culinary Exhibition in Frankfurt, Germany. The Massachusetts Chapter of the Chef's de Cuisine is the local branch of the American Culinary Federation. The competition will include participants from all over the world, and will be in session for five days, beginning today (Thursday).

Tolini has selected a "cold presentation" as his entry at the exhibition. He has prepared two cold platters, each for eight people, as well as hors d'oeuvres for eight. The platters are Paupiette of trout in wine aspic stuffed with salmon mousse and ballotine of squab. Tolini has chosen a variety of poached eggs in aspic as his hors d'oeuvres entry.

Mrs. Willard Bonney Honored At HN Church

Former students from New Jersey, New Hampshire, Cape Cod and the Quincy and South Shore Area, honored Mrs. Willard E. (Muriel) Bonney for her long career as a church school teacher at a reception Sunday, at Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

She began teaching in 1917 and during her long career with the young people in Houghs Neck, she developed a close relationship with her students. Over the years her students have formed two social groups called the Bonney Lassies which still continue to meet as a fellowship.

Present with Mrs. Bonney at the reception were her sisters, Mrs. Addie Teuton and Mrs. Dorothy Hubbell and her daughter, Mrs. Donald Bishop.

The reception was sponsored by the Junior Bonney Lassies and the Board of Christian Education as part of the church's observance of the 200th Birthday of the Sunday School movement throughout the world.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, and Mrs. Tobin, a member of the Bonney Lassies, presented Mrs. Bonney with a Certificate of Appreciation for enriching and inspiring several generations of young people and encouraging them in the Christian life. The Reverend M. Alice Corea presented Mrs. Bonney with a Friendship Book which included letters from her former students. She also announced the establishment of the Muriel Bonney Scholarship to benefit young people in the church who pursue higher education. A prayer of affirmation and benediction was given by Dr.

Peter V. Corea.

The Committee planning the reception included:

Martha C. Chase, M. Alicia Corea, Carol Lee Griffin, Shirley M. Harrington, Robert L. Johnston, Joan M. Kirby, Pamela M. Praetsch, and Shirley M. Tobin. Miss Margorie L. McAllister and Mrs. Stuart Zibell handled the guest book. Mrs. William G. Shaw and Miss Joan M. Kirby were greeters. Among the pourers were Mrs. Anne Baxendale, Miss Gloria M. Brummitt, Mrs. Robert Allan, Mrs. Robert Gordon, Miss Jane Griffin, Mrs. Waymon Giggey, Mrs. Robert L. Johnston and Mrs. Ben E. Neill. Flowers were provided by Mr. Robert M. Trubiano, Mrs. David R. Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Greenlaw.

Retired Teachers Association To Celebrate 30th Anniversary

The Quincy Retired Teachers Association will observe its 30th anniversary Oct. 29 with a celebration at the Neighborhood Club, Quincy Center.

The group has grown from 19 charter members in 1950 to over 300 today, report President William Spencer and Vice President Helene Johnson. It is the only retired teachers group in the state associated solely with one city.

The program will feature a social hour and lunch, followed by a tribute to the group's founders and past presidents. Invited guests include Mayor Arthur Tobin, School Supt. Lawrence Creedon, Cong. Brian Donnelly, Sen. Paul Harold and Michael Morrissey, Thomas Brownell and Robert Cerasoli, the city's three state representatives.

Also featured in the ceremonies will be Robert Newbury, president of the Massachusetts Retired Teachers Association.

The association's services include pre-retirement information for teachers, tax aid, coordinating community services and arranging holiday visits to members in nursing homes.

The group is affiliated with both the Massachusetts and National Retired Teachers Associations.

Quincy Cancer Crusade Tops Goal By 20%

Quincy Cancer Crusade Chairman Richard J. Koch announces the 1980 Quincy Crusade totaled $31,753.30 for the fiscal year completed Aug. 31, topping the goal by 20 per cent.

Areas showing the greatest increase included the house-to-house campaign surpassing its quota by $2800., and special events, $2700 over the goal.

Koch said donations by residents, the volunteer effort of the ward and precinct chairmen and efforts of the 1,500 door-to-door workers accounted for a record $11,329.50 residential amount.

Although greatly concerned with research, helping the cancer patient is another major American Cancer Society responsibility.

"Free clinics for detection of cancers, seminars for medical professionals, transportation for patients, and a 'loan closet' of sick room supplies — these are just a few of the ways the American Cancer Society puts the contributions of Quincy's citizens to work," Koch said.

John Gillis Elected Veterans Council Commander

John M. Gillis was elected commander of the Quincy Veterans Council for 1980-1981 at the organization's annual election of officers last week at the Morrisette Post, West Quincy.

9 Students Win Trip In U.N. Day Contest

Nine students have been chosen as winners in the United Nations Day Poster and Essay Contest.

The students will receive a trip to the United Nations in New York and be honored at City Hall during United Nations Day ceremonies, Oct. 24.

The winners are:

Grade 7: Lori Oldham, 12, (address not given) and Thomas Lee, 12, 70 Billings St., North Quincy.

Grade 8: Nancy Losordo, 13, 79 Davis St., Wollaston and Kevin Shurtluff, 13, 11 Wayland St., Wollaston.

Grade 9: Jennifer McCauley, 13, 210 Manet Ave., Houghs Neck and Elaine Sugarman, 14, 53 Hilltop St., West Quincy.

Grade 10: Joanne Pappas and Pauline Pappas, both 14, of 21 Harborview St., Squantum.

Grade 11: Stacey Goldstein, 16, 3 Skyview Rd., Randolph (a student at Woodward School for Girls.)

Students were asked to create a poster or essay on the theme "What the United Nations Means To Me—Young People Helping Young People Through The U.N."

The contest, open to all Quincy public and private school students, was sponsored by the city United Nations Day Committee and The Quincy Sun.

Coordinators of the contest are Rev. Keith Munson, of United First Parish Church and Richard Ramsdell, coordinator of arts and humanities for Quincy Public Schools.

Choosing the winners were Anne Keating of the Adams Shore Branch Library, coordinator of judges, and Ramsdell, Janet DiTullio, coordinator of language arts for Quincy Public Schools; Jane Granstrom, supervisor of children's services and Ann McLaughlin, adult services supervisor, both of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

The students' trip to the United Nations will be sponsored by several local civic organizations.

Nov. 28 Deadline For Academies Applications

Nov. 28 is the deadline for high school seniors wishing to apply to one of the United States Service Academies, reminds Cong. Brian Donnelly.

As of that date, all files will be closed and the selection process will begin. Nominees will be chosen by January 30, 1981, Donnelly said.

Any student who has not towarded data, such as SAT scores or transcript, or has not contacted Donnelly's office to apply is encouraged to do so.

Letters requesting applications should be sent to Donnelly's Boston office, Room 409A, JFK Building, Boston, MA 02203.

For further information, contact Donnelly's Quincy office at 472-1800.

85% Voter Turnout?

Guy Faiella, chairman of the Quincy Board of Registrars, predicts an 85 per cent voter turnout here for the Nov. 4 Presidential election. But he doesn't see the candidates as the big attraction.

"I think Proposition 2½ will bring them out," he says.

Faiella came close to hitting the Sept. 16 primary turnout right on the nose. He predicted 26 per cent. Actual vote was 27 per cent.

FAIELLA

Recent Presidential election turnouts here have ranged from 83 per cent for Nixon vs McGovern in 1972 to a record 92 per cent in the 1960 Kennedy-Nixon battle.

INCIDENTALLY, Faiella's wife, Catherine, an election warden for Ward 2, Precinct 3 for many years will not be able to vote this election.

She's still a patient at Quincy City Hospital after suffering a slight heart attack several weeks ago but she's doing "just fine."

"I've been getting a lot of phone calls," Faiella says. "So I want everyone to know she's doing fine and we expect her home in three or four weeks."

"She's going to miss this election but she's going to be back for the next one."

REMEMBER Patti Kelly, Miss Quincy Bay of

1973? Well, she's now married to a dentist, Dr. Robert Merritt, has a year-old son, Douglas, and is living in London, Ont. They'll be coming to Quincy over the Thanksgiving holiday to visit her family: her mother, Mrs. Barbara Kelly, grandmother, Mrs. Lena Strandel, and uncle Philip Strandel, all of Whitwell St., Quincy Center.

THE MONTCLAIR MEN'S Club annual awards dinner is one of the best takes of them all. For 30 years now, the club has been honoring outstanding sports personalities with this year's award going to Bobby Orr.

The man behind the dinner is Joe Gildea and the success of this annual event is a tribute to him. The host of stars honored down through the years include:

Bobby Doerr, Mike Holovak, Bob Feller, Johnny Pesky, Ellis Kinder, Dick Radatz, Frank Malzone, Bill Vecek, Pete Runnels, Jim Nance, Joe Kapp, Bill Sharman, Sam Mele, Dick Donovan, American Football League President Joe Foss, Bill Sullivan, Gino Cappelletti, Bob Dee, Jim Colclough, Chuck Fairbanks, Dick O'Connell, Curt Gowdy, John Havlicek, Munroe MacLean, Jack Donahue, Don Gillis, Dick Koch, Mack Heron, Milt Schmidt, Harold Connolly, Max (Hum) Zides and Tom (Strum) Currier, and others.

To give you an idea of what a great time it is if you haven't been to one, Bobby Orr enjoyed himself so much he wants to come back. Not to sit at the head table this time but to be out in the audience.

Well done, Joe.

'Excellent' Local Tree Color

You Don't Have To Travel For Fall Foliage

Residents that would like to view the fall foliage but are unable to travel any distance because of health or other reasons can enjoy some excellent tree color in the local area.

According to Richard J. Koch, Executive Secretary to the Quincy Park and Recreation Board, Pageant Field in Merrymount Park, off Southern Artery, provides a beautiful array of changing colors. There is also a view of Black's Creek Basin and Quincy Shore Waterfront.

Faxon Park in South Quincy offers a heavily wooded 50 acre park with a large number of oak trees and geological rock formations. Adjacent to the picnic site is an overlook of the Quincy Point and Town River areas.

Saw Rock in Squantum is an island setting with a large number of birch trees that provided a settlement for the American Indians several hundred years ago.

The variety of heights at the location results in a view of the Boston skyline, University of Massachusetts and Kennedy Library, Quincy Harbor Islands and Quincy Bay.

Koch added that the Blue Hills has hundreds of acres with an array of changing leaf colors and that Houghton's Pond has excellent parking facilities.

All of the above areas are public parkland and are open during the day for Quincy residents to enjoy.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week. Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of Quincy's sewer superintendent?
2. From 1950 to 1958 Quincy was governed under a Plan E charter in which the chief executive was the city manager. Who was the first city manager of Quincy?
3. In what section of the city is Des Moines Rd.?
4. "The Stone Temple" is another name for what church in Quincy?
5. How did the section of Quincy called "Germantown" get its name?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee is Christopher F. Kennedy.
2. The Abigail Adams Cairen is in the South Quincy section of the city.
3. Thomas Crane was a wealthy New York granite and real estate man who learned the granite cutting trade in Quincy. After his death, his family donated the library to the city in his memory.
4. The Sgt. Philip Greenberg Bridge traverses Black's Creek.
5. Veterans' Memorial Stadium was built on the site of Pfaffman's Oval.

A 'Thank You' From Quincy Kiwanis Club

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As chairman of the Annual Installation of Officers of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, I would like to thank you for your cooperation and coverage of our function last week.

Our installation has always been an important event but this year we had the opportunity to honor one of our past officers, George A. Wilson. As you know, George is a very interesting man and has been an outstanding member of both our Club and the community which we serve.

The recognition of George Wilson, the Kiwanis Club and its Officers, through your photographs in this week's Quincy Sun, were greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Joe Horrigan Knows How To Treat Them Dogs Don't Bother This Letter Carrier

By FRANK MORTIMER

They say a dog is man's best friend; but as far as I can tell, our small, fleecy Maltese is friend to no man on earth. Except one.

And that person doesn't even live here.

When I come home, Spunky yaps from the backyard like there's a burglar about to enter the house. My wife and children get the same treatment.

The one exception is the person you'd least expect; he's the man depicted in cartoons with canine jaws fixed firmly to the seat of his pants.

This pied piper of the dog world is our mailman, Joe Horrigan, a Hull resident who delivers mail in the Quincy Center area.

Horrigan, a big man with a grandfatherly manner, makes no secret of his method for getting along.

"Dog yummies," he said, and touched the right pocket of his baggy trousers. "I give one to every dog on the route. I get to know the dogs and they know me."

Actually, Horrigan's kindness to pets goes beyond the tossing of a bone.

He whistles just before he gets to the chainlink fence that marks Spunky's domain.

It is at this point that any other visitor -- or family member -- would cringe. The fierce barking would start.

But Horrigan's single, soft note is followed only by the sound of Spunky's lightweight chain jingling along the ground.

"Here's your bone, Spunky," says Horrigan, and drops the treat over the fence.

Sometimes the dog's shaggy hair blocks his vision. Sometimes he dances right over the bone. He has to sniff about his paws for it.

Horrigan pauses a moment to make sure the bone is located and dispatched.

"Good boy," he says. He then rounds the house and puts our mail in the box.

SPUNKY AND FRIEND, Quincy Center mailman Joe Horrigan.

Does Horrigan's special attention to animals delay the mail?

No way. We hear his whistle between 10 and 10:15 every day, and it's been that way for years.

Horrigan is modest about his ability to make friends with the letter carrier's traditional enemy.

"Some people have a gift with dogs," he said. "I really don't. I have to work at it."

He hastens to add that he's not the only mailman who knows there's more gained with honey than vinegar. "I know of at least three other carriers who give out biscuits," he said.

Who supplies the biscuits? "We buy them ourselves. They're not expensive."

Horrigan hikes his bag higher on his shoulder, touches his tan golf cap, and moves along.

He moves through his route with the ease and visible satisfaction of a golfer who is having a good round.

So at ease, you wonder if there's ever been a hitch in the routine.

"Well, there was one time," he admitted. "I got bit by a dog. It was over 10 years ago, when I was living in Cambridge and had my route there."

"It happened on Buckingham St., and the dog belonged to a well-known person, McGeorge Bundy, who once was an advisor to President Kennedy."

"Yes sir, I got bit by Mac Bundy's french poodle. 'It's my claim to fame.'"

Donnelly Most Conservative On First CALL Scorecard

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly (D-Dorchester) is the most conservative of the 12 members of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, according to standards set up by Conservatives Against Liberal Legislation (CALL).

Donnelly voted "right" six times on 12 pieces of legislation regarded as crucial by CALL in its first annual congressional rating scorecard.

By comparison, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Paul Tsongas and Reps. Robert Drinan and Gerry Studs received zero ratings from the conservative organization which is based in Arlington, Va.

Zoning Proposals Cheered, Jeered

A proposed zoning ordinance for Quincy drew both applause and heavy fire at a City Council hearing chaired by Ward 6 Councillor Dr. Charles J. Herbert.

Spokesmen for Wollaston, Atlantic, Norfolk Downs and Merrymount were all for it while representatives of Quincy Point and Germantown blasted the proposal.

Leo Mullin of Quincy Point said he saw sinister motives behind a move that changed the Town River area from light to heavy industry and Herbert said he did not know who made the change.

Said J. Edward Kearns of the Ward 2 Improvement Association: "We don't want heavy industry and regardless of what you do we're going to keep it residential."

James E. Ford, 78, Retired Police Detective

A funeral Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. James Church, West Quincy, for James E. Ford, 78, of St. Petersburg, Fla., a retired detective with the Quincy Police Department.

Mr. Ford died Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Petersburg.

Mr. Ford had lived in Quincy for many years.

He retired as a detective in 1963 after being a member of the police department for 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mildred (Robert) Ford; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Kinsella of Scituate; two brothers, Lawrence Ford of Quincy and Herbert Ford of Oxboro; and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Margaret Bradford, 83.

Among First Women To Practice Before State Supreme Court

A memorial service will be held at a later date for Margaret M. (McChesney) Bradford, 83, of Quincy, one of the first women to practice before the state Supreme Court.

Mrs. Bradford died Oct. 16, at Morton Hospital, Taunton.

Born in East Boston, she was a resident of Houghs Neck for more than 50 years.

A graduate of the former Girls High School, Boston, she was also graduated from Portia Law School, now New England School of Law.

She was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1923. The following year, she joined the Boston law firm of Juggins Fielding and Ellsworth.

She later opened her own law offices in Boston and practiced for many years.

She suspended her practice during World War II to serve on the civilian administrative staff at Squantum Naval Air Station.

After her retirement, she continued her interest in legal affairs and also became an avid gardener.

Widow of the late Sidney Prescott Bradford, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Grace (McChesney) Bustin of Quincy; a niece, Mrs. Joan H. Brechin of North Dighton; a nephew, Robert D. Bustin of Plymouth; and several great nephews and great nieces.

At Mrs. Bradford's request, her body is being given to Tufts University School of Medicine, Boston.

Thomas D. Dewey, 73 Retired Coast Guardsman

A funeral Mass was said Oct. 17, at St. John's Church, Quincy Center for Thomas D. Dewey, 73, a retired Coast Guardsman who died Oct. 15, at Quincy City Hospital.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he had been a member of the Coast Guard in Boston until his retirement three years ago.

Mr. Dewey was a member of St. John's Holy Name Society and Quincy Knights of Columbus.

Husband of the late Mary A. (Walsh) Dewey, he is survived by a brother, Francis Dewey of Quincy; a sister, Margaret M. Parker of Weymouth; two nieces and a nephew.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Wollaston Church Of The Nazarene To Dedicate New Sanctuary Sunday

Last Sunday evening marked the end of one era in the history of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, and next Sunday will mark the celebration of a new era.

Sunday evening saw the last service of worship in the old 800-seat basement sanctuary that has served as church and college chapel since its construction in 1949-50.

Next Sunday will be a day of worship and celebration for the congregation as the new 1,000-seat Georgian-colonial sanctuary is dedicated.

Co-inciding with Eastern Nazarene College's Homecoming Weekend, the dedication will be attended by many former worshippers from across the county, as well as local clergy and city officials. The dedication address will be given by former Wollaston resident Stephen W. Nease, now president of the Nazarene denomination's only theological seminary, in Kansas City, Mo. Dr. Nease grew up in Quincy and his father, Dr. Floyd Nease, was president of ENC.

The dedication day ceremonies will begin with a 10 a.m. service of "A Look to the Past - A March to the Future" filmed interviews with former pastors, together with music by the church's college singers, will highlight the church's 60-year history in Wollaston.

At 10:45 a.m. a "March to the Future" will leave the old sanctuary and clergy, choirs, and congregation will march into the new sanctuary for a first brief service of worship and praise.

The dedication, will be at 3 p.m., with the formal opening of the main door of the church, presentation of the keys by the builder to the church, greetings by various officials, and the address by Dr. Nease.

The Act of Dedication, a litany by pastor and congregation, will be followed by the Dedicatory Prayer, delivered by The Rev.

William A. Taylor, District Superintendent of the New England District of the Church of the Nazarene.

At 6 p.m. the choirs of the church will present a special cantata for the dedication, a work named "The Church Alive," by Otis Skillings. The choirs are under the direction of Professor Robert Howard. The public is welcome to all these services.

The Wollaston Church of the Nazarene plans a month of open house for its new sanctuary during November. Friends from the area are welcome to worship during the regular Sunday hours of 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and a brochure is being prepared for visitors with the details of the new sanctuary included.

Beth Israel, Adas Shalom Brotherhoods Joint Breakfast Sunday

The Brotherhoods of Beth Israel Synagogue and Congregation Adas Shalom will hold a joint breakfast Sunday, Oct. 26.

Rabbi Jacob Mann will conduct the morning worship service at 8:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue.

Members and friends will then proceed to Congregation Adas Shalom, Adams St., for breakfast at 9:30 a.m.

Members of the brotherhood, synagogue and women's council are invited. There will also be a CPR demonstration by the Quincy Police Department.

For more information, call Irving Isaacson at 773-6199, or Morton Arons at 472-6870.

Seton House To Offer Genesis II Program

Seton House will be offering a 12 week program of spiritual growth, Genesis II, Tuesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., beginning Nov. 11.

The program will give insights into prayer, faith, discipline, love of God, self and neighbor.

For more information or registration, contact Seton House 26 Phipps St., Quincy. Tel. 471-5597.

4 Choirs In Squantum Church Service

Four choirs participated in the morning worship service at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

The Boy's Choir and the Junior Choir combined to present to the congregation a musical drama, "Jesus Chooses His Helpers." The play was narrated by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, Pastor. The singers were accompanied by Andrew Ogilvie on guitar, David Scott and Chris Shionis on the xylophone and Jason Deary on the glockenspiel. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

The Youth Choir gave a choral reading, "Twelve Apostles" by Murray McNair. The Senior Choir sang a Mennonite hymn, "Arise and Come" arranged by Alice Parker.

The pastor's sermon was "The Lord's Samples" based on a text in the book of Luke. It was the sixth and final sermon in the first series this year on the life of Christ. That will be the theme of several series of sermons to be given before next summer.

Greeters for the morning were Jennie and Isabelle Preston. The fellowship hour was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie, Pat Sorenson and Sandra Stohlberg.

The day began at First Church with a Country Breakfast for the congregation served by Cinnamon Toast, a Christian educational group in the church. Proceeds from breakfast will help to send church young people to camp next summer.

In the afternoon, the church sponsored another "Fiesta '80" event at the Wollaston Theater, a well-attended blue grass concert by the "Back 40" String Band.

Next Sunday the pastor will begin a Thanksgiving series of sermons, "John Eliot and His Friends," commemorating the Christian missionary work and the lives of both Eliot, a 17th century preacher in the Boston area, and those American Indians who converted to Christianity in his day. Sunday is also Reformation Sunday.

Children and teen-agers are urged to come to church in their Halloween costumes next week. The service begins at 10:15 a.m. All are invited.

UNICEF Bake Sale

At First Parish Church

The children of United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will sponsor a bake sale to raise money for UNICEF Sunday, Oct. 26, at 11:30 a.m. in the Parish Hall. All contributions are welcome.

In addition to the pies, cakes, breads, and candies donated by members of the congregation,

Djurf Center Accepting Applications

Applications are being accepted for the Dr. Charles Djurf Child Development Center being held at Faith Lutheran Church, Quincy.

The program, for three and there will be spiced apples, lolly-ghosts, and other delicacies prepared by the children themselves during Church School.

The sale will climax a morning of UNICEF activities highlighted by the Children's Chorus, in costumes from many lands, singing "It's a Small World After All" during church services.

four year old children, is held Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8:45 to 11:45 a.m.

For more information, call the church office at 472-1247 Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon.

Atlantic Association Prop. 2½ Meeting Oct. 29

The Atlantic Neighborhood Association will sponsor an informational meeting on Proposition 2½, at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 243 Atlantic St., North Quincy, Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 8 p.m.

NEWSCARRIERS WANTED

Here's a chance to earn extra money by building a Quincy Sun home delivery route.
Telephone: 471-3100

Representatives from Citizens for Limited Taxation will speak in favor of the proposition; a representative from State Representative Gerald Cohen's office will speak against it.

John Comer, Chief Assessor for Quincy has also been invited to speak on the potential impact of the proposition to Quincy residents.

Thomas J. Nutley, President of the Association will serve as moderator.

$13.7 Million Project

Quincy Towers Would Mean $150,000 In New City Taxes

The proposed $13.7 million Quincy Towers project at Dimmock and Hancock St. would mean more than $150,000 in new taxes to Quincy in the first year, Planning Director James E. Lydon told the City Council Monday night.

The building at the location now pays between $30,000 and $40,000 in taxes annually, said Lydon, while the new building would pay the city $200,000 in the first year.

The Council held a hearing on the project because the city is planning to ask the federal government for a $2.4 million urban development action grant (UDAG) to build a parking garage for it.

The garage would be built over the MBTA tracks at Dimmock St. and Burgin Parkway with 223 parking spaces.

Lydon said the city would apply for the UDAG in the next round of federal funding which starts in January, 1981.

The federal government would give the $2,367,500 to Quincy in the form of a grant, he said, and the city would loan $1.8 million of it to the developers at 6 per cent interest over 40 years.

"This," he said, "would guarantee us $118,000 a year for 40 years. We would then take the money and program it into neighborhood projects through the community development block grant."

The remainder of the UDAG would be used thusly: $150,000 to relocate people and businesses occupying the current building, $102,500 for administrative costs, and $215,000 for contingencies.

"It is in our best interests to write as many UDAGs as possible," said Lydon. "Hud is looking at these programs very kindly and every UDAG we get helps to get us another one."

Architect John M. Sheskey said the development would have 185 residential units in twin towers joined by an elevator core and glass enclosed bridges. The apartments, he said, would be "just shy of luxury."

There would be three floors of office space with retail stores on the ground floor. The developer is MVM Associates of Wellesley.

The only opposition registered at the hearing came from William A. O'Connell, past president of the Quincy Historical Society, whose headquarters is in the Adams Academy building across Dimmock St.

He felt that the Historical Society should have some input into the project since it is "right in the middle of the most historic spot in the United States."

"Some place along the line the public should have something to say about it," he said.

Lydon promised him that the Planning Department would be in touch with the society in the next few weeks to arrange a meeting with the developers.

QHS, Vo-Tech Achievement Tests Scheduled

The Differential Aptitude Test and the California Achievement Tests will be administered to students in Grades 9 and 10 at Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational-Technical School Oct. 28-29.

Carter Names Simon Fireman To Commerce Advisory Board

Quincy Center resident Simon Fireman was recently named by President Jimmy Carter to a Department of Commerce advisory board on international trade.

The Industry Sector Advisory Committee on Wholesaling and Retailing of the United States Department of Commerce advises Commerce Secretary Philip Klutznick on export policies, negotiation of trade agreements and management of trade problems.

As a member of the committee, Fireman will work closely with former Florida Gov. Rubin Askew, who is US Trade Representative.

Fireman, a resident of 79 Dimmock St., Quincy Center, is chairman of the board of Aqua-Leisure Industries of Avon. The firm, which manufactures and distributes sporting goods and physical fitness equipment, has plants in Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Italy.

His responsibilities involve contract negotiations with business leaders in Europe and the Orient, which is directly related to his service on the trade advisory committee.

Active in community affairs, Fireman is a member of the Public Relations Committee of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, has served on the Waterfront Committee of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the 80th Birthday Tribute to actress and Quincy native Ruth Gordon, and was President of Temple Beth El.

He was a member of the Massachusetts Worlds Fair Commission, the Boston Parks and Recreation Commission and the Boston Youth Activity Commission.

SIMON FIREMAN

Fireman is also president and chief executive officer of Marine Hardware and Supply, one of New England's largest distributors of equipment and supplies to the boating industry.

In this capacity he was presented with the Award of Merit from the United States Maritime Industry and earned the Award for Meritorious Service from the Federal Employees Veterans Association for promoting the New England boating industry.

His leadership in community and religious affairs was acknowledged with the presentation of a citation from Temple Beth El and a regional award from the United Synagogue of America.

Fireman has been a key fund-raiser and advisor to many governmental officials, including the late President John F. Kennedy.

Tax Rate Expected In 10 Days

(Cont'd from Page 1)
We're just unhappy with what's going on right here today.
"I for one do not want to jeopardize any federal funding but quite frankly this is too little, too late. It's not well thought out as far as I'm concerned."

"I think when we get the thing in order and the Mayor comes back in the proper time for implementation of some plan, one that is effective next July 1, then we can accept this sewer charge."

Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti told the Council that the city would be in danger of losing state and federal funds to rehabilitate its 85-year-old sewer system if a user charge were not implemented, but he set no time deadline.

Two of the three sewer orders went down 7-0, with Councilors

John J. Quinn and John J. Lydon Jr., supporters of the charge, leaving the room during the vote. The third order was ignored.

Mayor Tobin, who is often at odds with McCauley, had a good word to say for him after the meeting.

"I have to commend Mr. McCauley for being honest," he said. "He knows the sewer charge is going to happen and so do the other six. But Mr. McCauley was the only one who spoke out."

"As sure as I am sitting, one City Council — maybe not this one — but one City Council will have to stand up on this issue. They can't duck it forever."

"There has been a hidden sewer tax on the Quincy tax bills since the first sewer lines were put in the city," he added. "To suggest, as some councilors have that it is a new tax is just kidding the public."

"The City Council had the opportunity to reduce the tax rate and the councilors chose not to."

"The next candidates for mayor will come out of the City Council so it is to their interest to have the Mayor set a higher tax rate."

Tobin cited four items that appear in the city budget or will appear on the recap sheet when the tax rate is set over which he, as mayor, has no control.

He listed the $500,000 MBTA deficit increase, the $700,000 decrease in state aid, the $500,000 lost in court cases involving valuation, and the $1 million in pensions that the Council cut but which had to be restored.

He said he was ordered by the court to include some $4.7 million in the school budget that was sent to the Council and which the Council cut out.

Cable TV Goes Out To Bid

public access channels at no cost to the city. Free studio and production facilities should be provided.

• "The licensee will provide, and have in operation within one year of the license issuance, a complete National Television Standard Code color television studio" with the capacity to permit live programming.

• "The operator should have the ability to pre-empt regular programming on the system with messages of an emergency nature ... used only with the proper authorization and only in the interest of public health and safety."

The specifications provide that any transmissions from the viewer's TV set (for surveys, ratings, etc.) shall be done only with the authorization of the viewer and that any information so gathered will be kept confidential.

The licensee is required to wire the city completely within 18 months, with construction beginning as soon as possible after the final license is granted. Seventy-five per cent completion is demanded after 12 months.

And the licensee is required to post a $100,000 bond to insure installation and operation of the system on time and to insure the restoration of any alterations that have to be made to sidewalks and other city betterments.

Tobin said that his committee, headed by Insurance Executive George Riley "did a fantastic job of getting cable TV off the ground in Quincy. Many companies have said that this is as good a set of specifications as they have seen."

Companies eligible to bid on the Quincy franchise include:
Americam Cablevision of Massachusetts, Englewood, Colo., a subsidiary of Time, Inc.
Quincy CATV Co., Inc., a division of Acton Corp., Acton, Mass.

MetroCable of Quincy Inc. of Boston, a subsidiary of Times Mirror Cable Television.

Landlords Holding Back On Rent Abatements, Says Reikard

Many landlords in the city, who raised rents when their property assessments were increased last year, have not yet passed savings from abatements onto their tenants, claims Jane Reikard, executive secretary to the Rent Grievance Board.

"Those landlords who applied for timely abatements and had their taxes adjusted to the 1978 level, and who raised the tenants rent to compensate for the extra taxes, now should be sharing those abatements with their tenants," said Mrs. Reikard in a statement this week.

Mrs. Reikard singled out Roger Lyons, president of the Concerned Quincy Apartment House Owners for criticism. Lyon's group successfully sued the city last year to force roll-backs on the increased assessments on the apartment houses.

Lyons, claimed Mrs. Reikard, "was very specific and vociferous during the 10-taxpayer suit against the city, stating that the tenants would profit as well as the landlords if the landlords won their case. The tenants say they want more than lip service, they want action. The tenants have informed the board they intend to go to Court, if necessary, on a similar 10-taxpayer suit against the landlords if they don't get action soon."

Furthermore, said Mrs. Reikard, she has contacted Lyons "and asked that he announce at one of his meetings that the tenants are awaiting action from their landlords on the adjustment. Mrs. Reikard is still waiting to hear from Mr. Lyons."

Only four landlords have notified the Rent Grievance Board that they have rolled back rents in accordance with the abatements, Mrs. Reikard added. "This frosts me - I've heard all this before," said Lyons Tuesday. "I've tried to work with the woman, but - let her say whatever she wants."

Lyons would not comment on the specifics of Mrs. Reikard's comments.

His son, Thomas Lyons, added, "We can't speak for any other apartment owners, but, personally, our tenants got a roll-back, per month, plus a lump sum."

"Some of the tenants in the city weren't even hit for the rent increase," he claimed.

"We don't represent all of the apartment owners in the city," he added. "We started out as just 10, and we have a few more now, but we're not into hundreds and hundreds. There are 400 apartment owners in the city."

Of Mrs. Reikard's comments, Thomas Lyons said, "Personally, I think she's a little off track. She's the executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board - she's supposed to be impartial, a mediator. It seems to me she's taking sides in this."

Mrs. Reikard's statement continued: "The various tenants' organizations in the City are quite upset that they should have to "beg" for this adjustment in their rents. They are irate that most of the landlords charge the full amount of taxes back to the tenants in the form of rent increases, then the landlords collect the abatements and take a deduction on their Federal taxes for taxes that the tenant pays. They feel he gets all the "goodies" while they foot the bill."

Revolving Loan Fund Aids Wollaston Homes Fix Up

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin has announced the formation of a revolving loan program, funded by the Community Development Block Grant, under which Wollaston residents may obtain money to fix up their homes.

The program is being conducted in cooperation with the Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association, Wollaston.

The 5 per cent loans will be available to Wollaston residents who live within the approved neighborhood strategy area and who meet federal income guidelines. They must be repaid in five years.

The $3,000 maximum loans can be used for exterior painting, minor carpentry to eliminate safety hazards, insulation and other energy conservation measures.

Philip J. Lawrence, president of Colonial Federal, and Richard Coleman, assistant vice president and loan officer, said that the city and the bank are starting with a loan base of $40,000.

"When payments are made on these loans," said Coleman, "money will then be available to new participants as a perpetuating revolving program. When more money is added and loans repaid, new loans will be initiated every year."

The homes must be owner-occupied, one or two family nits, and meet the following HUD income guidelines:

One person household, $10,550; two persons, $12,050; three persons, $13,550; four persons, $15,050; five persons, $16,000; six persons, $16,900; seven persons, $17,850; eight or more persons, $18,800.

"I'd like to see this program work in Wollaston," said Mayor Tobin, "and then, be expanded to other neighborhoods in the city. It shows the benefits that can come from partnerships between government, business and the banking community."

Second Auto Body Shop Licensed At Karl's Auto

Licenses were granted at Tuesday's License Board meeting for a second auto body shop at the site of Karl's Auto Body Repair Co.

The board granted Charles W. Ayers licenses for a motor vehicle structural repair shop and storage of 100 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars at the building to the rear of Karl's Auto, 61 Holbrook Rd.

Ayers had originally applied for the license for 32-34 Safford St. The City Solicitor's office ruled that would be an impermissible extension of a non-conforming use and would be detrimental to the neighborhood.

Ayers agreed to the restriction that the Safford St.

side of the business not be used. City Clerk John Gillis said he would recommend that the City Council and Traffic Commission designate 200 ft. from the corner of Holbrook Rd. as a no parking - tow area on the auto body side of the street.

Other restrictions in the license were that a six-foot chain link fence with slats and a gate be installed within 30 days, and that the Building Department have control of the sign.

Also during the hearing, the gasoline storage permit for Karl's Auto Body was reduced from 1,000 to 350 gallons of gasoline above ground in tanks of cars, and an error in the address was rectified from 65 to 61 Holbrook Rd.

Maj. Richard Rollins Completes Airborne School

Marine Corps Reserve Major Richard G. Rollins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rollins of 21 Trevore St., Squantum, recently completed the 10th Special Forces Group Airborne School at Fort Devens.

The training included two-mile runs twice daily, rigorous exercise and 14 hour training days. Five jumps from C-130 aircraft concluded the school.

Rollins and his wife, Iris, live in Westminister.

1:30 P.M. Ceremonies

NQHS To Be Dedicated Sunday

A decade-long project will come to an end when the new and old portions of North Quincy High will be dedicated as a single unit, Sunday.

Ceremonies begin at 1:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Dedication speakers from three past and present graduating classes will emphasize the three stages of the construction and renovation project.

Randy Calhoun of the Class of 1976 will represent those students who attended North Quincy High during the period of double sessions.

Michael Mariano of the Class of 1979 will speak on behalf of the students who attended classes only in the building's new annex.

And, Timothy Allen of the Class of 1981 will represent the first graduating class of the single old-and-new complex.

Also participating in the ceremonies will be:

Paul Schaezel of the Class of 1981, who will lead the flag salute, and classmates Thomas Koch, Steven Kavanagh and Patricia Gerry, who will introduce the School Committee, City Council and school administration.

The Air Force Junior ROTC, which will present the colors, under the command of Lt. Col. Joseph Ciannipa.

Rev. Dr. Eugene Langevin of First Church of Squantum, who will give the invocation; Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, who will give the prayer of dedication and Rev. Cornelius Heery of Sacred Heart Church, who will give the benediction.

School Committee Vice Chairman Christopher Kennedy, master of ceremonies; Mayor Arthur Tobin and Council President Leo Kelly, who will give greetings from the city and School Supt. Lawrence Creedon, who will give his comments upon the dedication.

Kennedy will also re-dedicate the Walter (Cap) Bryan Gym. Robert D. Shaffer, Class of 1946, will make remarks on behalf of North Quincy High parents.

The North Quincy High band and choir will perform the National Anthem and "On North Quincy."

Tours and refreshments will follow the dedication ceremonies.

Rotarians Told:

Cable TV To Offer 'Video Supermarket'

Cable television will offer the city "a video supermarket," it's shelves to be laden with products to meet individual needs," the Rotary Club was told Tuesday.

Bart Swift, regional manager of Home Box Office, Inc. advised the Rotarians to closely monitor the franchising process "to be sure it is realistic by today's standards. There will always be opportunity for expansion and upgrading in the future."

Home Box Office is the nation's leading pay television service, according to Swift, and is subscribed to by most of the competing companies. Home Box Office is not a candidate for the Quincy cable license.

Among the services residents can expect, Swift said, are movies, entertainment specials, documentaries and sports, plus 24-hour news channels, special programming for children and senior citizens, foreign language, minority-interest and locally produced program.

"Each cable operator has the opportunity to tailor his system's output to the demographics of his won community," Swift said.

Referring to both Quincy and Boston, he said, "in each city, the winning cable applicant can offer the benefits and advantages developed elsewhere by the industry in recent years."

"Both cities have several experienced cable operators bidding for franchises," he said.

There are now 12 firms seeking the Quincy cable license.

Morrissey Calls N. Quincy Parking Lot 'A Dump'

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) has asked for an immediate clean-up of the North Quincy MBTA parking lot.

In a letter to MBTA Chairman Barry Locke, Morrissey called the parking lot a "dump." "Never have I seen this lot in worse condition," he said. "Broken glass, litter and debris can be seen everywhere. The condition is deplorable."

Morrissey also questioned the calibre of the company who leases the parking lot from the MBTA.

"It would seem to me," he said, "that the company that leases the lot should be obligated to keep it in a usable condition."

Morrissey said he expected a reply from Locke in the very near future concerning the clean-up.

QCA Protests Shore Development

The Quincy Citizens Association, which supported the rezoning of a piece of property on Quincy Shore Drive, doesn't like what is happening to it right now.

The development consists of town house condominiums that are in the early stages of construction at 124-168 Quincy Shore Drive by Quincy Shore Nominee Trust.

"We see a high-density group of four Philadelphia-type row houses, spaced so closely together that only a narrow alley separates the front two from the back two," said the QCA in a letter to the City Council.

"And we understand that a black-topped jungle of cars will replace the green lawns and landscaping we originally pictured surrounding the 'Louisburg Square-type houses' that were described when the rezoning plans were presented."

The QCA noted that Building Inspector Allan MacDonald had expressed concern about overbuilding on the site and too great density "but his fears were ignored."

"It is regrettable," the letter went on, "that this planned unit development (PUD) is such a debacle, but now at least we are aware of the pitfalls of PUD in Quincy's future development."

It suggested that "special interests wielded more influence than moral obligations to the voters."

The QCA asked the Council to see that permits for Phase 2 of the project are withheld "until drastic improvements are made in plans for spacing the buildings farther apart."

Wollaston Cub Scouts

To Hold Presidential Election

Cub Scout Pack 21 of Wollaston will hold a "presidential election" at its second meeting Friday, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Ann's Youth Center.

Any boy wishing to join Cub Scouts is encouraged to attend the meeting with a parent. The pack has 65 boys, 35 of which joined this year.

Refreshments will be served. Upcoming events for the pack include a candy sale in November and the pack is asking the support of the community for the endeavor.

George Alcott Elected Weights And Measures Vice President

George Alcott, deputy inspector of weights and measures for the city of Quincy, was recently elected Vice President of the Massachusetts Weights and Measures Association.

The election was held at the association's recent annual convention, held at the Blue Waters Resort on Cape Cod.

Alcott, a resident of Squantum, is secretary and past exalted ruler of the Quincy Lodge of Elks and is past commander of the Robert Nickerson Legion Post.

New Owner To Improve Establishment

Board Approves N. Quincy Liquor License Transfer

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City License Board approved the license transfer Tuesday of the troubled Irish Hide Away, Sagamore St., to a new owner who says he will clean up the establishment and run a good operation.

The board transferred the establishment's common victualer-all alcoholic license to Michael L. Dormady, a policeman who lives in Duxbury. Daniel O'Leary, a mailman from Squantum, will also manage the establishment to be known as the Sagamore Inn. The inn is closed for renovations.

Atty. John Haddigan told the board the two men were aware of past problems with youths on the premises and intended to clear up the situation.

Councillor Joanne Condon agreed there have been severe problems at the establishment particularly during the past six to eight months. Mrs. Condon cited drinking outdoors, serving minors, drug related incidents and open doors as some of the problems.

"The neighbors demand the establishment be better run than it has been" said Mrs. Condon.

She also wanted to know who would be managing the establishment in the absence of Dormady and O'Leary who both work full time. O'Leary replied there would be experienced bartenders on hand.

Police Chief Francis Finn told the new managers problems were so bad at the establishment in the past that the license probably would've been taken away if things had continued as they were.

He instructed the men on checking for Massachusetts driver's licenses for proof of age keeping doors closed and not allowing gambling.

Mrs. Condon told the new managers she will be before the License Board every week if the establishment doesn't open up under better conditions than before.

North Quincy 21, Weymouth N. 0

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team, well on its way to its first winning season in three years, faces one of its toughest tests Saturday when it hosts Waltham in a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game at Veterans Stadium.

Last week Dave Burke's Raiders (1-1-1) proved it can move through the air as well as on the ground when they defeated Weymouth North, 21-0, for their second shutout in a row.

North ground out 223 yards on the ground but it was Jack Brown's passing which scored two of the three touchdowns and set up the third.

Waltham last week rolled over Arlington, 21-0, after defeating Quincy, 26-0, the previous week. The Hawks also bombed Weymouth North, 48-0, and defeated Brookline, 21-6. They were edged by strong B. C. High, 14-13.

"I thought we played well today," Burke said after the win over Weymouth North. "They always seem to give us trouble, regardless of their record. The defense was outstanding and our offense was good most of the time."

"Jack Brown did a good job at quarterback and threw some excellent passes, and Dean Zoia, Steve McEachern and Joe Dudek all ran well. The offensive line also did its part."

"The field was a little slow and I think it helped us, as we are bigger than they are."

Brown threw only four passes but hit on three and had the other intercepted. Two went to Jack Leone for touchdowns and the other to Jim Sullivan who set up Zoia's touchdown.

Weymouth had a fine running back in Steve Lee and a good looking quarterback in Jim Dempsey, son of athletic director Bill Dempsey, but the Maroons never mounted a threat.

"I thought the line played well," said offensive line coach George Liset. He singled out Lou DePietro, Billy Feeney, John Buckley, Chuck Sylva, Ted Hannon, Leone, Bob Bolster, Pete McDonough and Sullivan, who filled in capably at end in place of the injured Glenn Segalla.

Jamie Walsh was again credited with a fine two-way performance. Defensive coaches Den McPhee and Jack Raymer were pleased at the second straight shutout.

"The defense came to play today and did a great job," McPhee said. "Billy Feeney and Bob McCormack were absolutely outstanding. Feeney played his finest game at nose guard."

Also singled out were Steve Howley, Paul Schaezel and Bill Stacy. The secondary was outstanding as Weymouth quarterbacks could complete only one of 10 passes for a six-yard gain and had one intercepted. Ken Mann, Jim McInnis, Gino Pillard and Chris Baker were responsible for halting the Weymouth air game.

Linebackers Tim Teehan, Sylva and Pete Alibrandi also were praised by their coaches.

Ray Mallory ran back kickoffs and punts well and Brian O'Leary again got off some good punts.

It took North just 1:48 and four plays to score following the opening kickoff. Mallory returned the kickoff from his 25 to Weymouth's 48.

McEachern ran twice for 10 yards and a first down. Zoia added eight and Brown threw a beautiful pass to Leone for 30 yards and a touchdown. Leone kicked the point.

North began a drive from Weymouth's 47 late in the first period after Mallory had returned a punt all the way from his 15.

It took only five plays as McEachern gained two, added five on a pitchout, Brown hit Sullivan with a perfect pass to the four and Zoia went over. Leone again kicked the point.

The Raiders marched on their 44 in the third period, picking up four first downs and it was another perfectly thrown pass from Brown to Leone good for 21 yards for the touchdown. Leone added his third extra point.

Leone later tried a 30-yard field goal which looked good to everyone but the officials, who ruled it went wide, much to Leone's disgust.

"It definitely was good," he said. Dudek had raced 40 yards to Weymouth's 20 a few plays before McEachern had an 8-yard touchdown run nullified by a penalty.

North had 223 yards on the ground to 119 for Weymouth, added 75 yards through the air to six and clicked off 14 first downs to Weymouth's six.

Apaches Rack Up 6th, Panthers Edge Elks

The Apaches, breezing along in the Quincy Youth Football League, improved their record to 6-0 Sunday by defeating the

In the second period a 25-yard punt return by Bob Varnado set up Mike Gill, who scored from the six.

For the Manets Bob Carty passed to Bill Canneen for a 25-yard touchdown and at the half the Apaches led, 20-6.

Milano ran 24 yards for a touchdown to open the second half scoring and Canneen returned a kickoff 65 yards for the second Manets' touchdown.

In the final period Gill returned a kick 75 yards for the last Apaches' touchdown and John Keys gave the Manets their last score with a 15-yard end sweep.

Gill, Milano, Page, Varnado, Bob Flynn, John Ainsley, Steve Keats, John Sheehan and Mike Kubera were singled out for their work on offense and these same players, together with Dan Kelly and Lou Morales, received praise for their defensive performances.

The Manets' coaches had good words for Mark Cohen, Billy Burkhead, George McGuiness, Kenny Maher and Neil Whitmen.

The Panthers edged the Elks, 6-0, in a fine defensive battle with the lone touchdown coming late in the final period.

Tommy Travers scored the touchdown on a seven-yard run.

Kevin Cameron, Mike Gilmore, Chris Shaughnessy, Dave McArthur and Joe Newman stood out for the Panthers.

North-Waltham Game On WJDA

Station WJDA will carry a play-by-play account of the North Quincy-Waltham football game Saturday from Veterans Memorial Stadium. Game time is 1:30 p.m. and air time is 1:25.

Presidents Seek Win Trail At N. Bedford

Quincy's football team hasn't won a game in three weeks but Coach Tom Fitzgerald is pleased with the Presidents' performances as they travel to New Bedford Friday for a 7 p.m. game with the Whalers.

"We played a really fine game at Newton and displayed our best offense of the year and it is a shame the boys couldn't have won," Fitzgerald said. Newton North won the game, 10-7, on a field goal with 12 seconds to play.

New Bedford, like Quincy, has been struggling. The Whalers dropped a 10-7 decision to Dartmouth last Friday, lost to Taunton, 21-0, the previous week, lost to Catholic Memorial, 26-6, and bowed to unbeaten Brockton, 18-0.

"We saw them against Dartmouth and were impressed," Fitzgerald said. "But, if we play like we did at Newton, I think we should win."

The Presidents gained 217 yards on the ground against the strong Newton North team, and the defense again played a good game. Penalties stopped a few promising Quincy drives and a fumble deep in its own territory set up the winning field goal.

"The offensive line was outstanding and Ed Iodice, Mike Abboud, Bill Flynn, Mark Picot and Mike Monahan all ran well," Fitzie said.

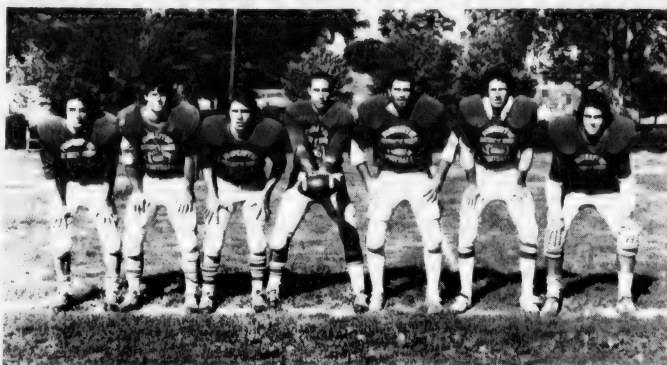

"The offensive line really came into its own today and did a terrific job," offensive coach

Newton scored in the opening period when Bob Billings hit Armando Proia with a 20-yard touchdown pass and Jerry Gentile kicked the point.

Quincy drove 50 yards for the tying touchdown in the third period, Abboud scoring from the three and Sean Martin kicked the tying point.

Martin was kicking instead of Ron Pettinelli, who usually kicks the points but is still hampered by a bad knee. He played some at Newton but is noticeably slowed down.

With about 20 seconds left Quincy fumbled on its 15 and Newton recovered. After two running plays Gentile kicked a 32-yard field goal, the ball just clearing the cross bar, for the winning points.

Quincy AAU Swim Club In Haverhill Meet

The Quincy AAU Swim Club sent seven of its swimmers to the first 1980-81 meet at Haverhill last weekend and they performed well against swimmers from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Eleven-year-old Bob Laracy finished second in the 50-yard breaststroke, third in the 50-yard butterfly, 50-yard backstroke and the 200-yard freestyle, and fourth in the 100-yard freestyle.

Jonathan Rice, 14, won the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard backstroke.

Andy Hall and Greg Doyle, both 10, competed against boys older and out of their class. Hall finished seventh in the 200 freestyle and the 100 backstroke, while Doyle placed fifth in the 100 butterfly and 100 backstroke.

The Quincy girls also did well as 10-year old Meg Givens won the 100 individual medley and placed third in the 50 backstroke and Erin Canavan, 12, was second in the 200 freestyle and the 100 backstroke.

Wendy Molignano, 14, finished second in the 100 butterfly, third in the 100 backstroke and fourth in the 100 freestyle.

The Quincy swimmers are looking forward to future AAU meets and also will represent the Quincy YMCA in the Eastern Mass. Y League. The team is again coached by Mary Wentworth and Frank Rull.

Here's an oddity... Almost all football history books say that the first college football game ever played was between Princeton and Rutgers on Nov. 6, 1869... But that's really not true... What they played that day wasn't football; it was soccer... There was NO running with the ball, no passing and no tackling... Football as we know it developed slowly over many years... Running with the ball, and tackling, came later in the 1800s, and passing didn't enter the game till the 1900s.

Unbelievably, as successful as Bob Schembacher has been over the years as football coach at Michigan, he's NEVER won the last game of the season in ANY year in the last 11 seasons... That's hard to believe, but it's true.

Which team has won the National Football League championship the most times in history?... Answer is the Green Bay Packers... The Packers have won the NFL title 11 times, but they haven't won it since 1967... The Packers won the NFL championship in 1929, '30, '31, '36, '39, '44, '61, '62, '65, '66 and '67.

I bet you didn't know that... COLMAN'S is having a huge Outdoor sale in a Tent Saturday only Oct. 25 This week. Sensational, drastic markdowns in footwear at hard to believe price. Many, Many, other values! Come early for best choice. Quincy store only!

North Girls Defeat Brockton, Boys Bow

The North Quincy girls' cross country team improved its record to 6-2-1 last week with a 20-36 victory over Brockton in a Suburban league meet.

Sheila Barrett won the meet, Mary Crehan was second, Linda Kennedy fourth, Deirdre Corrigan fifth, Deirdre Donovan eighth and Robyn O'Donnell 10th.

The boys didn't fare nearly as well as they dropped a 16-47 decision to Brockton.

Once again Gary Morin was the only Raider to finish in the top 10, placing fifth.

Thursday, Nov. 4, the North boys' and girls' teams will face Quincy.

Abboud QHS

Hockey Boosters President

Acc Abboud was elected president of the Quincy High School Hockey Boosters Club at its first meeting of the year last week at the Youth Arena.

The other new officers are vice presidents Pat O'Guire and John Baylis, treasurer Pam Craig and secretary Maureen Bamberv.

Squirt B's Bomb Scituate

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team rolled over Scituate, 11-0, with Tony Pecece and Michael Toland scoring two goals apiece and Hank Miller, Kevin Marston, Mark Dwyer, Michael McClory, Richie Golden, Paul Leman and Bobby Kane one each.

Jeff McClory had two assists and Michael McClory, Pecece, Marston, Miller, Golden, Mark Toland, Dwyer and Leman one each.

The Squirt B's also edged Braintree, 4-3, with Toland, Ralph Richardson, Marston and Pecece scoring the goals and Miller having two assists.

Scott Cunningham and Eddie Ryan played well in goal.

Central Hands Broad Meadows First Setback

By PETE ZOIA

In one of the best games of the Junior High football season, Central's league-leading ninth grade team handed Broad Meadows its first loss, 8-6.

Both teams had early chances to score, Central marching to the BM ten, only to fumble.

Broad Meadows retaliated by reaching Central's one, but was thwarted when Central's Jack Bolster batted down a sure touchdown pass. The only other highlight during the first half was an interception by BM's Tony Cascarano to halt a Central threat.

Bolster, who was easily the outstanding player of the game, intercepted a pass on the Meadows 38 early in the third quarter to set up the Central score.

Nunzio Carbone passed to Mark Valpando, who ran it to the seven and then caught another to score. Bolster added the winning two points on a pass from Carbone.

Broad Meadows roared right back with Mike Notarangelo doing some fine running, finally sprinting 14 yards for the TD. A pass try to equal Central's score was stopped.

An outside kick recovery by Carl Freeman of Broad Meadows worked and Meadows moved to the Central 22. Here Bolster picked off his second enemy pass on his 13 to ruin Broad Meadows' chance to win as the game came to a close.

Coach John Gostanian's Sterling varsity chalked up its third win against one loss, as it shut out Point, 22-0.

Rich Ready put Sterling on the scoreboard when he tackled a ballcarrier in the end zone for a safety in the opening quarter.

The remainder of the scoring came in the second period with three touchdowns coming in rapid succession.

A 25-yard scamper by Mark Stuart was followed by a 15-yard score by Steve Ray, and finally a Billy Coose to Stuart pass was good for the final six-pointer. Coose paired up with Stuart again for the two point conversion.

Point played solid defense during the second half, stopping the powerful Sterling offense.

Gary Minassian, John Cacciatore, Steve Kradolfer and Chris Constat were outstanding for Sterling.

Friday, Sterling will be out to avenge an earlier loss to Central.

The Broad Meadows eighth graders salvaged a 24-0 win over Central. Touchdowns were scored by Paul Miller in the first quarter on a 30-yard run, a third period pass play from Mark Abbound to Joe Conti and finally Joey Cullen's six-yard run. All three rush conversions were made by Miller.

Browning-Ferris Wins 3 In Row

The Quincy Youth Hockey's Browning-Ferris team won three games in a row during the past week.

Quincy defeated Watertown, 4-2, on goals by Rich Milano, Frank Reynolds, Mike McGrath and Tom Lester. Mike Cullen, McGrath and Kevin Duff had assists.

Cullen had a hat trick in a 4-1 win over Malden. Kevin Craig had the other goal. McGrath, Duff and Lester had assists.

Quincy also defeated Wilmington, 2-1.

Tom Corliss and Shawn Cunningham stood out in goal in each game.

Sunday the Midget A's will play Natick at 3:40 at the Winchester Rink.

IF CONFRONTED BY A SNARLING DOG

Ever wonder what you'd do if confronted face-to-face with a snarling dog? Here's some advice by experts that may help.

First of all, you have no choice but to bluff it out. Run, and he's sure to strike, because dogs are excited by a moving target. Instead, stand still with your legs together and your arms folded on your chest (to make your extremities less tempting bite-objects), and talk to the dog in a firm, steady voice. After it calms down, take one step forward, then, if the animal doesn't object, take another and proceed slowly on your way, pausing after each step. If the dog threatens when you move forward put your legs in reverse and backtrack slowly instead. Still facing him, move back slowly, one step at a time. If this doesn't work and the dog is determined to attack - tell him to wait until you read next week's column which will cover this situation.

● Girls Swimming

Harrow Sets School Record But North Girls Bow

The North Quincy girls' swim team saw its record fall to 3-5 last Friday when it lost to Waltham, 91-81.

Kit Harrow set a school record while finishing third in the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:21.7. North's winners were Sheila Quintiliani in the diving, Harrow in the 100 freestyle, Diana Dawson in the 100 backstroke, Marjorie Bartolotto in the 100 breaststroke and the 400 freestyle relay team of Donna O'Toole, Yvonne Boness, Sheila Quintiliani and Harrow.

North second places were taken by Jacqui Pike, 200 individual medley and the 100 butterfly and Susan Quintiliani, 500 freestyle.

Taking thirds were Susan Quintiliani, 200 freestyle; Boness, 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly; Cathie Burke, 100 backstroke, and Harrow, 100 breaststroke.

Earlier in the week North had rolled over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 128-22, taking all 11 first places and sweeping six events.

Susan Quintiliani, Julie Evanson and Eileen Donlin swept the 200 freestyle, Pike and Bartolotto were 1-3 in the 200 individual medley; Harrow, Burke and Lynne Byron swept the 50 freestyle; Sheila Quintiliani, Martha Donoghue and Nancy Callow swept the diving, Pike and Boness were 1-3 in the 100 but-fly, Harrow, Sheila Quintiliani and Donna O'Toole swept the 100 freestyle. Susan Quintiliani, Evanson and Donlin swept the 500 freestyle. Dawson, Burke and Donna Hidalgo swept the 100 backstroke, Bartolotto and Laura Mullin were 1-2 in the 100 breaststroke, and both relay teams won, Dawson, Bartolotto, Boness and Sheila Quintiliani, winning the 200 medley, and Pike, Susan Quintiliani, Boness and Harrow taking the 400 freestyle.

Today (Thursday) the Raiders swim at Newton North and Tuesday will host Stoughton at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool. Both meets start at 3:30.

Your Taxes at Work

Here's why they call it TAXACHUSETTS...

GASP! Massachusetts has the third highest state and local tax burden in the continental United States! The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the cities and towns, collect $903.00 per year for every man, woman and child in the state. State and local taxes in Massachusetts have increased 169% between 1966 and 1976 (the cost of living increased 75% in the same period).

INCREDIBLE! Job growth in Massachusetts between July 1974 and March 1978 was 1.5%, or about 40,000 jobs. Of these 22,000 were public sector (governmental) jobs. Nationally, during the same period, jobs increased 7.4%, five times as fast as Massachusetts. According to the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, over half of the manufacturing firms in New Hampshire had their origins in the Bay State.

OUTRAGEOUS! The average Massachusetts wage earner has the tenth highest before tax income among the fifty states, but the third lowest after-tax income.

Have you had enough?

North Kickers Open Season

The North Quincy Kickers Youth Soccer League has opened its eighth season recently with 130 boys participating in the fifth and sixth grade league. F.W. Parker and Quincy emerged as the front runners, both sporting 3-0 records.

Parker had easy sailing as it downed Mass. Fields, 5-1; Montclair, 5-0, and Wollaston, 3-0.

In the Mass. Fields win Scott Chansky scored unassisted for Parker but Donald Greene tied it for Mass. Fields. Parker then exploded for four goals. Brian Durkin scoring from Paul DeSimone. John Mooney scoring two unassisted goals and Paul Hannon scoring from Chris Goglio. Bill Meehan played well for Mass. Fields. For Durkin had a hat trick against Montclair and Hannon and Dave Levine also scored. Assistants went to Mike Stanton, Tim Marchulatis and Eddie Walty. Teddy Stevenson stopped a penalty kick to register the shutout. Tim Kelly played a good game for Montclair.

Stanton, Chansky and Mooney scored against Wollaston with Durkin and Mooney having assists. Mike Kiley and John Corrigan stood out for Wollaston.

Quincy was equally impressive as it topped Squantum, 4-1; edged Montclair, 2-1, and got by Furnace Brook, 3-2.

In the Squantum game Tommy Tegen scored three goals and Mike Benson the other. Chris Brown also played well for Quincy. Bill Wysocki scored for Squantum.

Nick Cangemi and Steve Wilds scored against Montclair with Timmy Baker having the Montclair goal. Billy O'Donnell had a good game for Montclair.

Benson scored twice against Furnace Brook and Cangemi added the game winner. For Furnace Brook, Billy Palmer scored twice, once on a penalty shot, the other on a pass from Mike Cassetta. Kevin DiMatteo played well for FB, which missed two penalty shots.

Mass. Fields walloped Wollaston, 6-1, and tied Beachwood Knoll, 2-2.

In the Wollaston game, Brian Callow scored twice and Donald Greene, Robert Hubbard, Robby Dever and Paul Adams also scored. John Corrigan scored for Wollaston with an assist for Steve Sullivan.

In the Beechwood Knoll tie, Kenny Mann and Greene scored for Mass. Fields and Danny Steele played well in goal. For Beechwood, Paul Murphy and Kevin Caldwell scored. Caldwell's penalty shot with 40 seconds left in the game tied the score. Jim Phelan, Beechie goalie, and Adam McGregor played well.

Squantum blanked Beechwood, 3-0, with Wysocki, Colman, Feeney and Dave Lawless scoring. Paul McCormack and goalie Mike Doherty also played well for Squantum.

Furnace Brook tied Montclair, 1-1. Mike Cassetta tied the game for FB with three minutes left. Palmer had an assist. Tim Baker scored on a 15-yard shot for Montclair. Scott Sacchetti played well in goal for FB and Steve Rabs and Mark Zineus had good games for Montclair.

Kevin Lewis scored five goals to pace Dayce's Place to a 9-4 victory over Beau's Place Monday night in Executive Hockey League action at the Youth Arena.

Dave Mullen had two goals and Jack Valle and Doug McLean one each.

Ken Marini and McLean had two assists apiece and Paul Bauserme, Pete Bertrand, Mullen, Jack Casey and Bob Bannister one each. For Beau's Bob Carroll had two goals and Mike Haynes and Ken Gardiner one each. Terry Flaman had two assists and Carroll and Gardiner one each.

Adams Sports defeated Luke's Lounge, 7-3, as Kevin Glynn and Bob Donovan each scored two goals. Alan Gullickson, Bob Simonelli and Paul O'Bri n had the other goals, all unassisted. Donovan, Bill Hansen, Dennis O'Connell and Bob O'Connell had assists. Ralph Freeman scored twice and Mike Semerigakis once for Luke's. Rich Gibbs had two assists and Bill Lawrence and Jack Powers one each.

Washington Tap defeated Budget Rent-A-Car, 7-2, as Marty Tolson scored two goals and assisted on another. Other goals were scored by Bernie Toland, Ed Grogan, Jack Diffy, Paul Casey and Bill Sweeney. Sweeney, Toland and Ed St. John had two assists apiece and Casey, Tolson and Charlie Duffo one each. For Budget Don Bonito and Art Boyle scored the goals and Chuck Beneha and Jerry Fitzgerald had assists.

North Boys Team Tie, Lose

The North Quincy boys' soccer team, showing steady improvement, tied Weymouth South, 2-2, last week, but later in the week bowed to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0.

The Raiders will play at Weymouth North Friday at 3:30.

Weymouth South took the lead five minutes into the game as Roger Holmes broke on alone on North goalie Paul Mallory. This seemed to fire up North Quincy as it took the play away from the Wildcats behind exceptional play by the midfield group of John Keenan, Scott Brennan and Danny Marsters. Marsters, playing his first varsity game, was outstanding and was a key player for the Raiders throughout the game.

Paul Gill, Peter McGillicuddy and Bill DeCarli all had shots turned aside. DeCarli collided with the Weymouth goalie, who was forced to leave the game.

The third period again saw North the aggressor, keeping the Wildcats pinned in their end most of the quarter. Steve Dodd, Rich Palma and Gary Donaghy kept the pressure on.

North's persistence paid off as two minutes into the fourth quarter sophomore McGillicuddy beat the South goalie, his shot finding the top left corner of the net.

North's joy was short-lived, however, as Weymouth scored at the seven-minute mark.

With four minutes left in the game, Marsters chipped a pass to Palma, who made a perfect cross to sophomore inside Mike Bourikas, who scored the tying goal. It was Bourikas' third goal in two games.

North's outstanding goalie, Mallory, came up with several excellent saves against Cambridge's highly skilled club. Excellent play by Bill Koch, Gill, Steve Kavanagh and Charlie Spiroplous helped keep Cambridge in check and the winners' only goal in the first half came on a penalty shot with three minutes left in the half.

Cambridge scored again in the third quarter as a high head shot eluded Mallory's leap.

Paul Donovan had a fine chance to score for North as Palma fed him a nice through pass, but Donovan's shot went wide. Donaghy played well in the second half.

Steve Sacchetti played his first game of the year and looked good in limited action. He had been out with a torn thigh muscle suffered in pre-season action. Marsters again played well as did Gill and Koch. Koch played his best game of the season.

Raiderettes Win, Tie

The North Quincy girls' soccer team is having a good season under first-year coach Rich Hutchins and last week improved its record to 5-2 with a victory and a tie.

Friday the Raiderettes defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 4-0, as goalie Lisa Cavanaugh earned her fifth shutout of the season.

Debbie Kiley had two goals, one unassisted, and Kim Alberti and Karyn Smith scored the others. Alberti and Jackie Thayer had assists.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes played to a 2-2 tie with Weymouth South. Weymouth tied the score with less than five minutes left on a goal by Cheryl Scanlon.

North Quincy had taken a 2-0 lead on two goals by Smith. North will host Weymouth North at 3:30 and Tuesday will play Brookline at 3 o'clock.

Historical Society To Hold Annual Fall Auction Saturday

Antiques, collectibles and money are among the items donated for the annual fall auction of the Quincy Historical Society Saturday, Oct. 25, 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The auction will be held on the Adams Academy grounds at Hancock and Dimmock Sts., Quincy. Items will be previewed from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

The money to be auctioned off will include a $50 savings bond and bank accounts of $25 and $50.

Among the antiques and collectibles are furniture, Dorchester pottery and a repairable "Edison Standard Phonograph."

Special items vary from an ashtray from the Capitol office of House Speaker Thomas (Tip) O'Neill, to a basketball autographed by the Celtics team, and a pair of Patriots' tickets.

Auctioneer will be Vincent Sullivan of Quincy. John Harrington, a director of the Society, is auction chairman.

Articles to be donated for the auction will be received at the Adams Academy through Thursday, Oct. 23.

Halloween Story Hours At Crane Libraries

Halloween spectres haunt the Thomas Crane Public Library three times next week when story hours are held for children age seven and older.

First is a story hour at the Central Library, Quincy Sq., Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 3:30 p.m.

The North Quincy Branch Library offers a program on Thursday Oct. 30 at 3 p.m. At 3 p.m. Friday, Oct. 31, Halloween Day itself, the Wollaston Branch Library is the setting for ghostly goings-on.

Halloween poetry, spooky stories, eerie chants and special activities are featured at these programs to which children may wear costumes. Programs will be rescheduled if less than 10 children are present.

KIRSTEN GETZ of Quincy, (seated, left) is appearing in the Boston Children's Theatre's production of "Pied Piper of Hamelin" which debuted last week-end and continues Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 2 and 8 at New England Life Hall. Kirsten is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Getz of 40 Colby Rd. Her cast mates include, from left, Adam Thorburn, David Lerman and Ariel Zalkind, all of Newton. For tickets to the production, call 277-3277.

Centerstage Theatre To Present 'All My Sons'

The Centerstage Theatre Company, formerly the Quincy Community Theatre, will present Arthur Miller's "All My Sons" on Nov. 7, 8, 14 and 15.

All shows are at 8 p.m. at the new North Quincy High School theater arts complex.

Director is Jeanne Armin. Tickets are available at Baskin Robbins and Sawyer's in Quincy Center, Colonial Bakery and Pizza Chef in Wollaston and Balducci's in North Quincy. Tickets will also be available at the door. Discounts for senior citizens, students and groups of 15 or more are available.

Patrons may also receive a 10-percent Opening Night discount for dinner at Walsh's Restaurant, 9 Billings Rd., North Quincy, by presenting their tickets.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 23.

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

Social plans call for extravagance—but you can be glamorous on shoestring budget. Partnership accented, professionally and personally. Hunches strong on weekend.

PICES—February 20-March 20

Social life comes to slowdown, but it's soothing week, spent in company of small groups. You've been thinking about face from the past—and the owner steps into present.

ARIES—March 21-April 20

Not good week for combining business and personal life. Could be inclined on weekend to dress less—or more—than appropriately. Political debate can heat up quickly.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22

People are changing the topic on you—and you may have to force issue, especially if it's money. Loved one is subdued; stay in background and don't fuss.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Opinions change—yours, your friends', your family's. It's that kind of week. But it's also week featuring good shopping, and offering chance to know someone rather special.

CANCER—June 22-July 22

Delightful diversions are sprinkled through week, but you can't afford to ignore picky household jobs. You could be surprised when friend takes you up on old promise.

LEO—July 23-August 22

Week of extremes, offering most rustic and most elegant events, and introductions to both shy and extroverted types. Delayed project is reactivated by Monday.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Domestic conflict begins to ease, and week marks start of long period of household harmony. Financial bonanza figures into weekend picture—but don't over-celebrate.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22

Job-related travel can be highlight of generally upbeat week. Just one warning: don't be coy or mysterious. Weekend favors meeting friends of friends.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Job-related travel can be highlight of generally upbeat week. Just one warning: don't be coy or mysterious. Weekend favors meeting friends of friends.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

Focus is on budget cutbacks and quiet entertainments—which hardly means dull week. Legal problems can be settled now. Check with family before jumping at long-term assignment.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

If hedging about making an announcement, this is the week to muster all your courage. Work and social life go hand-in-hand now, with profitable results.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Feelings are powerful, imagination is active. You can be possessive—about people and things—and some people thing you're psychic. Obligations in general accented till February, then domestic burden lightens. Personal relationships deepen through year.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 23rd, TV host Johnny Carson; 24th, playwright Moss Hart; 25th, artist Pablo Picasso; 26th, actress Jaclyn Smith; 27th, actress Ruby Dee; 28th, scientist Jonas Salk; 29th, actress Kate Jackson.

Dr. Creedon, Dr. Del-Val To Present Special Needs Workshop

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, and Dr. Patricia Del-Val, Coordinator of Special Needs, will present a workshop entitled "Occupational Education for Special Needs", at the Massachusetts Teachers Association Fall 1980 Post Graduate Educational Institute.

The workshop, to be held in Natick, Oct. 28, will focus on the significant role occupational education plays in special education programs for special needs students in the Quincy Public Schools.

The presentation will include a description of the general philosophy of individualized occupational education programs for students and examples of specific programs in operation.

Included will be: pre-vocational programs, modified vocational school programs, extended day vocational programs, and programs for severely handicapped students.

A slide-tape presentation will be shown.

IBM 370 OS/VSJCL

As a member of our Data Acquisition Group, you will serve the scientific programming needs of our various research groups. You'll need about 1-4 years of related experience. Your assignments will include real-time data acquisition, archival data storage and retrieval, statistical analysis, graphics and many other challenging tasks.

ASSEMBLER LANGUAGE PROGRAMMERS

Minicomputer Applications

Working with our General Automation minicomputers, you'll be involved in programming real-time business applications for a Distributed Network. Because this position offers the opportunity to develop systems for a Nationwide Distributed Network, 1-5 years minicomputer assembler programming experience is required. A degree is preferred, but is not essential.

There are close to 80 people working in our Norwood Information Services Division and work assignments are done on a Project Group basis. We are organized effectively, so good employees are easily recognized and rewarded for their contributions. We need top notch programmers who thrive on the challenges that are inherent in the field. For more detail about our company, or the positions described above, send your resume or letter describing your background and salary history to Shale Cantando, Staffing Manager.

Private Firm To Manage City Hospital?

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and his advisory committee appear to be leaning toward an outside management firm to operate City Hospital.

And the advisory committee has narrowed the choice down to three firms to run the $25 million hospital operation for the city.

Tobin himself visited one of them, the Hospital Corp. of America, last week in Nashville, Tenn., and he said he was planning to get together for discussions with representatives of the others.

They are Hospital Affiliates International Inc., of Dallas and Nashville, and National Medical Enterprises Inc., of Los Angeles and Atlanta.

But Tobin refused to say outright that he was committed to having the hospital taken over by an outside management firm.

Members of the advisory committee told him, he said, "that the city would be heading in the right direction if I visited with these people and looked them over personally."

The mayor said, as he has all along, that the city is faced with the options of floating a multi-million dollar bond issue to update the hospital's physical plant or farming out the operation.

"I don't think that right now the best course is to ask the City Council to approve a multi-million dollar bond issue," he said.

Lowest In Years

78% Turnout Seen For Presidential Election

The Quincy tax rate has been delayed another week, due largely to paperwork.

"They've formed us to death," said Chief Assessor John P. Comer, who was scheduled to take the city's forms in to the State Department of Revenue on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last week.

Instead, Comer did not get away for the State House until Tuesday afternoon with the tax recap sheets and supporting documents were scheduled to follow Wednesday morning.

Comer said it might take the state a week or 10 days to certify a tax rate which is expected to show a rise of $20 to $25 for fiscal 1981. The current tax rate is $224.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said it is unlikely that the city will face the same delays in obtaining certification from the state that it did last year, when the rate was not set until late December.

Last year, city and state argued long and bitterly over what the state would accept in estimated receipts by the city. The higher the estimate the lower the tax rate.

This year, Auditor Charles L. Shea and Hospital Director Anthony DeFalco visited the State House early in the game to determine what the state would accept in the way of hospital receipts.

"The state does a thorough job in questioning figures and demanding justification for them," said Tobin.

He said the delay in paperwork was occasioned by understaffing in the auditor's office and late arrival of the tax cap forms from the school department.

The lowest turnout in many years for a presidential election in Quincy is expected Tuesday as voters cast ballots in contests for president, governor's council, state rep in the Third Norfolk, a few referenda and little else.

City Clerk John Gillis predicts that only 78 per cent of the 51,908 registered voters in the city will bother to go to the polls, a figure well below that of recent years.

"The candidates at the top of the ballot are just not attracting that much attention and that is the only office with a real contest," said Gillis of the presidential race among Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and John Anderson.

Gillis does not expect that the controversial Proposition 2½, or Question 2 on the ballot, will draw the voters out in droves either.

"The people who are interested in 2½ are the municipal employees and the home owners," he said. "The rest have nothing to vote for. Most don't even know what's involved in 2½."

The lowest voter turnout in Quincy in recent presidential years was the 83 per cent who voted in 1972 when George McGovern challenged Richard M. Nixon. The city went Democratic that year, as it has in every election since 1960.

The only local contests on the ballot are:

Democrat Peter L. Eley, the Quincy attorney, faces William J. Robinson of Hull for the Fourth District seat on the Governor's Council that was held for 33 years by the late Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough.

Rep. Robert Cerasoli (D-Quincy) is challenged by Republican Gerard E. Lawler of Weymouth in the Third Norfolk District, which includes parts of Weymouth. This race is on the ballot only in Ward 2 in Quincy.

Free rides to re-election go to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Reps. Thomas F. Brownell and Michael W. Morrissey, County Commissioners James J. Collins and George B. McDonald, and Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall, all Democrats.

Democrats outnumber Republicans in Quincy by a margin of 31,940 to 7,814 with another 12,514 listing themselves as unenrolled.

Among the referenda, Question 2, which would limit the property tax levy to 2.5 per cent of the total valuation of the city or town (hence Proposition 2½), has drawn most of the attention but there are

Last Bond Issue Due To Pay For NQHS

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and two aides were scheduled to leave for New York today (Thursday) to float the last bond issue for construction work on North Quincy High School, which was dedicated Sunday.

Tobin, along with Auditor Charles L. Shea and Treasurer Robert E. Foy III, were to supervise a bond issue of $6 million, including $600,000 for landlaking for the new Quincy Center Plaza building.

Shea said the city did not float the entire $16 million in bonds for North Quincy High at one time because there would be fewer financial institutions in competition for such a large sum.

In the meantime, Shea said, the construction work on the high school was financed by bond anticipation notes.

Tobin said the three Quincy officials will also look over the bond market in New York in anticipation of floating a $2 million issue for hospital equipment in six to nine months.

Anyone in the business of purchasing gold, silver or platinum must obtain an old gold license from the City License Board.

City Clerk John Gillis commented at Tuesday's board meeting that not many people are aware of the fact.

The matter came up when two applicants came before the board for licenses for such businesses.

Old Gold Buyers Must Have License

Daniel J. Mullen applied for a second hand license for Old Gold Antiques, 1157 Hancock St., Quincy Center, and William Chiaramonte for an old gold license for Treasure Hut, 322 Washington St., Quincy.

Gillis told the applicants that according to a July 7, amendment to Chapter 266 of the General Laws, a book must be kept with a description of the item, quantity purchased, price, and name and address of the seller for any purchase of at least $50.

The amendment also states that the seller is required to show identification to the buyer prior to the sale, and that the books shall be open at all times to the inspection of the police chief.

Mullen and Chiaramonte's applications were continued for one week pending routine police checks.

$25,000 Coastal Grant For Town River Study

Quincy has been awarded a $25,000 grant by the Massachusetts Coastal Zone Management Office to develop a master improvement plan for the Town River Bay area of Quincy Point and Germantown.

Planning Director James E. Lydon said the money will be used to study the impact of tanker and truck traffic generated by the oil companies that maintain facilities in the area.

Part of the study will involve the possibility of future oil spills on the Town River.

Lydon said the study also will look into best possible land uses for properties owned by Quincy Lumber Co. and two Duane companies should they ever come on the market.

A committee of local businessmen and residents will be formed to have input into the study, said Lydon, and a consulting firm will be hired to make proposals.

Edward J. Reilly, director of the Coastal Zone Management Office said it is hoped the results of the study "might help serve as a model for other coastal communities with similar energy related problems."

Oliva Resigns After Drug Case Appeal Dropped

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Former schoolteacher John Oliva resigned last week after Dist. Atty. William Delahunt's office agreed to drop a pending appeal of his case.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Matthew Connolly said the agreement has worked out after consultation with Delahunt and the Quincy School Department.

Oliva was arrested by Quincy Police April 22 and charged with possession of a Class D substance (marijuana) with intent to distribute. Arresting officers claimed that 24 one-pound bags of marijuana were found in Oliva's car at the time of the arrest.

Oliva of 42 Warwick St., North Quincy and co-defendant Eulus Martins pleaded innocent in Quincy District Court.

On Oct. 2, Norfolk Superior

Court Justice Robert V. Mulhern threw charges against the pair out of court, ruling that the April 22 search of Oliva's car had been illegally conducted.

According to Connolly, on Oct. 9 he filed a request to appeal the case before the Supreme Judicial Court and an Oct. 22 hearing was set.

"I talked with the school department people and they asked me what the appeal's chances were," he said. "I told them 50-50."

"They thought that, given that, they would be better off without Mr. Oliva being able to come back to them looking for a job at some time in the future," Connolly said.

The appeal was withdrawn Oct. 21, "after I had Mr. Oliva's resignation in writing," Connolly said. Part of the agreement, Connolly said, is that Oliva also dropped any claims against the school department.

The District Attorney's office also agreed to withdraw the appeal, which cannot be refilled.

"That closes the case," said Connolly.

Oliva's attorney, Jeffrey LaPointe, had no comment on the resignation.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon confirmed that the School Committee accepted Oliva's resignation in executive session at its Oct. 22 meeting. Creedon had no further comment at the case.

Oliva had been a gym teacher at the Lincoln Hancock School, Quantum School and Atlantic Junior High School.

Since his arrest, he had been on an unpaid leave of absence granted by the School Committee.

QJC Awarded $130,000 U.S. Grant

The Department of Education has awarded Quincy Junior College $130,000 in Title III funds for the second year of a two year grant beginning Oct. 1, 1980.

"The Title III grant has been awarded to continue the work begun last year in Basic Skills, Institutional Planning and Evaluation and Student Outreach Services," announced President Edward Pierce. The grant is highly competitive, with more than 500 two-year colleges across the nation vying for it. "We've had evaluators from the federal and outside educational agencies examine our program and in each case they found our program to have surpassed expectations," added Project Director Margaret French.

The Student Outreach/Adult Learner Services Project is designed to assist the college in outreach to the community, especially to those traditionally barred from higher education.

In addition, the project provides support mechanisms that will aid in reducing barriers that often prevent the non-traditional student from returning to school.

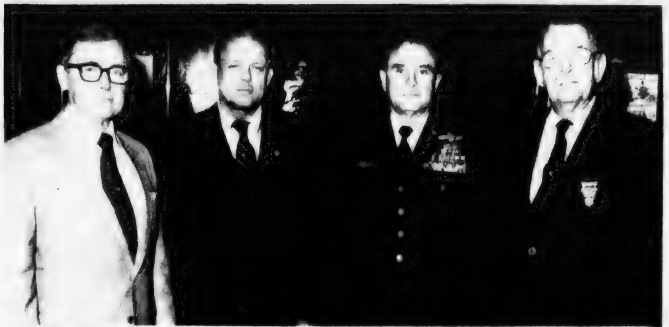

Another aspect of last year's project was the Needs Assessment Survey. Both Student Outreach and the Title III Office of Institutional Planning and Evaluation carried out and analyzed the survey. Among the results reported are an interest in Saturday courses, career related courses, especially in business, and non-credit courses. The College will begin implementing additional services as defined by the needs survey. In recognition of community needs, the College has already begun a preliminary Saturday Program.

The Basic Skills Development Center Project reflects the long-standing recognition for remedial and developmental work for many students first entering the College.

Individual programming, varying learning formats including audio-tutorial instruction, laboratory work, counseling and small group workshops all comprise a total view of student learning styles.

"This grant has enhanced the College's ability to serve the needs of a more diverse population," says project director Margaret French, "and, as the community college of the South Shore, Quincy Junior College will continue to grow and expand as community needs grow and change."

Mr., Mrs. Herbert B. Hollis Celebrate 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Hollis of Quincy celebrated their 55th anniversary recently in a special way - by hosting a party for their family which "blessed them with great loyalties and friendships" over the years.

The "family only" idea developed when the Hollis realized it would be impossible to include their many friends in the celebration at the Barnside Tavern without slighting someone.

Fifty-five relatives were invited to the party "as small token of our gratitude . . . for all of the fine things you have done for us"

Among those attending were the Hollis' son, Don, of Weymouth, and their grandchildren Donna Hayden of Braintree and Tammy Hollis of Weymouth. They are also the great grandparents of Jennifer Lynn Hayden of Braintree.

Also on hand were Mrs. Hollis' nephew, Lloyd Green, and his wife Nancy of Millis, as well as cousins from Newton and Cape Cod.

Mr. Hollis' relatives included his brother Earl, who was the couple's best man, with his wife, Eleanor, of Braintree and their son Ken and his wife Nancy of Abington.

Also, sister-in-law Mary O'Donnell with her daughter, Gerry Miller, and children of Quincy; Herbert and Jo Eno of Braintree; Horace and Alberta Eno of Braintree; Warren Eno of Quincy; and Florence O'Toole of Weymouth.

The Hollis, who live at 1000 Southern Artery, were married

Oct. 14, 1925, at the home of the bride in Braintree. The main part of their marriage was spent in that town.

Mrs. Hollis, the former Bertha A. Marquardt, was active in the Co-Workers of the First Congregational Church as well as the Philergians.

Mr. Hollis, who was born in Braintree, is a retired tax accountant for Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates.

He was also a state representative for 18 years, Selectman, member of the Board of Welfare, Board of Health, Finance Committee and Town Meeting member for 32 years.

He is also a past master of Delta Masonic Lodge, member of the Scottish Rite, Shrine Taleb Grotto, charter and honorary life member of Braintree American Legion Post having served with the Marine Corps in France during World War I.

He was also member of the Republican Town Committee and president of the Kiwanis Club of Weymouth.

During World War II, Mr. Hollis seldom missed a day wishing draftees well as they left Braintree to serve their country, and he hasn't missed a Memorial Day observance in over 70 years.

Don Hollis paid tribute to his parents at the anniversary party by stating, "May the joy you bring to everyone, and the joy you bring to each other, combine to make a perfect day, for a perfect dad and mother".

Poster And Essay Contest Winners To Visit United Nations Nov. 18

The nine winners of the United Nations Day Poster and Essay Contest will visit the United Nations in New York by bus on Tuesday, Nov. 18.

The winners will have lunch in the delegates dining room, tour the building and be briefed by a member of the UN staff and sit in on a meeting of the UN General Assembly, according to Rev. Keith Munson of United First Parish Church.

Rev. Munson and Richard Ramsdell of Quincy Public Schools acted as coordinators of the contest, which was co-sponsored by the City of Quincy and the Quincy Sun.

Arrangements for the visit are being made by the United Nations office of the Unitarian Universalist Church, according to Rev. Munson.

Families of the nine winners are invited to participate in the trip, said Rev. Munson, and he and his wife, Mrs. Peggy Munson, will also accompany the group.

The group will leave Quincy at about 7 a.m. and return at about 10 a.m.

The trip is being sponsored by various Quincy civic, fraternal and service organizations.

Winners in the contest were:

QCA Backs Proposition 2½

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

For once everyone regardless of political beliefs is in agreement—that Proposition 2½ is going to pass. There is much disagreement however whether it should or should not pass.

Question 2 on the ballot is a "Taxpayers question." Twice in the past year our association has supported this issue. The reason is the same reason that taxpayers are supporting it. We no longer can afford to listen to political rhetoric on "how we held taxes down." We have heard this too many times, from the state level on down, across the entire state. We have a governor who campaigned on 500 million dollars in property tax relief. We're lucky if we got 50 million or 10 cents on the campaign promised dollar. He also campaigned on a 0 percent tax cap but we had to settle for a 4 percent cap with so many loopholes it is much higher than 4 percent. We have relied too much on federal monies that when it stops we find we are almost totally dependent on it.

Governments will spend all the money they can, but when taxes get too high they actually destroy our capitalist system and the free enterprise in the business community. The government we now have is nothing short of socialist. Since most government spending is for payroll it generates nothing to spur the economy as the private sector does.

In this state we pay approximately an average of 45 percent of our income for taxes of all forms—real estate, excise, sales, income, etc. This increases lately about 1 percent per year. When you add the 18 percent inflation we had earlier this year, you can see why taxpayers have been hollaring for relief. Even now inflation is about 13 percent. In effect we have been paying about 60 percent of our income for taxes and inflation. That doesn't leave much else when it now costs a family of 4 $100 a week for food. Taxes and inflation have changed our lives completely. Our savings and life long holdings are disappearing, we can't pay bills and many are in danger of losing their homes, especially the elderly on fixed income. We have to put off spending, which would help the economy, because we don't have the money. We can't afford to have taxes increase anymore.

The only way total taxes can be reduced is by reducing total spending, not finding other taxes to be increased or added. The taxpayers finally are saying "we have had enough" and are taking measures into their own hands, starting with the property taxes and trying to limit the increase in state spending.

Government will never reduce spending unless forced to do so. This is evident from the effort and much illegal spending of our tax dollar to defeat Proposition 2½. The scare tactics simply don't hold water. The same arguments were used in California. After one year of Proposition 13, California had more money than before it took effect. Voters originally passed it by a 2-1 margin but since it has been in effect they now support by a 3-1 margin.

There is much talk about how much money the cities and towns will lose. Actually they will be spending less and this is what Question 2 is all about. The real amount won't be known until full valuation and classification go into effect.

Why does the opposition always start their arguments by stating fire and police will be cut back? Why don't they first talk about waste, political patronage, school systems with a declining student population and services which are not dollar efficient? Maybe some services should be paid for at the time by those who use them. Most of these claims of service cuts are from those who have nothing official to do with the budgets and are just speculating, since the actual cuts will be by official bodies in most cases.

Citizens have listened to politicians and those who live off our taxes long enough. Now it's time for them to listen to us.

Quincy Quiz

Debra Nimeskern of 38 Minihan's Lane, West Quincy, is the winner of a T-shirt in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers (one a mail subscriber) to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the superintendent of Quincy's cemeteries?
2. The Granite Railway in West Quincy was the first commercial railroad in the United States, dating back to 1825. Why was it built?
3. What was the Quincy tax rate for fiscal 1980?
4. In what section of the city is the Islamic Center of New England?
5. What is the motto of the city of Quincy?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Russell Erano is Quincy's sewer superintendent.
2. Quincy's first city manager under the Plan E charter was William J. Deegan Jr.
3. Des Moines Rd. is in the Quincy Point section of the city.
4. The Stone Temple is another name for First Park Church.
5. Germantown got its name from the German laborers who were imported to work in a glass factory there in the mid-18th Century.

A Tribute To Denny Ryan

"It couldn't happen to a nicer guy" is a well-worn, over-worked phrase.

But, when you're talking about Quincy District Court Clerk Dennis Ryan — well — it really couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

The thing that happened was the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers dedicating the Dennis F. Ryan Board Room in his honor at ceremonies Wednesday.

Denny, who is 69, resigned from the Board of Managers in August citing ill health which made it impossible for him to participate as a full-time member.

He had been a member of the Board of Managers for 12 years and had been vice chairman for a year.

He has been clerk of Quincy District Court since 1951 and should have been named a judge long ago.

He would have made a good one. He'd have been fair but tough when it was needed. He has run his clerk's office in that manner.

Denny was honored with special citations from the city and the Quincy Bar Association during the Constitution Bicentennial celebration in September.

And, he took the occasion to work in a nice plug for one of his favorite institutions — Quincy City Hospital, — which some would like to be turned over to a private operation.

"I have no intention of spoiling a lovely day making a speech," he began, "but we have a fine hospital."

"Don't lose it — please don't lose your hospital. Our doctors know their business, they're real professionals. Our nurses are second to none."

"The hospital needs equipment but, of course, the taxpayer needs to be taken into consideration. I just pray that someday we'll get that equipment — then you'll see one of the top hospitals in the Commonwealth."

Denny, who is quite a scrapper, on that same day vowed he would return to work at the courthouse despite his illness and warned lawyers in the crowd not to sit in his office chair. "I'll be back," he declared.

And, he is back, and in fighting trim.

A LONG-TIME DEBT was repaid amidst all the ceremonies at the North Quincy High School dedication Sunday.

As School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon explains it, the School Department had borrowed a shovel for awhile — actually 53 years.

It started, he said in 1927, at ground-breaking ceremonies for the then — North Quincy

CREEDON

Junior High.

The crowd had gathered, the news cameras were ready and all the city and school department officials were there. But nobody had remembered to bring the traditional ceremonial shovel.

Some quick thinker ran across to Hunt St. to the home of the Gill family to borrow a shovel. The family's children and grandchildren grew up to attend that school, recalls Creedon, and their paperboy (himself) grew up to be superintendent of schools.

And so, the School System decided it was finally time to give the shovel back.

On hand to accept the long-missing shovel was Margaret (Gill) King, who had graduated from North Quincy herself in 1946.

FRIENDS AND FAMILY are saddened by the unexpected death of Catherine Faiella, wife of Quincy Board of Registrars Chairman Guy Faiella. She had been a patient at Quincy City Hospital for several weeks after suffering a slight heart attack. And only last week in this space, Guy had asked us to report she was well on the road to recovery.

"I've been getting a lot of phone calls," he said, "so I want everyone to know she's doing fine and we expect her home in three or four weeks."

But, sadly, it wasn't to be.

A SURPRISE was in store for City Council President Leo Kelly when he served as master of ceremonies for the Manet Community Health Center's first anniversary party and awards night recently.

Kelly helped present the center's outstanding contribution awards to Anthony DeFalco, Quincy city Hospital director, Jack Hacunda, president of the center's board of directors and William Huber, director of city housing rehabilitation.

But, later in the evening, the tables were turned as Kelly was awarded his own plaque, citing is "outstanding contributions" to the center's first year.

"It was a complete surprise to me," said Kelly, who received a standing ovation from the 300 persons present.

THEY-DID-IT Again Dept: The state Department of Public Works recently repaved Washington St. (Rte. 3-A) between the Southern Artery and the Fore River Bridge.

"They finished it on a Wednesday," notes Quincy Police Sgt. Dick Laracy. "And, on Thursday, Mass. Electric was out there, tearing up the street with a jackhammer."

And, word is, that state engineers are now surveying Washington St. for what may be another dig-up-the-street project.

Urges Proposition 2½ 'Yes' Vote

Editor, The Quincy Sun

Proposition 2½ Question 2 on The Referendum Ballot, deserves the Yes Vote of every Taxpayer and Renter in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Every other question on the referendum either defeats Question 2½ or raises your taxes.

Strong statement yes, and we are not saying that Question 2, Proposition 2½ is a perfect piece of legislation. What we are saying is that it is a start and the first opportunity you have had to lower your tax rate.

Ask yourself this question, "Why the scare tactics?" And then ask yourself, "Why are they so concerned and whom do they represent?" If, they are frightened, then you The Taxpayers and The Renters are making some progress and they know it.

Ask yourself this question "Who or Whom is paying for all this Advertising?" and with what money? Are you sure it is not your money? You the taxpayers and the renters. Or are our good political forces digging into their pockets and paying for it with the money they earn from our taxes?

When you go into your Voting Booth and vote, you can be sure of only one fact, no one is looking over your shoulder and you can vote your conscience.

This Association was formed to try and protect your interests and with your help and only with your help can we continue to try.

'Ronald Reagan Is Not The Enemy'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

For the last two months of this presidential campaign, voters have been bombarded with all sorts of non-sensical rhetoric. To a great extent, with these accusations tossed about, the 'real issues have been clouded.

One of the main points of this campaign should be that of Jimmy Carter's incompetence. He cannot be blamed totally for this nation's ills. But the fact remains - he has done a terrible job! Four more years of Carter's stumbling, fumbling, bumbling leadership boggles the human mind.

Ronald Reagan is not the enemy, as has been claimed. That's plain ludicrous! The "enemy" is that large group of liberal spendtholics - made up mostly of democrats - who have controlled Congress for the last 25 years.

No economist has to explain to Americans what inflation is doing to the nation. As prices jump, family incomes shrink. There seems to be more and more of the month left, after the paycheck has been spent. But what most people do not realize is that inflation is caused by the government. Inflation is the increase of currency in circulation, which causes a decrease in the monetary units (dollars) and a rise in the cost of goods and services. This can be caused by an increase in paper money or the amount of gold mined. When's the last time America witnessed a gold rush?

How is the money supply increased? The Federal Reserve Board rolls out the printing presses. As a consequence of this increase in greenbacks, the Japanese want more for their television sets, and the Arabs want more for their oil. The effects at home are similar. That pound of hamburger for which you paid $1.99 last year, now costs about $2.35. We have not turned the corner on inflation, as Carter claims. Washington continues to spend money like a bunch of drunken sailors!

Then of course there is the energy crunch. Yet in 1972, the president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America told a Senate Committee that we had about 100 years supply of oil, at that year's consumption rate. That was a conservative estimate. We have approximately 400 years of low-sulphur coal. What is the Department of Energy doing about all this? Their budget runs at about $12 billion annually. This is more money than all the oil and natural gas producers spent on drilling and exploration five years ago. The Energy Department should be abolished, as a first step toward solving our energy problem.

Many homeowners are in for a struggle this winter, just trying to meet the cost of heating their homes.

Reagan has been quoted as saying, "let the oil companies go."

He has been heavily criticized for it. But this is a sound idea. Understand that there are thousands of corporations, involved in the petroleum business; but the production and sale of oil are controlled by Exxon, Gulf, Shell, British Petroleum, Mobil, Texaco and Standard of California. Experts claim that our problem has been caused by an absence of an energy policy, but that's not true. Carter's policy has helped the larger oil companies - just take a look at their latest profits.

The next step toward solving the energy problem would be to reduce the taxes that ALL energy producers must pay. Can you imagine the effect? The little guys would be more inclined to compete against their bigger brothers. There is no doubt that some oil producers would enjoy massive profits; but eventually competition and price cutting would set in. It's basic economics. The worst effect from this would be that several hundred bureaucrats will be out of work!

There are other significant problems which have gone unmentioned, as well. One problem that comes to mind is the regressive tax system, though Reagan has announced plans for tax cuts.

The middle class through their tax-paying efforts are paying the bills for those who won't work when they can find employment. Welfare programs are needed for persons entitled to them. But in many surveys conducted by the government, in the last 10 to 12 years, it was discovered that hundreds of people were taking advantage of the various welfare programs. And they continue to do so.

The middle class, is also taking care of the bills for the super-rich who do not pay their fair share of taxes. The Rockefellers, and many others are permitted to set up tax shelter foundations so that they may hold on to their wealth.

The breakdown of law and order across America has left its mark. It is a sad commentary that in a civilized nation, people are afraid to ride the transit system after a certain hour, afraid to go out after dark, even afraid when someone knocks on the door. And this is exactly the case in cities such as Boston, Birmingham, Detroit, Chicago, and many others. We must get back to the idea of sure and swift punishment. This is a matter for the states, but a strong show of support by the President for those who enforce the law, would put us on the road to stability very soon.

We need a strong national defense. No country has ever achieved true peace through a timid defense policy. Peace through strength is the only rational approach to insuring our security for generations to come. America needs a military capability second-to-none. Many experts say we are now running second-to-none. We should, for now, put Salt II back on the shelf - it's a bad shakedown!

With a strong military force, must come a sound foreign policy. The rest of the world is wondering who is in charge? Is it Carter? Muskie? or Brezinski? Russia in the mean time has taken full advantage of the situation. The most blatant moves have been the invasion of Afghanistan, and the stationing of 2,000 troops in Cuba. There have also been reports of the development of an extensive intelligence operations, on that island.

Those are some of the main issues as seen by this writer. The lack of space prohibits mentioning others.

The main point of this letter is to show the significance of voting in this election. One should not vote for the aspirant with the best chance of winning; but rather for the candidate whom one feels can do the best job in leading this country in the 1980's.

five others.

Question 1 would amend the state constitution to prohibit discrimination against handicapped people.

Question 3 also would limit local property taxes and state taxes and provide for increased state aid for local educational purposes. This is the Massachusetts Teachers'

Association's answer to Proposition 2½.

Question 4 would approve a law under which state legislators voted themselves pay raises to $20,335 and up to $55,920 for the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. A "no" vote would repeal the law.

Question 5 would amend the state constitution to limit the power of the legislature to impose new costs on cities and towns by regulating the conditions of municipal employment.

Question 6 would amend the state constitution to allow a measure to become law immediately by a voice vote, instead of a recorded vote, of the legislature.

Austin Favored To Top Plan E Council Voting

Mrs. Edna B. Austin, the only woman in the race and the only woman ever to serve on the City Council, was favored to top the field of 31 candidates in Quincy's second Plan E election.

A strong supporter of Plan E, she finished fifth in the voting two years before behind Thomas S. Burgin, Carl W. Anderson, David J. Crowley and Amelio Della Chiesa.

Anderson, Crowley and Della Chiesa were in the race again but Burgin, who served as mayor in the first Plan E government, had decided to retire from city politics after nearly 30 years.

Other candidates included Irving N. Allen, William A. Anderson, Louis K. Badger, James Barnett, Frederick W. Carson, J. Frederick Cutler, Robert E. Duke, Kenneth G. Gardner, John Gillis, Thomas J. Gilmartin, Alfred G. Helfrich, Richard J. Koch, John Kolson, Thomas M. Maloney.

L. Paul Marini, Joseph P. McDonough, David S. McIntosh, Frank N. Orcutt, Mario J. Praderio, Lawrence J. Purtell Jr., Ernest W. Ricker, Guy R. Sargent, James A. Shannon, Herbert A. Shaughnessy, George C. Smith Jr., Vernon C. M. Whitman and Robert A. Zottoli.

FRAZIER STARS IN QUINCY WIN

Gerry Frazier, a 144-pound senior halfback, scored three touchdowns on runs of 51, 54 and 84 yards to lead the Quincy High School football team to a 33-7 victory over Chelsea at the Stadium.

Coach Munroe MacLean operated with two backfields made up of Vin Sullosi, Walter Ojala, Henry Carlson and Gerry Frazier; and Matt Pollara, Bob Derbes, Ronald Walker and Owen Lake.

TANKER KEEL LAID

Keel was laid at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard for the second of two 28,000-ton tankers to be built for the Gulf Oil Co.

Currently under construction at the Yard were four merchant ships and two super destroyers. Also the cruiser Northampton was being converted into a task force command ship.

ST. JOSEPH'S CYO officers for 1980-81 plan the coming year with spiritual director Fr. William Devine. Front row, from left, Secretary Kathleen Curtin, Newsletter Editor, David Merline, President Steven Goguen, Vice President Joanne McBride, and, back row, delegate Thomas Scolaro, Fr. Devine and Treasurer Mike Shaughnessy.

St. Joseph's CYO Opens New Season

The CYO of St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, recently began its 1980-81 season with a special Mass celebrated by spiritual director Fr. William Devine.

Directing the first meeting were CYO officers, President Steven Goguen, Vice President Joanne McBride, Secretary

Kathleen Curtin, Treasurer Mike Shaughnessy and delegate Thomas Scolaro.

All high school students are invited to join and take part in CYO activities. Meetings are held the first Sunday of each month, beginning with a Mass at 6 p.m.

Adult advisors are Maureen and Frank Bille and Bruce Perry.

Welcome Liturgy For New Members At St. John's

A special celebration to welcome new members of St. John's Parish over the past year will be held Saturday, at the church, Quincy Center.

The Festivities will begin with a concelebrated mass at 7 p.m. in the upper church. Rev. William R. McCarthy, Pastor, will be principal celebrant and homilist. Theme of the liturgy will be "How To Build the Parish Family".

A reception will immediately follow the mass in the lower church hall. All persons who have moved into the parish within the past year are welcome and encouraged to attend.

There will be an informal presentation by the chairmen and heads of various parish organizations who will explain the nature and work of their groups. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Commented Rev. Daniel Graham, during the year of the family it is most important for us to realize the need to belong to a support group, where we may share our hopes, as well as our troubles; a place where we can find a solution for our fears. Hopefully the parish can fill that need.

The event is sponsored by members of the Spiritual Development Commission.

Halloween Goblins And Witches At Squantum Church Service

A French maid and goblins, witches and spooks, cowboys and dancers, a princess from India and other fanciful creatures trooped down the aisle Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

Children of the church were participating in the morning worship in costume for Halloween.

"Halloween really got its start in pagan times," explained Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, during a talk to the youngsters. "The Druids believed that the Lord of Death gathered all the souls of the wicked together each year on Oct. 31."

"From the eighth century on, Christians celebrated Nov. 1, as All Saints' Day to remember all the saints and martyrs who didn't have a special day of their own. The night before was called 'All Hallows Evening' or 'holy evening' or 'Halloween.'"

"That is, it became a time to remember the good people rather than the bad as in pagan times."

"Since the Reformation, Protestants have celebrated the last Sunday in October as Reformation Sunday, remembering the great Protestant leaders of the past. This was a continuation of the 'holy evening' idea of recalling the saints that night."

"Today we celebrate Halloween not as an important Christian holiday but just because it's fun. And because, when we see all the children in their costumes it reminds us of all the different kinds of people who have been called to be a part of Christ's Church. And they are the ones who have come to be called --- in the Bible sense of the word --- the saints."

The Junior Choir, also in costume, sang "Clap Your Hands" by Jimmie Owens accompanied by Amanda Young on the glockenspiel and Bethany Golden on the xylophone. The anthem was unusual because it contained a long rhythm passage performed with body percussion and Lummi sticks. Choir director, Mary Ruth Scott, was dressed like a friendly witch.

The Senior Choir sang "Like as the Hart Desireth the Water Brooks" by V. Novello. It featured a quartet with Lee Sindelar, soprano; Genevieve Todd, alto; James Sumner, tenor and Tom Williamson, bass.

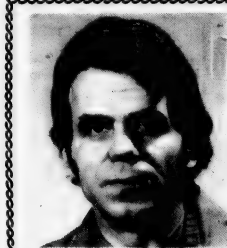

Fred MacMillan decorated the sanctuary on a harvest and Halloween theme.

Greeters were Ralph and Del Dougherty. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Del Dougherty, Helen Miller and Grace Holmes.

Partly because it was Reformation Sunday, the pastor preached a sermon "John Eliot: A Protestant Saint." It was also the first sermon in a series on "John Eliot and His Friends." Eliot was a 17th century resident of Boston who has become known as "the apostle to the Indians" because of his life-long missionary work with the native Americans in eastern Massachusetts. He translated the Bible into the Algonquin language and established with his converts scores of "Praying Indian" villages throughout the state.

Next week, the sermon will focus on Waban, an Indian who assisted Eliot in this work. A highlight of that service will be the reenactment of Eliot's first sermon to the Indians at Waban's wigwam in Nonantum (Newton). Children are urged to wear Indian costumes when they come to church service at 10:15 a.m.

The following two weeks will also be part of this series, including one sermon on Cutchamekin, an Indian leader from the Quincy-Milton area.

Anti-2½ Coalition Seeks Service Cut Details

Members of the Quincy Coalition to Vote No on Question 2 have expressed disappointment that the City Council has been unable to discover the impact Proposition 2½ would have on the individual city departments.

City Councillor James A. Sheets requested that the information be made available at the Oct. 20 meeting as to what specific municipal services may have to be cut if Question 2 (also known as Proposition 2½) passes Tuesday.

Chief Assessor John P. Comer told the Council that night that the 15 per cent that would have to be cut out of the next Quincy budget would not necessarily be deleted uniformly among the departments.

"Maybe we would find out that in one budget they could do with a 30 per cent cut and another would be left alone," he said. "Let's say you leave police and fire alone and cut 30 per cent out of recreation."

Comer said a survey has shown that where people have had an opportunity to select budget cuts they have chosen to cut education above the 12th grade and parks and recreation.

"Those are the areas they felt they could do without if they had to do without something," he said.

Meanwhile, George L. Lamb, president of the Quincy Fire Fighters Association, joined the Coalition in calling for the defeat of Proposition 2½.

"A 'yes' vote on Proposition 2½ will mean reduction in manpower and equipment on the Quincy Fire Department, which is already undermanned," he said in a statement. "These reductions would require the closing of fire stations."

"Throughout the United States when there have been reductions in fire department personnel and equipment it has led to increases in property loss and citizen and firefighter injuries and deaths."

"Reduction will mean that the Quincy Fire Department will no longer be able to provide adequate fire protection or emergency services to the citizens of Quincy."

Lamb issued that statement at a news conference called at City Hall by the Coalition, which also scheduled a rally in front of City Hall yesterday (Wednesday) at 12 noon.

"All of our members are in favor of tax reform," said the Coalition in a statement, "but we want responsible tax reform, not reckless tax-cutting schemes like Proposition 2½."

"Our schools are important for our children and families, as are our libraries, hospitals and social services. We want continued police and fire protection, streets repaired and other municipal services."

Stop Smoking Program At City Hospital

Quincy City Hospital, in conjunction with the American Cancer Society, is offering a Stop-Smoking program beginning Monday Nov. 3.

The classes are an educational effort to inform participants of the health hazards of smoking, and provide an opportunity to learn about the process of quitting cigarettes.

For further information and registration, contact John Felci, Director of Training at the hospital, 773-6100 Ext. 308.

PROPOSITION 2½: TRICK, NO TREAT

Sure, Cutting Taxes sounds good, at first.
Everyone wants, and NEEDS, tax relief and reform.
Proposition 2½ won't give it to us. It's a trick, no treat!

TRICK NO. 1:

Instead of paying for municipal services by property tax, many communities will charge "User Fees" and "Enterprise Revolving Accounts" to pay for city services.

Are you ready for sewer fees? Street repair fees? School tuition fees? School athletic fees? Ambulance fees? Police call fees? Recreational use fees? And more fees? AND MORE FEES?

Your property tax may go down, but you will have to pay fees for services now provided by property taxes. So, what will you gain?

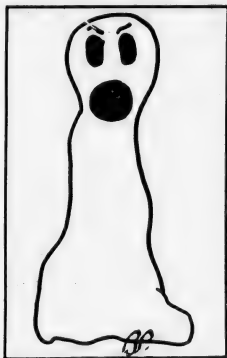

How much will you save? NOTHING?!

TRICK NO. 2:

Proponents say, "The State Legislature will make up for money cities and towns lose, and also correct any deficiencies in Prop. 2½."

HOW?

By raising state income taxes more than your property tax reduction? Massachusetts does not have any billion-dollar surplus. State taxes will go up. WHAT DO YOU GAIN?

WHY? Why would state representatives from western Mass. and small towns already taxed at less than 2.5% vote in favor of new taxes to bail out Quincy, or Boston, or other large cities and towns? THEY WON'T!

DON'T BE TRICKED!

Vote NO on Question 2!

Thayer Lists Requirements For Litchfield Scholar Award

Requirements in this year's competition for the Morris and Ernestine Litchfield Distinguished Scholar Award are announced by Thayer Academy. The award is a four-year scholarship totaling $6,000, granted to an entering ninth grade student. The competition is open to any eighth grade student of superior academic ability as evidenced by honors grades and high class standing. There must be recommendations from two teachers. Personal qualities such as responsibility, integrity, initiative, and concern for others will be considered by the committee as well as special talents: artistic, athletic, literary, musical, scientific, theatrical, or other. In order to qualify, all candidates must take the SSAT (Secondary School Admission Test) either Dec. 13 or Jan. 17. Deadline for registration for the December test is Nov. 17, and for the January test, Dec. 22. Thayer is a test center for both test administrations.

Candidates may receive further information and SSAT registration forms by calling the Thayer Academy Admissions Office at 843-3580, or speak to their guidance counselors.

Human Rights Coalition To Discuss Gentrification

The South Shore Coalition for Human Rights will hold a discussion on gentrification and its dangers Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Quincy Center United Methodist Church at Granite and Fort Sts.

Special guests at the meeting will be members of the Roxbury Multi-Service Center and the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, both of which are concerned with the issue. The public is invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

Eley Reaffirms Stands On Judges, Felons, State Spending

Peter L. Eley, the Democratic Nominee for Governor's Council in the Fourth District, has reaffirmed his position in the three major areas of Governor's Council responsibilities.

"The approval or disapproval of judgeship nominees is a matter of great concern to me," he said. "As a former assistant district attorney and a current practicing attorney, I have handled over 1,500 cases before judges at the Superior Court, District Court and Probate Court levels.

"I have a deep appreciation for the incomparable impact these appointed men and women, by their decisions, have upon a person's life."

"I know the court system. I know its problems. My commitment is to furthering a strong, independent judiciary; when I approve or disapprove a life-long judicial appointment, it will be on the basis of qualifications, philosophy and judicial temperament, not politics."

Eley noted that in 1979 the Council approved 37 judgeships and this year already 16 individuals have been approved for lifetime judicial posts.

"The Council's authority to grant criminal pardons and commutations is awesome," he said, noting that last year 139 full and complete pardons were applied for and 23 were granted.

Also, he said, 31 commutations were applied for, and one was granted.

"That may have been 23 pardons and one commutation too many," said Eley, who indicated he will take a hard line against pardoning or commuting convicted felons.

"Not too many taxpayers are aware of the Council's important oversight of state spending," he said. "We, as Councilors, have the authority to review and question every dime the Commonwealth spends. No appropriation on the state warrant can be made without our approval."

"With an inflated economy and public outcry against needless state spending, I will exercise the power of appropriations review, with scrutiny, on behalf of the over 700,000 residents and taxpayers in my district."

Finn Offers Tips For Safe Halloween

Police Chief Francis Finn advises both parents and youngsters to take appropriate steps to guarantee a safe and enjoyable Halloween.

"Unfortunately," said Finn, "certain Halloween horrors can become too real. Every year on Halloween, a few children become involved in car accidents, fire injuries, falls, cuts, bruises, and other unnecessary miseries."

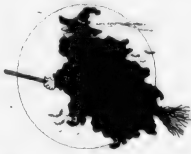

He advised parents to warn youngsters of the following hazards:

- "Risky Roadways". Children become careless from excitement and may run into the road. Dusk is the time of poorest visibility for drivers.

- "Frightful Flames". Open flames from jack-o-lanterns or candles, can ignite billowing and flammable costumes. Flowing, false hair wigs can burst into flames.

- "Dangerous Dress" includes loose costumes, bulky trick-or-treat bags, unsafe shoes, masks which reduce vision, sharp or pointed toy weapons or dark, hard-to-see costumes.

- "Treacherous Treats".

Watch out for razor blades in apples, tacks in popcorn, needles, pins in candy or poisoned popcorn.

Finn advised the following precautions:

- What route will your children be following? Know where you could find them quickly, if it become necessary.

- What companions will your children have? They should be at the same age level and in groups no larger than three or four.

- What supervision will the children have? Young children should be accompanied by an adult or responsible older child.

- What homes will the children visit? It's best not to call at the homes of strangers.

- What activities have the children planned? Be sure you know.

- What time will your children be home? Set a reasonable hour and insist that it is kept.

- Talk with your children. Know their plans. Be sure they understand your rules and limitations for their activities.

He also offered the following tips:

- Costume safety. Flashlights will make children visible and help them see where they're going. Reflective strips, patches, or paint increase visibility after dark. Make-up is much safer than a mask.

- Bring all "Treats" home: If you should discover anything wrong with the "treats" brought home, report it immediately to the police.

Finally, Finn urged parents to keep their homes safe for other parents' "trick-or-treaters". Greet children at the door. Keep your light on so they can see where they are walking. Remove any obstacles from steps, sidewalks, lawn, so children won't trip.

4 Residents Taking Part In SSARC Sale

Four Quincy residents are members of the Workshop Parents Group of the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens (SSARC) which will participate in a community bazaar and sale Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8.

The residents are James Delaney, Jeanette Doherty, Ruth Moore and Sylvia Roberts. The sale will be held at the Harborlight Mall, 789 Bridge St., North Weymouth, 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. both days.

Mall management is sponsoring the sale as a fund raiser for non-profit organizations.

All items will be hand made and will include crocheted and knit goods, unusual hand crafts, novelties, centerpieces, gift items, ceramics, stocking stuffers and Christmas items.

Proceeds will benefit the 54 young adult men and women settling into their new "home" in the SSARC building, Webb Memorial Park, 371 River St., North Weymouth.

The public is invited to attend the sale and to look for the SSARC tables in front of K-Mart.

For more information on the workshop program, call SSARC executive director Dan Foley at 335-3023 or 335-3024.

Lambert, Lois Brandes

Organist, Choir Director Leaving Bethany Congregational

By FRANK MORTIMER

A familiar sight to Bethany Congregational Church members is that of Lois Brandes, an attractive, dark haired woman leading the children's choir in one of its holiday performances.

With palms turned upward she tells the little singers to rise; with a silent one-two-three count from her lips and a motion of her hand the piping voices start their song in unison. With a generous smile, she praises the cherubs for a job well done—even if they forget a lyric, or miss a note.

Lois sings in the adult choir. She can imagine how hard it is for a five-year-old chorister.

An even more familiar sight is that of organist Lambert Brandes, her husband, directing the adult choir every Sunday from behind the organ console near the altar. The language of the choir-master's hands is complex, like the music, but there's no trace of discord between the rich male and female voices and the director's signals. It is as though his hands are moulding the music.

For almost 15 years, Lambert and Lois Brandes have been making music in Bethany Church.

On Sunday, Nov. 16, the couple will perform for the last time as regular members of the church.

Brandes will be organist and choir director at First Presbyterian Church, Quincy, starting Dec. 1.

In his recent letter of resignation to the Bethany Music Committee, Brandes said, in part:

"Bethany is the only church in which Lois and I have served since our marriage in 1966. It has been our church home and a blessing to both of us. Our friendships and contacts with the many fine Christian people in the church have been very basic to the wonderful personal and spiritual growth we have experienced during this time."

Brandes, 41, has taught for 16 years at Eastern Nazarene College, and is presently professor of music theory, acoustics and applied organ. He is a graduate of the school. He also completed a Master of Music with honors and distinction for his work in Theory and Composition at New England Conservatory of Music. He composes religious music, and has given organ recitals in Germany, Austria and throughout eastern United States.

Mrs. Brandes holds a Bachelor of Science in education from Eastern Nazarene College. She teaches second grade at Squantum Elementary School. She has performed many recitals and as lead soloist for various organizations throughout the United States and Europe.

Members of Bethany Church have a high regard for the choir-master's teaching and organ playing.

Richard Pinel, chairman of the music committee, said, "Lambert is very good in drawing the best out of a singer." He said visitors to the church sometimes have the mistaken impression that the choir is a semi-professional group.

"But if you took most of us on the choir and listened to us separately, we wouldn't be great soloists.

"Lambert built this choir out of common, ordinary people who like to sing."

Winn Bettinson, a choir member who introduces WJDA's weekly broadcast of Bethany services, praised Brandes' ability to ad lib between formal program selections. "He has a special feel for the keyboard," he said.

Brandes explained that he improvises in what is called English cathedral style, which means, in effect, a majestic sound is sought.

He initiated a major restoration of the Bethany instrument in the late 60's. The $40,000 project was funded through a church drive headed by Gilbert Fitzgerald and Don Kent. Dorothy Mitchell, a long time church member, recalled how Brandes demonstrated for the congregation "what was wrong with the organ."

He made it easy to understand," Mrs. Mitchell said.

Some Bethany members now find it hard to understand why Lois and Lambert are moving on. But there's one feeling in the congregation that needs no explanation. As Vivian Miller, a veteran of the choir, stated simply, "We're going to miss them."

Voter Info Booklets Available For Seniors

Mrs. Marion Andres, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, announces a limited amount of voter information booklets are available for visually handicapped Quincy senior citizens.

Mrs. Andres said that the council obtained the booklets through the Secretary of State's office. They include summary versions of the 1980 Massachusetts general election questions in large print.

Local senior citizens interested in obtaining a booklet can call the Council on Aging office at 773-1380, Ext. 243. Booklets will be sent out as long as the supply lasts.

Re-electCarter - Mondale*Democrat

SENATE CHAMBER
State House
Boston

In next week's election, I urge you to vote for a trusted and tested team — Carter-Mondale.

As your state senator, my ability to serve Quincy is enhanced because we have a Democratic Administration in Washington.

Many of the federal programs — including job training, senior citizen housing, school reading and nutrition programs, sewer construction, and public transportation subsidies — all could be jeopardized, or even abolished, under a Republican Administration. The Presidential election is important not only for the policies set for the next four years, but also for the impact they will have for the next two decades.

Sincerely,

Paul
Paul D. Harold

Donnelly, Park Board To Get Ward 2 Award

The Ward 2 Civic Association will present its annual Unity Award for 1980 to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly and the people who make Quincy's park and recreation system go.

They are Richard J. Koch, executive secretary; Raymond Cattaneo, his assistant; Charles L. Alongi, director of recreation; and the nine members of the Park and Recreation Board, who are: Joseph E. Burke, Theodore DeCristofaro, Theresa Lord, Gerald A. Coletta Jr., Christopher F. Kennedy, Joseph M. Lydon, Richard M. Morrissey, Barbara Righini and Francis W. Donovan.

The awards will be presented Saturday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse, at which time the association's new officers will be installed.

Tickets for the evening, which includes a buffet and dancing, may be obtained by contacting Ted DeCristofaro at 472-1265.
